POLICE COURT

A Vicious Dog to be Disposed of.

There was a little trouble at the police court this morning owing to the fact that a certain apology for a dog had an objectionable fancy for children, in fact so much so, that he used sometimes to carry away pieces pertaining to the calves and other portions of the several members of the said children. Things came to a climax when this bow-wow took a fancy to Mr. W. J. Henry's garments and tried to take away a portion of them. He charged Mrs. Sullivan with harbouring this vicious dog, a danger to the public, and he asked that Mrs. Sullivan's "pet" be disposed of in some manner. However the defendant protested that the dog in question did not belong to her, but would not stay away from the premises. She further claimed that as the canine was not her property she was not responsible for his actions, even if they did resemble those of a sample agent.

Constable Adams hinted that perhaps the dog might like to try a sample of shot. Mr. Dumble's opinion coincided with that of Mr. Adams but he further added that the animal might like some poison. It was ordered by the Magistrate that one of these two doses be administered.

CATHOLIC TOTAL ABSTINENCE UNION.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien Attends 33rd Annual Convention.

Pittsburg Place of Meeting—Progress of Societies During Past Year—95 New Branches Formed.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien has just returned from Pittsburg, Pa., where he has been attending as a delegate from St. Peter's T.A.S., the 33rd annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America.

Dr. O'Brien had an unique honor in his attendance at the gathering. He not only was the only delegate from Canada, but he represented the largest society in the Union, Peterborough T.A.S. having the largest membership of any Catholic Temperance Society in America. There are about one thousand societies in the Union, and 600 were represented at this convention, which was the most successful in the history of the Union. The reports of the work during the past year were most satisfactory, and showed that 95 new societies have been formed, and that the membership has now reached above 100,000, composed of bishops, priests and the laity. While, at the present time the local T.A.S. is the only one in Canada identified with the Union, next year will see many more, as societies are being formed in Nova Scotia.

It was decided at the convention to publish a monthly Total Abstinence magazine, which will be the official organ of the Union, and will be contributed to by some of the best writers in America. It was also decided that in future the work of the societies should embrace more of the social side, following the lead of the society here, the object being to provide amusements which would counterbalance the attractions of the barrooms.

The national prize banner given to the society showing the largest increase in membership during the year, which was held last year by the T.A.S. here, was won by the Philadelphia Society, and, in accepting it, the delegate, Rev. Father Kirlin, said that the success of the Philadelphia society was due to the inspiration received from the past success of the Peterborough Society, and he had adopted the means used here in his work of last year; that he had succeeded was proven by the fact that the Society had erected a $45,000 club building.

The convention next year will be held at St. Louis, Mo., during the World's Fair, and at the time during which the convention will be held the directors will have a total abstinence week.

TULLY & MERRELL, Managers.

The officers elected were:—
President — Rev. Father Shanley, Hartford, Conn.
1st Vice-President — Hon. Judge Gibbons, Chicago.
2nd Vice-President — Rev. Father Beane, Pittsburg.
3rd Vice-President — Mrs. Lake, St. Louis, Mo., the celebrated orator.
National Treasurer — Rev. Father Cufran of Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Father Curran will be remembered by the action he took during the great coal miners' strike in trying to effect a settlement of the trouble.

The secretary is Mr. J. W. Logue, a prominent barrister of Philadelphia.

One of the most interesting features of the convention was a visit the delegates paid to the works of the Homestead Steel Co., and witnessed the manufacture of steel in the most highly specialized steel plant in the world. Dr. O'Brien said it was a remarkable fact that the great majority of the employees in this place were total abstainers, notwithstanding the fact that they worked around furnaces in which a heat of 8,000 degrees was maintained.

The Doctor was much sought after by the Pittsburg newspaper men, when it was known that he had been in Rome, and on the night of the Pope's election he was besieged with reporters.

Dr. O'Brien cites as a tribute to total abstinence a conversation which he had with Rev. Father Curran, in which the latter stated that total abstinence had won the strike for the coal miners; that their good conduct during the progress of the strike had influenced the members of the Commission in deciding the question in their favour. Speaking of Pittsburg, the doctor said that it was the busiest city of its size he had ever seen. The population is about 400,000, and the great activity is due to the extensive iron and steel manufactories centred there, as well as to the coal fields. It is situated at the confluence of the Monongahela, Ohio and Alleghaney Rivers, and at any time acres of coal barges may be seen in the harbours of the city.

A Great Little Worker.

During a long life time the heart will propel half a million tons of blood through the body, and so long as the blood is in a healthy condition it will repair itself as fast as it wastes, patiently keeping up the play of the valves and the rhythm of its throb. If the action of the heart gets weak, irregular and fluttering, the blood is lacking in nourishing qualities and requires just such assistance as is best supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorer.

Hints on Housekeeping.

It is an unfortunate fact that there are many young ladies who start married life with little or no knowledge of the merest rudiments of housekeeping. As a rule, a young fellow selects his partner for life for any other quality except that of being a good housekeeper. She may be the girl who keeps step with him best in dancing; or she may have yellow hair, or a small foot, or bright blue eyes. It never seems to occur to a fellow in the business rush of courtship that you can't run a house exclusively on a superior complexion. I cannot imagine a more heartless freak of fate than for a poor fellow to suddenly realize that the girl he has brought home to help him through life can't housekeep worth threepence; and I feel, therefore, says the editor of "Pick-Me-Up," that it would be cruel in me to refrain from imparting a little useful information on the subject.

To begin housekeeping with anything like a prospect of success you must have a little money. Some people prefer to run up bills and wait for a county court summons. But it is best to have a little ready cash to start with, anyhow. Get all you can, because then you can spend the balance on bonnets and things. Some housekeepers make it a rule to keep accounts, and put down all the money they spend. But this is very silly, of course; and, besides, it never comes out right. In this matter the difficulty is not to see that two and two make four, but to explain how it is that two plus nothing invariably comes to six or seven. You may start keeping accounts for a day or two, and may make up your mind to put down everything you buy, but when you go through your book at the end of the week and find that a pound of sugar, some candles and a packet of hairpins come to three pounds fifteen, you will recognize at once that this account business is a delusion and a snare.

Once a week, perhaps oftener, it will happen to you that your servant girl has a bad headache and can't get up to prepare breakfast. This will give you a chance of showing what you can do. If your husband is in an office, it is very likely that his employers will expect him to turn up punctually in the morning. I have heard of employers who do this.

Well, then, of course, he'll want some breakfast before he starts. Husbands are so very unreasonable. It will save some trouble if you get up and prepare his breakfast with your own fair hands; but, of course, if you are fond of excitement you can just tell him to get something at the railway station and have an early lunch to make up for it. It seems awfully unjust that he should furnish a nice house on purpose for you, and then expect to live there just as if he was in his own home. But they all do.

Once a year you will probably be expected to stage manage what is commonly known as a spring cleaning. Some wives who do their own housekeeping have been known to put on an old dress, tie a duster over their heads, and simply wallow in the work of rejuvenating the premises. But don't you do it. It's ever so much nicer to stand round and watch other people do the work; and it gives you more time to think of something else for them to do. There is nothing like turning the house upside down thoroughly when you once begin. Have a good splash while you've got the chance, so that when your husband comes home there won't be a room in the house he can sit in, and he'll have to take dinner in the hall or on the landing. This will impress him at once with a good opinion of your energy and industry.

If he has a little room of his own, go for it fiercely. Pitch all his books and papers in a corner, and move his pipes and tobacco jar into a safe place and forget where you've put them. They'll turn up after the spring cleaning is over all right; and then everything will be so nice that if he wants to smoke he'll have to do it in the garden or the coal-cellar. You can't have that sort of thing in the house just after everything has been put straight. If you find after a while that there are mice in the house, it is a good plan to secure the services of a business-like cat. It's much better than standing on a chair with your skirts bunched up, making wild lunges at the floor with a fire-shovel, and screaming for mother. If you observe these few hints carefully you will become quite a good housekeeper in time. Don't mention it. I'm glad to have been of some service to you.

A Witness to Character.

Counsel (for the defence)—Do you know the prisoner?

Witness—Y-s.

Counsel—Intimately?

Witness—No, I can scarcely say that.

Witness (calculating on her fingers)—Over four years. Let me see—we were married in September, and——

Counsel (interrupting)—Married? Are you his wife, then?

Witness—Yes.

Counsel—And have been married to him five years?

Witness—Five years and a half.

Counsel—What do you mean then by saying that you do not know him intimately?

Witness—Why, ever since we've been married he has left home at eight o'clock in the morning and he never returns until between one and two the next morning. He attends three lodges every week. He's a Buffalo, a Druid, a Comical Fellow and a Cemented Brick. He belongs to three clubs, a musical society, the volunteers, the Primrose League, the church choir, and three or four other things that I forget—so you see that I really have had very little opportunity to make his acquaintance.

Counsel—Thank you—you may stand down.—English paper.

Origin of a "Baker's Dozen."

The expression "baker's dozen," which is in point of fact thirteen, has a history. For a baker in the olden times to give short weight in bread exposed him to considerable penalties, and thus the custom arose of adding an extra loaf to the dozen as compensation for any possible deficiencies in the rest of the batch. The extra article was originally a safeguard to avert the chance of a heavy fine.

Lettice—That's the girl who broke my poor brother's heart. Binson—Really! How did she do that? Lettice—Well, he was engaged to her for three years—and the very day after he broke the engagement off she had $30,000 left to her.

Fatal Kick From Horse.

Waterloo, Aug. 11.—Fred A. Bish of this town, a young man in his 21st year, met with a fatal accident Saturday afternoon on the farm of Robert Hislop, near Strasburg, Ont. Saturday afternoon he was working with a hay rake, to which two spirited horses were hitched. While turning too sharply at the end of the field he drove against the fence and was thrown forward of the rack, one of the horses kicking him just below the ribs. He succumbed to his injuries on Sunday.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Jumped Into Water Twice.

Montreal, Aug. 11.—A determined attempt at suicide was made early yesterday at No. 2 lock, near the Ogilvie mills. A young man about 25 years of age, rather dishevelled appearance and apparently the worse for liquor, deliberately threw himself into the basin. Mr. James Evers, assistant superintendent of the canal, who is a strong and determined swimmer, jumped in and succeeded in bringing the man to the bank. They had no sooner landed, however, than the stranger jumped back into the basin. Mr. Evers again started to bring him back to dry land, but the exertion was almost too great, and Diver Fitzpatrick had to go down to help both men out. The stranger refused to give any information as to his identity or his reasons for his rash act.

Killed While Shaving.

HATFIELD'S PEOPLE

SAY LORD SALISBURY IS "THE FINEST GENTLEMAN GOD EVER MADE."

The Real Lord Salisbury—England's Old Premier as His Neighbors See Him—A Great Contrast to the Man as the Great World Thought They Knew Him—A Fragrant Memory of Good Deeds.

A few months ago Lord Salisbury swayed the destinies of the British Empire. To-day he is practically forgotten. The long accounts of his career which were published when he resigned the Premiership read for all the world like obituary notices, and are remembered as such.

Lord Salisbury has always shunned notoriety, and now that he has retired from politics he is more reticent than ever about his private life. Few people know how he is spending the evening of a life devoted to the service of his monarch and his country.

In politics the late Premier was regarded as a bitter-tongued cynic—"The master of the art of jeers and flouts and sneers," Disraeli called him. In society he was the aristocratic above all things, haughtily scorning the 'new rich' and the "smart set."

Many of his supporters in the House of Lords and the House of Commons were bitterly incensed because he failed to recognize them in the street or the club, although they had been introduced to him and had spoken to him frequently. Not only is Lord Salisbury nearsighted and absent-minded, but he has a bad memory for faces—a rare defect in a public man.

It is said that he once asked Mr. Balfour, when visiting the House of Commons: "Who is that man who spoke so intelligently just now?" That man was Walter Long, the Minister for Agriculture, a member of Lord Salisbury's own Cabinet.

Lord Salisbury's Mask.

This absence of mind is partly assumed in order to ward off intrusive intimacies. Similarly, Lord Salisbury's apparent cynicism and hauteur are only a mask covering his real nature.

Go to Hatfield, in Hertfordshire, where his favorite ancestral home is situated, and ask the people there about him. They will tell you of a new Lord Salisbury—of the real Lord Salisbury—of whom the world never dreams.

The statesman might forget one of his own Ministers, but he never fails to recognize the country people who live round his home at Hatfield. He knows them all, from the oldest grandfather to the youngest child, and he takes the keenest interest in their lives.

He may be cold and distant to a foreign Prince of doubtful character or a new peer of the realm, who has made his money out of beer and bought a coronet with his spare cash, but he never holds aloof from the poorest of his neighbors at Hatfield.

When the writer was staying at that place as a boy in July, 1891, he saw Lord Salisbury—then Prime Minister of England—sitting down on a box in a blacksmith's shop in the village and helping the blacksmith's little girl to mend a broken toy. Next week he entertained the German Emperor at Hatfield House.

Ten years afterwards, on revisiting Hatfield, the writer asked an old villager what he thought of Lord Salisbury.

"Finest Gentleman God Ever Made."

"Think of him, sir?" was the reply. "Why! he's the finest gentleman God ever made. I don't know what we should do without him. I do believe he knows every soul in the place by name, and he has never been too busy to help any of us when we have needed help.

"And Lady Salisbury was a rare good woman. Her death was a terrible blow to the poor old man. Rare lovers they were all their lives.

"I grumbled to His Lordship once about times being hard in my business. He laughed in his cheery way and said:

"Hard times don't matter much, Johnson, when a man has a good wife like yours or mine. You may hardly credit it, but I was hard up myself when I was a young man, just after my marriage.

"I only had a small allowance as a younger son, and had to eke it out by writing articles for the newspapers and reviews. But we were never worried by our shortness of money. It depends on a man's wife whether poverty is irksome or not."

"I remember once," the old villager went on, "a young girl here was jilted by her lover after they had gone together for years. Lady Salisbury, who liked the girl, was much upset, and told her husband about it.

Befriends Jilted Girl.

"His Lordship went straight to the young man and told him he had done wrong and ought to marry the girl. The young fellow said he'd like to, but he was only earning twelve shillings a week and couldn't support a family.

"His Lordship got him a good job that very day, and they were married before the week was out. They are as happy now as any husband and wife could be, and you may be sure that woman doesn't forget Lord Salisbury when she says her prayers.

"That's only an example, sir, of what His Lordship has done for the people hereabouts. If a girl gets married, she is always sure of a wedding present from His Lordship; and the old people know that he won't let them end their days in the workhouse if he can help it. He is a rich man, but the amount of money he gives away in charity here must make a big hole even in an income like his.

"But that's not the only way he helps the people. If he sees a man doing a job clumsily, he will stop and show him how to do it properly. He's a rare handy man with tools. I've seen him patch up a fence as well as I could do it myself, and I'm a carpenter by trade."

As a Handy Man.

This character given to Lord Salisbury as a handy man was corroborated by a visit to Hatfield House. Every room in the mansion bears evidence to the old nobleman's fondness for pottering about with tools and his remarkable ingenuity in using them. Hatfield House differs widely from the average English country seat in being so well equipped with modern conveniences.

Lord Salisbury is a Conservative politics, and still more conservative in social matters, but he is thoroughly progressive and up-to-date in his private life. He has designed and fitted up several dumb waiters and electrical conveniences to lessen the work of his servants.

He was the first nobleman in England to use electric lights at his country house. He installed the plant himself, taking advantage of a stream that runs through his park to get water power. The best electrical engineer in England could not have done the work better than this aged statesman, who stands in the front rank of scientists in the domain of experimental physics.

Lord Salisbury has never recovered from the loss he suffered in 1899 by the death of his wife. Like most Englishmen, he is reticent about the feelings of his heart. He makes no parade of emotion. But once, at a church meeting at Hatfield held to pay honor to a local philanthropist who had died, he spoke of the sorrow which had come into his own life.

Memory Worth Living For.

"When a man has done his work, and those whom he loves pass one by one behind the veil," said he, "there is nothing better for him than to die as our friend has died, full of years and leaving behind him a memory fragrant with good deeds. He should be able to say in the words of an obscure but beautiful modern poet:

"'When my last hour grows dark for me,
I shall not fear
Death's dreaded face to see,
Death's voice to hear.

"I shall not fear the night,
When day is done;
My life was loyal to the light
And served the sun.'"

The people of Hatfield say that it was a beautiful sight to see Lord and Lady Salisbury together, the wife so proud of her husband, the husband so tender and courteous to his still beautiful wife. They were lovers to the end.

It was Lady Salisbury who taught her husband to take an interest in the people of the village and help them in all their small affairs. After her death, he ceased for a time to do this. He gave money as before, but he was not to be seen in the village talking with the old people and patting the children on the head.

His Present Employment.

Such time as he could spare from the affairs of state was spent in his laboratory studying experimental physics. But since his retirement from politics he has returned to all his old philanthropic work.

He takes pleasure in looking after the welfare of his dead wife's pensioners. There is a blind girl at Hatfield to whom she used to be kind. Lord Salisbury has made her independent for life, and pays her a visit nearly every day when he is staying at Hatfield. So it is with many others.

One of the marked traits in Lord Salisbury's character is his detestation of cruelty to children or animals. In Hatfield they still tell a tale of his horsewhipping a burly farm laborer in the days when he was Lord Robert Cecil. He caught the man beating a child, and thrashed him so severely that he was ill in bed for a fortnight. No man is employed on the estates unless he is known by Lord Salisbury to be a good husband and father. He has no use for any man who ill-treats an animal, even slightly. Not long ago he dismissed one of his grooms for whipping a dog

It's So Easy

To take cold. It's so common to neglect the cold. That is one reason why there are so many people with "deep-seated," stubborn coughs, and so many more with "lung trouble."

The short, quick way to cure a cough is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The quicker this remedy is used the quicker the cure. But even when neglect has let disease fasten on the lungs, "Golden Medical Discovery" may be relied on to cure in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred.

The only motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little extra profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains. You lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I am feeling quite well," writes Miss Dorcas A. Lewis, of No 1120 24th St., Washington, D. C. "My cough is very much better, and I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I cannot say too much in praise of the medicine. I had been quite a sufferer for a long time, and after reading Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser thought I would try his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I commenced taking it in May, 1899. Had not been sleeping well for a long time. Took one teaspoonful of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and slept nearly all night without coughing, so I continued taking it. I am in great sympathy with everybody who suffers with a cough. I had been a sufferer for more than ten years. I tried lots of different medicines and different doctors, but did not feel much better. I coughed until I commenced spitting blood, but now I feel much stronger and am entirely well. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine I have ever taken. My home is in Williamsburg, Virginia."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a ladies' laxative. No other medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

The Bravest Deed.

In the latest number of V. C. Gen. Ben Viljoen describes "The Bravest Deed I Ever Saw." It was that of Commandant Gert Gravett, who rescued two of his conrades under a fierce fire of British shells and bullets. But the "maddest act of courage" was that of a British colonel. Thus the general converses with the interviewer:

"We were lying behind boulders high up on one side of a kopje, and the khakis were coming up on the other. We saw their hats appear over the crest before they had any view even of the top of the hill, far less of us. Then came their faces, then their breasts; and we fired. The first rank went down like a swath of grass. But others pressed forward, the colonel leading. We fired again, the colonel reeled and fell forward, shot through the leg. But almost instantly he was up again, the wounded leg hanging horribly limp and trailing upon the ground; he leaned upon a rifle, using it as a crutch, and so forced himself forward in jerks, calling hoarsely to his men, beckoning them angrily on with his arm, and thus limping calmly to the very muzzles of our Mausers. It was splendid, and when he fell for the last time—well, we were sorry."

"What was his name?" I asked.

"Col. Lloyd, of the West Riding Regiment. Months after we laid a wreath of flowers on his grave, and the card bore the inscription: 'In honor of a brave enemy.' It was an act difficult to forget."—London Daily Chronicle.

Narrow Escape of Gold Seekers.

A small company of Alaskan gold seekers were walking across one of the great ice fields in that winter bound country when one of them noticed a difference in the color of the ice a few yards before them. Almost as he spoke, however, the treacherous coating of thin ice across a jagged crevasse gave way, and with an awful cry the two foremost men went down with the crumbling glittering surface. A third man would have followed, but his gun lodged crosswise in the crevice and saved him. The other two had sunk out of sight, only their voices guiding their rescuers. Blankets were torn into strips and all the available rope used as well to rescue the unfortunate prisoners, to whom hatchets also had to be lowered to hack their way out, so tightly had they been jammed in between the ice bowlders by their fall of fifty feet or more. When they reached the surface again they were in a fainting condition, and it was many days before they recovered from the effects of the time spent in that icy tomb.

The World's Greatest Skin Torture

Many Infants are Born with Eczema

THE ONLY INFALLIBLE CURE IS CUTICURA

It is in the treatment of this most distressing of torturing and disfiguring skin and scalp humours, with loss of hair, that the Cuticura remedies have achieved their greatest success. Original in composition, scientifically compounded, absolutely pure, unchangeable in any climate, always ready, and agreeable to the most delicate, they present to those suffering from Eczema the most successful curative of modern times. We know that this will be considered strong language by those acquainted with the character and obstinacy of the disease under consideration, but it is justified by innumerable successes where all the remedies and methods in vogue have failed to cure, and, in many cases, to relieve, even.

The first step in the treatment of the chronic forms is to remove the scales and crusts and soften the skin, by warm baths with Cuticura Soap. The scalp, ears, elbows, hands, ankles and feet will require frequently a thorough soaking in order to penetrate the thickened scales and crusts with which these parts are often covered. Dry carefully, and apply Cuticura Ointment, lightly at first, and where advisable spread it on pieces of soft cloth and bind in place. Take the Resolvent, pills or liquid, in medium doses. Do not use cold water in bathing, and avoid cold, raw winds.

Cuticura Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

Sales to noon, 408,400.

Messrs. McMillan & Maguire, stock brokers, Hunter street, have received the following:—

New York, August 12, 9.50 a.m.—The situation indicates a repetition of yesterday's market. Resumption of good investment buying by outsiders as well as local operators, has been on a scale which has not been witnessed since N. P. panic. There is no doubt that there is still a large short interest that remains unprotected. We think that movement against this interest is likely to be feature to-day under encouragement of prospective better statement and decline in exchange. We do not, however, expect a bull market, and rather believe that it will be more two-sided. There are still too many uncertainties to expect any sustained rise, especially as bears are still active.

10.30 a.m.—Chicago despatches state that the C. G. W. has been sold to some large interest, presumably the St. Paul or U. P. We cannot confirm this rumour.

M. & M.

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, August 12, 9.45 a.m.—Yesterday was another day devoid of sensation of news developments. The disaster on a Paris trolley system, serious as it was, and resulting as it did, in a panic on the Stock Exchange, was only announcement of a sensational character, and it, of course, has no effect on prices here. A great deal is made of the Government reports. The information is gathered largely by railroads and dealers in grain.—MILLAR.

Increased bullish sentiment should cause further short covering to-day. Improvement is no wlooked for, but two things oppose this at present. They are the strong bear party and some liquidation that still hangs over the market. We are convinced, however, that investors and others with capital, who buy standard dividend paying stocks, on breaks, will eb well rewarded. First indication of disposition on part of larger interests to follow up, by accepting without bidding for offerings at the advanced level, was noticed, and it frightened many shorts. As there is not likely to be any bull market at this time, we advise our friends not to get too bullish in their speculations.

THE EXTENT OF THE OIL INDUSTRY.

An Important Factor in Business of Ohio:

Some Wells in Operation Seen by Examiner's Representative—Empire Oil Co. has Good Prospects.

A trip from Toledo to Oil City over the Erie Railroad is most interesting. It is when passing over this piece of territory that one catches glimpses of the oil industry and detects the odour of crude oil. On either side of the railway bed may be seen derricks scattered over the fields, and the pumps continue their monotonous looking work. The streams that run alongside the railway tracks are discoloured with oil, and to a traveller not familiar with the condition of the atmosphere he begins to feel as though he had taken a fair-sized dose of Castoria. Many wells in the course of being drilled may be seen, while occasionally an abandoned well is in evidence.

The oil industry does not appear to have interfered with farming operations to any great extent. In the middle of a potato patch, a corn field, or a field of almost any kind of grain, may be seen the oil pump spouting forth its greasy element. From each well may be seen a conducting pipe by which means the product of each well on the same farm is carried to central tank. From the central tank the Standard Oil Company has its conducting pipe, with a double lock thereon, just where it leaves the large tank. The Standard Oil Company measure this oil to within a fraction of an inch before it leaves the tank. Indeed it is said, that even when the hoops on the tank are tightened, the tank is re-measured. As stated in yesterday's article on the subject, the conducting pipes of the Standard Oil Company run to Lima, and from there to New York City. Lima is a busy little city, with a population of about 32,000. It is chiefly noted for its oil refineries, which are on a very large scale. From Lima to Oil City is a run of about thirty miles, and one passes through a splendid oil region, the numerous pumps at work being evidence of the fact that those who know of the richness of that district are developing their oil properties energetically.

The Peterborough delegation had the pleasure of personally inspecting the property of the Empire State Oil Company, of which Mr. George Stevens, of Peterborough, is the local representative. The party was met at the Oil City Station by Mr. G. S. Schoneberger, the secretary and manager of the company, and by Mr. E. B. Harrang, field manager. In a six-seated buckboard, a very odd-looking but decidedly handy vehicle, the party started out for the first of the Empire State Oil Company's properties, which are about eight miles from Oil City. This property is known as the Meckling lease and on the property are six producing wells. The plant is very complete and apparently in the best of working order. A pumping station is fitted out with 25 h.p. gasoline engine. One man, strange to say, can quite easily operate these six pumps—the pumps are in some cases a considerable distance from the purifying station, but by means of wire rods about 1-4 of an inch in thickness the pumps are worked with decidedly quick action. Two large tanks serve to hold the oil until it is taken over by the Standard Oil people. The fuel for the engine consists of gas from the wells and costs nothing of course. The caretaker's modest residence is lighted by gas, also, and even the front yard sometimes sports a light of the same kind.

The members of the Peterborough party after visiting the Meckling lease, proceeded to Van Wert, where they remained over night—Van Wert is a thriving town of about seven thousand and possesses five hotels, good parks and an excellent band, which was giving its weekly open air concert. Van Wert is the headquarters of the oil industry for that particular portion of the country. Next day a visit to the remaining wells of the Empire State Oil Company was made. These consist of the Dull Lease property, the Butler Lease, the Adelbiue Lease, the Flager Lease, and the Wiseman Lease. These leases are all close together. The Wiseman Lease is a 40 acre property just recently acquired and a well is being sunk on it for the first time. Across the road from where this well is being sunk, is the Stone well, famous throughout the district for its capacity. It is capable of producing 200 barrels a day. The Empire State people have reason to expect big results off their well when it is completed. The Adelbiue Lease contains 200 acres and so far there is but one well on the property. It produces 20 barrels a day and as there is plenty of room on the farm for 20 more wells, the output should be large indeed. On the Butler Lease, there are eight wells, and on the Dull Lease there are four wells.

Mr. G. W. Green, Peterborough's well-known manufacturer, who was one of the delegation was curious to test the capacity of one of the wells and by actual test it was shown to pump 36 gallons of oil in a minute.

Mr. Wm. Maneice, of town, Mr. J. H. Gardiner, and Mr. Ashley, of Sterling, brought samples of the oil back to Peterborough.

Of course there is often a great amount of water with the oil, but the process of separating the two liquids is very simple.

A feature of the visit to the properties was the driving of a stake by the Peterborough gentlemen. At this point a well will be sunk and will be known as the "Peterborough Well". The company has five "rigs" in operation. That is there are five wells in course of construction and the work is being executed with despatch.

BULGARIANS PESSIMISTIC.

Village 28 Miles South of Monastir Bombarded—Massacre of Christians Is Now Considered Inevitable.

Salonica, Aug. 13.—It is reported that the Turkish troops on Monday bombarded and destroyed the Village of Ekshisu, 28 miles south of Monastir. According to another rumor the insurgents who have occupied Krushevo, after repulsing two assaults by the Turkish troops, offered a conditional surrender. Instructions were asked from Constantinople, and in reply the Turkish commander received orders to give no quarter.

Rapidly Growing Worse.

The whole Bulgarian Government takes a decidedly pessimistic view of the situation, and the officials openly express their fears that a general massacre of the Christians in Macedonia is inevitable. Meanwhile the Government continues to maintain its peaceful attitude, but it believes that a sudden development of affairs across the border may at any moment render the authorities powerless to prevent war. The reports from Bulgarian official agents in Macedonian show that affairs are rapidly growing worse. The fact that the Mussulman population is becoming excited and congregating in the Mosques is regarded as a bad feature, indicating the possibility that a massacre may occur within a very short time.

Attributed to the Porte.

The officials here blame Turkey for the present sudden outbreak, attributing it largely to the action of the Porte in instituting a search for arms in the villages. The Macedonian leaders, finding that their followers were being deprived of guns and ammunition, decided to rise immediately. The Bulgarian Government is said to be particularly displeased with Turkey's action, because it had urged the Porte to leave the villages in peace, believing that this would result in staving off the trouble till next year.

Money Saving Opportunities

The multitude of buyers attending this sale each day speaks volumes for the strong inducements that are offered in decidedly low prices for desirable goods. This Sacrifice Sale demands your time and money. For your own interests you cannot afford to deprive yourself of this privilege.

LOSS OF $10,000,000

Hurricane Wiped Out Whole Villages in Island of Jamaica.

FRUIT TRADE IS PARALYZED.

Heavy Loss of Life—30 Fatalities Already Reported — Many Steamers Driven Ashore — Port Antonio and Port Maria Were Almost Decimated —Torrential Rains Increase the Miseries of Thousands.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 12.—(Delayed in transit.)—The hurricane, only the fringe of which struck the western end of Jamaica yesterday, and which it was thought had passed, instead of proceeding to the northwest, veered to the south early this morning and struck Jamaica with its full force, inflicting damage which it will take years to repair. Owing to the interruption of telegraph communication it is impossible as yet to estimate the amount of the losses, but they must reach millions of dollars. Every banana plantation in the eastern half of the island has been devastated. The situation in the western half is unknown.

Dire Fate of Port Antonio.

Later.—The effects of the hurricane upon the Island of Jamaica, were greater than at first believed. At Port Antonio only six houses were left standing. The United Fruit Company's wharves, offices, hotel and plantations were demolished. Five of the company's steamers including the Simon Dumois, Alfred Dumois and Brighton, were driven ashore, but are lying in easy positions.

Port Maria suffered similarly. The coast is strewn with wreckage of local sailing vessels.

It is feared that the loss of life has been heavy, 30 fatalities having already been reported, principally among seamen. The entire eastern end of the island has been devastated. Villages have been wiped out and public buildings and churches demolished. Thousands of the peasantry, rendered homeless and destitute, are wandering about seeking food and shelter.

The destruction of the banana plantations has been complete and the fruit trade is paralyzed for the next 12 months. Hundreds of prosperous fruit growers have been brought to bankruptcy and ruin.

The western end of the island, which it was at first thought had escaped, also suffered considerably.

Wrecks on the Shore.

The Norwegian steamer Salvator di Giorgio was driven ashore at Annotta Bay and lies in a dangerous position. Several sailing vessels were wrecked on the north side. It is still stormy and threatening and there are fears that there may be a renewal of the storm. Torrential rains have increased the misery of the poor and homeless. Thousands of houses were damaged, and the wharves were battered and several coasting vessels were sunk in the harbor. Trade is practically at a standstill.

The southeastern portion of the island has been completely denuded of its crops, the rivers are flooded and many men were carried out to sea and drowned. It is estimated that the death list will reach 50. Hundreds of persons were injured and there were numerous hairbreadth escapes. The property loss is estimated at $10,000,000.

The interest that is manifested in the illustrious sage of the Grange abroad is evidenced by different influential dailies wiring their Toronto correspondents last night to telegraph them stories of several thousand words concerning Goldwin Smith's birthday anniversary.

LAKE ERIE "PETREL"

Fired Twenty Shots Into an American Fishing Tug.

YANKEE SKIPPER ESCAPED.

Question of Illegal Fishing in Lake Erie —The American Captain of the Tug Silver Spray Tells His Story, in Which He Endeavors to Exonerate Himself From Blame —Effective Shots.

Erie, Pa., Aug. 13.—The Silver Spray, a fishing boat owned here, came into port yesterday afternoon in a badly shattered condition due to an encounter in mid-lake about noon with the Canadian revenue cutter Petrel. For years the Canadian authorities have had trouble with American fishermen poaching on the Canadian side of the lake.

About noon, the Petrel came upon the Silver Spray on the Canadian side, and at once ordered Captain Chris Schau to stop. The Petrel is a strong steel craft, and, it is said, attempted to ram the American boat before she could comply with the order. Captain Schau, remembering the fate of several other boats from this side, which had been captured and confiscated, attempted to escape and started ahead at full speed.

Twenty Shots Took Effect.

The captain of the Petrel opened fire with all the guns she had on board and before he ceased firing some 20 shots had struck the American vessel. One passed through the smoke stack into the pilot house in which Schau stood and two others struck the pilot house. One came within a few inches of the captain.

That no one was killed is considered wonderful as shots entered the cabin and various parts of the boat.

The chase continued until the Silver Spray crossed the line into American waters, when the Petrel gave up the pursuit. The cold water pump on the American boat refused to work for a time and Captain Schau was in despair for a time before he reached the line.

The Silver Spray is a double-decker and was for 12 years at Buffalo as a pleasure steamer.

Capt. Schau's Excuse.

Captain Schau will report the affair to the American State Department at Washington as he says he was only looking for some of the nets which had drifted from this side towards the Canadian shore.

A large number of American fishing tugs have been confiscated by the Canadian Government. One, however, belonging to Dunkirk, was a few weeks ago ordered returned.

A TERRIFIC CYCLONE.

Swept District West of Town of Rockland Ontario, Shattering Buildings and Injuring Four People Severely.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—A terrific cyclone swept the district one mile west of the town of Rockland at 3.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, carrying destruction and injury in its wake. Four persons were seriously injured, and sixty houses, barns and outbuildings were shattered, and in some cases carried completely away. Animals were killed in the fields, and great trees that have stood for centuries were uprooted or mowed down and hurled through the air. Much damage was done to crops. The storm gave no warning, nor was there any time for escape. At 3.20 the sky was clear. Then in less time than it takes to tell it a vast whirlwind cloud swept down the south shore of the Ottawa River.

So far as has been ascertained, the injured are Mrs. Oliver Deguire, Oliver Deguire, aged seven; Harry Deguire, aged four; Miss McCullough, Cumberland.

A summary of the damage to property shows:—Houses destroyed, five; barns and stables destroyed, sixteen; granaries, four; cattle sheds and outbuildings, twenty-four; other structures destroyed, thirteen.

Value of buildings and contents destroyed, $15,000; machinery and vehicles destroyed, $5,000. The crop damage is impossible to estimate, nor can a correct estimate be made of the loss of valuable woods, and nursing live stock.

QUESTION OF ASSESSMENT.

Principal Business of the Ontario Municipal Association at Guelph.

Guelph, Aug. 13.—The first thing the Ontario Municipal Association did yesterday upon opening the meeting was to draft a resolution protesting against the passing of the Toronto and Hamilton Bill.

The delegates from Niagara Falls, Brantford, London and Ottawa all spoke in favor of the resolution, and Mayor Cant of Galt said the streets of his city were being used as freight yards by the railway companies, and it was high time something was done to prevent inroads upon the people's rights.

Mr. F. R. Mutton of Hamilton gave a long address upon the changes it is proposed to suggest in the new Assessment act. It is upon the Assessment Act that most of the time of the convention will be spent. The act was introduced last session, but was afterwards withdrawn to go to the Municipal Committee, which will meet this fall.

The Assessment Commission which drafted the bill, or upon whose report it was drafted, abolished the personalty tax, and substituted therefor a business tax and a house tax, the latter being a supplementary income tax, applicable to rental income.

Stable and Horse Burned.

Owen Sound, Aug. 13.—A stable, owned by W. A. Grier, Mayor of Owen Sound, was damaged by fire yesterday. A valuable horse was cremated. The loss is estimated at $600.

King Travels Incognito.

London, Aug. 13.—King Edward sailed yesterday for Flushing, whence His Majesty will go to Marlenbad to take the waters for a fortnight. He will travel incognito as Duke of Lancaster until Aug. 31, when he will proceed to Vienna to pay his accession visit to Emperor Francis Joseph.

CANADIAN TRADE.

(Monetary Times.)

The advance of our outward and inward trade by leaps and bounds in recent years is one of the remarkable things in Canada's history. Not only does it attract attention beyond the seas, but, the intelligent portion of the United States people, especially those of the northern and north-western states, observe our growing trade and are pressing for reciprocity with us. In the year 1880, the aggregate trade of Canada amounted to $174,000,000; in 1887 it was $202,000,000. By 1896, it had advanced to $239,000,000; in 1901 it was $396,000,000, and this year it reache $424,000,000. These figures are noteworthy, not only for their size, but for their relative increase in two decades.

The change in the character of our exports is an element to be borne in mind. Years ago the great item of Canada's export was lumber and timber, ranging from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year in value. In 1873, it constituted ore-third of all our home export; in 1881, 31 per cent., and as late as 1890, 32 per cent., while the item animals and their produce, which attained such large proportions in recent years, was then quite subsidiary. For the last few years, two divisions of our export trade, live and dead meats, including dairy produce, and products of the field, have surpassed forest products in export value. Minerals form a much more considerable item of our outward trade. Exports of these last year, $31,497,000, ten times what they were twenty years before. Our fishery product has developed, too, and manufactures shipped abroad have made strides which are illustrated if we compare the $16,000,000 and $18,000,000 of manufactures exported in 1901 and 1902 with the $3,000,000 of 1882 and the $6,000,000 of 1892 under the same category.

The character of our import trade varied somewhat in the last twenty years. In 1882, out of total imports amounting to $111,145,000, we bought $50,356,000 worth from Great Britain and $17,006,000 worth from the United States. To-day, out of total imports of $196,000,000 we buy only $49,000,000 worth from the Old Country and $114,740,000 worth from the States. That is to say, the proportion of our purchases from Great Britain was 45 per cent. in 1882, and 25.3⅛ per cent. in 1902, while from the United States it was 42.33 per cent. in 1882, and had grown to 58.4 per cent. last year. Almost half these purchases from the States, however, were raw materials for manufacturers, such as raw cotton, crude rubber, wool, tobacco, hides, chemicals, besides steel rails and coal, and we must remember that these purchases by our manufacturers from the Americans have already gone to swell the aggregate of our $18,000,000 of manufactured goods sent abroad.

The following is a resume of our domestic products exported:—

Exports from Canada 1902.

Produce of the Mine	$ 34,947,574
Fish and Fishery Product	14,143,294
Products of the Forest	32,119,429
Animals and their Produce	59,161,709
Agricultural Products	37,152,688
Manufactured Goods	18,462,970
Miscellaneous Articles	32,599
Total Domestic Product Exp'd	$196,019,763

To the total in this table requires to be added, say, $15,640,286 worth of United States wheat and other products shipped from our ports, to make the total exports from Canada

The aggregate of Canadian trade for the fiscal year 1902 was $423,910,444, of which $221,270,158 consisted of imports and $211,640,286 of exports. Not far from one half of this trade was done with the British Empire all over the world; more than half the exports went to the British Empire. It may be summarized thus

	Imports	Exports.	Total.
British Empire.	$54,039,090	$129,070,620	$183,109,710
United States...	129,794,147	71,197,684	200,991,831
Other Foreign Countr's	27,436,925	11,371,932	39,808,908
	$221,270,161	$211,640,286	$423,910,444

It will thus be seen that 43.18 per cent. of our total trade was done with the British Empire; 47.40 per cent. with the United States; and 9.42 per cent. with other foreign countries.

IN MEMORIAM.

Of Emma Fitzgerald, who died July 24th, 1903, aged 24 years, leaving to mourn their irreparable loss her fathe rand mother, one sister and two brothers.

She has gone from us like a cherished vision;
Short was her life, but finished was her mission,
Ere death's cold hand had chilled her throbbing heart,
And gently bade her earthly toils depart

Farewell, dear friend, and though beneath the sod,
Thy body rests, thy soul now dwells with God.
No more on earth we hear that loving voice,
That made all hearts around thee to rejoice.

Adieu, dear friend, thou from our midst hadst fled;
Thou dost but sleep, we do not think thee dead.
Bitter the tears we wept beside thy bier,
As lovingly we gazed upon that face so dear.

Then, when they took her from our gaze, we did not stoop nor falter,
But brought her as a treasured gem and placed her at God's altar.
There, in the presence of One, who died upon the cross,
We came to seek a sure relief and tell Him of our loss.
And as they took her up the aisle the church bell solemnly toll
This fervent prayer that ascended. "Lord have mercy on her soul."

Peaceful is thy sleep, dear one, beneath thy daisied turf,
That slender form, those loving eyes, were never made for earth;
Now free from all rude cares and worldly strife,
Thou waitest, but, the Resurrection and the Life.

And then, when in God's will my time shall come,
I hope to meet thee in thy heavenly home,
Not made with hands, but all our sins forgiven,
Prepared for us, with Him, eternal rest in heaven.

TWO ABLE REPLIES.

Strong Defence of the Government's Railway Policy.

JUSTIFIED RAILWAY PLANS.

Masterly Arguments of Hon. Mr. Fielding—Cost to the Country—How the Surplus Might Be Applied to It—Mr. Charlton Concludes His Splendid Address — Speeches by Messrs. Monk and Barker.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The debate on the Grand Trunk Pacific resolutions was continued yesterday on the same high level that has marked it on other occasions. Mr. Charlton concluded his able address, and was followed by Mr. Monk, who condemned the proposal as a rash and ill-considered project. Mr. Fielding made one of the greatest speeches of his life in support of the measure, dealing particularly with the financial aspect of the bill. Mr. Barker closed the debate.

Failed to Grasp Situation.

The two chief speeches were those of Mr. Charlton and the Minister of Finance. Mr. Monk was sandwiched in between them, but his remarks indicated a singular failure to grasp the requirements of the situation. Moreover, his outlook was narrow and Provincial, rather than broad and statesmanlike. He devoted a great deal of time to explaining how unsuited, in his opinion, the location of that part of the proposed line through Quebec was to the interests of that Province. Mr. Charlton followed up his remarks of Tuesday evening with a further deliverance of three hours, which fairly bristled with facts in support of the Government's policy.

Mr. Fielding's Speech.

Hon. Mr. Fielding's speech was forceful and fervid. The first half of it was made before 6 o'clock, and when the Minister of Finance was forced to desist by the House rising for dinner the Ministerialists broke into a tumult of applause. Mr. Fielding's logic was unanswerable, and the financial details of the agreement were explained in a luminous manner. His speech was lofty and elevated in style and pervaded by a strong sentiment of confidence in the future of Canada. He was most effective when he pointed out that if instead of reducing the public debt, as the Government would do this year, the surplus of $18,725,703 was handed over to a trust or insurance company accustomed to deal with annuities, and they were allowed to invest it on the basis of three per cent. of obligation which the Government assumed in connection with the enterprise.

THE CONSERVATIVE PICNIC.

Members of the Party Hear Speeches by Leaders—Open Air Demonstration Hardly Up to Local Expectation.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—The Conservative demonstration at the Island yesterday was announced by its managers to be a picnic and a social meeting of party leaders and workers, and in that it was a thorough success. Although the attendance of Conservatives from outside Toronto, other than the leaders, was not greatly perceptible, the speakers last evening addressed a gathering of some eight thousand people, and the enthusiasm of the great crowd was almost as eager and spontaneous as if an election campaign were in progress. For the demonstration in the afternoon sufficient interest apparently had not been awakened to induce many people to forsake business for a day, and the crowd in the oval where the speeches took place was probably not over two thousand.

The large attendance in the evening, however, and the warm welcome given the visiting leaders, revived the spirits of the local committee of Conservatives, which inaugurated the affair. The grand stand was two-thirds filled, and many thousands stood about the speakers' platform in front of the stand. The crowd was so large that probably a considerable number were unable to hear the speakers, but it was not large enough to call into use the other two speakers' stands, which the promoters had provided to carry out the arranged programme of simultaneous addresses from three platforms.

Perhaps the most striking feature of the gathering was the eagerness of the crowd to see Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.P.P. At every opportunity there were cries for the member for Manitoulin, and he was forced to come to the front of the platform at both the afternoon and evening meetings to satisfy the vociferous demands of the audiences. Next in interest to Mr. Gamey's appearance were the utterances of Mr. R. P. Roblin, the Premier of Manitoba, who spoke at some length in the evening, dealing mainly with the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, and Hon. Mr. Roblin must have been flattered both by the reception accorded him when he appeared and the marked attention with which his utterances were heard.

The Speakers.

The oval was appropriately decorated with mottoes. Mr. E. F. Clarke conveyed Mr. Borden's regrets that press of business in the House prevented his presence.

Speeches were then delivered by Mr. J. P. Whitney, leader of the Ontario Opposition; Hon. L. P. Pelletier of Quebec; Hon. Rufus Pope, Hon. R. P. Roblin, Premier of Manitoba; Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., Hon. M. F. Hackett of Quebec, Col. Sam Hughes, E. A. Dunlop, North Renfrew; E. King Dodds, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, M.P.P., Dr. Reaume, M.P.P., and others.

The massed bands played the National Anthem, and there were cheers upon cheers to the leaders as the crowd wended their way to the boats and the city.

DEATH OF SENATOR COCHRANE.

Pioneer in Canadian Stock Breeders Industry Passes Away.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—Hon. Senator Cochrane died yesterday afternoon at his home in Hillhurst, Compton County, after a lengthy illness. The deceased was a celebrated agriculturist and cattle breeder.

Sketch of His Career.

Hon. Matthew Henry Cochrane was one of the largest importers and breeders of high-class cattle in this country. In early life Mr. Cochrane was in the leather business in Boston, but returning to Canada in 1854 he started the business known as Cochrane, Cassils & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers.

It is as a breeder of good cattle that he was best known to this country, however. He was the pioneer in the stock raising industry of Canada. His one object was to secure the best specimens of shorthorn cattle money could buy, and in this aim he purchased the famous cow, "Rosedale," which animal had not her peer in England. From Rosedale was secured a calf which brought the neat sum of $3,500. The next year Mr. Cochrane paid 1,000 guineas for another cow, "Duchess 97th," the highest price ever paid for a female shorthorn. It was estimated that Mr. Cochrane in 1870 alone paid as much as $60,000 for breeders in England, bringing them to this country for stock purposes.

Mr. Cochrane was appointed to the Senate in 1872 by the Earl of Dufferin. A Conservative in politics he was also a life long member of the Church of England.

HIS HOLINESS RECOVERING.

But His Physicians Order Abstention From All Work.

Rome, Aug. 13.—The Pope yesterday morning left his apartments for the first time since his fainting fit Tuesday, going for a drive and walk in the Vatican garden. He remained in the open air about two hours, and returned to the palace feeling much better. All that remains of Tuesday's collapse is a slight feeling of lightness in the head.

Drs. Lapponi and Davenzie visited the Pope yesterday, and, though they found him almost entirely recovered, they continued to recommend that he should take a rest and an abstention from all work. "But this will mean such an accumulation of work that it will kill me afterwards to catch up with it," said the Pope in reply.

Boy Fell Off Steamer's Deck.

Barrie, Aug. 13.—Jas. Kennedy, the 13-year-old son of Alex. Kennedy, blacksmith, Barrie, was drowned at Big Bay Point Tuesday night. While he was standing on the stern deck of the steamer Myrtle the boat gave a lurch in the heavy sea, throwing the boy into the water.

Victoria Judge Retires.

Sir Hartley Williams has retired from the position of senior puisne Judge of the State of Victoria, after twenty years' service, and will take up his permanent abode in England. He was born in what was then the little village of Melbourne sixty years ago, and in that city, with the exception of the years he spent at Oxford and in the Temple, his life has been spent. He rose so rapidly at the Melbourne Bar that he was made Supreme Court Judge at thirty-eight, with a salary of £3,000 a year. Twenty years ago cycling was not the institution that it is to-day, and when Sir Hartley went his first circuit on a bicycle and was escorted into Ballarat by a corps of local cyclists, old-fashioned Australians wondered what the world was coming to, and whether judicial dignity was among the vanished virtues. In his prime Sir Hartley was also an accomplished oarsman, cricketer and boxer. It was his painful duty on one occasion to send into seclusion for seven years his old professor of the art of self-defence for highway robbery with violence. As an amateur and somewhat aggressive theologian Sir Hartley has figured frequently in the pulpit of the Melbourne Unitarian Church on Sunday mornings, and his book on "Religion Without Superstition" not only caused much controversy in colonial religious circles, but also drew an elaborate reply from the then Bishop of Melbourne, Dr. Moorhouse, who is now Bishop of Manchester.

COMMISSION APPOINTED.

Appointed to Investigate the Power Question Under Act of Last Session—Sixteen Municipalities Interested.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—Sixteen municipalities were represented at the City Hall yesterday when the joint committee, appointed at the conference in Berlin, met to decide upon the appointment of a commission to go into the matter of cost of developing and transmitting power for the municipality from Niagara or other objective point.

Among those present and the towns and cities they represented were: John R. Eden, Mayor, Berlin; Samuel J. Cherry, Preston; J. S. Klotz, Preston; Lieut.-Col. Gartshore, Mayor Beck and Ald. Minhinnock of London; Mayor Heppner and Geo. McLagen, Stratford; Ald. Patterson and R. McGregor, Galt; W. J. Mills, W. J. Berry, Ingersoll; E. W. B. Snider, St. Jacobs; J. C. Haight, Mayor Bean, Waterloo; Mayor Maxwell, St. Thomas; R. S. Graham, St. Mary's; Ald. Brewster, Ald. Whitham, Brantford; P. W. Ellis, Ald. Spence, Controller Burns and Engineer Rust of Toronto.

Powers of the Commission.

Under the act passed at the last session of the Legislature the municipalities were empowered to meet together when proposing to go into the power business, and the first step was to appoint a commission of three, with a fourth member as an electrical expert and this commission was to go fully into the matter of cost of developing and transmitting electric energy for power and light purposes throughout the province, but particularly that portion of it lying between Toronto and London.

The duties of this commission, by the terms of the act, are: to investigate the different propositions before the municipalities, the probable cost of developing power at Niagara, the cost of transmitting it to the cities, towns and villages, and all the cost of plants, etc.

When they ascertained the above the result must be submitted to the people to vote upon, and if carried by them the chief justice of the province shall appoint a commission of not less than three nor more than five members, and this commission shall then control the power scheme, though not at all under the control of the municipalities who pay for the development, transmission, etc.

It was for the purpose of electing this first commission that the committee met yesterday. These gentlemen were selected as the first commission: E. W. B. Snider, St. Jacobs, Ont.; P. W. Ellis, Toronto; Adam Beck, London and W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford.

A resolution was then adopted unanimously ratifying the selection, and the addition of such electrical engineer as the committee may choose to act with them.

ATHLETICS ARE THE CHAMPIONS.

Of District 12 in the Junior C. L. A.

PRES. LENNOX FACED BALL.

Won Second Game in Easy Fashion by Score of 5-2.

Game was Comparatively Free From Rough Play—Many Brilliant Plays Were Made by Both Teams.

The Athletics are now the champions of this district in C.L.A., and that position has been won by clean, clever playing, playing which it has been a pleasure to witness, and the gentlemanly conduct of the different members of the team has won them hundreds of friends.

The game yesterday was witnessed by more than a thousand spectators, the largest number ever attending a lacrosse game in Peterborough, and they were treated to an exhibition of the National Game which would have done honour to intermediate or even senior teams. It was comparatively clean and, at times, very fast, although as a whole the players did not put quite as much life into their work as that which characterized the game of last Wednesday. But there were times when some really brilliant playing was indulged in, particularly by the players on the home.

To those who witnessed yesterday's game and that of last Wednesday, there can be no question as to the superiority of the Athletics. While the T.A.S. played a good game and number on their line up some very fast men, the aggregation is inferior to the Athletics. Their combination work is excellent, and there are a number of excellent stick handlers, but their shooting is defective, and in yesterday's game this deficiency was plainly exemplified. A number of opportunities occurred when goals were lost through inability to shoot accurately; while of the Athletics, their shooting was particularly brilliant and but for the excellent work of O'Brien in goal, the score to the credit of the boys in blue would have been much larger.

The T.A.S. line-up was somewhat different to that of the last game. Doyle was replaced at centre by Parnell, and Rappel played inside home, instead of Laplerre, Mahoney in place of McGrath. The changes did not, however, affect the strength of the team to any appreciable extent. The Athletic line-up was the same as in the last game, with one exception, Dunsford playing 3rd defence, replacing Forman.

The game was an interesting one to witness, as almost through the entire game the fastest kind of lacrosse was played, and Referee Peter McMillan allowed no time to waste. He was very quick and proved a most efficient referee. His decisions were never questioned and he kept the players down to business all the time. The game was an improvement over the first one in the fact that very little rough play was indulged in, and any which did arise was quickly put an end to by Mr. McMillan. The only serious infraction was when Crowley with his stick cut Robertson's head, and was given ten minutes in which to view the game as a spectator.

Mr. Lennox, the president of the C.L.A., was an interested spectator of the game, and faced off the ball at the beginning of play. He expressed himself as being highly pleased with the playing, and complimented the players on the quality of lacrosse exhibited by them.

The game was won by the same score as in the first game, 5—2, and gives the Athletics a lead of 6 goals.

O'Brien in the nets for the T.A.S. played a star game; he turned aside many shots, which but for his timely work would have been scores. The defence, with Derocher and Mahoney at point and cover point respectively, guarded the nets well, and it was only by hard work that the Athletics were able to penetrate their ranks to the goal. McCabe, the veteran lacrosse at second defence, saved the nets many times by breaking up a rush and in his playing yesterday he well sustained his reputation and he was well assisted in his work by Meagher and Crowley, the latter often making a rush down the field, when his sprinting abilities stood him in good stead. Parnell at centre showed good ability as a stick handler. He was very accurate in taking passes, but seemed to fail when shooting on goal. He had some good chances to score, but his shots were wide. He did, however, score one of the two goals to the T.A.S. credit. McCoy at 3rd home, played a good consistent game. His combination work with the other home players being often very clever. To Muldoon, McNicholl and Whitty, however, must be given the credit for the most effective playing. McNicholl's work in yesterday's game far surpassed that displayed in the game of last week, and he proved himself a very valuable man on the team. He made a number of shots on goal, all of them, however, being stopped either by Clarke or Ketchum. Rappell was only in the game during the first half, but during that time he made some good plays. At half time Best was obliged to retire from the game on account of an injury which he sustained to one of his limbs in the last game, and which had not recovered sufficiently to allow him to play. Rappell going off to even up. The home of the Athletics was considerably weakened by Best's absence. He is one of the surest shots on the team. After Best's retirement Glover played his position, and he with Cavanagh did most of the scoring. Cavanagh's work yesterday was a marvel. It is doubtful if more spectacular playing has ever been witnessed on a Peterborough field than that of Cavanagh. He was ably seconded by Glover, who scored two of the five goals, and assisted in all the other scores. Wilkinson played a good efficient game. His passing being accurate and he with the other members of the home field played a combination which required the best efforts of the T.A.S. defence, the best that could be gotten together, to break up. The work of O'Flynn, the clever little 3rd home was a noteworthy feature, and kept Crowley busy checking him. He is very quick and an adept at dodging. It is impossible to over estimate the value of Robertson's playing. In centre he played a suberb game; he was always on the spot when required and never missed a pass. He scored the first goal in one minute after the face off. His work yesterday was fully up to the standard of efficiency established by his playing in the first game. Dunsford, who played Forman's position, 3rd defence, put up a good game, and certainly qualified for a position on the team. Mein, at 2nd defence, was in his usual good form, and relieved many a dangerous situation. Of Howell, it is sufficient to say that he was, Howell, and not only did he fill his position on the defence to perfection, but frequently took the ball into the opponents' territory, and his playing was always a dangerous element to the safety of the T.A.S. goal. Morgan at cover point was always in his place when needed, and spoiled some pretty combinations which looked good for a score. The playing of Ketchum is becoming more and more a conspicuous feature, and in yesterday's game his value to the team was clearly demonstrated. On at least two occasions he saved the goals when a goal seemed inevitable. In goal the playing of Clark was of the stellar variety. He stopped shot after shot from the sticks of Whitty, McNichol and Muldoon.

As the teams faced President Lennox for the game to begin play, they lined up as follows:

FIRST GAME.

The play started at 3.27, the ball being faced off by President Lennox, and in one minute after a brilliant rush by O'Flynn, Glover and Robertson the latter notched the first goal the play being very fast and the passing clean.

SECOND TO T.A.S.

In the face-off the sphere travelled to the Athletics territory, but Ketchum and Morgan got in some good work and the danger was averted, the ball going the length of the field, and a shot was made by Glover on the T.A.S. goal, which O'Brien stopped. Another running combination on the part of Glover and Robertson carried the ball again into the T.A.S. territory, but a score was not the result. Derocher was given five minutes to witness the game from the side for an injudicious play. After 15 1-2 minutes play McNicholl scored the first for the T.A.S. on a pass from Whitty. Howell and Crowley were ruled off for five minutes each. The first quarter ended with the score a tie—one each.

THIRD GAME.

Shortly after play was started in the second quarter an attempt was made to score on the part of the T.A.S. home, assisted by Parnell, who shot, the ball going wide. Robertson suffered a rather severe cut on the head, administered by Crowley, who was penalized for ten minutes in consequence. The third game went to the boys in blue after six minutes, Cavanah doing the trick, after a pretty combination by Glover and O'Flynn. This ended the scoring for the quarter, although shots were made on both goals. Wilkinson made what looked like a sure shot, but O'Brien was able to save the nets. This was followed by a shot on Clark's stronghold by Parnell after a pretty rush, but the quarter ended and half time was called with the score 2—1.

FOURTH GAME.

This also went to the Athletics, the feat being accomplished in one minute by Glover in a very clever shot on a pass from O'Flynn, the shot being sent from behind the net.

FIFTH GOES TO ATHLETICS.

After the face off, Cavanah, who was playing an elegant game, made another shot on goal, which but for the timely intervention of McCabe, who was at the net, a score would have resulted. The T.A.S. home now took matters in hand, and Whitty made a dangerous run into the Athletics' territory, but Morgan was in the way, and relieved the situation. The T.A.S. net was located after seven minutes play by Glover who took a nice pass from Wilkinson.

T. A. S. TAKE SIXTH.

In this game, the "Total Abstainers" confined the play almost entirely to the Athletics' territory, and Muldoon and McNicholl each shot, the former's going wide, while that of the latter was stopped nicely by Clarke, Parnell finally located the net after four minutes' play, in which some really excellent combination was exhibited by the T. A. S. home. This ended the scoring for the red and black, and although some good attempts were made, the excellent work of Morgan and Ketchum prevented a score.

SEVENTH GAME.

The last goal was scored by Cavanagh, in 5 minutes, but not until some nice work on the part of Whitty and McNicholl had put the Athletics defence on their best efforts to prevent a score. The last game was scored while the players were bunched before the T.A.S. goal where the ball had been taken by some of the fastest kind of playing. Cavanagh's work at this juncture was the best seen on a Peterborough lacrosse field in a long time, and he richly deserved the applause which greeted his success in locating the net. The third quarter ended with the score 5-2 and no further scoring was done in the remaining quarter, which was characterized by close checking and steady work on the part of both teams. Howell and McCabe were each ruled off for 5 minutes during the last period. Cavanagh again continued his good work and O'Brien's rests were few. McNicholl and Muldoon also made things interesting at the other end frequently, but were unable to penetrate the defence, their few shots on goal being delivered at long range.

Thus ended the series of games for the championship of this district, and the result proves to everyone's satisfaction that the championship has been won fairly, and that it is a well-earned reward of merit. The utmost good feeling prevails between the members of the two teams. The defeated aggregation cheerfully rendering the praise due the victors.

NOTES.

The Athletics' next game will be with Lindsay on August 20th.

Robertson will always have a souvenir of the game in the shape of a scar.

LaPierre, as field captain, directed the work of the players to the best possible advantage.

President Lennox expressed his pleasure at the manner in which he was entertained while in town.

Each team had their photographs taken before the game. President Lennox was in the Athletics group.

'Twas a harvest for the liverymen. The best class of people attended the game, and paid their admission as well as hack fare.

Mr. Lennox, the President of the C. L. A. was at the conclusion of the game, driven around the town by the officers of the victorious club.

Joe Wright had his own trouble in keeping the youngsters off the field, but Joe's good natured smile generally had the desired effect.

Mr. A. H. Stratton, Pres. H. R. H. Kenner and Mr. J. J. Howden, Hon. Pres. of the Athletics, entertained President Lennox during the day.

A noticeable feature of the game was the attendance of many of the business and professional men, as well as ladies, who evidenced by their presence their interest in and desire to support an organization which is determined to play clean lacrosse.

The players of both teams have only words of praise for the work of Mr. McMillan, as referee. He was strictly impartial in all his decisions, and, as well showed consideration for the spectators, by keeping the game in progress without allowing vexatious delays.

Mr. J. J. Howden, Hon. Pres. of the Athletics found in the referee, Mr. P. McMillan, of Beaverton, an old time friendly rival, and the latter was entertained by Mr. Howden while here. They faced each other on the field in the old days, when the popular butcher played on the Peterborough team, and Mr. McMillan was an efficient member of the Beaverton aggregation. It was a mutual pleasure to renew their friendship under familiar auspices.

SALVATION ARMY AUTOGRAPH QUILT.

Get Your Name put on What Will Sometime be a Great Curiosity.

In order that new instruments might be purchased for their band, the Salvation Army has resorted to still another method, that of making an autograph quilt. On this quilt, which was shown to the Examiner yesterday, were a number of names of persons residing in England, Australia, the United States and Canada, besides other countries, and any person can have his or her name worked in at the small outlay of ten cents. It is learned that every member of the local S. A. corps must write from five to fifty letters to friends, asking them for their signatures, which are then worked on in wool. It is stated that Mr. R. C. Braund writes the names while Mrs. H. Greene works them in.

In the centre of the quilt is the Salvation Army crest, while surrounding it are four squares, which will be sold to advertisers. One has already been bought for the Sunlight Soap advertisement, which has been worked on. It is understood that about 1,000 names are required, while at present about 600 are worked in.

On completion the quilt will be sold to the highest bidder, in fact one gentleman has already offered $10.

The idea is an excellent one and the Examiner hopes that the Army will realize enough to make up the remaindar of the $500 which they have been trying to raise.

Fate, Chance or What?

As we jog along life's pathway we know next to nothing of what is almost within our reach on each side of us, and yet by merely pushing aside the thicket of ignorance bordering our road we would undoubtedly discover no end of delightful possibilities. Sometimes, however, fate or chance or Providence, whatever we may call it, suddenly brings us to an opening, and we find that we have all along been in close companionship with some congenial spirit whose existence even we have never suspected.

"The way I met my wife is a curious exemplification of this," said a man who had been remarking how little one knows beyond his immediate range of vision. "I was taking a walking tour through the Tyrol with a couple of other fellows, and intended on that eventful day to make a certain village before nightfall. And now please note coincidence No. 1. A violent storm came up and we were obliged to go out of our way to take refuge in a little wayside inn. There we found that another party, consisting of a man and his wife and the latter's niece, who were driving through that picturesque region, had also sought a night's lodging and had taken possession of all the available rooms. They were most kind, however, the women insisting upon giving up one of their rooms, and we all became very friendly, foraging in the larder for our supper and cooking it with our landlady in her little kitchen. As I was supposed to be the culinary genius of our party, and the niece had attended a cooking class in New York, we were installed as a committee on the commissariat, and we became necessarily very 'chummy,' especially as the rain continued the next day, and we all voted to remain where we were until the roads got into condition. Well, to make a long story short, the niece, as you probably have surmised, is at present my wife. The oddest part of it all is yet to come. for mutual enquiries soon elicited the fact that we were both from New York; but it was not until some time afterward that we discovered that we lived in the same street, and, what was stranger still, actually next door to each other, and had grown up without knowing each other, separated only by a wall of brick and plaster, my boyhood at school and young manhood at college making the circumstance a perfectly natural one especially as our parents were not acquainted."

Where Waves are Highest.

In his bok of sailing experiences, "Deep Sea Vagabonds," Albert Sonnischen, who threatens to outrival Frank T. Bullen as a describer of the life of the man before the mast, gives a vivid and awful account of his first trip around Cape Horn, the roughest sea passage in the world. He writes:

"For two solid weeks it blew a roaring gale with a few rare half-hour intermissions. With top-sails, foresail, mainsail and sometimes reefed top-gallant sails set we scudded before the wind at a twelve knot rate. Such waves I had never seen I did not actually measure the distance between their tops; it seemed two miles but I will swear by one, anyhow. I have read somewhere that waves never reach over fifty feet in height. Our rigging was over a hundred, and still when we sat on our royal yards and the ship was down in the trough of a sea, we could not see beyond the waves before and astern of us. Nor is this to be wondered at so much, for in this belt, and only here, wind and waves have the sweep of the globe's circumference. On would come those mighty green foam-capped mountains, heaving the big ship skyward, until it seemed our masts must pierce the clouds. It was a horrible sensation, even to me, who had never suffered seasickness, and that sickening fear as the ship topped over the crest, never leaving one weighing in one's bowels like a weight of lead. Fear is located somewhere below the stomach, I know that, because I here had the sensation long enough to analyze it thoroughly.

"For a moment the vessel balances on the crest, in a smother of foam, then, that awful moment the stern falls, that sickening slant, a momentary pause, and then—down—down—down, into a great dark green abyss, so deep that the sun does not reach, and as we sink, the bellying sails drop listless, for even the wind is cut off by the wall coming up astern. A short pause, then a heave, and up again—up—up—up, until with a rush the wind catches the sails again, and that heart-sickening roar from aft, growing—growing, until it strikes the stern with a smash, washing over the bulwarks on both sides as it shoots forward. And then it begins all over again—the same experience.

"At such times only the most experienced seamen were sent to the wheel, and two at once, for when those caps strike the stern it takes muscle to hold the helm. A canvas screen was raised abaft the wheel, so that the helmsmen could not glance astern, for even experienced seamen have been known to leave their post in a panic at sight of those gigantic combers tearing up from astern, as though to swallow all, and to leave the wheel at such a time would mean instant disaster—loss of masts at least, for the ship must be kept directly before the seas. The least inattention might cause her to broach, and should she be caught by a comber abeam, then would come her finish. This was an experience we had off and on for almost two months, and men and officers were worn under the constant strain on body and nerves alike. But the owners wanted a quick passage, and then—the vessel was well insured."

The Emerson Craze.

The men and women, says the "Literary Digest," who are writing anniversary articles for the magazines on Emerson as a philosopher, Emerson as a teacher, Emerson as a poet, Emerson as a man, "Emerson as I knew him," etc., display a marked tendency to eulogy rather than criticism. Matthew Arnold once remarked that the whole body of Emerson's verse was not worth Longfellow's little poem, "The Bridge." "Ah," says one of the Emerson eulogists, "this indicated Arnold's limitations, not Emerson's." Even the most trivial words and actions of the Concord philosopher are reverently recorded. Julia Ward Howe recalls fondly how he once said at dinner: "Mrs. Howe, try our snap cake;" and William Dean Howells chronicles the fact that when Emerson smoked a cigar, "it was as if one then saw Dante smoking, and one then saw it with all the reverence due the spectacle."

A BIT OF PANTOMIME.

Max O'Rell's Opinion of Four Peoples Given in Gestures.

"When Max O'Rell came to Montreal some years ago," said a man from that city to a Detroit Journal contributor, "we fixed up a little joke on him. We had noticed how gracefully he could unite a caustic criticism with a compliment, a faculty that enabled him to say the sharpest things without offending the people he was criticising. We were going to put the faculty to a test.

"We had him lunch with us, and there were at the table besides himself an Englishman, a Scotchman, an Irishman and a French-Canadian. When we got our guest off his guard we demanded an honest opinion of the different races we represented. As the opinion had to be given in the presence of all four, the situation for him was a rather delicate one. But it never seemed to trouble him, and he gave his opinion without a moment's hesitation.

"'The Scotchman,' he said, and he clinched his right hand tightly and pretended to try to force it open with his left. 'The Englishman'— and he went through the same performance, opening the hand at the end after an apparent struggle. 'The Irishman'— and he held out his hand wide open, with the palm upward. 'The Frenchman'— and he made a motion with both hands as if he were emptying them on the table.

"There was not a word of explanation, but we all understood thoroughly and had a hearty laugh. Max O'Rell had maintained his reputation."

The Snake's Whistle.

I found myself somewhat muddy and breathing a little hard, but I was not wholly chagrined. I had heard and seen a black snake whistle. I had never even known of the habit before. Since then I have seen one other snake do it, and I think I have heard the sound three or four times. It is almost indescribable. The jaws were closed as it was made, not even the throat moving, that I could see. The air seemed to be blown violently through the nostrils, though sounding as if driven through the teeth—a shrilling hiss, fine and piercing, which one not so much hears as feels—feels it crisping cold along his nerves. It may seem strange, but I believe this whistle is a mating call. Even the forked tongue (or maybe the nose) of a snake grows vocal with love.—Dallas Lore Sharp in National Magazine.

All Wear Costly Raiment.

No man who eats in a restaurant ever pays less than $75 for a suit or an overcoat, and no woman who eats in a public place ever wears a waist costing less than $25, and frequently the cost is much more, at least so says the proprietor of a fashionable New York restaurant. He, like all restaurant owners, occasionally receives complaints from people who have lost an overcoat—or mislaid one—and who have had garments positively ruined by a careless waiter spilling soup or something else on a portion of it, usually a sleeve, and he says that the above figures are the lowest quotations he ever heard.

Exit the Editor.

"You have no use for the papers, you say?" remarked the tourist.

"No," replied the wild westerner. "They get too personal sometimes. I did subscribe to a paper once, but I stopped it."

"What paper is it you refer"—

"You mean what paper 'was' it. Ain't I just told you I stopped it? Done it in one shot too."

MARTHA M'CULLOCH-WILLIAMS

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Anice made a face at her image in the glass, saying as she shook a dainty fist at it: "You idiot! Why don't you make yourself look as ugly as you feel?"

"I think, my dear," Aunt Margaret said, sticking her head through the open door behind, "it is because vanity is a trifle stronger with you than apprehension. You think you don't want to marry Charley Cliffe. I know you don't want him to find you a fright."

"Isn't it horrible, being so vain, with one's whole future in the balance?" Anice said, trying hard to be tearful. Aunt Margaret only laughed. After a little she said with twinkling eyes: "I have always thought vanity was among the heaven implanted instincts which help to save women from themselves. Now I am sure of it."

"What do you mean?" Anice cried. "Surely you don't, you can't, think I'm shamming?" Again Miss Gordon laughed and said: "Not consciously, my dear. The truth is I think you resent the fact that you have no choice in this made to order match."

"Well, wouldn't that gall any girl with the spirit of a mouse?" Anice demanded. Miss Gordon looked thoughtful. "It is unfortunate, as I see it," she said. "That, however, does not alter facts. Instead of cultivating a hostile mind, you had much better be fair. Remember, it is not the young man's fault. The blame, if blame there is, lies wholly with old Mme. Boynton. She wanted her fortune to go to you two, her step-grandchildren, the sole descendants of her two husbands. Besides, I think she reasoned that as Charley, whom she petted, would certainly marry somebody, it was just as well to put him in the way of marrying you."

"So if I say 'No' he gets the whole fortune, whereas he may 'relinquish' me and keep two-thirds of it," Anice said. "Aunty, I have the greatest mind to stain my face and dye my hair red and wear a grass green gown and a yellow stock"—

"A rainbow would become you ever so much better," some one said, coming through the door—some one tall and slim, with merry eyes and firm, muscular hands. He went straight up to Anice and kissed her upon both cheeks, saying: "Stars and garters! What a beauty you have turned out to be! Why didn't I come straight to see you? Nan, dear, I'm in the confessional. I've gone and courted another girl without ever giving you a chance"—

"Oh, how jolly!" Anice cried. "With all that nonsense out of the way I am awfully glad to see you. I remember you as a real nice boy ever so many years back."

"I think you were a tartar, and I know you were ugly," Cliffe said, his eyes twinkling. "That's why I made up to the other one. What have you done to yourself? The girl I left behind me was sallow and scrawny and green eyed, with no hair to speak of, and fingers like talons"—

"And just up from six weeks of fever," Anice interrupted, shaking a mop of yellow brown curls at him. "I have spent an hour a day ever since forgetting how I looked just then. If I had known how faithfully you remembered"—

"Well, what?" Cliffe asked as she made a tentative pause.

"Oh, nothing," Anice returned. "I almost said I would have made myself live up to your recollections."

Cliffe laughed, then ran on: "Now that under our granddam's nightmare of a will we have duly arrived at years of indiscretion let's settle money matters out of hand. I'm going to relinquish you in the presence of witnesses. You may marry whom you please for all of me. I shall also give you half the money"—

"Oh, I think you are a dear!" Anice interrupted, dimpling all over her rosy face. "And you'll stay here a month, and we'll be the best comrades going. You'll tell me all about your sweetheart"—

"On one condition," Cliffe broke in. "That you get engaged to somebody before I go away."

"You are a trifle unreasonable," Anice said with a softly brilliant smile. "I want to be free—free as air for six whole months—before I even think of bondage."

Comrades the two became, comrades so close and congenial Miss Gordon looked after them sometimes with eyes that were not quite clear. "They were made for each other and will find it out too late," she said in her heart. Outwardly she kept silence. Fate had taken up the cards, and she had no mind to try crossing the deal.

Cliffe spoke often of his betrothed, but always vaguely—she was as high as his heart, her eyes the color he loved best in all the world. When the wedding day was set Anice and Aunt Margaret should know. He had no sort of doubt they would come to love his sweetheart as she so well deserved. Now and again he gave them messages out of her letters. Anice was insanely curious to read one of the letters through, but Cliffe would never agree to it.

The month was almost ended. Next to the last day of it Cliffe rode with Anice up Round Top to watch the sun go down. It was Indian summer weather, with all the air full of warm haze and dead ripe autumn scents. They went slowly, he leaning toward the girl all up the long slope. At the top he dismounted and held out his arms to her, saying a little huskily: "Come! I will carry you to the very tip of the rocks."

Anice felt him tremble as she slipped into his arms. Her own heart beat furiously—she was beginning to find out what his presence or his absence would mean in her life. But she smiled back at him bravely when at last they stood hand in hand upon the craggy pinnacle. The sun sank, a globe of crimson, filling the whole world with rosy radiance. In that transfiguring illumination Anice had the face of an angel, serene, transparent to inner light. Cliffe laid his hand softly over hers and said very low, "It is hard to go down from all this to utter darkness." As he felt her shiver faintly he went on, "Anice, must a man suffer his whole life long because of a mistake?"

"I do not know what you mean," Anice said untruthfully, turning away her telltale eyes. Cliffe caught both her hands. "I think you do know," he said. "Anyway you know we love each other. Now, the question is, What shall we do?"

"Easily answered—for you," Anice said, her lips trembling. "You are going away—to keep your pledged word"—

"But you and my heart? Dare I leave both behind me?" Cliffe said very low, his voice thrilling strangely.

"'I could not love thee, dear, so much loved I not honor more,'" Anice quoted almost under breath. "We—we are comrades," she ran on a little tremulously. "Comrades stand by each other, keep each other up to the mark"—

"Comrades indeed and sweethearts and shall be plighted lovers," Cliffe cried, catching her to him in a breathless clasp. "Anice, darling, forgive me. I deceived you. I said I had courted another girl and spoke the truth. But it was with the understanding that she refuse me. I had your picture, dearest—even that had taken me captive—but I knew you well enough to understand how little chance there was of making you love me if I appeared in the light of a necessary evil. I kept it up thus long because—well, because I wanted to find out how well you loved me. Dear heart, sweet one, say you forgive the comrade who tricked you because he feared to lose you."

"I do not see anything to forgive," Anice said, nestling to him with a little happy smile.

Sideache, Backache, Headache,

And many other aches to which women are peculiarly subject are generally the result of a diseased condition of the womanly organism. When this diseased condition is cured, sideache, backache, headache, etc., are cured also.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. When these diseases are cured the aches they cause are also cured.

"I will drop you a few lines to-day to let you know that I am feeling well now," writes Miss Annie Stephens, of Belleville, Wood Co., West Va. "I feel like a new woman. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have no headache now, no backache, and no pain in my side any more. No bearing-down pain any more. I think that there is no medicine like Dr Pierce's medicine. I thank you very much for what you have done for me—your medicine has done me much good."

Sol Smith Russell and the Dog.

Sol Smith Russell was once forced to accept the hospitality of a family where table manners were unknown and coarseness prevailed. The people were liberal hearted, though, and treated the actor generously.

For every favor received, for each dish passed or question asked Mr. Russell responded with a "Thank you" or other grateful acknowledgment.

This constant "Thank you" annoyed the host and his family. In desperation, they finally asked Mr. Russell to omit it.

"Impossible!" said the actor. "I was taught to be grateful. A good habit is as hard to break as a bad one."

"Nonsense!" exclaimed the man of the house, humiliated by the rebuke. "Nothing is impossible."

"Very well, then," said the comedian, using his famous nasal drawl. "You first prevent your dog from wagging his tail for food given or kind word spoken; then I will omit my 'Thank you.'"

"I won't cut my dog's tail off for you or nobody," said the man as he affectionately patted his dog's head.

"Yes; your dog and I belong to the impossibilities," concluded Mr. Russell.—Boston Post.

A Wonderful Dream.

It was in the days of Philip the Good, duke of Burgundy, that a cobbler mounted a royal throne. As the duke was traveling one night to Bruges he came upon a man stretched upon the ground sound asleep, and bade his attendants carry him to the palace, strip off his rags and place him, robed in fine linen, in his own bed.

When the man awoke next morning he was addressed as "your highness" and astounded to find himself among such rich surroundings. In vain he protested that he was no prince, but a poor cobbler; they asked him what clothing he would wear, and at last conducted him, splendidly dressed, to mass in the ducal chapel. Every ceremony was observed throughout the day, the cobbler appeared in public in his new role, was received on all sides, by command of the duke, with deep respect, and ended his brief reign in the palace with a grand supper and ball.

When presently he fell asleep he was reclothed in his rags and taken to the spot where he had been found when this practical joke was conceived. Waking in due time he returned home and related to his wife what he took to be his wonderful dream.

Silly Billy From Bolton.

In a certain town in the north of England there is a man known by the name of Silly Billy. Not feeling well one day, he sent for the doctor. After examination the doctor asked him if he would take a note to the Model Lodging house and he would give him sixpence. So Billy, not liking to refuse, said he would. But on the way there he came across a street sweeper that he knew. He told the sweeper where he was going, but he said if he would take the note he would give him threepence. So off he went and gave the landlord the note, and he found the following written:

"Give this man a bath and keep him in till tomorrow morning, and I will call and see him."

So the following morning the doctor came and was shown into his room. Looking at the man, he exclaimed:

"This is not the man I sent!"

"No, it's not, and I'll pound Silly Billy's head off when I see him!" the sweeper replied.—London Telegraph.

Had Quick Consumption.

How a Statue Grew.

Very warlike is the aspect of a singular equestrian statue in Belgium, yet there is no cause for alarm since it is nothing but a tree. Some ten years ago a policeman retired from the force and went to live near Charleroi. Being an amateur horticulturist, he busied himself a good deal with trees and flowers, and one day as he was trimming a hawthorn in his garden it occurred to him that it would be a novel idea to train it in such a manner that it would eventually assume the figure of a cavalry officer. At once he went to work, and after ten years' labor he succeeded in transforming the tree into a perfect picture of a mounted soldier. The tree is known in the neighborhood as "General Hawthorn," and hardly a day passes that strangers do not come from a considerable distance in order to view this wonderful example of horticultural art.

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, Aug. 13, 9.45 a.m.—We expect repetition in most respects to-day of yesterday's market. There has been a remarkable revulsion of sentiment and outsiders are coming in and large operators and influential interests now supporting the market. They have undoubtedly got all stock now from commission houses and others who were forced to let go recently, and now that the market has turned, it is only natural that they should help it along. Investment buying past two or three days has been good. While a large part of short interest has been covered, considerable remains unprotected and there were many bears yesterday reported as having resisted advance. While prices may have been rushed up a little fast, we expect generally higher opening and further advance under stimulus of excellent response of London markets and further weakness in foreign exchange at close yesterday to within 1-4 at 3-8 of gold importing point and prospect of better statement this week.—McIntyre & Marshall.

A PRETTY WEEDING.

Mr. C. R. McHugh Wedded to Miss Eliza Fallis.

A very pretty house wedding took place on Wednesday, August 5th, at 3 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Jas. Fallis, 5th concession of Cavan, when his niece, Miss Eliza Fallis, was united in matrimony to Mr. C. R. McHugh, of Peterborough. Rev. Wm. Cartwright Allen, assistant Rector of Cavan, performed the ceremony. The wedding march and other appropriate music was played by Mrs. Allen.

The bride entered the room leaning on the arm of her cousin, Mr. Isaac Fallis, and was attended by her cousins, the Misses Lizzie and Myra Fallis. Miss Lizzie Fallis acted as bridesmaid, and Miss Myra Fallis as maid of honour. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. C. O. McHugh, of Orangeville. The bridal party took their position under an arch of evergreens, touched with white ribbon and roses.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McHugh received the hearty congratulations of all present. After the signing of the register a very recherche wedding breakfast was served in the dining room, which was most tastefully decorated with evergreens. Mr. Long, confectioner, of Peterborough, provided the dejeuner, which was carried out with the greatest taste in every detail. The tables were arranged in the shape of a T, and were beautifully decorated with a profusion of smilax relieved with vases of pink roses and carnations. The wedding cake was handsomely arranged in four tiers, with a lovely ornament on the top tier.

At the conclusion of the breakfast, the Rev. Wm. Cartwright Allen proposed the health of the bride and groom, and spoke in most warm terms of the bride whom he had known for many years.

The bride wore a dress of white silk organdie trimmed with white satin ribbon and pearl embroidery over white taffeta silk, tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a lovely bouquet of white roses; ornament, a gold bracelet, the gift of the groom. The bride was dressed by Miss Henry of Carmel. The bridesmaid's dress was white organdie over blue taffeta silk, bouquet of pink roses; ornament, gold bracelet, the gift of the groom.

The maid of honour wore white silk and carried a basket of sweet peas, in the centre of which the ring was placed.

The groomsman wore a pearl scarf pin, the gift of the groom. At the close of the ceremony Mrs. McHugh presented Mrs. Allen with a beautiful shower bouquet of pink and white carnations and smilax, as a souvenir of the happy event.

The bride's travelling dress was of cadet blue flake cloth trimmed with Dresden guimpe, with hat to match. At five o'clock the happy couple left amid showers of rice for Cavanville station en route for North Dakota, returning via Mount Forest where they hope to spend a week with the groom's parents, after which they will reside in Peterborough. The wedding presents were very pretty and most useful and were displayed in the upstairs hall.

Teh guests included the following: Mrs McHugh and Mrs Shaw, mother and sister of groom; Miss Ellis, Mrs Appleton, Toronto; Mr and Mrs Edwards, Peterborough; Miss Ellenor, Bowmanville; Miss Henry, Carmel; Rev Wm Cartwright and Mrs Allen, Millbrook; Mr and Mrs and Miss J Walsh, Mr Wilbert Walsh, Mr and Mrs John Fallis, Mr and Mrs A Howden, Mr and Mrs Isaac Fallis, Mr and Mrs Stuart Fallis, the Misses Fallis, the Misses Lynn, Mr and Mrs R Fallis, Mr Hiram Fallis.

My! but it Tastes Nasty!

That warm and tasteless, hydrant water. Give us Batton's well water any day before such mawkish sickening stuff. "Put ice in it." Worse and worse. It's only safe with equal parts of Henry's good old rye whiskey or Brandy. But for a cool, refreshing and wholesome summer drink, use our fine light claret or domestic wines, or a bottle of good pure lime juice, which purifies the water and is very beneficial in cases of rheumatism or blood impurities. THE SILVER SPRAY CASE.

Washington Officials Find No Precedent For Any Interference.

Washington, Aug. 14.—No despatches were received during yesterday by the United States State Department concerning the firing upon the fishing vessel by a Canadian revenue cutter in Lake Erie. Several officers of the department, upon reading the despatches of the occurrence, searched for precedents in such cases and found none. In the absence of advices it is believed that the case is not of such serious consequences as to make it an international complication.

POLICY ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Hope For Arbitration in the Venezuelan Claims Matter—Chinese Editors Must Not Be Given Up to Punishment For Advocating Constitutional Reform—The Agreement With the Cunard Steamship Co.

London, Aug. 14.—Answering various questions on foreign affairs raised by Lord Spencer, the Liberal leader, in the House of Lords yesterday, Foreign Secretary Lansdowne, said there was reason to hope that the difficulties in the way of a settlement of the claims against Venezuela, by arbitration at The Hague, would soon be removed.

Definite instructions, he declared, had been given by the British Government, that the Chinese journalists at Shanghai should not be surrendered to Chinese justice.

The Government was watching events in the Balkans, and would utilize every opportunity of mitigating the troubles there.

Lord Spencer further called attention to the Government's agreement with the Cunard Steamship Company, which was approved by the House of Commons, and moved for a return of the statistics relating to previous subsidies.

Lord Shelbourne defended the agreement on naval and economic grounds. It kept, he said, at least one of the great trans-Atlantic lines under British control, and it had not merely a naval, but a wider national aspect.

Lord Spencer's motion was afterwards accepted.

BOMBARDING KRUSHEVO.

Four Thousand Turks Trying to Drive Out Insurgents—Massacre by Bulgarians of Turks Near Monastir.

Salonica, Aug. 14.—It is reported that the Bulgarian insurgents have massacred the inhabitants of the large Turkish village of Kenarti, near Monastir. Only twenty escaped.

The civil and military authorities at Salonica wired to Constantinople Aug. 11, stating that a general insurrection was expected for Aug. 14, and disclaiming all responsibility unless they were reinforced. Constantinople replied, ordering the enrollment immediately of two thousand exclusively Mussulman gendarmes for service in Salonica, showing that the insurrection is spreading eastward.

Four thousand troops are bombarding Krushevo, which is in the hands of the insurgents.

Trustworthy information from Cheguni in the district of Florina says that the Turks have decided to murder the Austrian Consul. It is stated that the French and Italian Consuls in Monastir are in danger of their lives from Turkish troops. Fighting is proceeding at Chernareka, near Gumenje.

SHOT INTO A CROWD.

Killed Three, Fatally Injured Three and Shot Twenty Others.

Winfield, Kan., Aug. 14.—Gilbert Trigg, aged 30 years, supposed to be insane, appeared on the principal street of this town last night with a double-barrelled shotgun and fired both charges deliberately into a crowd of 5,000 people who were listening to a band concert. He killed three persons fatally injured three and shot twenty others, of whom six may die. Trigg was killed by a policeman.

LAST STAGE REACHED.

The Irish Land Bill Passed by the House of Lords.

London, Aug. 14.—The House of Lords yesterday agreed to the Irish Land Bill in the form finally approved by the House of Commons. The latter House Wednesday accepted all the amendments save two unimportant ones added to the bill by the Lords. The measure now only awaits the royal assent to become law.

Delegates Arrive in Montreal.

Montreal, Aug. 14.—The great congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire seems more real from day to day, and yesterday afternoon some 80 delegates landed from the Canada. If Lord Strathcona be in the city in time, he will likely welcome the delegates to Canada when they gather at the Board of Trade on Sunday morning. There will be two sessions each day the congress lasts.

London, Aug. 14.—A petition to the King, asking for the release of Colonel Arthur Lynch, the predecessor of Mr. C. R. Devlin as member for Galway, who was convicted of treason in having served with the Boers during the South African war, is being largely signed in Ireland and elsewhere. It is supported by Mr. C. R. Devlin, and the other Nationalist members of Parliament.

Sad Drowning Accident at Edmonton Lake, Manitoba.

TWO KILLED IN C.P.R. WRECK

Percy H. Hespeler, Nephew of Consul Hespeler, Drowned at Maplehurst—Tried to Swim to Land After Canoe Upset But Was Not Able to Do So—Boy of Three Years Dies From Scalds.

Winnipeg, Aug. 14.—Word has just been received of a sad drowning accident at Edmonton Lake, whereby Mrs. F. Allen and child, late of Toronto, lost their lives by the upsetting of a rowboat.

Two Killed in Railway Wreck.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—Going full speed two C. P. R. freight trains crashed together in a head-on collision about 2 o'clock yesterday morning at a point between Mountain Grove and Arden, about six miles from Sharbot Lake.

The dead are: Engineer Patrick Halloran of Smith's Falls; Brakeman James Forsythe of Havelock.

The scene of the accident is on the Ontario and Quebec division of the road. It was about half-past one when the accident happened, and it appeared that a freight train made up at Smith's Falls, was proceeding west and got orders to cross an eastbound freight at a siding near Arden. An operator at one of the stations failed to deliver to the freight conductor the order of the train despatcher as to the crossing, and the westbound train went through, the engineers unconscious of the impending fatality.

Two or three others were slightly injured. The engineer Halloran's body was cut in two.

Percy Hespeler Drowned.

Waterloo, Aug. 14.—The sad intelligence of the drowning fatality near Maplehurst on Lake Rosseau on Wednesday of Percy Hespeler, only son of Jacob Hespeler, manager of the Molsons Bank, Waterloo, has cast a gloom over the town.

The young man attempted to sail a canoe in a strong wind, and when quite a distance from the shore the canoe upset. Percy struck out to swim ashore, and though a good swimmer evidently underestimated the distance and sank before help could reach him.

Deceased was a bright and very popular young man, 22 years of age, and was on the staff of the Bank of Montreal at Fort William, Ont. He came east to spend his vacation with his parents, who were spending a few weeks at Maplehurst, Muskoka.

Died From Scalds.

Stratford, Aug. 14.—While Mrs. Jacob Koenig of Newton was washing, her little son, Conrad, a lad of three years of age, fell into a pail of boiling water and was so severely scalded about the back and hips that he died next day. He was an only child.

Train Went Through a Bridge.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 14.—The engine, mail car and baggage car of the Texas Express on the Rock Island, went through a bridge across Hendrick's Creek, near Alma, yesterday, killing Fireman Leggett and seriously injuring Engineer McSteen. A cloudburst had filled the creek and weakened the bridge.

Roasted in Furnace Pit.

New York, Aug. 14.—John Crawford, a laborer living at Paterson, N. J., met a horrible death Wednesday afternoon at the Passaic Steel Works. He was working in the pit when the man in charge of the furnace tapped it for the purpose of discharging the slag before filling the retort. The presence of Crawford in the pit was unknown to the furnace man until his screams caused by the stream of molten metal pouring upon him attracted their attention. The hole was plugged immediately, but by that time Crawford was dead. His body was dragged from the pit with a rope.

Fell Down a Hoist.

Brantford, Ont., Aug. 14.—Yesterday afternoon, a man named Martin, working at the erection of the Cockshutt new buildings, fell through a hoist hole to the ground, a distance of about 15 feet, breaking his arm and received a severe shaking up.

Vesuvius Causing Alarm.

Rome, Aug. 14.—Vesuvius is again causing intense alarm in the surrounding region, the eruptions of the volcano being very heavy yesterday. From a fresh opening at the base of the principal crater two streams of lava are issuing, which within a few hours covered a wide tract of ground. One stream is going swiftly towards the Village of Ottajano, the direction taken by the famous eruption of 1872. The whole district around the volcano is shaken by frequent earth shocks and a panic prevails.

Servian Ministry Resigns.

London, Aug. 14.—A despatch to The Central News from Vienna says the entire Servian Ministry has resigned in consequence of the differences in the personal relations between the army officers, who participated in the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga, and those who took no part in the murders.

FRIDAY, AUG. 14, 1903.

THE OLD MAN OF THE SEA.

(The Globe.)

The oraganizers of the Conservative picnic had every reason to be satisfied with the attendance. There is, of course, a large crowd at the Island every summer night, a crowd that is ready to be entertained with anything that comes along. Such crowds are usually volatile, but the prospect of a performance by Mr. Gamey was sufficient to keep it together for a time at least.

The connection of the man from Manitoulin with this jubilation is not without interest. As would have been noticed the prior announcements of it contained no mention whatever of Mr. Gamey. It was advertised, however, that Mr. Borden, leader of the Federal Opposition, would be the chief speaker. In some quarters it was stated that there was no chance of Mr. Borden and Mr. Gamey speaking from the same platform. Mr. Borden, these people said, had not mixed himself up with Gameyism heretofore and would take good care not to do so now. However, this may be, the fact is that Mr.Borden was not at the picnic, while Mr. Gamey was. The former, it must be said, had a plausible excuse for not being in attendance, but it may be surmised that if conditions had been propitious he could have left Ottawa for one night, even in the heat of the debate on the Grand Trunk Pacific Bill.

We may tell him that he may congratulate himself that he decided to stay away. Had he put in an appearance he would have been subjected to the annoyance almost all the other speakers endured, that, namely, of hearing broad and intermittent intimations from the crowd that it did not want to listen to anybody but the picturesque and enthralling Mr. Gamey. Why the popular idol was not produced early in the day, so as to allay this cause of trouble once for all, can only be surmised, but the supposition most readily accepted by those who occupied the scorner's seat was that there was a danger that the crowd might thin out as soon as the chief actor had "done his turn." As a matter of fact there was a steady movement out of the grounds directly the Manitoulin statesman had concluded his speech.

But the most significant thing was that Mr. Gamey had evidently been warned that he was not to speak for more than a few minutes. Although it had been abundantly shown that the crowd was mainly desirous of hearing Mr. Gamey, that gentleman had evidently the strictest injunctions not to exceed five or ten minutes, for when, under the strongest protests of those present against against his resuming his seat, he showed a disposition to branch out into a speech, Mr. Macdonald, the secretary, stood up and peremptorily reminded him that there were others to speak. He sat down forthwith, and some little boys and girls danced the Highland fling. Quenching the light of Ontario Conservatism with a Highland fling was really too much!

We may be quite sure, however, that there are many Conservatives who regard Gameyism as something over which they joke, like the Scotch tailor, "wi' deefficulty." There are hundreds of the most thoughtful amongst them, who, whatever else they may think, are convinced that the gentleman who is running his brief term of popularity, was up for sale and would have ratted on his party if sufficient inducement had been offered him. It is next to certain that there was not a man on the platform who did not think so. Yet by their own lack of courage and foresight, if not by something more sinister, they were compelled to join the procession of those who would deify one of the most unscrupulous and demoralized personages that has ever appeared in the public life of this province. It is no wonder that even those who are responsible for this bad service to the Conservative party, should themselves have difficulty in concealing the disgust which the handling of this unclean person inspires. The party will not recover from the consequences of its mistake for some time.

NECESSITY FOR LEARNING TO SWIM.

An Accomplishment Which all Should Acquire.

Under the above heading the Hamilton Times has a very thoughtful and timely article, which is reproduced below:—

"This is the season of boating and bathingand—drowning.

"It is a sad reflection that many of the drowning cases might be avoided by the precaution of learning to swim a few strokes. Man is the only one of the higher animals that is totally helpless in the water, and who to protect himself must learn to swim. He is the reasoning animal, and he might be expected to apply his reason to self-preservation in this way; but he often does not. Every boy and every girl ought to learn to swim, and every facility should be afforded them for the purpose, no feeling of false modesty being allowed to stand in the way.

"The non-swimmer may, of course, avoid the water as much as possible, but there are times when he finds himself in a boat, and then he can't help regretting that he knows not how to keep himself afloat even long enough to enable a friendly hand to cast him a rope's end. He may be capsized within a few rods of shore and safety, but perish miserably if nobody with more forethought be nigh to help him. He may be forced to see a fellow-being drown, while he can but stand by and look on.

"Of course we have all seen the picturesque touch given to the average drowning accident, "He was a good swimmer." But don't swallow that. Good swimmers do occasionally drown; accidents overtake them; injudicious shock stops the weak heart; over-exposure or cramps may claim victims; but the chances are all in the swimmer's favour. A man does not need to part with his common sense in learning to swim.

"And just a word as to saving one in danger of drowning. A noble life saver, George Lessard, was drowned at Montreal a few days ago while trying to add another to his long list of rescues. The frantic victim was too much for even his skill and strength. The instinct to jump into the water to the rescue of one struggling is very strong in the swimmer, yet the action is ever fraught with danger. If the person in peril be a swimmer who is disabled, the risk is much less; but the drowning person seizes with a death grip and without any feeling but the instinctive one of clinging to anything that he can grasp. The rescuer must take that into consideration. If possible the victim should be approached so that his head can be supported from behind, the rescuer swimming deep in the water and keeping him on his back, while avoiding his clutch. If the would-be rescuer is grasped so as to prevent his swimming he must at any cost release himself, even if to do so he hast o resort to a knock-out blow. Life or death to both may lie in the decision of a moment.

"Learn to swim, by all means; you will never regret it; you will never forget it. A good swimmer may have been years out of the water, but if he falls overboard he strikes out as if he swam by instinct. You don't know the pleasure you miss in not learning to swim; you don't know the satisfaction and confidence that the ability to swim gives; you don't know when that ability might enable you to save your own life, or that of a fellow being. Why don't you learn?"

CANVAS CLOTH GOWN.

Mushroom coloured canvas cloth is the material of which this charming costume is constructed. An original device for self-coloured taffeta strappings is here shown, which are employed on both skirt and bodice to good advantage. The skirt is further adorned by an "unce" flounce, which is an advance style, and the tucks are headed by simple hand embroidered designs, worked with Corticelli E E embroidery silk. This embroidery also appears on the bodice.

The bertha is just now one of the most popular and dainty of decorations for a bodice. This is sometimes made pointed or in a rounded effect, and may be made either very simple or very elaborate Good effects may be obtained when these are made either of the same material or of a different material.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Rev. Father Tivey of Toronto, was the guest of Rev. Father Phelan for a few days recently.

Rev. Father Phelan, accompanied by Rev. Father Teefy, attended the funeral of the late Rev. Father McCloskey, of Campbellford.

Miss Mary McAuley is spending a couple of weeks at her home in Trenton.

Miss Emma Scollard is at present visiting friends in Ennismore.

Mr. H. B. McKay, one of Rochesters' phenomenal fishermen, and party, returned home on Saturday of last week, with a large catch of fish.

Mr. Alexander Watt, the well known merchant tailor of Hamilton, has been spending the past week at Young's Point on a fishing trip. It was the special delight of the many tourists to watch his skill in landing 7 and 8-lb. lunge on a light bass rod. He is acknowledged to be a very expert fishermen, and in consequence his catch was all that the law allows. His Hamilton friends will no doubt listen to many exciting experiences in the next few months. Mr. Watt was accompanied by Mr. Geo. H. Carley, also of Young's Point.

The following guests registered at the Lakeview House last week and this week:—Mr and Mrs H B McKay, Mr and Mrs Colebrook, Rochester; C A Cluxton, Montreal; Alex Watt, G H Carley, Hamilton, Ont; J Smith, New York; Mr and Mrs Cunningham, Brockport, N Y; Mrs R S Pringle, Miss Strain and Master Robert Pringle, Bradford, Pa; A H Hoolihan, Buffalo, Miss Nora Fitzgerald, Peterborough; J King, Toronto; Mr and Mrs. Fedor Wilhinck, Miss Fanny and Hermoine Wilhinck, Mr and Mrs Karle and Miss Karle, Mr and Mrs H Pfafflin, Mr E H Rueston, Mr and Mrs Stewart, Rochester; Mrs Dr Henry Bealting and the two Misses Bealting, Buffalo

On Tuesday of this week we were favoured with a visit from Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, of Ennismore, accompanied by Rev. Father Coaty.

We regret to learn that Rev. Mr. Creswick and family are about to leave here and intend making their home in Brighton. Their many friends here wish them much success in their new home.

After a season of uninterrupted success in Rochester the renowned actors, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stuart, (Jessie Boustelle,) are stopping at the Lakefield House here for repose and recreation. They have just finished an engagement of thirteen weeks at the Cooke Opera House in Rochester, where they were daily greeted by enthusiastic audiences in overcrowded houses, and they now seek rest from extremely fatiguing work at a quiet place, devoting their time to fishing aquatic exercise with a party of congenial friends, Mr. Fedor Willmick, Mr. Karle, Mr. H. Pfafflin and their families of Rochester, and Mrs. Dr. Beatling of Buffalo, and Mr. E. H. Rueston, of Rochester, who are with them. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart are well known throughout Canada and the United States, and we hope that the pleasures of the pleasant scenery of Clear and Stony Lakes will bring the amiable artists the well-deserved repose and recreation.

HAVE YOU NOTICED

That if Your Stomach is Right Nothing Bothers you—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Make and Keep Your Stomach Right.

This warm weather has a tendency to make one feel dyspeptic and nervous and miserable, and in that condition the heat bothers one twice as much as it otherwise would.

Probably you have noticed that if your stomach is right nothing bothers you, not even the heat. Doesn't it strike you then that you owe it to yourself to keep your stomach right.

You can do this by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They have never been known to fail. All over the country people are telling of benefits received from them. Mr. Mongeot, of Masson, Que., speaks of them as follows:

"I suffered from dyspepsia and was terribly troubled with nervousness. For eighteen months I was miserable. One fortunate day an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. The first box helped me and I was soon completely cured.

"I recommended Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to my friends and without a single exception they have given good reports of them."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets never fail to drive away the despondency indigestion brings.

RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

Shall the Municipalities Surrender the Control Over Their Highways—Amendments to the T. & H. Bill Suggested.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—Two hours of hard fighting in the Railway Committee yesterday defined the issue involved in the Toronto and Hamilton Railway bill. That issue is: Shall the municipalities surrender the control over their highways that the B. N.A. act vested in them, or shall that control be transferred to the Dominion Parliament.

A conference was held and amendments drafted late last night. The amendments which have been proposed and which will probably be accepted, provide:

(1) That the Toronto and Hamilton Railway shall build only one line of railway into the City of Toronto.

(2) That the company shall not do any local business in the city.

(3) That it shall construct no branch lines.

(4) That it shall be liable for rentals for the use of the city's streets.

(5) That the class of cars and rate of speed shall be subject to the control of the Railway Commission.

(6) That the company shall be liable for all damages to property injuriously affected in addition to damages recoverable under the Railway Act.

(7) That the suburban railways now operating under provincial charters shall continue under the jurisdiction of the province, notwithstanding their amalgamation with the Toronto and Hamilton Railway.

The foregoing are the essential features of the amendments proposed in consideration of the passage of the bill.

ONTARIO MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION.

Passes Important Resolutions and Elects Its Officers.

Guelph, Aug. 14.—Yesterday the Ontario Municipal Association passed a number of unimportant resolutions, among which was one supporting the opposition to the passage of the Toronto and Hamilton bill at Ottawa, and emphasizing the rights of municipalities to the control of their own streets. Another was passed to enable municipalities to expropriate phone companies already doing business within their borders.

After Mr. James Forman, Assistant Commissioner of Property for Toronto, had delivered an address explaining the provisions and effect of the proposed new Assessment Act, the meeting passed a resolution thereanent, affirming that the bill should not be passed in its present form, but that, "in the event of the bill being passed by the Government, it be amended to provide for the taxation, being (1) upon real property; (2) by a business tax similar to what is provided in the bill, but to be applied to all trades, businesses and professions, and that the rate be increased and graded so as to be equitable between retail and wholesale dealers; (3) by an income tax upon all persons, whether engaged in business or drawing same from private or other sources, the taxation on the real property and income to be as fixed by each local municipality; (4) by a house tax, and that the proposed exemption thereon should be reduced, and the rate for determining the annual value increased; (5) that this association oppose the appointment of a commission to assess the property of railway companies and companies holding franchises, believing that this work can be done better by the local assessor; and also to oppose the section of the bill dealing with tax sales being conducted by the sheriff instead of by the treasurer as at present."

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, F J Kennedy, ex-Mayor, Guelph; first vice-president, W A Boys, Mayor, Barrie; second vice-president, W A Grier, Mayor, Owen Sound; secretary, S H Kent; Executive Committee—Mayors of Lindsay, Peterboro, St. Catharines, Brantford, Galt, Windsor and London; J Mackelcan, City Solicitor, Hamilton; R P Slater, Niagara Falls; Ald W T Hubbard, Toronto; Thos Caswell, City Solicitor, Toronto; Ald Ellis, Ottawa; D M McIntyre, City Solicitor, Kingston. The next meeting will be held the first week of Toronto Fair, 1904, in Toronto.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

An Infant's Inheritance.

Dr. Frederick Tracy, lecturer on philosophy in University College, Toronto, at the Presbyterian summer school, in speaking of "An Infant's Inheritance," said the period of infancy is longer in the higher series of beings, shorter in the lower. The lowest have no infancy. The higher the civilization the longer the period of infancy and tutelage. The significance of this is that the human infant has great possibilities. Prof. Tracy defines an educated man as one who is prepared for all emergencies, the man who rises to the occasion. Education, therefore, is the process of fitting him for his environment, to enter upon his inheritance. His inheritance is fivefold: (1) Material, scientific, nature; (2) literary—all that has been left by his forfathers in the form of literature; (3) aesthetical—art, music, etc; (4) social—institutional; (5) religious; the Church must become more efficient than it has been if the child is to enter into his special inheritance. Dr. Tracy pointed out that, among the changes, some move toward a better state of things. It is only in man that the word "better" has an ethical bearing. Man's culture is for man's own sake, and this cannot be said of anything else on earth. Education is given a child because he has God's image, an end in himself. All education has its end in some form of human character.

MR. SIFTON'S SPEECH

Of the Argumentative Type and Every Sentence Told.

NEEDS OF WESTERN CANADA

Minister of the Interior on Familiar Ground and He Dealt With Them Trenchantly—Mr. Haggart's Attack—Hon. Mr. Emmerson Emphasizes Mr. Haggart's Former Advocacy of Grand Trunk.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—Interest in the G. T. P. debate continues unabated. Hon. Clifford Sifton entered the lists yesterday, and in a magnificent speech sustained his reputation as one of the most brilliant debaters in the House. The speech was of the argumentative type, and every sentence told. The Minister of the Interior covered every phase of the question, and left no point of importance untouched. He was on especially familiar ground when he spoke of the needs of the west, its rapid development, the urgency of additional railway facilities, and how thoroughly the present project would aid on the great work of development.

Mr. Haggart, who followed, attacked the proposition to construct a line from Quebec to Moncton as being hurtful to the Intercolonial Railway. He could not well criticize the construction of a transcontinental line from Quebec to the coast, seeing that earlier in the session he had advocated such a policy, and had even gone to the length of saying that if Government aid was granted to any company the Grand Trunk should be the one to benefit. This was well brought out by Mr. Emmerson, who was the next to take the floor.

Mr. Emmerson spoke felicitously for a time in defence of the proposed new railway into New Brunswick, and demonstrated how general was the demand for another transcontinental line. Then he moved the adjournment of the debate, and will continue his speech to-day.

German Navy Recruits.

Before the House adjourned Dr. Sproule called attention to a report published in a Montreal paper to the effect that young German residents of Montreal were recruiting on the German warship Gazelle, which is now in the St. Lawrence.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that he could not give definite information. He was informed, however, that no recruiting was going on for the German navy. The fact appeared to be that a number of free German subjects who are in Canada temporarily and such liable to conscription, were taking advantage of the visit of the Gazelle to Montreal to pass the necessary examination and thus become exempt from service so long as they remain in Canada. The Premier said this information had been conveyed to him yesterday and he proposed to make further enquiries.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Lord's Day Alliance Encouraged by Answer of Premier.

Ottawa, Aug. 14—The members of the Dominion Lord's Day Alliance in session here met Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir William Mulock yesterday morning and pressed the claims for Dominion legislation to replace the quashed Ontario law.

The Premier's Reply.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, expressed his pleasure at receiving the delegation. He felt that he could speak not merely for himself, but the Cabinet, and he hoped for the people of Canada generally in enunciating strong sympathy with the objects that the delegation had in view. All Christian people agreed in prizing the privileges of the Sunday. On his recent visit to his fatherland, France, he had been painfully impressed with the effect of the French revolution on the French Sunday, where the rest day and the privileges it secures to the people generally is to a large extent done away with, and the people are under the strain of business and occupied with toil. "No doubt," the Premier went on, "we shall see our way to meet the wishes of the delegation. In the meantime we have not till now seen the full text of the Privy Council's decision which must receive careful consideration as to the extent to which it puts the question of jurisdiction to legislate in the hands of the Dominion alone." Sir Wilfrid said that in dealing with the question in a practical way differences of opinion would undoubtedly appear, but he had confidence that the Christian charity would make it possible to reach a common ground as a basis of the proposed legislation. It would be quite impossible to introduce new legislation of such an important character at this stage of the present session. He could emphatically assure the delegation and the friends they represented that charters granted to various enterprises at this or any past session would not be considered by the Government as conferring any vested rights entitling to exemption from the restrictions of any future Sunday law.

In the afternoon the Alliance officers conferred with Senator McMullen and a number of members of Parliament, including Messrs. John Charlton, Holmes, Ross, McLaren (Huntingdon) and Dr. Douglas. They discussed a proposed bill, but did not reach any definite conclusion.

THE BEST BOAT WON.

Irondequoit Won the Fifth and Deciding Race For the Canada's Cup Thursday, by 1 Minute, 22 Seconds.

Toronto, Aug. 14.—Irondequoit of Rochester won the fifth and deciding race yesterday over the triangular course in the lake, defeating the Royal Canadian Yacht Club's Strathcona by 1 min. 22 secs. There was a good wind from the south-southwest. The challenger gained 25 secs. at the start, and on the seven-mile beat to windward made another gain of 1 min. 13 secs. On the close to the second mark it was practically a toss-up, the challenger, according to official figures, losing 1 sec. The last leg was a close reach, and the enemy made another gain of 10 secs.

An enormous fleet followed the racers around the course, and at the finish the victors and vanquished were alike cheered to the echo. The crews of the rival yachts saluted each other with three times three soon after crossing the line. The members on the Niagara gave rousing cheers on passing the challenger and defender, Capt. Hannan returned the compliment by modestly doffing his cap.

Last night Commodore Jarvis said he had nothing to complain of. He enjoyed the match and was pleased at the apparent increased interest in the pastime. In conclusion Mr. Jarvis said:

"The best boat undoubtedly won. Yachts should be built capable for all breezes, and Irondequoit has clearly proven herself the best. Capt. Hannan is the best skipper I have ever sailed against."

The trophy was presented last night to Commodore Van Voorhies at the Island Clubhouse, and the historic mug will go aboard Irondequoit to-day, when she will sail home, calling at Niagara.

The R.C.Y.C. will likely challenge again for the cup in order to have the race sailed next year. The matter will be taken up at an early meeting of the Sailing Committee.

ESTATE OF POPE LEO XIII.

Seals of His Apartment Broken by the Major Domo.

Rome, Aug. 14.—The Pope was feeling quite well yesterday, took a long drive and walk in the Vatican gardens, and then received the Austrian Ambassador.

Mgr. Cagiano, the Major Domo, accompanied by Cardinals Rampolla and Mocenni, opened the apartment of Pope Leo yesterday morning, breaking the seals put on at the time of the Pontiff's death. They found a considerable amount of money, it is stated, several millions of francs, besides other valuables.

The Pope yesterday received Cardinal Satolli, who suggested Vincenzo Vannutelli for Secretary of State. Cardinal Satolli then proposed the appointment of Father Edward Fowler, secretary to Rev. J. Hardy, as a domestic prelate to the Pontiff. The Pope granted the request.

Cardinal Gibbons will come to Rome to assist at the consecration on Saturday of the Rev. J. J. Hardy as Archbishop of Manila. On Sunday the Pope will receive the new archbishop. He will receive the pallium from Cardinal Macchi on Monday.

The Pope yesterday afternoon received the Ministers of Peru, Uruguay and Argentina.

A Great Little Worker.

During a long life time the heart will propel half a million tons of blood through the body, and so long as the blood is in a healthy condition it will repair itself as fast as it wastes, patiently keeping up the play of the valves and the rhythm of its throb. If the action of the heart gets weak, irregular and fluttering, the blood is lacking in nourishing qualities and requires just such assistance as is best supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorer.

Sherris Sack.

In Shakespeare's plays the term "sack" applied to wine is common. "Sherris sack," a term used by Falstaff, is "seco de Xeres," a name still well known in Spain, from which the wine comes. The epithet seco, or dry—the "sack" of old English authors and the "sec" of French writers—is used in contradistinction to the sweet malvoisies and muscadels which are made of the same grapes. Wine of this sort, it is said, was introduced into England about the time of Henry VII., whose close alliance with Ferdinand and Isabella was cemented by the marriage of his son with their daughter. It became still more popular in England under Queen Elizabeth, when Essex and those who sailed with him pillaged Cadiz in 1596 and brought home the fashion of drinking sherris sack.

It is understood that the deceased was married, and it is reported that he came from Brantford. The body was brought to town yesterday morning.

Reception to Missionary.

A meeting of the Epworth League District Executive was held this this morning to arrange for a reception to Rev. Dr. Smith, the missionary who has been supported by the District League in the foreign field. The reception will take place on Monday, August 23rd in the George street church, and all Leaguers in the Peterborough District will participate in the visit.

Civic Holiday at Orillia.

What will no doubt be a popular outing for Civic Holiday, August 20, is that under the auspices of the K. O.T.M. to Orillia and Lake Couchiching by special G.T.R. train leaving Peterborough at 7.30 a. m., and arriving home at 10 p.m. The fare for the round trip has been placed at a low figure and under the efficient management of the K.O.T.M. the trip is certain to be an enjoyable one. Orillia is one of the best towns in Canada to visit at this season.

A Busy Season.

Mr. Ed. Brown, the well known George street grocer has received a very large number of orders from different parties up the lake. One of the largest of these is from a party of twenty five from Pittsburg, who will arrive at Sandy Point on the 19th. Another is from Mr. Alexander, a native of France, who is occupying Mr. E.H.D. Hall's cottage. A third is for a party of nine gentlemen, including Mr. LeBrun, Mr. O'Connel, Mr. R. Gough, of Toronto, and others.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

Mr. Edward M. Taylor After Being Away 40 Years Returns to Peterborough.

An interesting visitor to Peterborough is Mr. Edward M. Taylor, of St. Louis, Mo., "The World's Fair City," who is here for the first time in 40 years, and is the guest of Miss Ferguson, Stewart street. Mr. Taylor is the son of the late Rev. R. J. C. Taylor, the first Anglican Missionary in this section of the country, and he is here spending a short time after having travelled from St. Louis to the Saugney river on a pleasure trip, and as a relaxation from business cares. Mr. Taylor is in the grain commission business in St. Louis, and, of course, like all residents of American cities, is enthusiastic in his belief in the future prosperity of that country.

Mr. Taylor was amazed at the progress which Peterborough has made during his long absence, and with the shrewedness for which Americans are characteristic, he sees a most promising outlook for the future of the town.

Speaking of the World's Fair which will be held in St. Louis next year, and for which preparations are now being made, Mr. Taylor said, that while the Chicago World's Fair occupied 650 acres of ground, the St. Louis Fair will stand in 1,225 acres. Five of the largest buildings are now completed, and work on the balance is being pushed forward rapidly. All the buildings to contain the exhibits of the foreign countries will be completed by Dec. 1st, and at the present time, 10,000 workmen daily pass through the gates to work on the different buildings.

Mr. Taylor is a personal friend of the President of the World's Fair, Mr. David R. Francis, in fact, when they were both young men and each had his way to make in the world, they were clerks together in the same office, and the success of each in his particular line, is a source of pleasure to the other. Mr. Taylor will spend some little time in Peterborough and at the lakes, renewing the acquaintances of old time friends.

YOUNG, WINNER IN SIX MILE ROAD RACE.

Interesting Racing Event Held Last Night.

Five Starters in Road Race to Nassau and Return—Young Finished in 20.50 Minutes.

In his endeavour to revive the interest in bicycling, Mr. F. R. J. McPherson, with commendable enterprise, arranged for a six mile road race, donating to the winner a silver cup of handsome design, and worth $25.00. The race took place last night, and the course was from the corner of Smith and Water streets to Nassau and return, finishing at the Nicholls oval.

When the five racers lined up to start there were easily 200 spectators on hand, an evidence of the fact that notwithstanding the assertion of some that bicycling as a sport has declined in popular favour, it is still a drawing card, when conducted under proper management. Messrs. F. Clarke and R. M. Glover were the starters, and the following were those who participated in the race, with the order of starting:—

Fitzgerald, 3-4 minute handicap.
Akey, 3-4 minute handicap.
Latimer, 1-2 minute handicap.
Riffer, scratch.
Young, scratch.

As soon as the riders had gotten off, the spectators repaired to the oval where the race was to finish, and when the winner came in at least 300 people were on the green sward to cheer him to victory.

Young finished first in 20.50, with Riffer second, his time being 21.30. Latimer and Akey tied for third place, their time being 22. flat. But for an accident which occurred at Nassau, the result of the race might have been different. Riffer was thrown from his wheel by running into Akey and Fitzgerald, who were themselves in a mix up. Young got a lead on Riffer which the latter was unable to overcome. The handsome cup which is now on exhibition in Mr. F. J. R. McPherson's window, is the property of Young, who was declared the winner of the race. By the courtesy of Mr. McPherson, the officials were taken to the oval in his automobile, Starters and Judges, Messrs. Fred Clarke, R. M. Glover, A. E. Morphett and J. W. Young.

WHAT ORILLIA THINKS OF PETERBOROUGH.

Echoes of the Excursion From the Asylum Town.

The Orillia Times in reporting the excursion of the Firemen and Band from that town to Peterborough last week has many nice things to say of this town, among them the following:—

"Peterborough was reached promptly on time,—a few minutes after ten, and beyond a slight shower of rain there was nothing to mar the day's pleasure. The excursionists were met by the Peterborough fire laddies and the military band and escorted up town. The visitors were everywhere accorded a hearty reception by Peterborough citizens who, while conscious of the fact that they live in one of the most progressive towns in the Province, are glad to recognize the push and energy of the northern burg, and pleased to hear of the steady progress that is being made by Orillia. Peterborough was intended by nature to become a great centre of industry, and its citizens took care to avail themselves of all the privileges and franchises with which nature has blessed them. The Otonabee river is a broad stream with a succesion of waterfalls that seem to have been placed there for no other purpose than the development of power. It is fitting that in this town is established the largest electrical works under the British flag,—the Canadian General Electric Company, with its thousand employees in the present works. Additional buildings are being erected by this concern, the cost of which, with equipment, will be another half million of dollars."

The article then enumerates the different industries with which all here are familiar and concludes as follows:—

"There are a number of former Orillians in Peterborough, and they generously did the honours to friends from town. G. E. Whiten was one of them, R. J. Frost another, and The Times scribe was fortunate to fall in with Walter E. Wesley, (until recently with R. H. Montgomery.) There were as many people left standing on the station platform as boarded the train in the evening, and a cheer went up as we pulled out at 7.30 on the homeward trip, and the last sound heard was the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" from the Peterborough band. Peterborough, 1903, will always be a pleasant memory to the Orillia excursionists."

POLICE COURT

A "Drunk" Given ten Days to Sober up in.

"Drunk and disorderly," remarked Mortimer Mowry, to Police Magistrate Dumble this morning. He was sentenced to a fine of $2, or an alternative of ten days imprisonment. On the prisoner stating that he had not got so much worldly wealth, the Magistrate said that he could take ten days in gaol to sober up.

John Robertson and Michael Valois were so indiscreet as to create a disturbance in a public place on the evening of July 12th. After considerable evidence had been taken the charge against both was dismissed.

WEDDED IN TORONTO.

Mr. George H. Halpin Married to Miss Della M. Buggie.

The Mail and Empire has the following account of a wedding of interest to Peterborough society, celebrated in Toronto:—

"A pretty wedding was celebrated at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, when Della M., daughter of Mrs. Annie Buggie, was united in matrimony to George H. Halpin, Father Cruise officiating. The bride, who wore a becoming gown of cream velour trimmed with insertion and satin to match, and carried a shower boquet of Bridal roses, was given away by her brother Mr. Frank Buggie, of Rochester, N.Y. Miss Minnie Buggie, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. Mr. Harry Halpin, of Toronto, was groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's mother, Sherbourne street. The newly married couple left on an extended trip to the Mackinac and points West. On their return to the city they will reside at 527 Sherbourne street."

Social at Park Street.

The social given by the Mission Circle of the Park street Baptist church this week was a very enjoyable affair. The decorations from the flower service on Sunday remained. Mrs. Kennedy gave a most profitable Bible reading and Rev. A. H. Brace an address on Foreign Missions. Several very creditable selections were rendered during the evening. The offertory, which amounted to $15, will be divided between Home and Foreign Missions.

Mr. A. Preparations are now under way for the winter meet, and the probabilities are that Peterborough's meet will be held on January 20th and 21st. The circuit will commence at Port Perry on Jan 13th or 14th. Belleville will hold their's on the 27th and 28th and Napanee during first week in February.

WINE CLERKS' OUTING AT JUBILEE POINT.

A Very Successful Excursion Held Yesterday.

Exciting Baseball Game a Feature—Splendid List of Sporting Events.

Of all the jolly excursions that have left Peterborough this season, that of the Wine Clerks to Jubilee yesterday was perhaps the jolliest and they had reason to feel happy, everything was in their favour, a good crowd of congenial spirits, a delightful day, and one of the prettiest sails in America—that to Jubilee Point. The City of Peterborough left the wharf promptly on time, with well on to 200 passengers aboard, everyone of whom, it is safe to say, thoroughly enjoyed the day's outing.

Arriving at Jubilee the party was met by Mr. Dan Foley, the genial proprietor of the Jubilee Point House, and heartily welcomed to his domain. After dinner had been served a splendid programme of sports was proceeded with, the chief event of which was a baseball match between the Bartenders and the Barbers, which resulted in a decisive victory for the former by 9—0, the barbers suffering a shut out. The teams lined up as follows:—

Bartenders — Parnell c; Guerin p; Jackson 1b; McDonough 2b; Cottingham rf; Smith 3b; Cocks ss; Thompson cf; Roat lf.

Barbers, — Lewis ss; O'Hare lf; Patterson, 3b; Breault 2b; Sullivan 1b; Gainey c; Pedlar p; Williamson cf; Shields rf.

Mr. J. Gillogley acted as umpire in a satisfactory manner. The prize for the winners in the game was a $3 box of cigars, donated by Mr. J. Jayes, president of the Bartenders' Union.

Another interesting feature was a tug of war between the Bartenders and all-comers, and was won by the Bartenders. The prize was a keg of Calcutt's ginger beer. Some heavy pulling was exhibited in this event, Mr. Dan Foley being the particularly brilliant star, and it was by his work that several strands of the 1 1-2 inch rope were broken.

The following miscellaneous programme was run off, for which good prizes were given in each event:

Standing jump — W E Jackson, 8 ft. 6 in.; L. McMahon, 8 ft. 3 in.

Running long jump — W E Jackson, 18 ft. 6 in.; D Belland, 16 ft. 9 in.

High jump — D. Belland, 4 ft. 11 in.; L McMahon.

Hop, step and jump — W E Jackson, 38 ft. 7 in.; W Parnell.

100 yards race — W E Jackson, W Parnell.

Water race — Running 50 yards with a glass of water on a tray—Jas Head. J Cottingham.

Married women's race, 50 yards — Mrs J A Clarke, Mrs L Crocker.

Girls race, 75 yards — Irene Doris, Eva Lynch, May Stevens.

Boys race, 100 yards — Bem Dusty, A Holland, Downey.

Throwing shot — W Meagher, 28 ft.; P McMahon, 26 ft. 4 in.

Old men's race — Jas Head, John Wilkins.

Bartenders' race — 75 yards — J McDonough, J Head.

Bartenders' race — 50 yards — J Breault.

3-legged race — Meagher and Gillogley.

Girls' race, 12 years and under — Maude Stinson, Irene Dorris.

Firemen's race — W Metheral.

Barbers' race—J O'Hara.

Boys' race, 100 yards, 16 years and under — E Brown, H O'Neil.

After the sports had been disposed of the party took tea, Mr. Foley's excellent bill of fare being done ample justice to. The return trip of the steamer was one fully enjoyed. The orchestra which was aboard provided a first class programme of music and dancing was indulged in by those who desired the pleasures of that amusement. The excursionists arrived in town, everyone of them feeling that a pleasant day had been spent, thanks to the perfect arrangements of the Wine Clerks. The committee to whom credit is due for the success of the day is composed of Messrs. J. Jayes, President; J. Cottingham, Vice-President; H. H. Roat, Secretary; and C. Dusty.

"THE LAY OF THE ANCIENT MARINER."

(A long time after Samuel Taylor Coleridge.)

The following poem is in commemoration of the C. G. E. Angling Club's trip of last Saturday.

Behold there was an anglers' trip,
Adown the Otonabee,
And once on board the gallant ship
We all felt gay and free.

The Shepherd led his wandering sheep,
We followed in his track,
And once upon the andry deep
'Twas no use walking back.

We at the locks some friends did leave
By order of the Cap.:
"For if the ship doth heave," saith he
"There'd sure be some mishap."

Friend Paterson, our Commodore,
Then paced across the deck,
Said he, "If we ne'er reach the shore,
I will inspect the wreck."

Said Trombley, "Boys, I'll cook your goose,
To me you are beholden;"
"Some of my tools will be of use,"
Then gaily chirped friend Moulden.

We have with us a Sheffield blade,
Whose edge is Sharp and keen;
An angle man is not afraid
Of toughest goose e'er seen.

At Idyl Wild the anchor weighed,
We touched the shore once more;
Nor "Idyl" by the ship we stayed,
For we felt hunger sore.

The landlord met us on the docks,
With many a sob and tear,
"Alas," he cried, "Oh, darn my socks,
I've naught to eat but beer!"

Under a spreading chestnut tree,
Our blacksmith spread a store;
"There's loads enough for all," said he,
And friends came down for more.

Our stalwart friend of gental face,
In armateury skilled,
By ladies fair soon found a place,
With dainty cakes was filled.

And when the steamer sped along
The homeward course once more,
The sound of many a joyous song
Rang out from shore to shore.

Lord Nelson called upon us all
To do our little best,
And if we couldn't sing, to bawl,
The chorus with the rest.

Bob Anson, on the organ grand,
Played just like Paderewski;
He could not wield so firm a hand
If he ever tasted whiskey.

We all reached home, 'twas rather late
And few the fish we found;
I guess that we forgot the bait—
The fish were all aground.

"Myrtle Sunshine Camp," Otonabee River.

The following visitors were at the camp yesterday: Mrs L A Auton, of Rochester, N Y; Miss F Robinson, of Rochester, N Y; Miss Millard, Montreal, Que; Mr Geo H Tovey, Pittsburg, Pa; Master Harold Tovey, Buffalo, N Y; Miss Minnie Batten, Miss E Lemay, town; Mrs Morton, Mrs Goodwin, Monaghan.

The campers are having a grand time, (no skeeters,) eating by day; talking by night. Lottie holds the record, but Mary of the Lake is a close second. Others are training hard.

Harry nearly lost his breakfast the other morning by getting lost after taking his early morning dip. They say the water went to his head.

The club has an efficient ferry service, but Andy got a surprise on Tuesday morning, when his skiff went round and round. On investigation a Jonah was discovered, in this case a fair one, but very heavy, and as there was no fish large enough at hand, she was put ashore.

The yacht Myrtle took the campers on a very pleasant moonlight sail last night, returning at 11 p.m.

There will be some boat races in the near future. The men are getting in shape.

A hypnotic entertainment is also on the tapis.

The hospital is empty, but the drug store from George street is ready for trouble.

The campers are under an obligation to Mr. Chambers for the use of his camping grounds, also to Capt. Harris of the Star, for his kindness in carrying supplies.

VISITOR.

P. S. — There is talk of adopting the red shirt waist as the club's colours.

MUSKOKA'S POPULARITY.

The following voluntary testimonial of the Muskoka region and Royal Muskoka Hotel was received at the Grand Trunk General Offices recently from one of the most prominent doctors in New York City, who was sojourning for a few weeks in that district:—

"I take pleasure in recommending the "Muskoka" region as a health resort of the first class. Its altitude, dry atmospheric conditions, and water supply free from infection make it particularly beneficial.

"The Royal Muskoka Hotel, a hotel perfect in all its appointments, adds materially to the comfort of the tourist."

The thousands of people who are now enjoying the summer months in the "Highlands of Ontario" are profuse in their praises of that part of the country, as a summer resort, and consider it the finest on the continent.

Weighing a Thought.

Professor W. G. Anderson of Yale University lately succeeded in practically weighing the result of a thought's action. A student was placed on a "muscle-bed," poised on a balance so that the center of gravity of his body was exactly over its center. When he was set to solving mathematical problems, the increased weight of blood at his head changed his center of gravity and caused an immediate dip of the balance to that side. Repeating the multiplication table of nines caused greater displacement than repeating the table of fives, and, in general, that displacement grew greater with greater intensity of thought. Carrying the experiment further, the experimenter had the student imagine himself going through leg-gymnastics. As he performed the feats mentally, one by one, the blood flowed to the limbs in sufficient quantities to tip the balance according to the movement thought of. By purely mental action the center of gravity of the body was shifted four inches, or as much as by raising the doubled arms above the shoulders. These experiments were repeated on a large number of students, with the same results.

To test still further the mastering influence of mind over muscle, the strength of the right and the left arms of eleven young men was registered. The average strength of the right arms was one hundred and eleven pounds; of the left arms, ninety-seven pounds. The men practised special exercises with the right hand only for one week. Tests of both arms were again made, and, while the average strength of the right arm had increased six pounds, that of the unexercised left arm had increased seven pounds. This showed clearly that the brain action connected with the gymnastics developed not only the muscles put in action, but also other muscles controlled by the same portion of the brain. This could only come about by sending blood and nervous force to the proper parts by purely mental action. Professor Anderson says of the results:

"I can prove by my muscle-bed that the important thing in all exercises is the mental effort put forth. I can lie down on this muscle-bed and think of a jig, and though apparently my feet do not move, and actually the muscles are not active, the muscle-bed sinks toward my feet, showing that there has been a flow of blood toward the muscles, and that, if I did dance a jig, the muscles would be well supplied with blood under this mental stimulus."—J. Lincoln Brooks, in "Success."

He Received His Sight.

A story of a man blind from birth and who can now see, is told by a London "Daily Mail" correspondent. It was on April 24 that John Carruth left his home at Croft Head, Bridge of Weir, for the Glasgow Ophthalmic Hospital, where the operation which gave him his sight was performed. "The first face he saw was that of Dr. Stewart. He did not know what it was at first, but when the doctor spoke he knew that what he was looking at must be a face. It was like a dream. 'I was bewildered,' said Carruth; 'all was so beautiful.' Then the day after the operation. That was the day the bandages were removed. Then Carruth beheld the first woman he had ever seen. She was Nurse Mellor. 'I knew she was a woman because her face was pale and smooth. I was too long in seeing Dr. Ramsay. I should like to have seen his face first.'

"No words were too good for 'Nurse,' or for all the nurses. And his mother! With what emotion he spoke of the first time he saw her. 'I kind of surprised her,' he said, proudly. 'She came to the ward and said, "How are you getting on?" Well, I had a peep at her sideways and asked her how many wrinkles she had on her brow. Then she said, joyfully, "You can see. How can you tell? Can you count them?" I could not see aye enough for that, but I could see her dear face.'

"Then, what does he think of women now that he first beholds them? They are very beautiful, he says. 'They all seem so good. I think the world and the people in it are fine. I have always (this with a touch of pride) thought a good deal of the ladies, and now it is so good to see their faces, to look at them in their fine dresses. They always told me women were my best friends, and I always knew they were, but now I know it more than ever. They are so kind and gentle, beautiful and graceful.'

"'What did he think of the earth? 'Oh, it is lovely! So much lovelier and greater than I had ever thought or imagined. I am surprised and overjoyed. I had never thought there was such difference and variety in the appearance of things. Coming home I was really overwhelmed as we rushed past the green fields and trees.'"

Carruth learns every moment. He says that he often dreamed that he would see the world, but he never imagined it as it is. He had no idea there were so many people on earth. Carruth is in a curious fix with his neighbors. He knows them all by the sound of their voice. In his blindness they called to him and he replied, but now when he sees them he is unable to recognize them until they speak.

ANCIENT CUSTOMS IN USE.

The Ale-Tasters of Dunstable Have Recently Been Re-elected.

It was in the royal borough of Dunstable that King Stephen and Henry Duke of Normandy met to arrange the succession, and in its venerable church was read the famous sentence by the first Protestant Archbishop which pronounced the divorce of Henry the Eight and Catherine of Arragon. Almost as great an epoch has recently arrived to Dunstable—nothing less than the revolt and resignation of the baliff and hayward, who in a less ancient borough would be known as the town crier. He gave as his experience that there was no money in it. The corporation retains all the rights of the lords of the manor, and at a Court Leet recently a new baliff and hayward was appointed. All the old customs were enforced. Jurymen serving for the first time were fined one shilling to buy "colt ale" for their fellows. Aldermen Langridge and Garrett were re-elected ale-tasters, after the former had been fined 1s. 4d. for neglect of duty. The ancient and established right of the ale-taster is to walk into any one of the thirty-six licensed houses and call for a free stoup of ale, also to see that the measures are of the proper standard.—London Daily Mail.

The Late Mr. Foreshaw Day.

The death of Mr. Foreshaw Day, R.C.A., which occurred at Kingston on the 22nd July, will cause deep regret not only in Canada, but throughout the Empire. Wherever the red coats of British regiments are to be seen there may be found an ex-cadet of our Royal Military College, whose memory holds dear the eccentric but kind-hearted old artist who has now crossed the horizon. For eighteen years Mr. Day was professor of free-hand drawing and painting at the R.M.C., and during that time hundreds of young men, many of whom have become distinguished, passed through his hands.

Mr. Day was born in London, England, in 1837, and was educated at Dublin and at South Kensington. He came to this country in 1862 and was for many years draughtsman in the royal naval yard at Halifax, whence he was transferred to the Royal Military College in 1879. Here he remained until the end of the college year, 1897, when old age and ill-health compelled him to retire. In 1880 he was made a member of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts by His Excellency the then Governor-General, the Marquis of Lorne. The picture that earned him this distinction was a landscape—his forte—"Scene on the Nouvelle River, N. B." Two of his other most celebrated works are "The Grand Pre", and "Louisburg," which gained for him favorable notice in Paris.

PRISON ROUTINE.

The Life of a Convict Confined in Kingston Penitentiary.

In Kingston Penitentiary the cells are models of neatness. Each prisoner is given a separate room, about six by eight feet, and the ventilation is excellent. In one corner is a closet of exposed plumbing, quarter-oak finish and china bowl. Opposite is a brass wash-basin and a cot that works on a hinge so that it hooks up out of the way when not in use. The linen is changed weekly, and is of good material. Each cell is numbered, as is all bedclothes. There is a small looking-glass and a brush and soap. With a plain chair, this is all the furniture the law permits. A 16-candle-power electric light is on the wall. In the warden's discretion small pictures or little nick-nacks may be received by inmates from friends, but these are very limited.

Little Home of a Life Convict.

I examined minutely one cell, says G. C. Porter in Toronto Sunday World. The deputy said it was a life convict's abode. He had occupied it four years. There were a number of little paper pictures, such as a child might cut from a daily paper and color with its little paints. They looked old and discolored, as if long exposed to the light. Apparently some baby hands had finished them years ago when the felon first entered the penitentiary. He had been a resident 14 years.

The library contains many thousands of volumes. They are selected by the chaplain and warden and cover the field of polite literature of a substantial character. All standard novels are there, and they are well read. This is considered the privilege dearest to the convict heart, not even excepting the reduction of the sentence. The men prefer fiction, stories of adventure, of travel and the standard magazines are devoured. Trusties pass among the cells weekly, gathering up the books to be returned, and taking the slip orders from the new book. The men may read two hours nightly, and all day Sunday. Many men leave the prison well educated and well read in current literature who did not know their letters when they entered. A school is maintained, but it is not as efficient as the warden desires. The druggist is the teacher, and the men have but two hours a day, and then only the selected scholars. The old convicts are not taught. There are 50 in the class now. Young men, even the lifers, are given the rudimentary training and they begin to call for books as soon as they learn to spell. It varies the monotony.

Barbers for the Convicts.

The barbers, of which there are one for every one hundred men, are very important personages in the institution. They can give a man a good shave or a bad one, and it is one of the queer things you hear around the prison—a request for a change of barbers, by No. D564. A new recruit, being denuded of his full beard, offended the barber. When one side of his face was smoothly shaven, the barber remembered that it was time to go after his dinner. The unfortunate man was left in that plight until the barber found it convenient to continue his tonsorial work. There are members of the profession usually in prison, but when there are not, they have to be taught, and that is the time the convicts make the most protests. They don't like to be practiced on.

The Kingston boarders consume an enormous quantity of bread. I observed the convicts as they passed the bread table. Nearly every man took three big slices. The guards say the men frequently throw their food, which they do not want, in to the closet, rather than return it with their tin dishes. They seem ashamed to be seen returning food. No knives are permitted and everything is of tin. After a meal the men return their dishes to the kitchen in the same long line that was formed as they went by to secure their food. Thus waiters are dispensed with. Some penitentiaries have a big dining-room where the men sit down to long tables, but this plan requires an elaborate service and more time. The officers' dining-room is an annex of the kitchen, and the same bread, soup and many other foods are fed to all alike.

Feeding the Felons.

There used to be a legal provision for so many ounces of bread, so much of meat, vegetables, etc., for every man, to be strictly measured. This was a survival of the old days, when prison wardens received so much pay per man held in his care, according to his rank, but all this has been abolished. Each man is given all he wants, but no second service is possible. The tin dishes or soup cans and cups of tea or coffee are arranged in rows in front of the kitchen, and the men passing in line around the west wing gather up a portion and move on to their cells by the opposite corridor. Some of the tins contain more food than others and the men take their choice. I noticed some of the criminals looking carefully over the assortment before making a selection, all the time keeping the line moving. The bread table was passed in the same way. A big convict was slicing great piles of white loaves and another was arranging cones of the tempting food as it was grabbed up by the passing line of striped men. Three big slices was the largest quantity taken. Many men took but one piece. Three slices would equal about one loaf, as sold at the average bakeries.

The warden frequently passes among the line of returning convicts as they approach the kitchen to replace their dishes and observes to this or that man that they have not eaten all their food. On the slightest encouragement the prisoners enter into conversation with the commander. If the food is bad there is a protest from dozens of cells, made direct to the warden. It sounds more like a well-regulated hotel than a penal colony of the worst the Dominion produces. But the cook knows his boarders can't change their place of lodging very easily. The cooking is done by the prisoners, and is well done.

Gloomy thoughts become habitual to the dyspeptic. He looks on the dark side of things and every mole hill becomes a mountain. His condition affects his business judgment and mars his home relations.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It gives buoyancy of mind as well as health of body because it removes the physicial cause of mental depression.

It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, and the body is strengthened by nutrition which is the only source of physical strength.

"I was afflicted with what the doctors called nervous indigestion. Took medicine from my family physician to no avail," writes Mr. Thos. C. Lever, of Lever, Richland Co., S. C. "At night would have cold or hot feet and hands, alternately. I was getting very nervous and suffered a great deal mentally, thinking that death would soon claim me. Always expected something unusual to take place; was irritable and impatient, and greatly reduced in flesh. I could scarcely eat any thing that would not produce a bad feeling in my stomach. After some hesitation, I decided to try a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets.' After taking several bottles of each, found I was improving. I continued for six months or more, off and on. I have to be careful yet, at times, of what I eat, in order that I may feel good and strong. I fully believe if any one suffering with indigestion or torpid liver or chronic cold would take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' and observe a few simple hygienic rules, they would soon be greatly benefited, and with a little perseverance would be entirely cured."

Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

J. C. FRANKLIN, AGED 109.

Inmate of Toronto Asylum for the Insane —Recalls His Youth.

Mr. John C. Franklin, an inmate of the Toronto Asylum for the Insane, can probably lay claim to being the oldest man in Toronto, says The Star of that city. Last fall he was brought from Bowmanville to Toronto, and has since that time been at the Queen street asylum.

Although there is no means of ascertaining his exact age, since one of his sons claims him to be 97, while the other says he is 114, it is probable that Mr. Franklin's own statement, that he is 109, is correct.

Mr. Franklin says he was born on the Bay of Dublin on Hallowe'en night, 1794, before the great Irish rebellion, and that his birth is registered in one of the English churches in Dublin. On account of his being born on Hallowe'en his grandmother made him promise never to play any game of chance, as he would always be made win by the fairies and his winnings would always bring him harm, and so, during his whole life, he has never played any game of chance.

When 19 years of age he went from Dublin to the Loch Erne country to avoid being enlisted against Napoleon, and from that time till 1830 he remained in that part of Ireland.

About that time and the period immediately subsequent Mr. Franklin's memory is most clear. He remembers well the excitement in Ireland regarding the threatened Napoleonic invasions and the misery which followed the close of the wars.

In 1830 he sailed from Dublin to Montreal, where he lived for a year, working at his trade as a mason, and then removed to Cornwall, where he remained until the outbreak of Mackenzie's rebellion. At that time he joined the militia, and was present at the attack on the insurgents at the windmill at Prescott and later fought against the insurgents in Lower Canada, where he was wounded in the thigh by a musket ball and had his knapsack cut off by a sabre slash.

"I was a sharpshooter," said Mr. Franklin, "and give me three fingers depth of whiskey in a glass and I would never miss."

After the close of the rebellion he went to Marmora, where he remained several years, and since then he has lived at Belleville and Bowmanville.

Mr. Franklin was married twice, having in his first family three girls and one son, who was in the Life Guards, and in his second family two girls and four boys.

In spite of his great age, Mr. Franklin's mind is fairly clear and his memory accurate regarding events which took place in his youth. He is full of anecdotes of his early life in Canada and in Ireland, and is fond of relating tales of those times. Mr. Franklin has always been a hard worker and has been idle scarcely a day until he became too old to work. "If I were to live as long again," Mr. Franklin said this morning, "I think I would enjoy life as well as ever, and if I had my strenght I would take more recreation and less work in my life."

He cannot be called insane, but his age requires that he be cared for at the asylum.

Two Sunsets Per Day.

There is only one place in the world where the sun sets twice daily, and that is at Leek, in Staffordshire, England. The reason of this is that a jagged mountain is situated to the west of the town, and in the evening the sun sets behind it and darkness comes on. Then the first sunset occurs, the gas lamps are lit, and apparently night has set in. But it has not, for in the space of an hour or so the sun reappears again through the opening at the side of the mountain, and daylight again appears. Artificial lights are extinguished and daylight again prevails until the sun descends below the opening and the second sunset occurs and night comes to stay.

Used to It.

Manager—That young woman whom I placed at this counter a year ago already knows more about the business than you do, and I find that I shall have to put her at the head of the department, though I fear it will be rather unpleasant for you to be under her orders.

Clerk—Oh, no; I am getting used to that. We were married six months ago.

THE SONG SPARROW.

Hail! little bird, in brown and grey,
That in the earliest spring-time first
Comes north, to greet us with thy lay,
Though March winds blow and long delay
The purple lilac buds to burst.

How cheery, then, sounds thy trill!
How spirited its brave attack!
As if ye dared the lingering chill
Of slow-dispersing snows on hill
And solitary woodland track.

Our messenger of hope, art thou,
Of flowers and sunshine yet to be,
As from the bare and bending bough
Thou pourest forth thy ecstasy,
So joyously, so lavishly.

From thy full repertoire of tre sure,
Our own Canadian Philomel,
Thou bringest forth no stinted measure;
The gushing founts of song that well
Within thy heart thy strains impel
From morning star to vesper bell.

High on the spray, thou liftest thy head
When April wakes the violet,
And when the summer days have sped
And autumn dons her robes of red
And frosted sheen, thou singest yet.

Thine is no pessimistic wail,
Glad spirit of perpetual song;
The earth is thy enchanted vale,
Whose beauties all to thee belongt
Thou drinkest from the nectared grail,
And thou must sing, sweet nightingale.

Practical Joke on Actor Sothern.

In connection with Punch's famous dinners, a story is told of Sothern. He had been invited to meet a brilliant company assembled at the publishing office on the day the Prince of Wales (our present King) was married. He arrived late on the opposite side of the street. The crowd was dense, and he was unable to force his way across. Seeing a policeman, he whispered, "Get me through, and I'll give you a sovereign." "Afraid I can't," said the officer, "but I'll try." A prodigious effort was unsuccessfully made. Sothern was at his wit's end. "Look here," he said to the constable, "put your handcuffs on me, drag me through, and I'll give you two pounds." So Sothern was handcuffed and dragged through a mass of humanity. "You'll find the money in my waistcoat pocket," he said The policeman secured it, but also an additional bribe from one of Sothern's friends, which left the actor for the rest of the day manacled and not in the most comfortable position to enjoy a good dinner.

Bo Bit the Warder.

A magistrate visiting a British jail saw a prisoner who had a rat in his possession.

The magistrate said: "Ah, you have a pet, I see."

"Yes," said the convict. "I feeds him every day. I thinks more of that 'ere rat than any other living creature."

"That proves," said the magistrate, "that in every man there's some good impulse, if you can only find it. How came you to take such a fancy to the rat?"

"'Cos he bit the warder," said the convict, cheerfully.

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, August 14, 9.45 a.m.—The continued better tone of London will probably give further incentive to operations on our board and possibly some further advance. The market was big yesterday and indications are for further broadening. It is not to be doubted, however, that a reinstatement of large lines of long stocks by operators forced their position recently for most part of buying power as well as covering shorts from among more pessimistic traders. It is not to be expected that this class of buying will be enduring, and, as far as any new business is concerned, we do not expect encouragement to be given with this class of operations by financiers, as the recent crisis has been fruitful in a lesson against overloading of loans by purely speculative holdings. We are inclined to look for some irregularity in fluctuations to-day and to-morrow, with some realizing and perhaps hesitation in following the advance.—McIntyre & Marshall.

OIL INDUSTRY OF VAN WERT, OHIO.

Examiner's Special Article Concluded From Wednesday.

Demand of Oil Probably be as Great as Ever—Fortune in Store for Those Financially Interested in Oil.

A feature of the oil industry of Van Wert County, Ohio, is that it has been in existence for about three years only. This seems hard to realize as one passes through the country and notices the activity in oil industrial circles. Less than three years ago there was not a barrel of oil pumped inside the county to-day there are hundreds of wells. To give an idea of how new the industry is to the people of Van Wert, it might be mentioned that the Republican of that city, owned by Mr. D. J. Evans, published three years ago an interesting history of the County. Not a word was mentioned in it of any oil having been found, nor was there in fact a word about the oil industry. Now Van Wert is celebrated as the headquarters of the oil industry of the county.

The area of the county is about 400 square miles. The county was named in honour of Isaac Van Wert one of the three captors of the unfortunate Andre. The surface is level, and the top soil loam, the subsoil blue marl and very deep, and, what is remarkable, of such tenacity that water will not sink through it. Hence, in pioneer days, before the county was drained, especially in wet seasons, the crops were poor from the water standing on the soil. However, this trouble has been overcome as the county is now fairly well drained. The soil is very rich and at an early date the surface was covered with a great variety of timber.

Just at the close of the month of January, 1820, when the lengthening shadows were blending into darkness and the solitude of the "forest primeval" invited the weary pioneer of that section of northwestern Ohio, and the first white man to settle in this county,—Capt. James Riley—footsore and hungry to such a repose as a bed of earth afforded on the banks of the St. Marys' near where Willshire now stands with no shelter but the over arching sky and no sentinels but the glitteriung stars which peeped through the interstices of the leafy curtain that fringed his rude couch, it would be interesting to know what fancies lulled him to sleep and what dreams came to him as prophesies of the future. Unknown to him then was the distinction he was earning, of not only being the first settler in that county, but also an organizer of what is known to-day as three of the most productive counties of northwestern Ohio. So it will be seen that less than a century ago the county had its beginning. Even then the hardy emigrants were preparing for that toilsome journey which only ended in what then appeared to them wild, swampy, unproductive lands. Here, however, they built their huts, and they and their successors from the wilds wrought out for themselves homes, finally filling their garners with plenty, built schools for their children and erected temples for their God. Blessed were their labours as is evidenced to-day by a population of over 33 000 intelligent, industrious and happy people, whose measures are filled with abundance and whose cups run over with those varied bounties which flow from a highly developed civilization.

But by long odds the pride of the county to-day is its oil wells and the success of the industry is assured. It would not do to say that there is a vast fortune in store for all who become financially interested in oil in that section, but it is reasonable to say that the county appears to be rich in oil, that the development of the properties is in the hands of apparently energetic companies, and that with judicious management the wells should yield a profit to those interested for years to come—This belief is on the supposition that the demand for oil will keep up as it has done of recent years and that there will continue to be a fair market price for the output of the various wells throughout the Van Wert and other counties.

The visit of the Peterborough delegation was enjoyable as well as being of an educative nature and the courtesy of the people of Van Wert was characteristic of the common good feeling that exists, more than ever to-day, between the two young English speaking nations of the North American continent.

It's only safe with equal parts of Henry's good old rye whiskey or Brandy. FAMOUS MOATED HOUSES.

The moat which so often surrounded halls and castles in the old days is now generally dry and filled up, but some remarkable specimens still remain. Perhaps the finest example of a moated house is Helmingham Hall, the seat of Lord Tollemache, in Suffolk, about eight miles from Ipswich. The drawbridge still remains, and it has been raised every night for more than 300 years, the ancient precaution being observed even though the need for it has long passed by. The moat which surrounds Leeds castle, near Maidstone, is so wide that it may almost be called a lake. The ancient Episcopal palace at Wells is surrounded by walls which inclose nearly seven acres of ground and by a moat which is supplied with water from St. Andrew's well. A venerable bridge spans the moat, giving access through a tower gateway to the outer court.—London Standard.

THE KING'S SPEECH.

Prorogation of the British Parliament Till November 2.

ON AFFAIRS INTERNATIONAL

Premier Balfour Makes General Reply to Questions—Delay in Venezuelan Arbitration—The King's Visit to Ireland —The Macedonian Troubles—Uncertain Future For Government Election Probabilities.

London, Aug. 15.—There has probably never been a prorogation of Parliament when the future of the Government was so uncertain as is the case on this occasion. Many believe there will be a dissolution in the autumn though the best information does not support this belief. Mr. Balfour's speech at Sheffield at the end of September is awaited with the keenest interest, as it will contain a pronouncement of policy which will possibly force either the Duke of Devonshire, a pronounced free trader, or Colonial Secretary Chamberlain to resign. The members of Parliament will curtail their holidays—the free food leaguers in order to open the fiscal campaign as speedily as possible, and the followers of Mr. Chamberlain to repel the attack.

After the reading of the King's speech Parliament was prorogued till Nov. 2.

The King's Speech.

The King's speech was of little general or international interest. It referred to the cordiality of His Majesty's reception in Portugal, Italy and France, and to the return visit of President Loubet, whose visit has given rise to a striking exhibition of the feelings of mutual good will which prevail in the two countries."

Dealing with His Majesty's visit to Ireland the speech says: "The warm expression of good will with which I was everywhere received greatly touched me. My visit enabled me to realize how much was being attempted to improve the housing accommodation for the working population, stimulate activity, advance the methods of agriculture, develop technical education, and provide for the sick and infirm. Much remains to be done, but it was with feelings of greatest gratification that I noticed signs of increasing concord among all classes in Ireland, presaging, as for the general welfare."

I hope, a new era of united efforts for the general welfare."

The Irish Land Question.

Referring to the Irish land bill, the speech says it offers inducements to the land owners to continue their residence among their countrymen, and provides facilities for improving the conditions of life in the poorer districts of the west, and adds: 'This reform by removing the ancient causes of social dissension, will I heartily trust, conduct to the common benefit of all my Irish subjects."

Reference was made in the speech to the general anxiety regarding the situation in the European provinces of Turkey, to the great progress made in the work of resettlement and pacification in South Africa, and the improvement in the conditions of agriculture and finance in India.

Speech by Premier Balfour.

Both Houses of Parliament assembled early to wind up the business of the session. In the House of Commons Premier Balfour, regarding the complaints that the Government was showing a lack of sympathy with Macedonia, pointed out that one of the deep sources of mischief was the dissensions among the Christians. It was not the Turk alone—deep as his guilt undoubtedly was—who was responsible for the miserable conditions. It would be folly to forget that the Christians committed atrocities on Christians. The Government was still of the opinion that the best policy was to support the Austro-Russian endeavors to improve the administration.

Dealing with the protests against puzzling the House on the fiscal controversy, the Premier said he thought there was no necessity for undue hurry in discussing the matter. There was no pending fiscal question before Parliament, nor would there be one during the currency of the present Parliament.

A HUGE SURPLUS.

Fourteen and a Half Millions Is the Estimate—Some Good Speeches in Grand Trunk Pacific Debate.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—To-day's Canada Gazette contains a statement showing that the receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, were $66,048,514, and the expenditure $48,013,750. The revenue for the year previous was $57,412,380, and the expenditure $47,382,102. The capital expenditure amounted to $7,651,977, as against $12,389,992 for the year previous. The likelihood is that the surplus will be at least $14,500,000, when all the accounts for the year are adjusted. The July statement of revenue and expenditure shows a decided improvement over the same month in 1902.

The Debate on the G.T.P.

Mr. Emmerson in the House voiced the opinion of New Brunswick yesterday on the Government's Grand Trunk Pacific Railway policy, and it was one of enthusiastic endorsation. The excellence of the contract made by the Government with the Grand Trunk Pacific was convincingly demonstrated in a speech that was conspicuous for its force and incisiveness. Dr. Sproule spoke for the Opposition at great length and with facility, but it was impossible for even such an able critic to find any flaws in the Government's policy. Mr. Rodolphe Lemieux had the floor for the greater part of the evening session, and it was noticeable how the back benchers drew nearer the front to listen to him. The French-Canadian members, and he is one of the brightest, have the faculty of clothing their ideas in elegant and poetic language, the charm of which is heightened by a graceful delivery. With such an able exponent as Mr. Lemieux the Government's policy lost nothing in the handling. Mr. Oliver in a well condensed speech of scarcely ten minutes duration pronounced himself in favor of a Government-owned transcontinental line, but accepted the present proposition as the next best thing. The Opposition had no man ready to speak and the debate went over until next week after an intimation from Sir Wilfrid Laurier that late sittings would hereafter be held.

Bill Re. Binder Twine.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—In the Senate yesterday Hon. Mr. Scott moved the second reading of the bill respecting the manufacture of binder twine in Canada. After a long discussion, the bill was read a second time.

The T. & H. Railway Bill.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—Mayor Urquhart of Toronto, Hon. Mr. Gouin, Commissioner of Public Works, Quebec, and Mr. McKelcan, Hamilton, spoke strongly against the T. & H. Railway Bill before the Committee yesterday. Mr. Ethier of Montreal, Mayor Cook of Ottawa, Mayor Cant of Galt and others also affirmed that the bill was an invasion of municipal rights. The Committee adjourned till Wednesday.

THE ROY-BOYCE CASE.

The Law on the Crime Discovered in Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Aug. 15.—Mrs. David Roy, charged with disfiguring Emma Boyce by throwing carbolic acid in her face, was remanded to jail for a week. The magistrates refused bail, as the offence is a most serious one, and the penalty imprisonment for life. It is alleged that Mrs. Roy knocked her victim down and endeavored to pour the acid down her throat. In the struggle the liquor was spilled and the victim will lose the sight of one of her eyes. The offence may come as an attempt to commit murder, under section 232 of the Criminal Code of Canada.

A QUINTETTE DROWNED.

Steamer Mersey Foundered a Little Below Point Oularde, Quebec.

Quebec, Aug. 15.—News has been received from Point Oularde, on the north shore below Metis, that the steamer Mersey, from Quebec, with a cargo for Seven Islands, foundered a little below Point Oularde about 2 p.m. Thursday. Capt. Gagnon, the mate, and another man succeeded in reaching shore after much hardship at 8 o'clock Thursday night. Five of the crew were drowned.

Effects of the Hurricane.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The State Department has received the following cablegram from John F. Jewell, American Consul at Martinique, dated Port De France, yesterday: "Cane, cocoa and coffee crops, total loss. Fruits and vegetables positively destroyed. Every town and village injured. Thousands of houses down. Deaths few. Communication difficult. Bread stuffs, provisions and galvanized roofing will find ready sale."

The State Department also received the following cablegram from Kingston, Jamaica: "Port Antonio greatly damaged by hurricane. Many dead and seriously injured are constantly reported to the Consulate."

Didn't Watch the Guage.

Durand, Mich., Aug. 15.—The coroner's inquest into Wallace Brothers' circus train wreck here last Friday began yesterday. Charles Probst of Battle Creek, engineer of the second section, testified that his air-brake was all right when the train left Charlotte, the night of the accident. In response to a question, he said that he made the run with the idea that everything was all right, and did not bother with looking at the guage.

Population of B.C. Cities.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 15.—According to statistics compiled by publishers of Henderson's Directory for British Columbia just issued, the population of Vancouver is 33,000, 29,000 white and 4,000 Orientals. The population of Victoria is given at 24,000, 19,000 white and 5,000 Chinese and Orientals.

Crushed by a Derrick.

Montreal Aug. 15.—J. L. Stevens, accountant of Montreal west, was killed yesterday at Chambly. The deceased was in the employ of Captain Logan, who has the contract for supplying sand for the repairs that are being made to the Chambly dam by the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company. He was standing on the boat superintending the unloading of the sand when something went wrong with a foot of the derrick, and as a result the whole machinery collapsed, burying Stevens under the ruins. When recovered he was unconscious, and died before a doctor could reach him.

Mr. Pirie's Condition.

Dundas, Aug. 15.—A. F. Pirie is sinking rapidly. The doctors have given up hope, and say he may not live till morning. He has been conscious only a few minutes since Saturday night. At midnight Dr. Ross said: "There is now no hope for him."

Printing Office Burned Down.

Hagersville, Aug. 15.—At about 11 o'clock last night, fire broke out in the rear of Forsyth's butcher shop, and spread rapidly to the frame building to the the east and west, totally destroying The Standard Printing Office, Smuck's bakery and dwelling, Charlie Lee's laundry and Mrs. Midforth's tenement house. The fire is believed to be of incendiary origin. Loss $4,000 on buildings, and $5,000 on contents.

OVER SILVER SPRAY.

U. S. Lake Erie Fishermen Arming for Fight With Petrel.

GUNBOATS FOR THE LAKES.

Present Trouble May Result in the Abrogation of the Old-Time Treaty Prohibiting Such Vessels on the Great Lakes—Fessenden and Michigan May Go to Lake Erie Waters.

Erie, Pa., Aug. 15.—While as yet the authorities at Washington have not been officially notified by Captain Chris Chau of the Silver Spray of his encounter with the Canadian revenue cutter Petrel, the affair has created intense excitement and feeling among the fishermen along the lake, and it is hard to say just where the matter is going to end. Chau himself says he will go slowly in the prosecution of the case. He consulted with the collector of ports Thursday night and was advised to locate the exact spot of the "battle of Lake Erie," in so far as it refers to the boundary line, before reporting to Washington. Opinion differs as to whether the Silver Spray was in American waters at the time the chase commenced, although Chau himself asserts that the Petrel followed him fully a mile within these waters before the firing and pursuit were discontinued. Public sentiment as a whole is divided, and the trouble may die out unless some of the hot-headed fishermen, who ever since the seizure of the Kitty D. two weeks ago, have been increasing their hatred toward the Canadian fishery protective service, precipitate a serious international controversy.

Antagonists Bound to Clash.

It is openly stated that unless the United States Government takes some action to investigate the Silver Spray occurrence and to have the Kitty D. and other recently confiscated vessels restored, that a nasty clash between the antagonistic interests is bound to occur. There is no doubt that several of the larger fishing boats will be fully armed hereafter and a plot is already formed to capture the Petrel and hold her commander in the near future. Some of the bold enthusiasts are advocating an immediate attack, by night on the Petrel, and it may be difficult to restrain some of the adventurous spirits ready for a fracas with the Canucks. One plan is to ram the Petrel or to induce the Petrel to put an officer or two aboard some American vessel, seize them and then capture the Petrel, and probably scuttle her. Just how the United States Government would treat such an exploit is the matter now under discussion and if it is thought to be feasible and within the pale of the law, the attempt may be made. It is said that hereafter the fishing boats will go in fleets, and if they are armed and fully manned, a combined attack may prove disastrous to the Petrel.

A Couple Were Wounded.

A couple of the crew of the Silver Spray, it now appears, were slightly wounded in the one-sided engagement.

The seriousness of the whole affair, as relating to the probability of its becoming a matter for international argument, will depend altogether upon whether the Silver Spray, at the time the Canadian cutter bore down on her was in Canadian or American waters. On this point, Capt. Chau is himself uncertain.

For Gunboats on the Lakes.

According to a despatch from Washington, it is reported that the War Department is fully cognizant of affairs on the Ontario frontier. It is also stated that the United States revenue cutter Fessenden has been ordered to Erie to investigate the matter, and the Fessenden, it is stated, may be detailed permanently to the waters now patroled by the Petrel. The United States cutter Michigan, it is also said at the State Department, may very soon have urgent business in the vicinity of Buffalo, Erie and Dunkirk. Both of these vessels carry several guns and a number of experienced marines, fully armed. Either boat is fully able to cope with the Petrel, and no American vessels are likely to be seized, or fired upon by the Petrel while they are within sight.

The feeling at the Capitol is that the present trouble will result, in the near future, in the American Government placing a fleet of small gunboats, or torpedo boats, on the Great Lakes, abrogating the old-time treaty prohibiting such vessels on the Great Lakes.

Toadstools Kill Miss Espy.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 15.—Poisoned by eating toadstools, believing they were mushrooms, Miss Maud Espy, the beautiful daughter of Major and Mrs. John Espy, of St. Paul, died in agony at her parents' summer home at Mahtomedi, Thursday night. Miss Espy was 25 years old and was one of St. Paul's society belles. Miss Espy was accompanied on the fatal mushroom expedition by her mother, who also was critically ill for a time. Major Espy is worth millions.

Hamilton, Aug. 15.—After hearing the evidence the jurors brought in a verdict to the effect that that Mrs. Vosper came to her death as a result of a bullet wound from a revolver in the hands of her husband, and that Vosper died from the effects of poison self-administered.

Young Man's Disappearance.

Alliston, Aug. 15.—Henry Mooney, a young man of about 22 years, son of John Mooney of Elm Grove, dropped mysteriously out of sight on Sunday evening, and it is feared he may have committed suicide. He had been engaged as a farm hand with John McMann, but was spending Sunday at his home at Elm Grove. On Sunday he asked his sister for a piece of rope and in the evening he was seen going toward the river with the rope. No trace of him has been found, although all the neighbors have been assisting in the search.

Life Imprisonment For Two.

Cynthiana, Ky., Aug. 15.—The jury in the case of Curtis Jett and Thomas White, charged with assassination of James B. Marcum at Jackson, Ky., yesterday morning, returned a verdict of guilty, fixing the punishment of each at life imprisonment. There have been twenty-seven lives lost within the past two years in the Hargis-Cockrill feud in Breathitt County, and this is the first conviction.

Miss Paine's Experience.

"I want to thank you for what you have done for me, and recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all girls whose work keeps them standing on their feet in the store. The doctor said I must stop work; he did not seem to realize that a girl cannot afford to stop working. My back ached, my appetite was poor, I could not sleep, and menstruation was scanty and very painful. One day when suffering I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found that it helped me. I continued its use, and soon found that my menstrual periods were free from pain and natural; everyone is surprised at the change in me, and I am well, and cannot be too grateful for what you have done for me."—MISS JANET PAINE, 530 West 125th St., New York City.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Take no substitute, for it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that cures.

FINANCING THE RAILWAY.

(The Globe.)

Two detailed estimates of the cost of the proposed transcontinental railway are now before the public, one by the ex-Minister of Railways, and the other by the acting Minister, Mr. Blair and Mr. Fielding respectively. As these estimates have been differently made up it is not easy to tabulate them for purposes of comparison, but the summaries of the results arrived at are interesting, if not instructive. It is necessary in each case to bear in mind that the eastern division, from Moncton to Winnipeg, is to be built entirely at the expense of the country, and to be leased after seven years to the Grand Trunk Pacific Company at an annual rental of three per cent. of the cost of construction; and that the western division, from Winnipeg to the Pacific, is to be built at the expense of the company, except for the payment of interest by the Government for seven years on $30,000 per mile of the mountain section.

Mr. Blair estimates the length of the section from Moncton to Quebec at 425 miles, and that of the section from Quebec to Winnipeg at 1,400 miles, a total of 1,825. The cost per mile he averages throughout at $35,000, a total of, say, $65,000,000. The interest on this sum he charges up for ten years, instead of seven, a total of $19,500,000. He expects the Government to pay interest at three and a half per cent. on the invested capital and to receive interest from the company at only three per cent., an accumulated loss of $16,850,000 in fifty years. He adds to the sums interest for seven years on the guaranteed proportion of the mountain section, and a certain amount of interest for a short period on the prairie section, and the accumulates a grand total of [illegible] $139,000,000. If the eighteen [illegible] lar loss accruing fr[illegible] million dollars cent. difference [illegible] the half per should not [illegible] above mentioned $12[illegible] occur this would leave [illegible],000 as a direct liability on which the country would have to pay interest—to the amount, of, say, $3,630,000 a year.

Mr. Fielding's estimate of the cost of the road is much below Mr Blair's. He puts the distance from Moncton to Quebec at 400 miles, and the cost at $25,000 a mile, a total of $10,000,000; the distance from Quebec to Winnipeg at 1,475 miles and the cost at $28,000 a mile, in all $41,300,000; and the total cost of construction of the eastern division, including interest accumulated during the period of construction, at $54,609,677, as compared with Mr. Blair's $65,000,000. The annual interest on this sum is $1,638,290 at three per cent., a total of $11,468,030 for the seven years. By actuarial calculation a principal of $8,853,502, put out now at interest would at the end of that period pay off the whole amount.

The mountain section the Finance Minister estimates at 480 miles and up to $30,000 a mile the Government has to pay interest on the cost of construction for seven years. A principal of $2,234,575 invested now would pay off this accumulation of interest at the end of that time. By the same method of calculation an invested principal of $324,246 would pay off by the end of seven years the two million dollars assumed by the Government out of the total cost of the Quebec bridge. Adding twenty-five per cent. to the cost of the Moncton-Quebec section to allow for a possible under-estimate, these three sums give a total as follows:—

Moncton-Winnipeg division	$11,066,877
Mountain section	2,331,575
Quebec bridge	324,246
Total	$13,725,698

In other words, if this amount were invested for the next seven years at compound interest the proceeds of the investment would meet all the liability incurred by the Government in the construction of the transcontinental railway. When Mr. Fielding stated that the amount necessary to be thus invested in only one year's surplus revenue—a surplus likely to increase from year to year—it is easy to understand how successful the Government has been in financing the scheme without making the terms too severe for the Grand Trunk Pacific Company.

THE ADVANTAGES OF UNDER-DRAINING.

Some Reasons Why Farmers Should Drain Their Land.

Many reasons may easily be adduced to show that farm lands will in nearly all cases be improved by draining. Nature has herself thoroughly drained a considerable portion of the soil, but it is probable that in course of time as land becomes more valuable, it will be found advisable to artificially drain the greater part of our level or moderately sloping lands that are worthy of cultivation. The question as to whether it will pay to drain a given area depends on the value of the land before drainage, the cost of the operations and the value of the land when drained. This is a question which every landowner must decide for himself.

At the outset it may be pointed out that drainage deepens the soil, and so affords greater room for the roots of plants. Unless its roots have an extensive pasture, as it were, no plant can make use of the resources of the soil to the best advantage. In well drained soils the roots of most cultivated plants spread themselves widely and to a great extent; from two to four feet is quite usual and some plants such as lucerne have been known to send their roots as far as thirty feet. No roots except those of aquatic plants will grow in stagnant water. Proper drainage lowers the surface of the ground water so that the roots are able to penetrate to their normal depth; and furnishes conditions favourable to the greatest growth and largest yeield of crops.

The drain, by taking away the free water that occupies the pores of the soil, allows air to pass through the soil. The soil may be said to breathe through the drain, for there is a continuous movement of air to and fro, up and down, caused by variations in the pressure of the atmosphere. When the soil is comparatively dry there is a good deal of air in its pores. Then, when a rain comes, it fills the upper end of these pores, and if there is no outlet for the air below, it is imprisoned and exerting a backward pressure on the water above, prevents it from entering the soil more than an inch or two. It may happen therefore that in an undrained soil a heavy summer shower is forced to run off the surface, while the land below the first inch is as dry as ever. This is one illustration of the truth of the apparently contradictory statement that under-draining is a safeguard against drought.

All sloping land, unles laid down to grass, is liable to great loss by this surface washing during the heavy rains in spring and fall. If the land has not sufficient drainage the rain cannot pass directly downward, as explained above, but runs away upon the surface carrying with it much of the soil, and washing the fertility out of much which remains. But with proper drainage, the rain is at once absorbed, and passes downwards, saturating the soil in its decent and carrying the fertilizing elements to the roots of the plants, while the surplus moisture runs through the drains.

Again, drainage is absolutely necessary for the proper pulverization of heavy soils. It is manifest that a wet soil can never be pulverized. More water is held by a pulverized and open soil than by a compact and close one. Water is held in the soil between the minute particles of earth, and if these particles be pressed together compactly there is no space left between them for water. This compactness exists more or less in most subsoils, certainly in all those through which water does not readily pass. Hence, all those subsoils are rendered more retantive of moisture by having the particles of which they are composed separated from one another—in a word, by pulverization. This increased capacity to contain moisture by attraction is the greatest security against drought. The plants in a dry time send their rootlets throughout the soil, and flourish in the moisture thus stored up for their time of need.

Soils that are always wet, so that large amounts of water evaporate from their surfaces, never become warm. The sun has great power to warm dry soils, or soils which permit of a free circulation of air, but it has little effect on a saturated soil. Warmth is essential to the germination of seeds and the proper growth of plants. The [illegible] who are cultivating what farmers as a "cold" soil will be [illegible] to concede the import[illegible]ance of this fact.

Other advantages [illegible] of under-draining may be ment[illegible]oned, such as the sequent on the crop growth consequent on the earlier seeding of dom of fa[illegible] the comparative freezing [illegible] wheat and clover from absence [illegible] out or winter killing; the decrease of open drains, which are a [illegible]ded nuisance in the cultivation of the land and the harvesting of the crops; and, last of all, the removal from the soil of those soluble salts formed by the decay of rock and organic matter, which cannot be used by plants, and the presence of which in the soil causes the condition known as "alkali land."

Very truly yours,

W. A. CLEMONS,
Publication Clerk.

"MY SHEPHERD."

"I know my sheep and am known of mine."

By Llewellyn A. Morrison.

He knows th me.—my Shepherd, dear!
My name He hath engraven
Upon His hand; I have no fear
That I shall be enslaven
Of hate or crime, of sin or wrong,
Or broken from His holding,—
For I unto His flock belong,
Protected by His folding.

Though ransomed myriads claim His care,
Yet, since my Shepherd met me,
Within His heart my face is, where
He never can forget me.
When I am faint, my Shepherd strong,
Upon his bosom bears me,
And where destructive dangers throng,
His sheltered rest He shares me.

No fear have I. Why should I fear
When such a shepherd keepeth?
All the long day He watcheth near
(He guardeth all who sleepeth)
And leadeth on by thorne or thrall
With purposeful endeavour;
For all the Shepherd foldeth shall Abide with Him forever.

THE HEAVYWEIGHTS

Champion Jeffries Beats Jim Corbett in the 10th Round.

RECORD RING CROWD THERE.

Big Battle of Pugilists at San Francisco Draws a $84,000 Attendance—Corbett, Though Game, Got the Worst of It All the Way Through, and Went Out Through Two Stomach Blows.

San Francisco, Aug. 15.—James J. Jeffries, champion heavyweight of the world, played with Jim Corbett for nine rounds and a half last night, and then Corbett's seconds motioned to Referee Graney to stop the fight in order to save their man from needless punishment. The end came shortly after the beginning of the tenth round, when Jeffries planted one of his terrific left swings on Corbett's stomach. The man who conquered John L. Sullivan dropped to the floor, and the memorable scene at Carson City, when Bob Fitzsimmons landed his solar plexus blow, was almost duplicated. This time, however, Corbett struggled to his feet, and again faced his gigantic adversary. With hardly a moment's hesitation Jeffries swung his right and again landed on Corbett's stomach. Jim dropped to the floor, and then it was that Tommy Ryan, seeing that it was all over, motioned to Referee Graney to stop the punishment.

The fight last night demonstrated beyond all doubt that Jeffries stands alone in his class. He showed remarkable improvement in both speed and skill. Corbett, during the first part of the fight, was almost outpointed, and the few blows that he landed on Jeffries apparently were without sting. Jeffries was never in better condition.

The frequency with which he countered Corbett's leads astonished everybody. Corbett, in comparison with the big man alongside of him, looked very light, but was really heavier than ever before. He appeared to have lost some of his old-time speed and skill during the early part of the fight, but this may have been due to Jeffries' marvelous improvement.

At first, Corbett was very cautious, and apparently was outpointed by Jeffries, but later in the fight he warmed up and showed some of his old-time cleverness. From the first, however, it was generally regarded as a hopeless case for Corbett. He made a gallant fight, but he never stood a chance to win.

After the fight was over, Corbett quickly recovered, walked over to Jeffries and shook him warmly by the hand. He said:

"Jim, you beat me fairly. You stand alone. No one can touch you."

Referee Eddie Graney said after the fight that it was a good heavyweight contest.

"Corbett was very clever, but Jeffries was almost equally so, and showed marvelous improvement. He practically out-boxed Corbett during the fight, with the exception of the eighth and ninth rounds. Every blow he landed told, and his superior weight and strength was bound to win in the end."

Timekeeper George Harting stated that the blows that won the fight were a left to the stomach, followed by a right to the same place.

Ten thousand men were seated about the arena in Mechanic's Pavilion at 9 o'clock, representing an expenditure for seating accommodations aggregating $54,000. This is the largest crowd ever assembled at a ringside in the United States, and the third largest sum in dollars and cents ever contested for. The two that exceeded its receipts were the Corbett-Jeffries fight at Coney Island, $66,000, and the Corbett-McCoy at Madison Square Gardens, New York, $63,000.

A WELL KNOWN ALBANY MAN.

Recommends Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

About eighteen months ago, Mr. W. S. Manning, of Albany, N.Y., widely known in trade circles as the representative of the Albany Chemical Co. was suffering from a protracted attack of diarrhoea. "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," he says, "and obtained immediate relief. I cheerfully recommend this medicine to those similarly afflicted." Sold by all druggists.

Worcester, Aug. 15.—With ideal conditions, the nine events which constituted the first day of the 31st championship regatta of the National Oarsmen were run yesterday on Lake Quinsigamond most successfully. Scholes of Toronto won his heat in the association senior sculls was not unexpected.

The pains affected the muscles in my shoulders and neck, and they were in such a chronic, painful condition that I despaired of ever getting well. At times I could not stand on my feet, the pains were so frightful. The first bottle of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure gave me great relief, and the second bottle cured me."—Madame E. WOMEN IN FACTORIES.

A Digest of the Report of Miss Carlyle, the Inspector—The Piecework System and Its Serious Evils.

According to the report of Miss Carlyle, inspector of factories and shops for Ontario, there are about 50,000 female employes in the factories of the Province. Although the collection of accurate statistics is a comparatively recent departure, it is evident that this record shows a marked increase during the last few years. That the future will bring equally rapid increases may fairly be predicted, for the growth of manufacturing industries is assured, and women desiring employment show a preference for the factories. The conditions in the factories of the Province are, on the whole, quite satisfactory, and the inspector finds very little cause for adverse criticism. Factories are generally clean, and there is but very little overcrowding, the only complaint that is at all frequent being in regard to ventilation. One of the changes that has greatly improved industrial conditions is the substitution of electric lighting for gas. The gas flame helps to vitiate the air of a factory or other building, and at the same time tends to increase the temperature. The change has made working conditions more comfortable in many factories, although that result was not directly contemplated. Employers, however, are generally willing to do everything necessary to insure the safety and comfort of employes. In dealing with the movement for a Saturday half-holiday, Miss Carlyle gives it a strong endorsation, and takes a decided attitude against overtime for women workers. It is a matter involving the health of a large number of employes, and the views of the inspector are entitled to the fullest consideration.

The effect of introducing the piecework system is discussed at considerable length. The rapid pace and severe nervous strain which have resulted from it are made the basis of an argument in favor of further restricting the hours of work. Time is really the essence of all contracts between employers and employes. Where piecework is introduced the rate for each stint of work is determined, not by its ultimate price, but by the time it will take to do it. By experience in day work employers learn to estimate the time required for the various operations in which the piecework system is introduced, and thus have a basis for estimating the rates of payment. Employes are stimulated by the piecework system to greater effort, every increase in their output meaning a corresponding increase in their returns. Working under pressure means comparatively large weekly wages. This is noted by managers and directors, and generally leads to a reduction in the piece rates. The result is a speed and pressure which led Miss Carlyle to question how long the nerves of the workers could withstand the strain. The wide variation in wage rates shows that factory employment for women is still in an unsettled condition. Employes in boot and shoe, tobacco and cigar, woollen and knitting factories receive better pay than those working in other industries. In the many branches of wearing apparel manufacture the rate of wages varies so materially that it would be impossible to venture on the average wage which would not be liable to contradiction. The entrance of women into light manual occupations is among the accomplished changes of modern industrial conditions. It would be futile to discuss the advisability of the inevitable, and it only remains to minimize any resultant evils that may develop.

KRUSHEVE TAKEN BY TURKS.

Murderer of Russian Consul Rostkovski Executed, and Russia May Accept $80,000 Indemnity For Widow.

Constantinople, Aug. 15.—The imperial troops have occupied Krushevo, 25 miles north of Monastir, which was recently seized by the insurgents. A force of 4,000 troops besieged the place and bombarded it with artillery. The fighting with the revolutionists is still proceeding outside the town. The panic continues at Monastir and the shops are closed.

Rostkovski's Murderer Executed.

A settlement of the indemnity for the murder of M. Rostkovski, the Russian consul at Monastir, is imminent. The Government's offer of $80,000 to the widow appears to be satisfactory to Russia. The Russian Government continues to insist on the execution of the murderer.

A court-martial held at Monastir Thursday condemned the gendarme Hallim to death for the murder of M. Rostkovski, the Russian consul at Monastir. The sentence was immediately carried out. Another gendarme was sentenced to 15 years penal servitude.

Backing Up Hopelessness.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 15.—The Bulgarian Government is preparing a memorandum to the powers, giving statistics of the acts of oppression by the Turkish officials in Macedonia since the institution of the reform program three months ago, and other evidence in support of Bulgaria's belief in the hopelessness of expecting any good result from the Russo-Austrian reform plan.

Ammunition Labelled Nails.

Belgrade, Servia, Aug. 15.—A large quantity of ammunition intended for the Macedonian insurgents has been confiscated in the custom house here. It was packed in wooden cases marked "hardware" and "nails."

PANAMA CANAL DOOMED.

Thought Likely That Roosevelt Will Have to Choose Nicaraguan.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 15.—Colombia practically has killed the Panama Canal Treaty, and it is believed that President Roosevelt almost surely will decide to select the Nicaraguan Canal route. Colombia struck a death blow to the Panama route when the Cangressional Committee having the treaty under consideration adopted nine amendments, any one of which will be fatal to the treaty, owing to the impossibility of securing their adoption by the United States Senate, which must accept or reject them.

Blew Up the Safe.

Preston, Aug. 15.—The safe at J. Ballantine & Co.'s foundry was blown open by burglars about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, but only a small amount of change and stamps was obtained. The door of the safe was blown clear up through the ceiling, in which it made a big hole, and even broke the scantling overhead. The combination of the safe was written on a card, which hung on the knob of the safe, but no attention was paid to it.

HAVE YOU NOTICED

That if Your Stomach is Right Nothing Bothers you—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Make and Keep Your Stomach Right.

This warm weather has a tendency to make one feel dyspeptic and nervous and miserable, and in that condition the heat bothers one twice as much as it otherwise would.

Probably you have noticed that if your stomach is right nothing bothers you, not even the heat. Doesn't it strike you then that you owe it to yourself to keep your stomach right.

You can do this by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They have never been known to fail. All over the country people are telling of benefits received from them. Mr. Mongeot, of Masson, Que., speaks of them as follows:

"I suffered from dyspepsia and was terribly troubled with nervousness. For eighteen months I was miserable. One fortunate day an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. The first box helped me and I was soon completely cured. "I recommended Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to my friends and without a single exception they have given good reports of them."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets never fail to drive away the despondency indigestion brings.

Apples $1 a Barrel.

Pickering, Aug. 15.—Farmers in this district who have orchards are selling their apples for $1 a barrel to buyers who will in the fall send men around to pick and pack them. The farmers must draw them to the shipping points.

Gives Bonus of $8,000.

Cayuga, Aug. 15.—The ratepayers of Cayuga voted on a bylaw to-day to loan $8,000 to aid a tannery, glove and suspender factory. The bylaw was carried 118 to 12.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea

"About six years ago, for the first time in my life, I had a severe and sudden attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful, I could hardly realize that I was well again or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents cured me." For sale by all druggists.

Betting Philosophy.

"Do you think that betting is wrong?"

"It depends on circumstances," answered the town oracle. "If you can't afford to lose it's wrong; if you can it's merely silly."—St. Louis Lumberman.

DISGUISED CATARRH

A Stealthy, Insidious, Weakening Enemy to Women—Many Thousand Women Suffer Needlessly From This Cause.

There are a multitude of women, especially housewives, and all other women obliged to be on their feet constantly, who are wretched beyond description, simply because their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges from the pelvic organs. These women get up in the morning tired, drag themselves through their daily duties tired, only to go to bed at night as tired as before.

MRS. EVA BARTHO.

Mrs. Eva Bartho, 133 East 18th Street, N. Y. City, N. Y., writes:—"I suffered for three years with what is generally known as leucorrhea, in connection with ulceration of the womb. The doctors advocated an operation which I dreaded very much, and strongly objected to go under it. Reading of the value of Peruna, I thought it best to give this well-known remedy a trial, so I bought three bottles of it at once. Now I am a changed woman. Peruna cured me; it took nine bottles, but I felt so much improved I kept taking it, as I dreaded an operation so much. I am to-day in perfect health, and have not felt so well for fifteen years."—Mrs. Eva Bartho.

MISS LOUISE MAHON.

Miss Louise Mahon, 3 Glen Baillie Street, Toronto, Ont. Can., Secretary of the King's Daughters and Secretary of Lady Maccabees, writes:—"If all women knew of the benefits to be derived from taking Peruna we would have many happier and more healthful women. My health has never been too robust, and I am easily fatigued and can not stand much. About a year ago I was so run down that I had to take to my bed, and became weaker and weaker. A friend advised me to try Peruna, and I have great reason to be grateful, for in two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was perfectly well, and I now find that my health is much more robust than formerly, so that I take Peruna once or twice a month and keep well."—Louise Mahon

Peruna is such a perfect specific for each case that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permantly cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceases, the trembling knees are strengthened, the appetite restored, the digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped and the weakening drains are gradually cured. These results certainly follow a course of treatment with Peruna.

Barbara Alberty, corner Seventh and Walnut streets, Appleton, Wis., writes as follows in regard to Peruna:

"For years I have suffered with backache and severe pains in the side. I doctored so much that I became discouraged. A school friend told me how very much Peruna had benefited her and I sent out for a bottle, which did more to relieve me than all the other medicine I have ever taken. I used it faithfully for two weeks and it completely cured me. I have not had any pains since, anywhere, but feel like a new woman. I am truly thankful for what Peruna has done for me."—Barbara Alberty.

MRS. KATE MANN.

Mrs. Kate Mann, 906 Bathurst Street, Toronto, Ont. Can., Vice President of the Ladies Aid Society, writes:—"I am pleased to give praise to Peruna for the blessed relief I found through its use. I suffered for years with backache and dragging down pains and often had to go to bed and stay there when I was so busy that I could ill be spared. It was therefore a simple godsend to me when Peruna was brought to my notice. Every drop seemed to give me new life, and every dose made me feel much better, and I promised myself that if I found that it cured me I would advocate it so that other suffering women should know of it. I have been in perfect health for one year, I enjoy work and pleasure because in such fine health, and no trouble seems too heavy to bear when you are in good health. Peruna has simply been a household blessing, and I never will be without it again."—Mrs. Kate Mann.

Mrs. Anna Martin, 47 Hoyt St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:—"Peruna did so much for me that I feel it my duty to recommend it to others who may be similarly afflicted. About a year ago my health was completely broken down, had backache, dizziness and irregularities, and life seemed dark indeed. We had used Peruna in our home as a tonic, and for colds and catarrh, and I decided to try it for my trouble. In less than three months I became regular, my pains had entirely disappeared, and I am now perfectly well."—Mrs. Anna Martin.

MRS. ANNA MARTIN.

Mrs. Wm. Hetrick, Kennard, Washington county, Neb., writes:

"I am fifty-six years old and have not felt well since the Change of Life began ten years ago. I was in misery somewhere most of the time. My back was very weak, and my flesh so tender it hurt me to lean against the back of a chair. I had pain under my shoulder-blades, in the small of my back and hips. I sometimes wished myself out of this world. Had hot and cold spells, dizziness and trembling of the limbs, and was losing flesh all the time. After following your directions and taking Peruna I now feel like a different person."—Mrs. Wm. Hetrick.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Peruna can be purchased for $1 per bottle at all first class drug stores.

ANNUAL REGATTA AT STONY LAKE.

A Most Successful Event Held Yesterday.

A BRILLIANT ASSEMBLY.

The Regatta Well Conducted and Well Supported—A Number of Very Interesting Races—T. V. C. C. Well Represented.

Stony Lake regatta of 1903 will go down into history as one of the most successful in the history of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, under whose auspices the regatta was held. The number of those in attendance was large, in fact nearly every cottage on the lake was represented, and in addition many from Sturgeon Falls, Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Toronto, Lakefield, Chemong and Peterborough were there.

The special rates secured by the Association from the railway and steamboat lines, as well as a conveniently arranged railway and steamboat service induced many from town to championship of Stony Lake, there were boat lines induced many from town to take a day's outing, and any who did so were well repaid for their trip. It is doubtful if a more brilliant assembly than that which yesterday gathered at the picturesque Juniper Island, has ever graced a regatta with its presence. When the starter dropped his paddle for the first race, that for the single canoe championship for Stony Lake, there were between six and seven hundred persons present, and an assortment of craft which would do credit to a curiosity museum. The old-fashioned, but serviceable square end punt, in which a good sized family may safely be carried, was not only in evidence, but trim little canoes skimming over the water like swift winged birds through the air; yachts and launches of every description, from the side wheeled "alligator" to the most modern and well appointed naptha launches.

In short, it was the society event of the season, and every summer resident of that justly famous resort was intent upon extracting as much pleasure from the occasion as possible, and, judging by the merry, ringing laughter and happy smiles, everyone succeeded admirably. The only thing which marred the pleasure in any way was a sharp shower of rain, which, for a time caused a cessation of the programme, but it was soon over and fine weather was experienced during the remainder of the day and evening.

As early as one o'clock the canoes and other craft began to arrive, and, when the first race was started at two o'clock, there were few residents of Stony Lake not present.

The Regatta Committee of the Cottagers' Association was a particularly strong one, and the members of it certainly worked hard to make the day a success, and that they succeeded well was an acknowledged fact on all sides.

The colors of the Trent Valley Canoe Club were represented, and its reputation well sustained. The two canoeists, Messrs. Bell and Stock, winning in each event in which they entered. The first race was for the single canoe championship of Stony Lake, and was won by Mr. Norman Bell, with Mr. Bert Stock, a good second. Each rode in a William English racing canoe, the good qualities of which they highly praised.

This was followed by a ladies' single skiff race with coxswain, and resulted as follows:—

1st—Miss Gwen Hall, Peterborough.
2nd—Miss Goodman, Rochester.
3rd—Mrs. Graham, New York.

Then came a sailing race for skiffs and yachts. This was a handicap race, two fourteen foot boats getting five minutes on the one sixteen foot craft. The order of finishing follows:

1—Roxborough, Norwood, 16ft boat.
2—Percy Hamilton, Peterborough, 14ft
3—Marshall, Toronto, 14 ft.

The boats sailed over a three mile course.

A handicap dingy race was the next event, also over a three mile course, and was won by—

1—Hopwood, Chemong.
2—Miss Brock, Toronto.

Miss Brock was given five minutes handicap.

The next race was one of the most interesting of any on the list, and the result was in doubt until the line was crossed. It was a ladies' tandem canoe race, the starters being Misses Gwen and Helen Hall, of Peterborough, and Misses Allen and Neelands, of Lindsay, the Misses Hall being winners by half a canoe length. This race was held in the midst of a heavy shower of rain, and the Ladies were justly applauded for their plucky work under such depressing circumstances.

An interesting race was that of the sailing canoe, in which there were six entries, the course being a triangular one, three miles in length. The result follows:—

1—Hopkins, of Sturgeon Point, who finished a quarter of a mile ahead of his nearest competitor.
2—F. D. Roxborough, Norwood.
3—G. S. Roxborough, Norwood.

Bradburn, Peterborough; Acton, Toronto, and Nasmith, Norwood, were classed as the "also rans."

The boys' tandem skiff was a very exciting event, and was won by:—

—Gordon Graham, and Ernest Joy, of Trinity College School, Port Hope.
2—Harry Hall and Robert Aiken, Peterborough.

The next race was a ladies' and gentlemen's tandem, and was an exceedingly interesting one. The result was as follows:—

1—Miss Gwen Hall, and Mr. Norman Bell, Peterborough.
2—Miss Kendry, of Peterborough, and Mr Reynolds, of Montreal.
3—Miss Blomfield and Mr De La Fosse, of Lakefield.

The swimming race brought three contestants, finishing as follows —,

1—H. Rogers, Peterborough, 2, Collins, Peterborough; 3—Hammond, Peterborough.

This was followed by an upset race in which Norman Bell and Frank Bradburn entered, finishing in the order named.

A splendid race was that in the men's single skiff. The contest for first place was very exciting, and it was an open question until the line was crossed. The result follows:—

1—Acton, Toronto, 2—Aikens, Toronto, 3—Sherin, New York.

The last race was, perhaps, the most interesting on the list. It was a four man canoe race, in which two canoes started. The result is below:—

1—Stock (stroke), Bell, Aikens and Bradburn.
2—J. De La Fosse (stroke), Hammond, Lundy and F. De La Fosse.

This ended the programme for the afternoon, but at the Juniper Island pavillion in the evening, the presentation of prizes was made, and an informal dance held, participated in by a great many of the young people, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. Mrs. J. R. Stratton, who had kindly consented to present the prizes to the winners, was unable to be present and the duties were performed by the chairman of the Regatta Committee, Mr. J. S. Knapman.

To the following gentlemen, composing the Regatta Committee, great credit is due for the complete success of the programme:—Messrs. J. S. Knapman, chairman; E. B. Edwards, H. Buck, L. H. Graham, R. B. Rogers, and Geo. Cochrane. The starters and Judges were:—R. B. Rogers, Geo. Cochrane, E. B. Edwards and J. S. Knapman. Clerks of Course:—L. H. Graham and J. De La Fosse. Scorer: Fred Addison. Judges at Turn:—J. Nugent and A. J. Piper.

The Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, under whose auspices the regatta was held, was formed in 1888 for mutual protection of the cottagers, and one of the chief promoters of the Association, which has since assumed such satisfactory proportions, and has been a success generally, was Col. E. B. Edwards, who enjoys the distinction of being the oldest continuous summer resident of Stony Lake. Regattas have been held almost yearly since the organization of the Association, and those having the affair in charge this year may be congratulated upon the success of their efforts.

THE PETERBOROUGH BOARD OF TRADE.

A Special Meeting was Held Last Night.

Reciprocity Between Mother Land and Colonies Under Discussion.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Council Chamber last evening, at which the following gentlemen were present: Mr. Hughes-Charles, president, and Messrs H. Burnham, T. J. Matthews, E. G. Patterson, F. W. Doan, K. Eardley-Wilmot, D. McWhinnie, R. E. Wood and E. J. Toker.

The report of the proceedings, which were of a very important and interesting nature has, through want of sufficient space, been greatly condensed.

The president opened the meeting by saying that it had been called to to discuss matters which would come up at the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, which is to be held in Montreal next week, and at which Messrs. J. H. Burnham and D. W. Dumble will represent the Peterborough Board of Trade.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, who spoke first, remarked that in his opinion, should any resolution be passed, it should be in general terms only, so that delegates might form an opinion that the delegates form an opinion at the Congress after having heard others, and not be tied down to some resolution of the Board. He remarked that when cruising the other some 60 delegates met on board ship and discussed probable matters, but only based resolutions on general lines. Speaking generally on reciprocity between the colonies and mother country, Mr. Burnham said that if all the delegates gave their opinions, and if those opinions are favoured after hearing the discussion, then, he felt, it would formulate some policy of Imperial unity by which both the Mother Land and the Colonies would be benefitted. The speaker, seconded by Mr. Dumble, then moved:

"That the Peterborough Board of Trade is desirous of seeing the relations of the Colonial parts of the Empire with the United Kingdom improved, and hopes that the discussion of Imperial affairs at the coming conference in Montreal of delegates from all parts of the Empire will result in the discovery of a plan for the blending of the different parts of the Empire into a harmonious whole."

Mr. E. J. Toker, who spoke next, remarked that we, as Canadians, did not want the United Kingdom to frame our tariff any more than we wished to frame the tariff policy of the United Kingdom. He said that we imported an enormous quantity of manufactured goods from the United States, Germany and other countries, and that we would like to give the mother country a preference on such goods. He said that with Imperial Reciprocity Mr. Chamberland would have a weapon in his hand to make arrangements with other countries to retaliate. Mr. Toker dwelt at some length on the importance of Canada's ability to provide for the United Kingdom as much wheat as she needed.

The president remarked that it was a case of give and take, and that the delegates would go to Montreal in that spirit. Speaking of Mr. Chamberlain's policy, the president said that the Colonial Secretary was the only business man in the Cabinet, and understood what is needed better than any of the noble Lords.

At this point Mr. R. E. Wood presented the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. T. E. Matthews and carried:—

"Resolved, that in view of the great importance to all classes of ready railway transportation of merchandise to and from the seaboard, the perfecting of all avenues leading thereto, and all terminals, as speedily as possible, is the most important question now before the people."

In the support of the above resolution, Mr. Wood commenced by saying that in our daily life we learn that if a man does not spend all his income he is on the road to prosperity, and that he who exceeded it, was on the road to adversity. From this he drew that if a farmer in the Northwest Territories gained a cent per bushel on transportation, he would in the long run make a large profit. He said that in a few years Canada could supply Great Britain with all the grain she needed, therefore it meant considerable to them that transportation be perfected. In conclusion Mr. Wood remarked that should Canada be given a preference in this regard and should the transportation facilities be improved, then the poor of Great Britain would receive wheat at no increase in price, owing to keen competition between the provinces.

After some further discussion, the Board adjourned.

HARD ON THE BABIES.

One of the first effects of a hot wave, particularly in towns and cities is a pronounced increase in the number of deaths of infants. Even in the open country the suffering of the helpless little ones would move the hardest heart. Stomach trouble and diarrhoea are the foes most to be dreaded at this time and every mother should appreciate the necessity of careful diet and attention at the first sign of these troubles. Medicine should never be given to check diarrhoea except upon the advice of a physician. A diet limited almost entirely to boiled milk and the use of Baby's Own Tablets will cure almost any case and keep baby in health. Mrs. W. E. Bassam of Kingston, Ont., writes:—

"When my little girl was about three months old, she suffered with vomiting and had diarrhoea constantly. I did not find any medicine that helped her until we began giving her Baby's Own Tablets. After giving her the Tablets the vomiting and diarrhoea ceased and she began to improve almost at once. Since then wherever her stomach is out of order or she is constipated we give her the Tablets and the result is always all that we desire. They are the very best medicine I have ever used for a child."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent postpaid at 25 cents a box, by the Dr Williams' Medicine Company, of Brockville, Ont.

THE IRON MOULDERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Feeling of Harmony Prevails Between Union and Employers.

The Iron Moulders' Union, No. 191, has recently elected new officers, as follows:—

President, J. E. Riffer; Vice President, J. Hatcher; Financial Secretary, T. Stenton; Cor. Rep. J. Robertson; Recording Secretary John O'Brien; Treasurer, Samuel Cottingham. The local branch is in a prosperous condition and has about 60 members.

The President stated to the Examiner that there is the utmost harmony existing between the employers and the union, both seeming to be well satisfied with the condition of things prevailing at present.

The Moulders in company with the other unions in town will participate in the Labour Day demonstration, and they are preparing to surpass all previous efforts in the elaborateness of their turn-out. A float, representing the work done by the Moulders will be a conspicuous feature of the parade.

THE MINISTERS WERE BANQUETTED.

Kinmount and Somerville Citizens Rejoice.

Cordial Welcome to Hon. J. R. Stratton and Hon. F. R. Latchford - A Catholic Picnic.

(Special Dispatch to the Globe)

Kinmount, Aug. 14—Yesterday afternoon the Hon. J. R. Stratton and the Hon F. R. Latchford attended the picnic of the Rev Father O'Leary held in Henderson's Grove, in the township of Somerville. They were accorded a splendid reception by the residents who had assembled, irrespective of political opinion, to welcome them. Addresses signed by Mr James Wilson, reeve of Kinmount, and by Mr. Charles Cole, on behalf of the citizens of Somerville and Kinmount, were presented to the Ministers. In that tendered to the Hon. Mr. Stratton expression was given to the good-will and high regard which was entertained for him by the residents of Kinmount and vicinity regardless of political leanings. Reference was made to the energetic manner in which he had made himself thoroughly conversant with the wants not only of those living in the more settled parts of the district but also of the dwellers in the wilder and more remote portions. The address ended by saying that the personal interest the Minister had displayed in the unfortunates cared for in the public institutions under his control as Provincial Secretary would never be forgotten, and the hope was expressed that in the coming years he might rise to a still higher position in the service of this province.

In the address presented to the Hon Mr. Latchford the citizens expressed the great pleasure it gave them to receive a visit from the Minister of Public Works. They also said they felt assured that in him they had a friend who sympathized with them in their wants, and that when their humble petitions were presented to the Minister they were sure he would not pass them over as unworthy of consideration.

The Hon. Mr. Stratton and the Hon. Mr. Latchford responded in suitable terms, stating that their visit was made simply with the intention of attending Father O'Leary's picnic and was of a purely friendly character.

A procession was then formed, headed by the Foresters' Band, and composed of some fifty carriages, with a large number of pedestrians, and the Ministers were taken to the pic-nic grounds, where a very pleasant afternoon was spent. Mr. John Austin, Mr. Thomas Stewart, the Hon. Mr. Stratton, the Hon. Mr. Latchford, Mr. Cobden, reeve of Galway, Mr. M. Mansfield and the Rev. Father O'Leary addressed the large gathering upon general topics.

In the evening an informal banquet was held. More than one hundred well-known citizens were present. Mr. James, reeve of Somerville, occupied the chair; Mr. C. Cobden, reeve of Galway, the vice-chair. Among others noticed in the company were—Rev. J. Yorston, Baptist minister; Rev. Mr. Gilhulst, Presbyterian; Father O'Leary, Thos. Stewart; Mr. Wm. Hamilton, Reeve of Snowdon; Mr. Wm. Hartle, Reeve of Lutterworth; J Austin, District councillor; Mr A. V. Hopkins, Mr. Thomas Burns, Mr. E. C. Young, Mr. H Hopkins, Mr. M. Mansfield, Mr. J. F. Robinson, of Bobcaygeon; Austin J Ford, Cavendish; Mr. H Graham, Kinmount; Mr. Amos Train, Kinmount; William Britnell, Burnt River; Dr. E. A. White, Kinmount; Mr. W. C. Moore, Bobcaygeon; Mr. E. B. Gillogly, Lindsay; Mr. E. Fitzgerald, Mr. Henry Beck, Mr. Alex Morrison, Mr. Jno. Hodgins, Mr. William Scott, Mr. Charles McMahon, Mr. W. J. Peacock, Mr. W. Carr, Mr. P. Shehan, Mr. John Allan, Mr. A. H. Brandon, Dr. Frost and many others.

The Ministers spoke in reply to the toast of "Our Guests," but made no political references whatever.

GOLF.

Mr. Vernon McGirr, the genial secretary of the golf club, distinguished himself on Friday by making the 18 holes in a game with Mr. Laing in the score of 79. He missed a six inch put through one of the spectators talking at the wrong time, on the home grade, or it is generally agreed the score would have been 78. As it was, his 37 and 42 show how rapidly he is coming to the front. The championship this autumn should be unusually interesting, as there are a number, any one of whom may have his "day on" and win out. Mr. McGill is very popular with the members of the club, not only on account of his play, but on account of his modesty, and the occasion arising, his confreres are desirous of bearing testimony to it.

BASEBALL.

The many thousand lovers of the game of baseball are much interested in the effort being made by Charles D. Jenny, of Indianapolis, to perfect plans for the lighting of a baseball park in that city by electricity. If this can be accomplished, games can of course, be played by night, and thus will thousands now debarred be enabled to witness their dearly loved game, professionally played. Several years ago Mr. Jenny experimented with very strong reflectors; but these cast a shadow, and the players could not judge a ball. He claims now that his new plan is far superior to the old one, and with it he is able to bring about a diffused illumination all over the grounds, making them almost as light and as shadowless as day. It can be imagined what an immense boon to the national game will be this doubling of the time it can be played, if the inventor's plans go through.—Vogue.

SPRINTING.

Mr. W. J. Armstrong, through the Examiner, accepts the challenge contained in yesterday's issue of this paper of D. Holland, to run 100 yds., Armstrong to be given five yards handicap, and to have the privilege of naming the starter; the race to take place on Wednesday evening, August 19 h. at the Turf Club's track and is to be for a trophy.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. J. E. Riffer, who was second in the road race of Thursday night, challenges Harry Young, the winner, to a five mile race at the oval, or over the same course as that of Thursday night. This challenge may be accepted through the Examiner.

* * * *

It appears that some misunderstanding has arisen over the Examiner's report of the road race, which took place Thursday evening. The report stated that Young finished in 20 min 50 secs., with Riffer second, his time being 21 min 30 secs. There was, therefore, but 40 seconds, official time, difference between Young and Riffer, the latter riding from Nassau with a damaged wheel which doubtless, affected the speed of which he was able to ride.

THE "STAR OF THE EAST."

Most Promising New Gold Mining Proposition

OPENED IN FRONTENAC COUNTY

What a Visit to the New Gold Mines Revealed.

Two Eleven Foot Veins With Ores That Assay Highly - Splendid Facilities for Economical Treatment of Ore.

Seventy miles east of Peterborough, on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, to Kaladar, a way station, consisting of a station house, hotel and boarding house, and seventeen miles due north, on the boundary between Lennox and Addington and Frontenac, bring a party composed of Peterborough and Cobourg gentlemen, to Snyder's Depot, on the Mississippi River—of which more hereafter. From this point east a mile takes the traveller to lot 24 in the Township of Barrie, Frontenac County, the site of the gold mine owned by the Star of the East Gold Mining and Milling Company, Limited.

It's mighty easy to set down the route on paper, and easy enough to take the journey by rail to Kaladar, though it would be easier if the C.P.R. would put on enough carriages to accommodate the public without billetting first-class passengers in second-class coaches, but from Kaladar north—hoc opus hoc labor est. The road from Kaladar north is a wonder. It winds and bumps and rises and falls and sinks and swells over and around rocks. It certainly is the crookedest road on earth, and as crooked in profile as in line. Compared to its surface, "the rocky roads to Dublin" would be asphalt pavement, and compared to its twisting, tortuous winding course, a corkscrew is a mathematically straight line. On both sides of this winding way, the granite, shouldering its way into view, through scrub and bracken, stretches away, over leagues of country, showing in low mounds, like the rocky crests of the petrified ground swell of gray sea waves, with a plentiful crop of cyclopean boulders, sown here and there by prehistoric icebergs. In the hollows of these granite waves, where stunted tree growths thrive, and even in the fissures of gigantic rocks tree roots burrow down for sustenance, and suck up a precarious life for gnarled trunk and sickly foliage. In many places these pockets of soil widen and deepen into cultivable stretches, where agricultural operations, on a small scale, seem to to maintain in life the enterprising cultivators. It is a genuine surprise how a living can be scratched out of scant soil, under the most unpromising conditions. And when one casts his eye over the apparently unpeopled waste, and the next moment sees a little farmer, with a little load of hay or grain, in the twisting highway, he reminded of the miracle of the manna in the wilderness; for there is no accounting for the appearance of man, beast or burden, unless, like the manna, they come down from heaven. As the road winds north it is flanked by larger stretches of soil; and meadows and grainfields make green and gold contrasts to the everlasting dull grays of the eternal rocks. On the way, a cheese factory or two, and grazing herds of cattle, and flocks of sheep, are to be seen. This is reasonable, for dairying seems to be the only industry capable of being carried on with even moderate success, and better success would be achieved if a better grade of cattle were kept. Where soil occurs among the rocky barrows it is of excellent quality, and the water is pure and sweet. Cheese, of prime flavour and texture is produced, and the butter seems to come golden from the soil, as naturally as gold—in some parts—seems to come from the circumjacent rocks. The woman of Scripture, "brought forth butter in a lordly dish," but this country produces lordly butter, sweet as the kernal of a walnut, firm and sweet and granular, as the traveller could have found yesterday if he had halted at high noon at the hostelric of mine host Young, at Cloyne, and sampled a stratum of sweet, golden butter superimposed upon equally sweet nutty home-made bread — in themselves delicious satisfaction of an appetite sharpened by keen mountain air, and hours of tramp over rock and bog.

NESTLE POCKETS OF SOIL,

But the country is

to be, for the twenty-odd miles of the Perry Road, between Kaladar Station and the mines, is served by a stage coach line. This line, by the way is owned by Mr Keller, reeve of the united townships of Kaladar, Anglesea and Effingham, who keeps comfortable coaches drawn by stout horses — and both need to be strong and sturdy. Good time is made, at a break-neck speed—for four or five miles north of Kaladar, is indeed break-neck, sorrow of soul and bounce of body. Here is a suggestion, not copyrighted either, which might turn this stretch of road to practical use in dairying operations. A cask of cream placed in a wagon, and driven from five miles north of Kaladar to the station, would be found on arrival, churned into butter, ready for shipment. The whole of the road is, however, not so bad. Twelve or fourteen miles is fairly good, excellent, indeed, when one considers the situation. There are stretches here and there smooth and comfortable, ten times as good as George street in front of Gough Bros, and the places where the Board of Works are allowing it to wear into holes, growing deeper every day, and a hundred times better than the most of the old block-paved streets of Toronto, dating back to "boom" days.

AT THE MINES.

"You're a long time getting to the gold mines." You wouldn't wonder if you had gone over the road, a drive that will long dwell in your memory and secrete reminders in your bones—especially if the passenger is placed at the mercy of a Green driver, with the perpetually recurring risk of you accident policy becoming due and payable, or the purchase of your widow's weeds a very probable commercial transaction

At a northern point of the Perry Road, which for the larger part of the northern half, forms the boundary line between the counties of Lennox and Addington and Frontenac, lies a little place called Snyder's Depot, at the point where the Mississippi River taking a sharp turn to the east, widens into Marble Lake, so called from its basin being hollowed out of marble rocks, which also enclose it, on the western side especially. On the south side of the little bridge across the river at this point, is an old wooden sawmill building, long since disused, and on the north side lies the rotting hulk of a large nondescript craft, used in former lumbering operations to coal over until its port gunwale is awash, while its starboard side lies high and dry, the seams blistering in the August sun. From this point, a mile east, reached by a road slashed through the forest, and rough beyond the dreams of the rock, lies the Star of the East Gold Mines, rich, as the owners claim, beyond the dreams of avarice. A comfortable camp has been erected, where luxurious sleeping bunks for a score have been placed in position, and where meals as appetizing as the hospitality of the camp is hearty, are served. Eastward from the camp an excellent road has been constructed, leading to the shafts already opened upon the two veins. The veins are situated about the middle of lot 24 in the township of Barrie, Frontenac county. The veins which lie parallel and about 50 yards apart, have been traced for about half a mile each. The run of the veins is 30 degrees south of west, and the hanging wall dips at a slight angle to the north. Four

ABOUT THE NEW POPE

A GREAT PREACHER AND REMARKABLE ADMINISTRATOR.

Policy of Pius X. Gives Cause for Some Speculation—A Compromise Candidate Who Represents All Parties—F. Marion Crawford and Maud Howe Throw Some Light on the Question—A Brisk Blaze.

"Who enters the conclave as Pope leaves it as cardinal," is the old saying, born of long observation. Its truth has seldom been more strikingly illustrated than at the gathering which elected Leo's successor. Cardinal Sarto was mentioned as a mere possibility before the session of the college, an honor he shared with a dozen or more of his brethren, but never was his name placed prominently before the public as a likely candidate. A "deadlock" ensued, and then arose a demand for the best available man. He was found in Cardinal Sarto, the venerable Patriarch of Venice, and as Pius X. he mounts the triple throne and wears the ring of St. Peter.

What does his election mean? The career of Pius X. must be studied before we know what peculiar significance attaches to his election. As to the party he represents, the solution is to be found in the fact that he was undoubtedly a compromise candidate. In other words, he represents all parties—not one of them perfectly, but each to some degree. Otherwise he never had been chosen.

One must await the first encyclical before judging the divergence which is to be made from Leo's policy. It would be a grave mistake to assume that because he was not actively discussed as a candidate before the election, Pius X. was in any sense a nonentity. He has long been famed as the greatest preacher in the Church, and as a remarkable administrator. Indeed, in these two important respects he is probably the superior of any other cardinal, and though his talents as a pulpit orator may be lost to some extent in the office he has been elected to fill, the genius for administration could nowhere find such scope. He was born in Riese, in the diocese of Treviso, Italy, on June 2, 1835, and on June 12, 1893, was created a cardinal. In the sacred college he held the rank of priest. To-day he stands as the equal of Kings, the Pope of the new century. Of the tremendous influence for good or evil a Pope can exert it is unnecessary to speak. It may be mentioned, however, that Pius X. exerts more authority than any three individuals in the world.

Of the new Pope Pius X., F. Marion Crawford, an authority on Italy, writes in the current number of Everybody's Magazine:

"Cardinal Sarto was much talked of in Italy when, on his preferment to the Venetian Patriarchate in 1893, he encountered a determined opposition on the part of the Italian Government before he could take possession of his see. The Government maintained that the Patriarchate was part of the King of Italy's Patronage, and that it was the King's right to present his own candidate. The difficulty which ensued was in reality solved or shelved because Cardinal Sarto, though chosen by the Pope, was a favorite with the Italian Government and with King Humbert himself—a rather singular case in Italy. The Cardinal has, therefore, ruled his diocese undisturbed during the last ten years, beloved by Catholics, esteemed by the Government, and respected by his enemies."

The probable policy of the new Pope may be gathered from an article by Maud Howe in the current number of The Outlook. In the Church, she says, there are three parties, the men of action, the men of inaction, and the Italian party. The first and the second represent extremes of policy, the last standing midway between. Cardinal Sarto was the candidate of the Italian party, and of him the writer says—"While never directly opposing the policy of Leo XIII., he is noted for his abstinence from all aggressive action, and his influence is always exerted to keep the peace between the opposing factions. When King Umberto went to Venice to meet the Emperor of Germany, Cardinal Sarto announced his intention of making a State visit to the King. A hint was sent him from the Vatican that his course might not be a wise one, and that he had best be absent from Venice at the time of the King's visit. The decision was left, however, with Sarto, who carried out his original plan, made his State visit to the King, and, it is said, mentioned the fact that the Vatican had advised against it."

Ingenious persons are already beginning to speculate how the famous prophecy of St. Malachi can be made to apply to the new Pope. "Ignis Ardens" (a brisk blaze) is the motto now to be applied. In what ways can this thought be fitted to the life, family, career, character or circumstances of Pius X.? Thus far no satisfactory explanation has been made, but there is no doubt it will come in time. Sarto's coat of arms is an anchor, surmounted by a six-pointed star, illuminated with rays of light. This is the nearest the new Pope comes to fulfilling the prophecy of St. Malachi.

Pains That Make the Sufferer's Life Miserable.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Never Fail to Relieve, and Cure Ailments of This Kind.

Mrs. Walter Book, wife of the postmaster at Silverdale is well known to all the residents of that locality, and the family is well known throughout Lincoln county, where they have resided, and been identified with its history for four generations. In speaking of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Mrs. Book says:—"In giving my testimony I do so frankly and without reserve, as I am convinced of the complete reliability of the pills. For a couple of years I had been troubled with a severe pain in my back, which sometimes extended to the stomach and gave me great distress. At times I was completely incapacitated with it. I felt much discouraged because I had been treated by a good doctor and had taken a number of advertised medicines without obtaining a cure. Finally I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and almost from the first I noticed an improvement, and by the time I had used five boxes the old complaint was a thing of the past and I was feeling better than I had for years. I keep the pills in the house and whenever I feel the need of a medicine take a few and always find them a splendid tonic and regulator of the system."

Dr. William's Pink Pills are the greatest blood builder and nerve tonic in the whole wide world. That is a fact beyond dispute—and it accounts for the fact that there is no corner in the whole civilized world where some suffered has not been cured by building up the blood by these pills. There is no other medicine so widely used. And there is no trouble due to poor, watery blood, or weak nerves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not cure. Protect yourself by seeing that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Inappropriate Quotations.

The following is a good example of inappropriate quotations: A clergyman appointed to an East End living found his parish church sadly in need of repair and gave orders for its renovation. While this was in hand the idea occurred to him to visit the mission halls in connection with it to see what might be needed there. In one of them which was used as a mission chapel he found a state of indescribable filth from end to end and an accompanying effluvia. In disgust he raised his eyes toward the roof and could hardly repress a fit of laughter on reading the text stencilled on the wall behind the pulpit, "How dreadful is this place!" Another story is of an old Presbyterian clergyman who, away on a preaching engagement, found above the bed on which he was to sleep the singular advice, "Occupy till I come."—London Chronicle.

Luck and Labor.

If the boy who exclaims "Just my luck!" were truthful he would say "Just my laziness!" or "Just my inattention!"

Luck is waiting for something to turn up.

Labor, with keen eyes and strong will, will turn up something.

Labor turns out at 6 o'clock and with a busy pen or ringing hammer lays the foundation of a competence.

GEO. H. KENT'S CASE RECALLED.

Dying of Bright's Disease, Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Recent Deaths of Prominent Men From the Most Dreaded of all Maladies Recalls the Fact That Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Conquered it.

Ottawa, Ont., August 10.—(Special)—The recent numerous deaths of prominent men from Bright's Disease, recalls the case of George H Kent, of 408 Gilmour street, this city.

Mr. Kent, who is still living here, strong and hearty, was dying of Bright's Disease. He had lost the use of his limbs, and his whole body was swollen to a terrible size. Three doctors were positive that he must die.

While watching at his bedside his wife happened to read an advertisement that said Dodd's Kidney Pills would cure Bright's Disease. They were sent for as a last resort. From almost the first dose Mr. Kent says he was benefitted by them. After taking four boxes he was able to sit up. Seventeen boxes cured him completely.

Mr. Kent's cure caused great excitement at the time. People who had heard of it came from far and near to see him, and all went away convinced that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Bright's Disease.

This conviction is strengthened by a number of other cases reported throughout the country where this great Kidney remedy has been used, and Bright's Disease vanquished.

The Mighty Britisher.

"The Barr colonists were going west in detachments while I was en route, and, naturally, furnished material for stories, which were going the rounds—with fanciful embellishments, no doubt.

"'Guard,' said one of these newcomers as he stepped on the platform at a north shore station, 'old the train for ten minutes. I'm going across the way to get something to heat.' And, taking the conductor's assent for granted, he proceeded—and got left."

Takes Issue with the President.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, Boston's veteran lecturer, took issue the other day in a lecture before the Mothers' and Fathers' Club in that city with President Roosevelt on the subject of large families. What is needed, she asserted, is "child culture." "It would not be race suicide if we were to have homes into which only two or three children were born. Quality and character signify more than a horde." Mrs. Livermore took the stand that Americans need to give more attention to the culture of fathers and mothers than to that of the child. "There are men and women who are unfit to be the parents of children," she said; "in many cases it is better to take children away from their natural parents, so that they may have a chance to do better." A writer in "Vogue," who also considers the President's "race-suicide" opinions harmful to the community, says: "So carried away by the President's exceedingly flippant views have been reception committees and individual parents, that the many childroned have been made a conspicuous feature of the programmes arranged for the Presidential tour. It was left, however, for a New York journal to go to the extreme of showing the President's theories in the fullest possible manifestation, and to this end it insulted its readers by parading the portraits of Mormons, some of whom having espoused as many as six wives, are now the fathers each of thirty-nine immediate descendants. The views of one of these men are given extensive space, and in order to still further honor him, his portrait is published along with those of other Mormons. Naturally, the President's views are heartily seconded by the Mormons, they as well as he having, apparently, not the slightest conception of any higher view of the function of the human being, especially of women, than to be a connecting link between generations. If adults are so foolish as to burden themselves with children beyond their ability properly to bear and care for them after birth, small sympathy need be wasted upon them. Their unwise course will, in most instances, bring its own bitter punishment, which it is to be hoped will be properly disciplinary. But it is for the children that one pleads."

Three Victims of Fashion.

In the attic there met a hoop-skirt, a bustle and a corset.

"Good morning, friends," said the corset, who was a new arrival.

The others saluted graciously.

"It has been a long time since I saw you," said the corset to the bustle.

"Yes," answered the bustle. "They told me to go 'way back and sit down quite a while ago."

"And I," murmured the hoop-skirt. "I once had my day of usefulness, and I must say I enjoyed life while I was in society."

"I understand," commented the corset, "that you whooped things up considerably."

"Indeed I did," answered the hoop-skirt with a flutter of pride. "If I do say it myself, they all had to make room for me."

"But at last," observed the bustle, a trifle maliciously, "you had to go in order to make room for them."

"True," retorted the hoop-skirt; "but you had to go——"

"Excuse me," interrupted the corset sadly, "but it does us no good to indulge in this recrimination. I remember when first I attained popularity. It was said then that I had come to stay."

The three were mingling their tears, when Dame Fashion groped her way through the attic to them.

"Here they are!" she cried. "Just what I want for next season."—"Judge."

Bounty of a Barren Shore.

In bygone times it was the practice of the Newfoundland coast folk to appropriate everything they secured, but this lawlessness had to be sternly repressed. Now the unwritten rule is that they get "half their hand," or 50 per cent. as salvage. In portable and valuable articles, such as silverware, there is still a strong temptation to keep the whole, but the punishment is severe. Champagne, liquors, cabin stores, and the like have also a trick of disappearing, and in the poorest fisher's cottage you will come upon rare china, dainty nagery, silverware of price, and wines to tempt an epicure. The salvors are reckless and unthinking, and as they gather in hundreds every man pre-empts what he can. In the rush there is much destroyed. When the "Herder" was lost in 1882, they burnt whalebone worth $15,000 a ton to have leather costing twenty cents a pound. In the "Emmeline" wreck of 1900 they trampled crates of costly glassware to get at four cases of French prayer-books valued at twenty-five cents apiece. On one occasion two salvors had got ashore a piano, and were adopting the Solomon-like expedient of sawing it in half, when a shrewder chum bought it from them for a bottle of whiskey looted from the captain's cabin. When the "Grashrook" went ashore in 1890 every man on the shore provided himself with a German concertina, of which instruments of torture she had a large consignment, and to secure them packages of much more costly freight were thrown overboard. When the "Orion," from Baltimore for Copenhagen, struck the back of Cape Race and went to pieces, she had a large consignment of bicycles on board, and they were auctioned in St. John's and disposed of all over the island. The "Abbeymore's" lading in 1898 included some cases of splendid English rifles for Canada, and these are now to be seen adorning every fisher's cottage along the shore.—P. T. McGrath.

His Mission.

"Yes," said the would be poet, "I started as office boy for an editor. I used to help empty wastebaskets."

A Vanished "Kirk."

Canadian Presbyterians will hear with regret that the decision to tear down the old St. Gabriel Street Church, Montreal, has been carried out, and that nothing now remains of that historic structure but the records and memorials of its existence. It has made way for an extension of the court house, and thus the first landmark of Presbyterianism, and, indeed, of Protestantism, in Montreal has been removed. It was built in 1792, and for more than a century some of the most solid citizens of this eastern metropolis worshipped within its walls.

ALWAYS A CRIMINAL

PENITENTIARY BIRDS—WHY THEY CONTINUE TO REMAIN SO.

Out of Prison With Joy After Long Terms, They Soon Find Themselves Back Again —A Burglar's Story That May Have More Than a Germ of Truth in It—Society's Doing and Undoing.

The guards of the Kingston Penitentiary say that the emotion betrayed by men who have just completed long terms is betrayed by throwing up their hats for pure joy and shouting on reaching the big outside gate.

In some cases the very men, who, after a cell experience of fifteen or twenty years, and the most profound protestations of good resolutions, are under arrest in a few months again for similar offences, writes G.C. Porter in Toronto Sunday World. Not infrequently they are returned to this prison. Then they tell the guards they are glad to get back, that they were unable to earn a living honestly on the outside, that they had been so long immured that they could not compete with the world of which they had not been a part for so long. Here is a typical experience, as related by a man who had spent 11 years of a 15-years' sentence for shooting a man while robbing his house:

Story of a Burglar's Life.

"I was 37 years of age when I was released; could read, write and had a common school education. I had a practical knowledge of boilermaking. This I had acquired in the prison. A young man when I entered prison, I had resolved to starve before I would live a criminal life when released. My early training had not been good, and I had become a burglar before I was 18. I first robbed drunken men around saloons and then began bolder work. It was in trying to escape from a residence one night I shot a man. He would have killed me had I not fired. I believe this is the rule with burglars—not to shoot to avoid arrest, but to use a revolver when their victim is about to shoot. Anyway, that was my way. I left the prison in the winter with $15, a ticket to Windsor. I was well clothed, but did not have an overcoat. My first thought was to go to the far west, change my name and apply for work. I stopped in Kingston at a cheap boarding house. While looking around I secured work for two weeks in the local machine shops. They knew I was a discharged convict, but they needed men. Just as soon as the rush was over, I was discharged. Concluding to cross into the States, where I was less likely to meet police officers who knew me, I sold my ticket for $4. I went to Syracuse, N. Y. I had $14 when I got there. The first week I got a position paying $2.75 a day in the car shops, operating a nut and bolt machine. I got along well. My boss asked me where I had worked before employing me. I had a story all prepared.

Had a Story Ready.

"From an American in prison I had learned much of St. Louis shops; also that it was not customary to ask for letters of character in the States. I had wanted to get further away from the scene of my imprisonment, but I got this job and I took it. So I told this boss of the shops that I was from St. Louis; that my name was King and that I had come from the Steel & Iron Co.'s works. I remained there seven weeks, and had saved two-thirds of my salary. My work was good, and I had been advanced to a position of more responsibility. One day the foreman of my room sent me to the shop boss and I was told to get my 'time.' I asked why, and was merely told, 'You know why, you d— convict.'

"I never made any reply. I did not know for several days how they had secured the information. Then I learned that at my boarding house there was a workman who had an acquaintance at Kingston. He visited the boarding house and saw and recognized me. I did not see him. They told the police and they reported to the shop where I was employed. I then learned that the Syracuse detectives had been watching me for a week.

Started for the West.

"I had $35, so I bought a ticket to Chicago. An officer in plain clothes was waiting for me. They had watched where I bought my ticket and sent a telegram ahead. The officer said: 'The captain wants to see you.' That's a genteel way they have of saying 'Come along; I want to lock you up until the police captain of the district can talk to you and look you over.' I was taken to a police station and charged with vagrancy. I was in jail seven days before spoken to. Then the captain sent for me. He had written to the penitentiary for my full record.

"He said: 'You can't live in my district, and you can't live in Chicago; better go back to Canada.' I told him I want[illegible] to work and proposed to work and be honest. He shrugged his shoulders and replied: 'Well, you can't work here. I will give you 24 hours to leave.'

"That meant if I was found in Chicago after one day I would be arrested again. I had $7 left. I went down on the lake front and made a deal by which I could work my way to Duluth, but the next morning when I went aboard of the freighter the mate called me a 'd— Canadian convict,' and told me to clear out. I began to feel mighty nasty by that time. I was rapidly losing any resolution I ever had to let my old criminal friends alone. I had not yet met any of them, but I knew where to find them if I wished. But was not quite ready. I made one final effort and—failed.

Sank to Old Level.

"I concluded to go to Milwaukee. The fare was $5. I bought a scalper's ticket for $4, thinking I would save a dollar. I got on the train. The conductor took one look at the ticket, punched it and said: 'You can't ride on my train with no ticket like that; it's an excursion ticket and is just a year old.' I examined it. Sure enough the ticket read good in March of the previous year. I had only glanced at the month and not the year. I made as strong a bluff as I could, but the train was stopped at a platform away out in the suburbs and I was ejected. I made up my mind the company owed me a trip to Milwaukee, and I was going to get it. I got on a freight train that night and crawled in a box car. When I woke up I found the car sidetracked away down in Southern Illinois. I had gone in the wrong direction. It made little difference, however. It would have been the same at Milwaukee, I suppose. I worked several days for a farmer.

"Then I started to walk to a village a few miles away. I met two other tramps, and we went into town together. A policeman came up and began to question us. Suddenly my two companions ran and the officer grabbed me. He shot at the other men, but they escaped. Then I found that a house had been broken into the day before in an adjoining town by two tramps. I was kept in jail for three months, awaiting trial. I was released without any ceremony. I was ready for any job then. Just what happened, I will not say, but it was enough to start me for Canada, hot foot. I landed at Windsor, and found a couple of pals. They were just the men I wanted to meet. The[illegible] we traveled all over the cou[illegible] doing little jobs, and in the win[illegible] was caught with some stolen property. A friend had made a touch and given the stuff to me. My record alone was enough without the stuff I had, and I got eight years. I am better off right here in prison. If it is not this it is something worse. I don't believe I would escape to-night if I could."

The officers say that nine-tenths of the men prove by their careers here the truth of the adage, "Once a criminal, always a criminal."

Miracle of Emerson's Style.

Emerson's highest artistic quality has in it always a suggestion of miracle. One "cannot see how it was done," and imitation is disaster. The sentence, the phrase, creates in the mind a sense of luminousness, so keen is the vibration. This may be said of all works of high artistic genius, but in the case of Emerson the miraculously luminous effect is peculiarly felt. On a building at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo the visitor who read the following words, even if he could not remember having read them before, might not long doubt as to their origin: "O rich and various man, thou palace of sight and sound, carrying in thy senses the morning and the night and the unfathomable galaxy; in thy brain the geometry of the city of God, in thy heart the bower of love and the realms of right and wrong."—Century.

The Unfortunate Clam.

The first man who used the expression "Don't be a clam" should be credited with a bit of advice chock full of wisdom. Somebody is after the clam in season and out, day and night. It is devoured in soft shelled infancy by fishes, sea fowl and crows, is sealed in cans, made into stews and chowders, baked in big pies on the seashore and dug for fishermen's bait.

The clam furnishes food for many men of many lands and also for seals, polar bears, the walrus, foxes, crows, gulls and fishes, and there never was a bait, with the exception possibly of porgy chum—i. e., ground up porgies—that equaled the clam for sea fishing.

Carthage's Great Snake.

The ancients firmly believed in monster serpents of all kinds and of both the land and marine species. During the wars with Carthage a great snake is said to have kept the Roman army from crossing the Bagrados river for several days. The monster swallowed up no less than seventy Roman soldiers during this combat and was not conquered until a hundred stones from as many different catapults were fired upon it all at one time. The monster skull and skin were preserved and afterward exhibited in one of the Roman temples. The dried skin of the creature was 120 feet in length, according to Pliny.

Gloomy thoughts become habitual to the dyspeptic. He looks on the dark side of things and every mole hill becomes a mountain. His condition affects his business judgment and mars his home relations.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It gives buoyancy of mind as well as health of body because it removes the physicial cause of mental depression.

It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, and the body is strengthened by nutrition which is the only source of physical strength.

"I was afflicted with what the doctors called nervous indigestion. Took medicine from my family physician to no avail," writes Mr. Thos. G. Lever, of Lever, Richland Co., S. C. "It might would have cold or hot feet and hands, alternately. I was getting very nervous and suffered a great deal mentally, thinking that death would soon claim me. Always expected something unusual to take place, was irritable and impatient and greatly reduced in flesh. I could scarcely eat any thing that would not produce a bad feeling in my stomach. After some hesitation, I decided to try a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets. After taking several bottles I found I was improving. I continued for six months or more, off and on. I have now a good appetite, relish of what I eat, in order that I may feel good and strong. I fully believe if any one suffering with indigestion or torpid liver or chronic cold would take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and "Pleasant Pellets" and observe a few simple hygienic rules they would soon be greatly benefited, and with a little perseverance would be entirely cured."

Biliousness is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

SALMON CHANGE THEIR WAYS.

At Least Some People Have a Theory That They Do.

The salmon fishing has been only fairly good this year, says an end of July correspondent at Gaspe Basin.

Anglers have been doing well up the rivers with rod and line. Indeed, some of the finest fish seen for years have been taken this season with the fly.

But about here that is not known as fishing. The fisherman who is a professional means netting when he speaks of fishing, and it is the netting of salmon which supplies the markets of inland cities and leaves money with the fisherman.

Some of the old hands give a whimsical kind of reason for the failure, comparatively speaking, of the fishery.

"It's a change of religion as has come over the fish," growled one old salt. "It used to be that the salmon had some kind of a notion of keeping the Sabbath day holy, but now I'm blest if they haven't all turned Seventh Day Baptists."

It would be mentioned that, according to law, all nets at the mouths of salmon rivers must be lifted at night fall on Saturday, and not put down again until daybreak on Monday.

"Just get up on the bank where you can look down into the water on Sunday and see the shoals of big fellows a-breaking of the Sabbath by crowding on all sail and getting as far up the river as possible," the old salt went on. "It's my belief as the biggest of the fish just hold Sunday school all week, off the mouth of the river, and only travel on Sunday."

Inquiry shows that the idea is prevalent that the lordly salmon is gradually learning better than to persist in poking his aristocratic nose into nets, to his own undoing. Experiments made by restless lads also go to show that the big fish do congregate at the mouths of streams before sailing in, and some little success has been met with in ground fishing for them with crabs and young lobsters.

This will be news to those who know the salmon best, for it is pretty well understood that this fish abstains from all food from the time it tastes fresh water until it reaches the sea again, after its summer outing.

The flies wherewith anglers beguile salmon to come to gaff are probably taken from sheer light-heartedness or from a collector's rage for pretty things. But if it should prove that the fish loiter about the mouths of fresh water openings and may be coaxed to take bait there, there will be great rejoicing on the part of the great army of anglers who cannot afford to hire a salmon river, but will be glad to take chance of getting fast to one of those noble fish in the open sea.

A Picturesque Statesman.

The El Dorado Republican gives a picture of an early statesman and his picturesque attire: When the Hon. David L. McCabe was elected to the legislature from Butler county in 1865 and went to Topeka to be sworn in he astonished not only the natives, but everybody else, as he was the most gorgeously dressed statesman that Kansas had ever produced. He was very dark, with long black hair. On his head was a coonskin cap, the tail of the coonskin hanging gracefully down his back. His coat was made of wolfskins nicely tanned and lined with red flannel. Six handsome tails hung from his coat tails and flapped in the breeze as he meandered up to the speaker's desk to take the oath. He wore a spotted doeskin vest, buckskin knee breeches, handsomely fringed; top boots, gloves made of beaver skin, a watch chain done in beadwork, a flannel shirt with a flaming red bandanna pocket handkerchief around his neck, and it is needless to say he created a sensation.

NOW ON TO CANADA.

An American Paper Incites an Invasion of Our Northern Country.

The real call to the wilds hails from the Canadian lakes and rivers. The Muskoka region is absorbing a lot of Yankees these days. Up there, on lakes that are easily reached, but which are little known, New York State folks are settling in old cabins and in tents and under brush lean-tos, and in dugouts and scows, and from the rocks and on the bank are getting good fishing. Off, back of Toronto, is the Muskoka region, as full of lakes and streams as a yellow lily is full of punkies. Go to any of those lakes or streams and you cannot fail to get fish. Catch them yourself and then clean them and take them to a fire on the top of a rock and broil them while they are still flopping, and you will think you never before tasted a real fish.

But wherever you go don't take too much duffle and tackle with you. It won't be hard to find somebody who has been on the sort of a trip you may be planning, and such a man can tell you in five minutes more about what to take and what to leave at home than all the hunting and fishing magazines would tell you if you should read them till you were too old to see a bobber pulled under the surface of a mill-pond by a two-inch pumpkinseed. When you know where you are going, find some one who has been in such a region and from him get a list of the traps you will need. A man who has fished once knows what he had that he did not want and what he did not have that he needed, and if he is the right kind he will tell you all about it—Buffalo Express.

Pudding at Beginning of Dinner.

The custom of serving pudding as the first course at dinner seems to have interested a good many people of our day. A gentleman from Maine informs the writer that it is still the custom in certain sections of his state. In the autobiography of the Adams family it is mentioned that at a dinner given by the venerable ex-president of the United States, at which his grandchildren were present, the first course was Indian pudding, and the little folks were told that the more pudding they ate the more beef they could have. So of course they gorged themselves on the pudding, and as a consequence they had no appetite for beef when it was served. Thus were maintained the simple and economical methods of the forefathers. The boys who came to the city from the country and later became the successful and wealthy merchants of Boston were raised in a most frugal manner. Their breakfast the year round was of brown bread and milk and the same for their supper. The dinner was of baked beans and pie, rarely any meat.—Boston Transcript.

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, Aug. 15, 9.30 a. m.—It is difficult to venture a positive opinion on course of the market. It has been remarked, however, everybody seems to have turned bullish all at once and scramble to buy stocks the past two days been even more remarkable. We have never seen such a complete revulsion of sentiment. In short, interest must have been large and it goes without saying that Standard Oil and Morgan people and other leading interests must surely have brought about turn in market and helping it along. London heavy this morning evidently on profit taking and prices are off from one-half to one point. This is likely to give us irregular opening and cause considerable realizing. Market has had big advance and the reaction would be natural. A good bank statement expected to have a steadying influence. Private advices state that general opinion at London and Berlin is that our market rushed up too fast and general disposition is sell and secure profits, especially on news of Standard Oil buying which took place a week ago and has now only come out to public in order to allow them to unload and take profits.—McIntyre & Marshall.

THE "STAR OF THE EAST."

shafts—three on the south vein and one on the northern-most vein—have been opened. The average width of

is eleven feet. Mr. E. J. Cowain, superintendent and general manager of the company, who has been engaged in prospecting in the Central Ontario and Sudbury Districts for the past twenty years, discovered these deposits on the 10th of April of the present year, 1903. He has had, therefore, a wide experience. He regards these mines as perfect contact veins. The hanging, or northern wall, is of granite, and the foot walls of both veins are slate and limestone. Mr. Cowain, whose prospecting brought to light the Cordova mines, some fifteen or or sixteen years ago, and also the Providence mines, due east from the Star of the East mines, boldly declares that the latter constitute the best gold mining property he knows of in Canada, both in the extent and the richness of the quartz and its relative position to mill site, hydraulic power, facility of transportation from shaft to mill, ease of disposal of the refuse and other conditions which contribute to the lessening of expense in working operations, proportionately enlarging the net profit of working.

As to the quantity of the deposit, the indications point to the supply of gold-bearing quartz being immense—an area a mile, so far as traced, of gold-bearing quartz of eleven feet in width and of unknown depth. Mr. Cowain thinks that the veins being perfect contact veins, will maintain, if not increase, their surface width to a great depth. As to the quality of the ore, that is pronounced of a very high grade. Samples—the run of the quartz—of ore from the four shafts opened, which have been sunk to varying depths—have, upon assay yielded by amalgamation an average of $11.75 per ton, while in No. 1 shaft, sunk to a depth of twenty feet, a phenomenally rich streak of quartz is encountered next to the handing wall. The ore in this pay streak, which, like the general body of ore, consists of gold-bearing quartz, associated with gold-bearing iron pyrites, under fire assay gave the extraordinary yield of $181 per ton, with traces of silver. This pay streak, which Mr. Cowain says was only two inches in width at the surface, has widened, at the depth of twenty feet, to two feet. The ore is pronounced very free milling. It is very easily crushed. On Thursday morning—at a safe distance from a party of visitors—four holes were fired and the large mass of quartz broken up was blown into very small pieces—much of it almost of a size to make it ready for the stamps. A small piece of quartz, said to be was pulverized in a mortar, washed in a pan, and it yielded numerous glittering particles, said, by experts, to be gold, and the pan as a returned Klondiker said, showed a "tidy noomber of good 'colours'". The quality of the ore seems to be constant, even the surface quartz, used to build up a roadway, is declared to be rich enough to be treated with profit. A joke of the manager, who however, declares it is no joke, is, that the streets of the Star of the East are paved with gold. At one point the road crosses the northern vein and from the surface of a fissure of the outcrop on the roadway. A pan of reddish brown dust, weathered and decomposed quartz and oxydyzed pyrites, was taken, and upon being washed, panned out a good showing of gold in fine particles, some as large as a pin's head, and presenting to the eye of the spectator every appearance of gold, of a redder tint than specimens of the rather brassy looking (by contrast) Klondike dust. The writer, who, like all members of the journalistic craft, is proverbially, unsophisticated as regards gold, either in the form of the "dust", or dust of the miners' pan, cannot assertively vouch for the correctness of the estimates of the value and richness of the deposits of the Star of the East gold mines, but they are evidently very rich and valuable. Taking the average assay of $11.77 per ton of quartz and the cost of treatment at $2.50 per ton, we have a very respectable margin of profit,—theoretically, $9.25 per ton with an unnumbered number of tons available.

Apart from the apparently high quality of the ore and its free milling properties, other conditions are very favourable. A minimum cost of treatment, consequently a maximum rate of profit. The site of the mill, which has been cleared, is admirable. It is on the crest of the high banks of Marble Lake, about 70 feet above the surface of the lake and only a few rods distant from it, with hundreds of acres of flat very slightly above the level of the lake. This presents the possible for the disposal of the mill refuse at a nominal cost. Notwithstanding the high level of the mill site in relation to the lake and valley, the mill site is still lower than the mouths of the shafts along both veins. It is, therefore, possible, as is proposed, to have a double track cable tramway, operated by gravitation; that is, the loaded truck, going from the ore dump to the mill, will return an empty truck to the dump ready for filling, and the mill will be so situated, that no point of the vein will be more than half a mile from the mill, the greater part much nearer.

Then power for crushing and for the stamps is very convenient. About 110 or 120 rods from the mill site is an elevated lake of considerable area and great depth. It has no visible inlet, being supposedly fed by subterranean, or rather, subaqueous openings. Soundings taken show a depth of 180 feet, and, with a dam thrown across the outlet, the water can be raised several feet. The entire lake is surrounded by an embankment, so to speak, of solid granite, except at the outlet, which discharges the waters of this lake, called McCausland, after its discoverer—an early settler—into Michagnog lake (this spelling is phonetic) a considerable body of water to the north, upon which is a summer hotel, occupied by a large number of guests. From McCausland lake on the west a steep ravine, 50 feet below the level of the lake forms an easy route for the pipe line, the course of which though an original forest, is being cut out. The fall from the normal level of the water to the mill site is about a hundred feet, furnishing a head, which Mr. Cowain says, with a ten inch steel conduit, will produce 75 horse power, whereas the maximum of power required of the mill for crushing and stamping will be 50 h.p. Then at Snyder depot the company has a 75 h.p. water power. This is to be used to generate electricity for operating the drills and raising ore. So that the vein being of the ore capacity mentioned and the ore of the quality asserted, the other conditions are phenomenally favourable for very and the company is going forward as rapidly as their resources will permit, with the work of development. A gang of about 12 or 15 men is employed raising ore and others are employed clearing the pipe line to the lake. There are about 1,000 tons now on the dump, so that when the mill, whose immediate construction is contemplated, is equipped, as it will be, for crushing and treating to the extent of 20 tons per day, ample raw material will be available.

The Star of the East Gold Mining and Milling Company is incorporated under the laws of Ontario, with a capital stock of $1,500,000, the par value of the shares being $1.00, but for a limited length of time the shares are offered at the reduced rate of 25 cents per share. The officers of the company are:—President, S. Sager, Cobourg; Superintendent and General Manager, E. J. Cowain; Secretary, A. O. Kidd; Directors, J. M. Fletcher, Buffalo, and J. W. Sager, Pittsburg, Penna; Head office, 326 George street, Peterborough.

It is very probable that this autumn, when the deer hunting season opens, there will be numerous visitors to the mine; for they are situtuated in the midst of the wilderness, and game, big game, abounds—salmon in the waters and deer and bear on the dry land. From the site of the mill was pointed out an island in Marble lake, close at hand, called Watch Island. It is a favourite watching ground for hunters, and it commands a noted run-way for deer, and far below the site of the mill, spread out at the feet of the spectator, are hundreds of acres of wooded expanse, said to contain many deer; and there are bear also. A journey from the mining camp to Lake McCausland, wriggles through a dense forest, the trail at places being almost impassable, and at two or three points were to be seen decaying pine logs, overturned and torn apart—within the hour apparently—by bears in search of worms or ants.

Neither was the visit of the party all prosaic business. A Peterborough photographer, Mr. J. W. Green, accompanied the party, and took several views about the mines. On the return from McCausland lake, where several exquisite views were secured, the party emerged from the trail, and came upon cleared meadow land, adjoining the bear-infested forest. This was the McCausland homestead, and in the venerable dwelling resides the venerable relict of the pioneer settler of that district, Mrs. McCausland. She is 82 years of age, and was induced by Mr. Cowain to sit for her photograph.

She was posed in her decent brocaded black satin gown, donned for the occasion, upon a stump in front of a maple tree of magnificent proportions and perfect symmetry. The tree has a history. Mr. McCausland, in clearing the field near the house, forty years ago, found the maple a little twig. He saved it. He kept it trimmed during its life time and it stands to-day a magnificent cone, a perfectly shaped gigantic sugar loaf, towering skyward 50 or 60 feet, and resting upon a trunk eighteen inches in diameter, and one hundred yards away from the original forest.

Thus the hunt for gold—the attempt to slake the auri sacra fames—ended in a lady's bower, under the greenwood tree.

Advanced Kidney Trouble Makes His Death Seem Near.

London, Aug. 17.—The grave condition of Lord Salisbury is due to advanced kidney trouble, and he is not expected to outlive the month. Dropsy developed recently, and the patient's body was so swollen that he was unable to sit except in his special chair, the least movement being difficult.

The condition of the late Premier for some weeks has been such that the usual summer visit to Beaulieu has been abandoned. It recently became necessary to carry him from room to room.

TERRIBLE CATEGORY

Turkish Crimes in Bulgaria During Last Quarter of a Year.

THE PORTE IS CHALLENGED.

Bulgarian Government Guarantees the Absolute Truth of Every Statement, and Challenges the Porte to Disprove a Single Charge Made in the Memorandum — Serious Situation in Macedonia.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 17.—The Bulgarian Government has presented a memorandum to the powers setting out at great length the condition of affairs in Macedonia during the past three months, since the Turkish Government undertook to inaugurate the promised reforms. The most precise details, places, dates and names of persons are given in the memorandum, the whole constituting a terrible category of murder, torture, incendiarism, pillage and general oppression committed by the Ottoman soldiers and officials. These particulars were obtained entirely from official sources, such as the representatives of the Bulgarian Consuls and agents of the Bulgarian Government, and, in many instances, the reports made by Turkish authorities. The Bulgarian Government guarantees the absolute truth of every statement and challenges the Porte to disprove a single charge made in the memorandum.

The memorandum begins by stating that during the past three months the Ottoman Government has taken a series of measures with the alleged intention of inaugurating the era of promised reform and of assuring peace and tranquility to the Bulgarian population of European Turkey, but which have had the contrary effect of further exasperating this population and reviving the revolutionary movement. Instead of proceeding solely against persons guilty of breaches of the public order, the military and civil authorities have sought every possible pretext to persecute, terrorize and ruin the Bulgarian inhabitants.

Wholesale Massacres.

Wholesale massacres, individual murders, the destruction of villages, the pillaging and setting fire to houses, arrests, ill-treatments, tortures, arbitrary imprisonment, banishment, the closing and disorganizing of churches and schools, the ruining of merchants, the collection of taxes for many years in advance, such, proceeds the memorandum, are among the acts of the Ottoman Administration of the vilayets of Salonica, Monastir, Uskub and Adrianople.

The memorandum says that in the town of Salonica itself, the Bulgarian professors of the university, the students and shopkeepers, in fact, all intelligent Bulgarians in the city, have been cast into prison. One hundred and twenty soldiers entered the village of Gorna-Ribnitz, May 19, and tortured to death five men and two women. During the first three weeks of July, 23 villages in the district of Tikvesch were subjected to depredations of the Turkish soldiers and Bashi-Bazouks. The villagers were beaten and tortured; the women violated, and the houses plundered while the Administrative authorities looked on.

Prisoners Are Killed.

In the vilayet of Monastir, artillery bombarded and razed the flourishing town of Smerdesch. At the beginning of July, two Greek bands, with the connivance of the authorities, pillaged Bulgarian villages and murdered many of their inhabitants. In the vilayet of Uskub the entire Bulgarian population has been systematically persecuted since last May. The director of the Normal School at Uskub was imprisoned because his library contained the "revolutionary" works of "Othello" and "Les Miserables." In the districts of Palanka, Koschani, Koumanovo and Gostigar, the prisons are filled with Bulgarian priests, schoolmasters and merchants.

During June, the soldiers and Bashi-Bazouks terrorized the inhabitants of the Schtif district, torturing the people with red hot irons. Similar atrocities were perpetrated in the vilayet of Adrianople are cited.

List of 131 Outrages.

Altogether, the memorandum gives particulars of no less than 131 individual and general cases of excesses and outrages committed by the Turkish authorities. In summarizing the specific details of the outrages mentioned, the memorandum declares that wholesale massacres were perpetrated by regulars and Bashi-Bazouks in the Town of Salonica and in several villages, while the scenes of carnage, pillage and incendiarism were very terrible. At Smerdesch, over 2,000 Bulgarians were shot, killed with swords or burned to death. Ov- the churches and schools were set on or two hundred and fifty houses and the churches and schools were set on fire and pillaged, the property taken being sold by the soldiers and Bashi-Bazouks in the neighboring places. Similar scenes occurred in four other villages. The villagers fled to the mountains. Over 3,000 men, women and children fled from the Sanjak of Seres, and even more from the Sanjak of Kirkklisze.

Hard to Get at Figures.

It is difficult, says the memorandum, to obtain the exact number of Bulgarians who were imprisoned, mostly on the flimsiest pretexts, as when they were released others were immediately arrested. The estimates obtainable give for the vilayet of Salonica, 900 prisoners; for Uskub, 500; for Monastir, 500, and for Adrianople, 550. As information is lacking from many districts in the vilayets, it is thought that without exaggeration, the number of prisoners may be placed at even three times this total. Dealing with other acts of oppression, the memorandum states that the Bulgarian merchants and artisans living in Constantinople and Salonica were ordered to return to their native villages and were not allowed any time or opportunity to dispose of the business or property.

Tradesmen Banished.

Some of these Bulgarians, who with their families had been established for 20 years or more, were utterly ruined. As the order applied equally to professors and schoolmasters, the Bulgarian schools were closed before the end of the school year. The authorities rigorously enforced the same order against the Bulgarian priests. Encouraged by the Ottoman authorities, the Greek bishops and arch-mandrites forced their way into the Bulgarian churches, burned the prayer books and employed menaces to compel the people to acknowledge the Greek patriarch. The Archmandrite of Salonica declared in a recent sermon that the Sultan did not want Bulgarian exarches in his Empire, if they remained they would be exterminated. In addition to the decree banishing the Bulgarian tradesmen from Constantinople and Salonica, the Porte adopted measures to ruin the traders elsewhere. Every possible means was used to install Mussulmans in Bulgarian villages.

Reduced to Serfdom.

On the slightest pretext the Bulgarians were forced to sell their lands to the Turks at any price the latter chose to pay. Burdened with taxes, liable to perform statute labor for the Turkish land owners, the population is reduced to a state of serfdom. This is one of the principal causes of discontent, and when is added the exactions of the tax gatherers, it is not difficult to understand why the wretched people should revolt from such a despotic Government and servitude.

In conclusion, it asserts that the foregoing exposure once more condemns Ottoman Government in Europe.

It says: "From sad experience, the Porte must learn that systematic persecution, cruel injustice and bloody repression do not restore order and peace in a country. The Porte accepted in principle the project of reform which it has not put into effect. It has declared that the project is insufficient. Lastly, the Porte formally promised the Bulgarian Government to cease the arrest of Bulgarian priests and schoolmasters, re-open the churches and schools, release the prisoners and punish the officials guilty of exactions; in short, to adopt a policy of justice and amelioration.

Sterner Measures of Repression.

"Not only has the Porte failed to observe a single one of these promises, but it has enacted sterner measures of repression.

"What must be the result of all this? Tired waiting the fulfilment of promises of better conditions and driven to despair, the Bulgarian population have thrown themselves into a revolution which is now spreading in an Ottoman province, 150 miles from the Bulgarian frontier.

"The causes of this revolution are to-day known. The responsibility is fixed and the Porte can no longer accuse the Bulgarian principality."

The memorandum has made a strong impression in diplomatic circles. The Austrain diplomatic agent has already called on the Premier to express his anxiety regarding the results that may ensue from its publication. The French and Italian agents also expressed uneasiness, although they took a less gloomy view.

A PEEP BEHIND THE CURTAIN.

(Hamilton Times.)

The publication of "The History of the Carnegie Steel Company," by James Howard Bridge, former secretary of Mr. Carnegie, is causing a good deal of comment in the United States. The author has had access to private sources of information, and he makes use of his opportunities to give the public some very interesting facts that are not likely to be quoted by the Sunday school speaker who advises boys to emulate the life of Andrew Carnegie. Perhaps the picture is strongly drawn, and would probably be unfair to acept the story told without explanations and maybe, deductions ;but a letter from Mr. Schwab to Mr. Frick, dated May 15, 1899, is doubtless genuine, and it has a peculiar interest in connection with the cost of iron and steel production and the price swhich are sustained against home buyers by a heavy duty on foreign imports. The letter was written at a time when there was a plan for uniting the Carnegie Steel and Frick Coke properties under the control of a new corporation, and Mr. Schwab was expressing his opinions as to the future results of the business. He said that he knew positively that Great Britain "cannot produce pig iron at the actual cost for less than $111.50 per ton, even allowing no profit on raw materials, and cannot put pig iron into a rail with their most efficient works for les than $7.50 a ton." This would make the cost of steel rails in Britain $19 a ton. "You know," Mr. Schwab wrote to Mr. Frick, "we can make rails for less than $12 a ton, leaving a nice margin on foreign business." He said that these rails could be made and shipped abroad so as to "net us $16 at works for foreign business," a profit of $4 a ton in connection with British products in Great Britain. And, he added: "What i strue of rails is equally true of other steel products." Furthermore, "foreign costs are going to increase from year to year because they have not the raw material, while ours is going to decrease." There was at that time, and is still, a duty of $4 a ton on pig iron and $8 on steel rails, and the price of the rails in the U. S. market was $28 a ton, as it is today.

There is no doubt that Mr. Schwab knew what he was talking about when he made these calculations. The combine, from behind the fastnoses of the United States tariff wall, taxe sthe United States consumer $28—the limit the tariff allows it to take—for the steel rails which are made for less than $12 a ton, and which it sells to foreigners for $16. nd the United States people sweat and cheer to continue the system which make sthat sort of thing possible and which enables the combine chiefs to live like kings and distribute largess in millions whenever it suits their pleasure. And people puzzle over the inequality of work and rewards, and marvel at the spread of socialistic ideas and the general contempt for laws affecting property which threaten trouble to the Republic !

GOVERNMENT ENCOURAGEMENT OF HORSE BREEDING.

NEW ONTARIO SETTLERS

Make Money on Timber Sales This Year.

Farming Somewhat Neglected for Sake of Timber—Good Roads—Settlers Going in.

Mr Thomas Southworth, Provincial Director of Immigration and Commissioner of Forestry, has just returnfrom a trip to the Temiskuming district in New Ontario He was over the Temigami forest reserve and from there went through the settled portions of Temiskaming, besides looking over other sections. He reports that a good many settlers are going into this part of the country this year, though not quite as many as last year. Many of this year's settler's had located their claims a year ago, but were remote from waggon roads and they could not reach them before this summer.

The Temiskaming district had settled much more rapidly than had others, and also more quickly than the department had anticipated. The settlers did not register at the points of disembarkation, and as many who went in this year had already taken their locations there is nothing to show a comparison between this season's home-seekers and last.

ROADS ARE GOOD.

Mr. Southworth found that the roads built last year were in excellent condition. Buggies may be driven over them with pleasure, and bicycles are freely used. The roads are clay and are in fine condition just now. These highways were built a year ago through impenetrable forests and swamp lands, and the fact that they are in good shape speaks well for the care taken in their construction. The roads this year are being pushed along more rapidly than in former years, and will be good ones. Strangers going into the new country are very favourably impresed by the facilities given the settlers for the transportation of their crops in these excellent roads.

SETTLERS AND TIMBER.

Mr. Southworth is of the opinion that the farming has not developed as rapidly as it might. The settlers are doing wonderfully well on their timber, and are paying more attention to that branch just now than to farming itself. The regulations give permission to the settler who has been on his land six months, and has two acres under cultivation, to cut all timber on his holding but pine. They are taking advantage of this law, and are selling their spruce, balsam, tamarack, and the pine cut in clearing for good sums. Three large firms — E. B. Eddy, of Hull; J. R. Booth of Ottawa; and the Rideau Lumber Company, of Ottawa—paid out $175,000 to these settlers for timber. The Eddy Company purchased this year 20,000 cords of pulpwood in the district, all but 3,000 of which was secured from the settlers. One colonist cut 47 cords of pulpwood off a quarter of an acre, but that is much above the average.

NEW RAILWAY.

The Temiskaming Railway line was progressing very fast. On Monday the engineers had reached New Liskeard, and were locating and surveying for the line north. It is expected that the rails will be laid as far as the north-eastern arm of Lake Temigami this fall, and will touch New Lickeard by next fall. The citizens of the latter place hope to have the telegraph line extended to that point this fall. A large number of men are at work on the line and it is going ahead very fast.

No loss of timber by fire as a result of the clearing of the right of way has yet been experienced.

The crops in the district are first-rate, though not quite as good as last year. The season opened up very early and was dry for a long time. Heavy rains followed and extremely hot weather afterwards. As a result the oats were scratched. The crops in some cases are very heavy. —Telegram.

MANY HORSEMEN TO GATHER.

The races to be run off at the Central Canada Fair next month promise to be the greatest in the Capital's history. The circuits, in Quebec, Ontario and Northern New York conclude the week before and a great number of horsemen ,it is learned, will gather at Ottawa and race their horses for the very liberal purses offered. On Monday September 14th, there will be one trotting and one running event. All the other days there will be two running and one trotting events. The entries close on September 8th. Arrangements will be made so that the track will be in such a condition that it will suit the most particular of the owners of runners.

CANADA'S SHIPPING GROWS.

The amount of shipping which passes through the Canadian Soo canal in the four months ending with July 31st last, was 2,305,116 tons, compared with 2,155,696 in the same period of 1902, and 1,351,011 in 1901. The freight carried amounted to 2,602,196 tons this year, 2,174,688 in 1902, reltons this year, 2,174,688 in 1902, and 1,663,358 in 1901. While this is a very good showing the relative increase, comparing with the American canal, is still better. In 1901, the Canadian Soo carried 2,872,516 bushels of wheat eastward, or 21.14 per cent. of the whole, while in 1902 the quantity was increased to 14,710,655 bushels, or 57.55 per cent. This year nearly 46 per cent. of the whole quantity of flour went by way of the Canadian canal, against 20 per cent only in 1901. The eastbound freight travelling through the United States Soo canal shows a decrease.

COMMERCE CONGRESS

The Empire's Boards of Trade in Session at Montreal.

SIX HUNDRED DELEGATES.

Fifth Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire Sits For the First Time in a Colony—A Tribute to the Commercial Strength of the Dominion—The Canadian Delegation Over Large.

Montreal, Aug. 17.—Six hundred prominent representatives of the commercial interests of the Empire were assembled in Montreal last night. The occasion is the fifth congress of Chambers of Commerce of the British world, and it bids fair to become a history-making event. The convention will meet in Windsor Hall at 10 o'clock to-day. It is significant that one hundred more delegates are present than at any previous meeting of the organization.

A fact even more pregnant with possibilities for the colonial connection on this side of the water is that in the two decades of the existence of the association this is the first meeting held outside of England. It is a concession to the conspicuous position Canada has assumed in point of commercial supremacy.

Lord Strathcona Present.

The lobby of the Windsor last night presented an animated scene, for many of the delegates are accompanied by their ladies. A striking feature of the informal levee last evening was the presence of Lord Strathcona, the honorary president, who observed with evident satisfacwho observed with evident satisfaction the splendid array of delegates representing the Dominion. There are 230 of these exponents of all that is best in the Western world, but the pity of it is that the full number will not be admitted to the convention hall to-day. Secretary Murray said last night that the Canadian delegates were to blame for this exclusion. They failed to get their names in on time, and every available seat is filled. Perhaps thirty will be excluded. But as votes are accepted by the commercial bodies present and not by individual delegates, the Dominion will lose nothing in actual voting strength. There are 53 Canadian Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce represented. The United Kingdom boasts of 68 such organizations, with large lists of delegates. There are 150 from England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

Foreign Reporters Here.

Many reporters of the press of England and the colonies and the States are present. The great dailies of New York, Washington and Boston have a staff of trained reportorial men, supported by several editorial commenters, present. Numerous magazine writers and independent syndicate news men from England and the States, are picking up entertaining stories for their people in all parts of the continent.

DR. OILLE DEAD.

Well Known St. Catharines Citizen Passes at the Age of 73.

St. Catharines, Aug. 17.—One of St. Catharines' most enterprising citizens in the person of Lucius S. Oille, M.D., died Saturday morning at his late residence on Queen street at the age of 73 years, after an illness of several months. The late Dr. Oille entered public life as a councillor for St. Andrew's Ward in 1868, and was elected to the mayoralty in 1878. He also was chosen warden of the County of Lincoln for one term. He took an active part in the work of establishing the civic waterworks system, and was chairman of the Water Commission for a number of years. He was one of the promoters of the Niagara Central Railway, and the local street car line between this city, Merritton and Thorold, which was then operated by horse power, and was later transformed into an electric line, being the pioneer trolley line in Canada. For a number of years he was president of the Board of Trade. Dr. Oille built the Grand Central Hotel, and many other buildings in this city, and at one time was one of the largest property owners. Deceased was born in the Township of Pelham on Oct. 6, 1830.

THE BULLET CAME OUT.

Fatality at Tamworth Among a Party of Boys.

Tamworth, Aug. 17.—A very sad accident occurred about three miles from here Saturday morning, when William Thompson, the 17-year-old son of Marshall Thompson, was shot and killed instantly. Thompson, in company with several boys, were laying in the woods, and when he attempted to take a rifle from one of them, it went off, the ball passing through his temple.

No Papal Secretary.

Rome, Aug. 17.—As Cardinals Agliardi and Satolli both persist in their refusal of the office of Papal Secretary of State, Mgr. Merry del Val will act as such until the first Consistory is held, in October or November. At that time the Bishop of Padua, a very learned prelate and the bosom friend of the Pope, will be created a cardinal, and it is probable that he will then become the Secretary of State.

Peter's New War Minister.

Belgrade, Aug. 17.—Colonel Solarovics has been appointed War Minister. Prof. Neorisavleivics Finance Minister, Prof Ruzsolt Minister of Public Instruction, and Michael Govanovics Minister of Justice, in the place of the holders of those portfolios who resigned Aug. 12, because it was stated they refused to consent to the military credits unless all the state officials who enjoyed the late King Alexander's confidence were dismissed,

CLAIMS HUDSON BAY

Expedition Sent Out to Take Formal Possession.

THE SOVEREIGNTY OF CANADA

The Dominion Contends That This Third Largest Sea in the World Is a Closed Sea, on Whose Marine Wealth No Foreign Fisherman Has a Right to Encroach—Story Sent to Chicago.

Chicago Aug. 17.—A despatch from Ottawa to The Record-Herald says that matters relating to Hudson Bay are beginning to attract much public attention in Canada, and are bound also to be fraught with considerable interest to the American people in the near future. Definite action is now about to be taken by the Canadian Government to declare absolute sovereignty over the third largest sea in the world. The Dominion Government has asked Parliament for a grant of $150,000 to cover the cost of an expedition which is about to leave for Hudson Bay. The purpose of this expenditure is ostensibly to gather data and acquire experimental knowledge as to the length of time the bay is open for navigation each year, the possibilities of shipping the products of the west by that route, and for geological research. It is believed that the Canadian Government proposes to assert its claims over this great body of water, which it contends is a closed sea, and upon the marine wealth of which no foreign fisherman has the right to encroach. This claim will no doubt be resisted by the United States, and another bone of contention will be projected into the arena of international politics. American fishermen, chiefly whalers at present, have for many years, without let or hindrance, almost exclusively operated in the Hudson Bay waters with much profit. These waters are known to abound with fish of the first commercial value, exclusive of the whale, walrus, porpoise and seal. The principal result of the expedition will be to drive out the American fishermen. The likelihood, therefore, of international complications arising out of the Canadian claim to Hudson Bay as a closed sea may not be very remote, particularly when it is stated to be the intention of the Dominion authorities to establish a patrol fleet in these northern waters to keep out poachers. It is expected that the time to be occupied by the expedition in carrying out the objects of the present voyage will be between one and a half to two years, and during that time also formal possession will be taken of certain islands north.

DEATH OF A. F. PIRIE.

The Sad Came on Saturday Night—Grief and Ill-Health.

Hamilton, Aug. 17.—A. F. Pirie, editor and proprietor of The Dundas Banner, died Saturday night at 1 o'clock. It was about the same hour, just one week ago, that he placed a revolver at his temple and shot himself through the brain. He was conscious for a few minutes at a time several times since, but made no explanation of the deed.

He was very successful in his business, and had plenty of money at the time of his death. Grief over his wife's death and ill-health are what are held responsible.

The dead editor was 52 years of age. He has lived in Dundas ever since 1889. His father was the publisher of The Guelph Herald, and it was there that Mr. Pirie made his first start in newspaper work. He was afterwards editor of The Toronto Telegram, and The Montreal Star.

This family survives him: Fraser, Elsie, Goldie and Jean, all of tender years; Charles N. Pirie, a brother, lives in Toronto.

The funeral will take place this afternoon.

Buggy Struck by Train.

Guelph, Aug. 17.—A man named Clarence McDonald, son of the postmaster at Schaw Station, C.P.R., met with what may be a fatal accident on crossing the G.T.R. at Gordon street, by being struck by the 6 o'clock train. His buggy was smashed, and the horse badly hurt. Mr. McDonald was thrown out, his leg broken, and he was internally injured. He was taken to the General Hospital.

Vesuvius Eruption Grows.

Naples, Aug. 17.—The eruption of Vesuvius, somewhat increased to-day. The stream of lava flowing the crater is divided into two branches. The longer reaches a distance of 2,600 feet in the direction of the Village of Ottajaub, and the other is now 2,800 feet towards Pompeii. There is no immediate danger.

Engine Cleaner Terribly Scalded.

Hamilton, Aug. 17.—Hiram Belfrey, who lives on the Plains road, and who is employed in the G.T.R. roundhouse, was terribly scalded Saturday evening. He was under an engine cleaning it when hot water came pouring out, scalding him about the arms, chest, neck and face. He was taken to the city hospital.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A Great Little Worker

During a long life time the heart will propel half a million tons of blood through the body, and so long as the blood is in a healthy condition it will repair itself as fast as it wastes, patiently keeping up the play of the valves and the rhythm of its throb. If the action of the heart gets weak, irregular and fluttering, the blood is lacking in nourishing qualities and requires just such assistance as is best supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorer.

The Tate Optical Co's

We are doing one thing extremely well—making Good Glasses. In fact the best Glasses made in Canada today. Perhaps you may think this a strong statement, but it is writen deliberately and meant to be convincing.

We examine your eyes carefully, and in our examining room we have all the latest instruments for that purpose. We are Eye Specialists, and our long years of experience make us experts. In the rear of the office is a work shop equipped with the most modern machinery for optical work—the only shop of the kind in Peterborough. Surface grinding of lenses is done on the premises. When you buy a pair of glasses from us we grind the lenses to suit the requirements of your eye. WE DO NOT pick them haphazard from a box of numbered lenses.

Our patients are in all parts of the Dominion. We will be pleased to answer mail orders. Particular care is given to the fit of frames and mounts.

One of our patients, Miss Beavis, writes: "Before coming to you for Glasses I had spent over $50.00 in my endeavour to get satisfactory Glasses, but, thanks to your skill as opticians, I am now enjoying perfect vision and comfort."

EN ROUTE TO THE MONTREAL CONGRESS.

Newsy Letter to the Examiner by one of the Delegates.

The Trip From Port Hope to Kingston Graphically Described—Events on Board the "Corsican."

Mr. D. W. Dumble, one of the delegates to the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, meeting at Montreal this week, sends the following interesting letter, written en route:—

Steamer Corsican, 8.30 p.m.

Dear Examiner, — The delegates from the Peterborough Board of Trade determined to go part of the way to Montreal by water, so they took the 9 p.m. train to Port Hope to catch the steamer at 12.10 a.m. They caught it, but at 2.30 a.m., instead of the earlier hour. To stand on a wharf of a summer night and wait for a boat is not a great hardship, but when it won't come, and it is not known whether it will ever come, is not the most cheerful business We looked at the water and at the stars; we sought the comet and found it not. Trains thundered by on the G.T.R., with their roar and rattle and flames and sparks. Everything was noticed but that steamboat light. I saw it several times and called Mr. B. to see. He saw it, too, and then said something peculiar—intimating that I was a—a—well, something queer, as I could not distinguish between a distant semaphore light on the Grand Trunk and a steamboat light. So we gave it up, and went back into the little waiting room, where a number of weary ones were trying to sleep on little hard chairs. A poor little boy was doubled up like a hedghog on the chair, and asleep. Don't move, little boy, or—there, he's down, whack! He answers with a cry, and his mother comforts him. But, here's the boat in sight, and it finally gets here, and we tuck ourselves away in a comfortable stateroom, and just as we are asleep nicely the bell rang for breakfast. Four hours sleep, breakfast, and then a look out to know where we are. We are rounding a point which extends five miles out into the lake, enclosing the Brighton harbour. We draw into the ricketty old wharf, which I last saw just 49 years ago. Here I frequently went to swim and to catch the big black bass which in the coves rubbed their noses against the shore, but would not bite. Having put off some freight at Brighton we pushed on through the Murray canal, which for four miles is cut through the neck that binds Prince Edward County to the mainland. Several swing bridges for road ways and the Prince Edward Railway are passed, and we enter the beatiful Bay of Quinte, and draw up at the Trenton wharf. Some Port Hopers said that there was not enough water at Trenton for the trade of the Trent Canal business! I don't know how deep it is but the great heavily laden steamers of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co. find no difficulty in the waters.

Trenton is a snug little town doing a good business. The fine massive stone post office, with its clock tower looms up prominently. The old wooden bridge, covered, spans the broad mouth of the river. The lumber of the Gilmour Company, and a few substantial buildings, are evident. The town has a pretty appearance from the water. After putting off a lot of goods, and taking on an immense quantity of "Log Cabin Baked Beans," we start for Belleville, which we reach in an hour. Beautiful Belleville! How handsome this place was this fine summer morning! Church spires and towers, fine buildings embosomed in trees, the Moira River holding in its mouth a little gem of a park and a dozen yachts—steam and sailing—lying in the harbour, all made a picture not easily forgotten. The former Island site of a great saw mill has been skilfully converted into a very beautiful park. It is surrounded by good stone riprap A fine drive connects it with the city. The sward is green and smoothly cut and a few flower beds brilliant in colour, and many fine trees make a charming resort which the people evidently enjoy as they ocupied the seats in considerable numbers, while small boats, yachts and white winged canoes flitted on the smooth bosom of the bay. Here more freight was put off and taken on, then away to Descronto. This place is a surprise as it conveys the idea of busines in many forms. Large buildings, saw mills, coal chutes, reduction works, chimneys, machines, tugs, steamers and sailing crafts, all speak of the energy and skill of the Rathbuns in creating a little city where before the advent of the Rathbuns there was nothing. In the harbour lay a very beautiful schooner yacht—evidently American, as the Stars and Stripes floated from the mast. Here again there was much freight. Many boxes of tomato catsup and boxes of cheese innumerable. Then away for Picton. This beautiful town is little seen from the water, but a few handsome places suggested the rest. More cheese—cheese, cheese, everyport seems to have a store house full of cheese for Montreal, and so the industry brings to our farmers many millions of dollars. We are just leaving Glenora—beautiful Glenora. We have pased beautiful points and islands and summer resorts all day—including the Foresters' Resort and Oronatekas splendid place, but no place so interesting as Glenora. There is a narrow ledge of flat land, sufficient for a few houses—two summer hotels, a couple of machine shops and behind them a bluff rising 150 feet covered with fine trees through which at the top is seen a pretty house and the graceful spire of a little church. Behind the church is the far famed Lake on the Mountain, which gives a stream that is caught and made to work the machinery of the shops below, but this lake, clear and cold, has no inlet, and apparently no bottom, where it gets the water no one knows and so it remains a curiosity, which thousands look at and wonder. But we must move on the sun goes down large and red—the sky and water are glorious in colour. The woods which fringes all the shores are black in the gloaming—Glenora fades in the gloom, but that beautiful little spire stands out against the clear sky and silently tells of Him who fashioned this beautiful world and asks men to acknowledge Him. We are drawing near to Kingston, where we will take the train to Montreal, so as to be there in the morning. I have seen the Bay of Quinte and now understand why the people of these parts love their homes, for it is a splendid body of water, beautifully indented with bays, has many fine islands and all its shores are fairly wooded—and this fact is evident—it is a perfectly safe route for the thousands of Trent Navigation barges which will soon float their cargoes over it to Montreal.

DESTROYING PROPERTY IN VICTORIA PARK.

Flowers and Plants Ruined by Thoughtless Conduct.

It again becomes a duty to call attention to the conduct of some persons who make use of the public parks of the town. For some time Mr. Cooney, the painstaking superintendent of Victoria Park, has been annoyed by the dispicable action of persons who destroy the plants and flowers which constitute the beauty of the town parks. Geraniums and other plants have in a number of cases been torn up by the roots, but the destruction wrought either during Saturday night or last night is of such a nature that a vigorous protest against such rascality must be made. The wire netting which has been placed around the flower beds was in one case smashed down completely, and the bed deliberately stamped upon destroying the flowers in it. A large earthen receptacle standing near one of the entrances and containing a number of plants appears to have been sat upon, at any rate, the flowers which it contained have been completely ruined. It seems a pity that after so many pains have been taken by the town council and those employed by it to beautify the public parks, their work should meet with so little encouragement. These acts of destruction are ones which should be severly punished, and should any of the young vandals be detected, a lesson will be administered which will not soon be forgotten.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The Board of Works will meet this evening.

—The East Durham and Cavan Exhibition will be held at Millbrook, on October 1st and 2nd.

—Piano tuning promptly attended to. Satisfaction guaranteed. A. F. Hoover. 'Phone 199.

—The Sunday school of All Saints' church will meet at three o'clock in the afternoon for the rest of the year beginning on Sunday next.

—The Hamilton Times has published a carnival number which is a credit to the publishers and the city. A 12-page illustrated supplement gives half-tone cuts of a number of interesting spots in the city, also many of the prominent business and professional men.

—The Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, Communication Road, Smith, intend running an excursion from Bridgenorth to Lindsay and return, on Wednesday, August 26th. The boat will leave the Chemong wharf at 8.30, and the public are cordially invited to attend.

—The foolhardy daring of boys cannot well be described on paper. On Sunday evening a party of six lads, aged from 12 to 15 years, climbed on the top of a high building by the G.T.R. tracks between Hunter and Simcoe streets. Here four of them walked to the top of the roof while two others remained near the bottom of the slant. In turns the four on a plank would toboggan down the roof and were saved from falling over the perpendicular wall by their two other companions.

A McDonel Street Fracas.

A scrap, which was exceedingly lively while it lasted, occurred on McDonel street on Satufday evening. Three Italians were on their way home, after having made a large number of purchases down town, and each had his armful of parcels. A misunderstanding occurred, and after some lurid language in their native tongue, blows were struck, and a general mix-up followed. The parcels and their contents were broken and scattered, and trampled under foot. Not being able to do enough execution with their fists, they discarded the Englishman's weapons and drew their knives, which they used to some effect. After the fracas was over, the spoils of war, in the shape of family groceries, as well as quite a number of silver coins, which the participants lost in the melee, were gathered in by the small boys.

HARVEST EXCURSION.

About 100 Left Peterborough This Morning for Manitoba.

Notwithstanding the fact that it is almost an impossibility to engage a man to do a day's work, the Harvest Excursion to Manitoba, which left this morning, enticed about 100 from Peterborough alone, and other towns along the line of the C. P. R., had evidently furnished their quota in proportion, as the train, which was a large one, was crowded, and had to be drawn by one of the largest engines the company runs. At the city ticket office 78 tickets were sold, and the remainder were disposed of at the depot.

Many of those on the train were ladies, who were taking advantage of the cheap rates to visit friends in the western country. A goodly proportion too went with the intention of buying land, if the conditions were favourable. The great majority, however, intend to work as farm labourers.

In addition to those going by the C.P.R. a number went by the Grand Trunk, and the 8.30 train for Toronto this morning was crowded with harvest excursionists. In all about 150 left from Peterborough.

FORESTERS MEET HERE NEXT YEAR.

High Court of Eastern Ontario Will Hold Session in Peterborough.

The High Court of Eastern Ontario, Independent Order of Foresters, has just concluded its annual meeting, the session this year being held in Smith's Falls. About 220 delegates were in attendance, representing 264 courts, with a membership of 12,470, and 34 companion courts. The meeting was a highly successful one in every respect, and the delegates from Peterborough, Messrs. M. A. Sorsoleil, Geo. W. Powell and W. H. G. Armstrong, express themselves as being pleased with the entertainment provided for them by the brethren of the Smith's Falls court.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

H.C.R. Dr. J. Herald, Kingston, re-elected by acclamation.

H.V.C.R. Dr. Crain, Crysler, re-elected.

H. Secretary, G. L. Dickinson, Manotick, re-elected by acclamation.

H. Treasurer, J. S. R. McCann, Kingston.

H. Physician, Dr. G. H. Wade, Wooler.

H Councillor, H. E. O. Pratt, Ottawa.

The High Court will meet at Peterborough next year. Other towns which aspired to the honour were Belleville and Trenton, but Peterborough was chosen by a large majority.

LACROSSE.

A full practice of the Athletics will be held to-night and to-morrow night

• • • •

The T.A.S. II. team will go to Tweed on Civic Holiday.

• • • •

Cornwall likewise went down to defeat at Ottawa before the Capitals, the score being 11—0.

• • • •

One junior C.L.A. game was played on Saturday, Hespeler defeating Galt by a score of 5—0.

• • • •

In the senior C.L.A. on Saturday the Tecumsehs defeated the Oshawa team at the island by 2—0. The game is described as being "not a brilliant contest, the defence of both teams outclassing the attacks."

• • • •

Two games were played in the N.A.L.U. on Saturday, and in each case the visitors were defeated. The Nationals trimmed the Torontos to the tune of 7—5, although at one time the score stood 5—1 in favour of the Toronto team.

• • • •

The T.A.S. lacrosse management are running a trip next Saturday afternoon to Jubilee Point per steamer Water Lily. All the friends who desire to take in the trip should notify the committee as the number of tickets is limited.

• • • •

The T.A.S. Seniors will go to Orillia on Thursday, (Civic Holiday) for an exhibition game with the Intermediates of that town. Orillia played Gravenhurst Saturday and will cross sticks with Bradford on August 22nd.

• • • •

The Lindsay Post, speaking of the game to be played there on Thursday, says: "The team that plays here is the Athletics, of Peterborough, who have won their district by defeating the T.A.S. The Athletics are one of the fastest twelve in the junior C.L.A. and as the local aggregation purpose giving them an argument, our citizens can depend on seeing a good and fast exhibition of Canada's national game.

• • • •

A despatch from Brantford to the Globe describes the game played there on Saturday as follows:—"In a clean gentlemanly game of lacrosse in the C.L.A. senior series Brantford defeated Port Hope on Saturday by a score of 8-4, and they had no trouble doing it. Port Hope drew first blood after two minutes' play, and Murphy evened up one minute later. Brantford notched four in the second quarter and each got two in the third quarter and one in the last. It was a rather listless game, the visitors not being in shape for a hard match, and the locals not exerting themselves when they did not have to. White and Griffiths put up a hard game on the defence for Port Hope, and Cain shone on the home. The game was played with eleven men a side, Burt being off the Port Hope team. Hugh C. Lambe was the referee Only one man was ruled off during the match ,and then for a trifling offence."

• • • •

Brantford and Port Hope are going to Hamilton on Monday to play an exhibition game for the benefit of the Old Boys who have wandered back to the foot of the mountain. Hamilton evidently doesn't want her wandering boys to know how dead sport is in the place they were once forced to call their home. However, if the visiting clubs only get the gate receipts they'll realize they've been doing the charity act.—Telegram.

A most interesting publication to lacrosse players is a book published in 1868, a copy of which the Examiner has seen, and is the first published book of rules for playing the national game. It was printed and published in London, England, and advocates a general adoption of the game on the part of English athletes. It concedes the game to be of Canadian origin, and says, "The game is Canadian and originated apparently in pre-historic times amongst the noble aborigines of that country. The name was given by the French, its first European possessors, because of the curved stick, resembling a crosse or bishop's crosier."

The little book referred to gives instructions for playing the game, which at the time was evidently unknown in England, and also the rules of play, which are somewhat different to those in force now. For instance, it says, "There shall be two umpires at each goal, one for each side," and the "umpires shall select a referee to whom all disputed games, whereon they are a tie, may be left for decision," also, "after each game the players shall change goals, unless otherwise agreed," and "any player convicted of deliberate foul play or infringement of the rules shall be suspended from play by the umpires, at the request of his captain."

The Canadian Lacrosse Association was constituted on July 1st, 1867, "Dominion Day," and is therefore as old as the Dominion.

GOLF.

THE OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Cards for this competition may be put in from now on until the fifth of September, when the draw for the first round will be made from the best sixteen cards.

• • • •

The Peterborough Golf Club will send a team on the 20th of August, the Civic Holiday, to Cobourg, to play a match with that club on the latter's links.

• • • •

It is hoped that the members eligible for the Cobourg match will get in some practice between now and Thursday, so that the Greens Committee may be able to see how they are playing and be able to ascertain about how many players they can take to Cobourg and pick out the best team available.

• • • •

The Cobourg Golf Club is a very strong organization and has some very good golfers among the members, and it is expected the game on Thursday will be very close and interesting.

TURF.

An interesting event in racing circles will be that to take place at the Turf Club's Track Wednesday afternoon. Sphinx B. will for a $200 purse race against time, 2.15 1-4. The race will take place about 3 o'clock and the prospects are that the track will be in good condition. In this race Spinx B. will have a running mate to pace him up.

BASEBALL.

Flaherty, the clever twirler of the Excelsiors went to Berlin last week to play for the Lindsay team, and won his game, the score being 2—1. He struck out 12 of the German town's players and only 6 hits were secured from his delivery.

CANOEING.

The meeting of the T.V.C. club is to be held this evening as announced at 8.15 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. parlours. All members are requested to be present as matters of importance are to be discussed.

SCULLING.

YACHTING.

The next big event in the yachting world will be the series of races for the America's Cup. This is the most important yacht race sailed on either side of the Atlantic, and is of universal and international interest. The races this year as in all previous ones since the America first won the cup will be sailed in America, over a course laid off Sandy Hook. The first race is to take place on Thursday of next week, August 20th, and the following days until one or the other of the yachts Reliance and Shamrock III. win the necessary three races out of five to decide who shall be the possessors of the Cup, the British or the Americans. The owners of both yachts have spared neither time nor money in preparing for this race, and Sir Thomas Lipton, the owner of the last three challengers, feels more confident this season than he has ever done before. He is willing to back his yacht Shamrock III. against the speedy Reliance, which has been selected as the defender in this international contest. The American yachtsmen are all ready to admit that the British craft is superior to any that has ever crossed the Atlantic to compete for this trophy, but none of them manifest any alarm for the safety of the mug. During the past weeks, both yachts have been given trials in almost all kinds of weather, and each has done credit to her designer.

The Cup was won first in 1851 by the "America," owned by G. L. Schuyler. This is Sir Thomas Lipton's third attempt to lift the Cup and all wish him success.

THE RING.

The undersigned hereby challenges Mr D. Belland, amateur, of the Province of Quebec, for a 15 round sparing contest. I will also deposit $25.00 as a guarantee of the same. Signed L. McMahon, lightweight, of New Hampshire, U.S.A.

THE TRIGGER.

The Militia Department has adopted a new style of rifle rack for use in camp. It consists of a hardwood disc, about three inches wide and an inch thick in two parts, which hang upon one another, and can be fastened to the tent pole by an iron clasp attachment to the under surface. Upon the upper surface are eight hooks upon which the rifle can be hung, and which can be doubled inwards upon hinges when it is necessary to pack the appliances away for moving.

TELEPATHY OVER 125 MILES.

All Collusion Barred in Advance and Mental Telegraphy Proved.

From positive evidence that I have at hand, I have to make without qualification the statement that the transmission of long-distance messages by direct mental vibration—i.e., telepathy, is an accomplished fact.

To myself and a committee of other gentlemen the seemingly improbable feat of mental telepathy at great distances was shown to be absolutely possible.

Indeed, it was absolutely proved.

It has been demonstrated in a manner that has left none present with the shadow of a doubt in his mind. Every precaution was taken to prevent imposition. Imposition was impossible.

Du Maurier's romance of "Peter Ibbetson" no longer stands a poetical romance, taken all out of the imagination.

It becomes an exquisite piece of realism.

From London to Nottingham is a distance of 125 miles.

In Nottingham was Mr. Franks, a telepathist, stationed.

In London was another telepathist, Dr. Richardson, who is an American, and New Yorker, and who had undertaken to receive from Mr. Franks the telepathic messages.

From the hour of 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, Dr. Richardson was kept under observation.

It was left to the committee to choose three messages, or more for that matter, which were to be transmitted by means of telepathy between the men.

At the time that Dr. Richardson was put under observation (5 o'clock in the afternoon) the committee of which I was a member telegraphed to Mr. Franks, and absolutely without Dr. Richardson's cognizance, the three messages that he was to send telepathically to Dr. Richardson.

Following are the messages: The word "Scotland," the number "579," the hour "7.20 p.m."

Between 7 and 8 o'clock, after Dr. Richardson had spent the time in serene mental concentration, he received, faultlessly, the three messages telepathed to him by Mr. Franks.

I repeat that there existed absolutely no chance of his learning what the two numbers and the word were in any other manner than by telepathy.

Experiments were made afterward with three other messages telepathed by Dr. Richardson to Mr. Franks, and two of these three messages were correctly transmitted.

At the third a certain mental weariness had come over Dr. Richardson, which was only natural under the circumstances, and further exertions were postponed.

This is but the beginning of wireless telegraphy without electricity or electrical machines.—W. T. Stead, in New York Journal.

CURED LONG AGO BUT STILL CURED.

S. Kernohan's Incurable Disease Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Five Doctors Agreed There was no Hope for Him, but he has Been Strong and Well for Years.

Gelert, Ont., Aug. 17th. — (Special) —The wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills published almost daily, recall the case of Samuel Kernohan, of this place. It is years now since he was cured but as he is still cured it is well worth recalling the facts, and Mr. Kernohan delights to relate them.

"Some time in December, 1893," he says, "I was taken ill and laid up for fourteen months. During my confinement to my house and to my bed, I was attended at various times by five doctors. Three of them decided that my case was incurable, Floating Kidney, and two of them that it was spinal disease. All agreed on one thing—that my case was incurable.

"When my money was all gone, as a matter of necessity and as my last hope, I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had ony taken three boxes when I was able to walk about. I took in all eighteen boxes, when I was entirely cured and quite able to work.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best friend I ever found."

A Fling at Tennyson.

In the "New Letters and Memorials of Jane Welsh Carlyle" is a letter to her husband in which occurs the following amusing little fling at Tennyson:

"Did you know that Alfred Tennyson is to have a pension of £200 a year, after all? Peel has stated his intention of recommending him to her gracious majesty, and that is considered final—'A chacun selon sa capacite!' Lady Harriet told me he wanted to marry; 'must have a woman to live beside; would prefer a lady, but cannot afford one, and so must marry a maidservant.' Mrs. Henry Taylor said she was about to write to him in behalf of their housemaid, who was quite a superior character in her way."

Teeth.

Small, chalk white teeth are a sign of a weak constitution. Strong, normal teeth are large and yellowish white. Sometimes an enthusiastic novelist in depicting the charms of his heroine will give her two rows of pearls between her ruby lips. The truth of the matter is nothing could be more ghastly or unnatural or unbecoming than teeth made of pearls. It is only "store teeth" that possess a high polish.

He Knew a Way.

Anxious Father—But, my boy, unless you study you will know nothing. You will make no money with which to buy things.

BALFOUR AND THE BOY.

Some Charming Traits Exhibited by England's Prime Minister—Statesman Has a Most Wonderful Memory.

When Mr. Gladstone was alive members of the House of Commons used to wonder whether he or Mr. Balfour was fonder of petting children. Although political opponents, they were intimate friends. Both liked literature better than the rough-and-tumble of politics and they were bound together also by their fondness for children, especially for Dorothy Drew, Mr. Gladstone's pet grandchild. In earlier years they both petted Lady Sybil Primrose, Lord Rosebery's daughter, whom Mr. Gladstone nicknamed "the suffrage babe," because she was born at a time when a suffrage bill was agitating Parliament.

An English writer who has met Mr. Balfour on several occasions tells with pleasure of the first meeting. It was at a great Conservative demonstration in a Kentish park in 1887. Mr. Balfour was the principal speaker, and the writer was then a little boy selling programs for the good of the cause, as is the habit of the sons of Primrose League dames. Greatly daring, the boy stopped Mr. Balfour as he was walking through the park to the platform to make his speech, and asked him to buy a program. He took one and generously paid ten times the proper price.

"I'm glad to see you helping our cause so young, my little man," he said, patting the boy's head. "What are you going to be when you grow up?"

"I'd like to be a great man in Parliament, like you, sir," the youngster replied.

"Don't you!" exclaimed Mr. Balfour, laughing. "There's no fun in it. I'd rather be a boy like you."

Some of the organizers of the meeting came up and told Mr. Balfour that the people were waiting to hear him speak, but he waved them aside.

"Can't you see I'm trying to strengthen the faith of a young disciple?" he said.

Then he asked the boy all about his home life and his schoolmates, and gave him some sound advice on school practice.

"Don't get into more fights than you can help, but if you have to fight let the other boy knock you blind and silly before you give in. That's the only way to get on and have a good time."

Ten years afterward, when the boy was working on a London newspaper, he had occasion to call on Mr. Balfour at his office in Downing street.

"Do you remember buying a program of me at Southwood in 1887?" he asked.

"Why, yes," said the statesman, "and are you the boy for whom I kept the meeting waiting? Don't you think now that I was wise in telling you there was no fun in politics?"

This is an example of Mr. Balfour's wonderful memory. Like most absent-minded men, his memory for events is remarably acute when they are called to his attention.

Mr. Balfour's most striking characteristic, perhaps, is his even temper. Nothing seems to ruffle him. In the old coercion days he would sit for hours on the treasury bench of the House of Commons with a pleasant smile on his face while the Irish members were comparing him unfavorably to Nero and Herod, and saying that if they saw him in the company of Ananias and Sapphira they would consider him to be in the bosom of his family. Other Conservative members would jump up angrily and interrupt, but the man attacked never showed a trace of annoyance. He sat quiet and wore "the-smile-that-won't-come-off."

His friends say that only once has Mr. Balfour been known to show anger in public. Some young Tories snow-balled Mr. Gladstone when he visited Dover during the last years of his life. Mr. Balfour had to address a Tory meeting at Dover soon afterwards, and he took occasion to denounce the cowardly outrage in unmeasured terms. His language, usually so calm and philosophical, became a torrent of passionate invective, and before he finished he had lost control of himself.

"I believe he would have wrung the necks of those young fools if he could," said the chairman of the meeting afterwards.

Though Mr. Balfour was never married, his whole life and character have been moulded by a woman—his sister, Miss Alice Balfour. She is an accomplished, high-minded woman, who wields great influence in English political circles. It is said that Lord Salisbury used often to ask her advice and lean upon her judgment. Probably she persuaded him to give her brother the great chance of his life as Chief Secretary for Ireland. It is generally agreed that she has kept him in political life, conquered his natural indolebce and made a practical successful statesman out of the philosopher who wrote two big volumes to explain that nothing is worth worrying about or striving for.

The Plaint of the British Fiddler.

The annual complaint of English musicians comes from London. It is that an English musician has no chance to get work in competition with foreigners. There are 300 orchestral bands in London during the season, and practically all of them are made up of aliens. The one chance an Englishman has of steady employment is to disguise himself and pretend to be a German or a Belgian. One band of sixteen wears foreign uniforms, trims beards in foreign style and speaks only in foreign monosyllables, but every one is an Englishman, forced to the subterfuge by the necessity of making a living.

What's Before Them.

"These young society buds are mere butterflies," said the Rev. Mr. Straitlace. "They have no thought of the future life."

"Of the future life?" replied Miss Innit. "Oh, but they do! Matrimony is always in their thoughts."—Exchange.

SAVED HIS FINGER.

The Faithful Brahman Felt, However, That He Had Lost Caste.

One day a Brahman accidentally touched some unclean object with his little finger. The Brahman thought that now, his little finger having become unclean, any substance which it would touch would be also rendered unclean and thus make him an unclean man. Seeing no other way to get out of the scrape he resolved to get the offending member amputated. Forthwith he went to a carpenter and explained to him that unless the finger was cut off he (the Brahman) was unable to take food. The carpenter tried to dissuade the devotee and urged that an application of some drops of water from the sacred river Gunga would make the finger once more holy, but the Brahman persisted. He said that the finger was of no use to him any longer and that he would not rest until it was severed.

As a final recourse the carpenter resolved to play his awkward customer a trick. He told the Brahman to put his finger on an anvil and to look to the sky while the wound was inflicted. The Brahman did so. The carpenter took up a hatchet and gave the finger a smart blow with the back of it. This elicited a cry of pain from the patient, who at once put the finger in his mouth to allay the agony. The carpenter, laughing, explained to the Brahman that the blow had missed and the little finger was still entire; and, worst of all, the Brahman had defiled himself by putting the finger into his mouth. The obliging operator, moreover, offered to perform the operation once more, but the Brahman had had enough pain for the nonce and declined with thanks.

A Puzzle Fable.

An American heiress was wooed by a foreign prince, who urgently besought her to become his wife. In order to test the sincerity of his love she asked, "Will you still marry me if I give away all my money for charity and become as poor as yourself?"

The prince considered awhile, and then responded, "Yes, provided you will still marry me if I renounce my title and become a plain republican person like yourself."

STORIES OF LAWYERS.

Amusing Anecdotes of Celebrated English Barristers.

"Apropos of witnesses and counsel," says the writer of a most interesting article on "Lawyers," in The London Blackwood's Magazine, "I think the most scathing retort that I ever read was the following, which I saw in some country newspaper report of an assize case: A counsel had been cross-examining a witness for some time with very little effect, and had sorely taxed the patience of the Judge, the jury, and every one in court. At last the Judge intervened with an imperative hint to the learned gentleman to conclude his cross-examination. The counsel, who received this judicial intimation with a very bad grace, before telling the witness to stand down accosted him with the parting sarcasm: 'Ah, you're a clever fellow, a very clever fellow! We can all see that!' The witness, bending over from the box, quietly retorted, 'I would return the compliment—if I were not on oath!'"

Another story is told in the same article of Edwin James, a famous barrister, who was disbarred for unprofessional conduct just as he was about to be made Solicitor-General. Edwin James was noted for his consummate impudence. At one time he lived in some West End Chambers, for which the unfortunate landlord could never succeed in obtaining any rent. At last he had recourse to an expedient which he hoped might arouse his tenant to a sense of his obligations. He asked him if he would be kind enough to advise him on a little legal matter in which he was concerned, and, on James acquiescing, drew up a statement specifying his own grievance against the learned counsel and asking him to state what he considered the best course for a landlord to take under such conditions. The paper was returned to him the next morning with the following sentence subjoined:

"In my opinion, this is a case which admits of only one remedy: Patience.—Edwin James."

The single defect of that genius among Judges, the late Lord Bowen, was perhaps an undue proclivity for irony, which on one occasion he indulged in from the bench, with disastrous effect on the jury. Shortly after his appointment as a puisne Judge he was trying a burglar in some country town, and by way of mitigating the tedium of the proceedings summed up something in the following fashion: "You will have observed, gentlemen, that the prosecuting counsel laid great stress on the enormity of the offence with which the prisoner is charged, but I think it is only due to the prisoner to point out that in proceeding about his enterprise he at all events displayed remarkable consideration for the inmates of the house. For instance, rather than disturb the owner, an invalid lady, as you will have remarked, with commendable solicitude he removed his boots and went about in his stockings, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. Further, instead of rushing with heedless rapacity into the pantry he carefully removed the coal scuttle and any other obstacles which, had he theughtlessly collided with them, would have created a noise that must have aroused the jaded servants from their well-earned repose."

After proceeding in this strain for some little time he dismissed the jury to consider their verdict, and was horror struck when, on their return into court they pronounced the acquittal of the prisoner!

Men Swim With Clothes On.

The casual stroller by the banks of the Serpentine, London, the other morning must have been somewhat startled to have observed twenty-eight young men, fully attired, waiting apparently to end their days in the Hyde Park lake. Yet nothing of the nature of suicide was in their minds, for each of them waited for the starter's signal to plunge into the water, and each was a competitor for The London Daily Telegraph Cup. The object of the race is to promote swimming under difficulties. Most men and women swim nowadays, but swimming for pleasure, entirely unencumbered, is a very different sort of pastime from that which took place in the Serpentine. Each competitor had to carry not less than seven pounds of wearing apparel, and the nature of the handicap will be best understood when it is mentioned that five very good swimmers—men who under normal conditions would make light of a mile or so—had to be assisted out of the water by the boatmen before half the distance had been completed. The race was a handicap and the winner turned up in F. R. Bennett, whose allowance was the very substantial one of 50 seconds, but the back markers were by no means out of it, as H. Wilson (12 seconds) and E. D. Whittle (5 seconds) were respectively second and third.

Beyond the fact that all the competitors had to carry the established weight of seven pounds, choice of costume was a matter of taste. Several wore tall hats and affected evening dress; others went in for fancy costumes, ancient and modern. Indeed, a more motley crowd it would be difficult to imagine. Still, the object was a good one and Sir Vincent Barrington, who gave his services as one of the judges, informed an Express representative that the sole object of the donor of the cup was to inculcate into the present-day youth the value of learning to swim so as to save life under any conditions.—London Express.

The Adult School Movement.

Enderby Park, near Leicester, England, was lately the scene of a unique gathering. The adult school movement, which is making rapid progress all over England, has developed remarkably in Leicestershire, where there are 8,000 members and ninety-six schools. On the occasion mentioned a great picnic took place, nearly 4,000 sitting down to tea in the largest marquee ever erected in the county.

WORK AND LOOK YOUNG.

You Will Succeed if Your Heart Is In Your Labor.

Is it hard work that makes people grow old or is it because they do not have enough to do, or, rather, do not find the thing they are best fitted to do?

The hardest worked people in the world are the actresses, yet some of them, without mentioning names, are sixty and some play the parts of lovers and boisterous young tomboys at an even greater age.

The Americans are the hardest worked people in the world, yet foreigners call us a young looking nation. Nothing makes a people look so young as liberty. There is none of the cramped, caste restricted blight upon our people that is seen in Europe. The oldest looking people in the world are not those who have worked hardest, but those who have not worked at all. If one would see them he wants to go to the fashionable watering places. There he will see comparatively young men and women who have never worked, either with body or mind, driven around in bath chairs or hobbling about on canes, while men absorbed in business are often quite robust at seventy.

Where hard work ever killed a man laziness and inaction have killed a score. It is the class that feels above work that nature has little use for. Work and look young!

The Rock That Moses "Smote."

The famous "Rock in Horeb," anciently called the "Rock of Massah" and at present known throughout the orient as the "Stone of the Miraculous Fountain," being the identical rock which Moses struck with his rod in order to give water to the children of Israel, is religiously preserved and guarded even down to this late date. Dr. Shaw in his book "Shaw's Travels" says, "It is a block of granite about six yards square lying tottering and loose in the middle of the valley of Rephidim and seems to have originally been a part of Mount Sinai."

The action of the waters of that miraculous fountain, as related in the seventeenth chapter of Exodus, hollowed a channel about two inches deep and more than twice that broad across the face of the rock, this not upon unsupported testimony, but upon the word of such men as the Rev. Dr. Shaw, Dr. Pocock, Lieutenant Clogher and other eminent scholars and travelers. M. Beaumgorton, a German nobleman who visited the "Rock of Horeb" in the year 1507, declares his belief in the generally accepted story of it being the rock of Moses' famous fountain.

Willing He Should Smoke.

"Any objections to my smoking here?" asked the offensively cheerful man as the vessel gave another disquieting lurch.

"None," replied the pale chap in the steamer chair, "here—or hereafter!"—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A SAILOR OF BRAVERY.

What threatened to be one of the worst disasters in the history of shipping was the burning of the Ocean Monarch. The fire was discovered in her fore hold an hour or two only after she left the Mersey. There was a strong breeze, and she was headed for the Welsh coast.

By some unlucky accident an anchor was dropped, and the big ship was brought up all standing head to the wind. The flames came roaring aft, where 600 passengers and crew were crowded.

A Brazilian frigate, a yacht and a pilot boat were near, but they only attempted to pick up those who jumped and swam. Suddenly up came an American clipper and rounded into the wind barely 200 yards away. In her first boat was Frederick Jerome, only an able seaman, but one of the bravest seamen that ever lived. In a flash his boat was alongside the burning ship, and he climbed on deck amid the scorch and smother. There he stayed until the last soul of 600 was saved. His clothes were on fire seven separate times, and he was scorched almost beyond recognition. His only reward was the medal of the American Humane society.—Pearson's.

The Zodiacal Light.

The name of "zodiacal light" has been given to a singular appearance frequently witnessed soon after sunset or just before sunrise. It may be seen at all seasons of the year in low latitudes and is obviously due to illuminated matter surrounding the sun in a very flat or lenticular form, nearly coinciding with the plane of the ecliptic, or, rather, with the sun's equator. The attention of astronomers was first directed to it in the year 1683 by Cassini and was long regarded as being the sun's atmosphere. This idea, it is now thought, is incorrect, it being generally believed at the present time to consist of an immense assemblage of rocks, sand, cosmical dust, fragments of metal, etc., such as the earth is continually encountering in the form of aerolites or meteorites. It may not be out of place to mention in this connection that the rings of Saturn are believed to be composed of similar materials.

The Decadence.

Mr. Herlihy looked at his latest photograph, taken in his Sunday clothes, and his gaze bespoke keen disappointment.

"Oi'd never 'a' had this tuk if it hadn't been for thim children telling me about the improvements in photographing," he muttered, holding the card upon which his likeness was mounted farther and farther away. "Improvements is it? Oi'd loike to show this pictur' soide be soide wid the wan Oi had twinty years ago and laye it to annybody which o' thim two made the betther man o' me. There's an old, anxious, toired out look to this new wan that was niver in the other.

"There may be improvements in photographing," said Mr. Herlihy as he deposited the cabinet sized card face down in his table drawer, "but Oi've yit to see thim."—Youth's Companion.

A paragraph from the Weekly Financial Review, published by the Banking House of Henry Clews & Co., reads:—

"A decided change for the better has taken place in the stock market, and the sharp rise which started on Thursday quickly dispelled the wave of despondency that threatened the whole business community only a few days ago. So sudden a change was, of course, largely due to manipulation, based upon the change of position by some of the big operators who exerted such a severe and persistent pressure upon the market for weeks past, being assisted by an organized effort to check and punish the over-aggressive bears. It is, of course, impossible to learn whether the market leaders have fully accomplished their purpose or not. The presumption is that they have, or the market would not have been allowed to recover in the rampant fashion that it has done. It is quite certain that the decline of the last few months has been materially intensified by speculative operations to accomplish certain purposes, however, much natural conditions may have justified lower prices, and it is equally likely that the market will now continue its recovery until a normal level is reached. No one pretends that there has been any change in intrinsic conditions during the last six months to correspond with a drop of 30 to 50 points in good securities. Granting that the top of the boom was touched last year, that the tide of prosperity has begun to recede, that there is still a large amount of unmarketable securities, and that we have been over-doing generally, there was no warrant for a decline in stocks so utterly out of proportion to other changes. A part of the decline was certainly intensified for speculative purposes, and if it proves true that these have been attained, a stronger and active market is in prospect."

NOW IS THE TYPHOID SEASON.

Dr. Bingham, the Medical Health officer, has issued the following advice:—

"From now until the end of October is called the typhoid season. Every precaution should be taken to prevent the outbreak or spread of the disease. All sewers should be regularly flushed; all open privies should be disinfected every day. Two pounds of copperas dissolved in a pail of water used as a spray will answer the purpose. All water of a suspicious character should be boiled before being used by the family. Personal cleanliness should be strictly observed. The dwelling and surroundings should be kept in good sanitary condition. By observing these rules and others which will suggest themselves to intelligent housekeepers, much sickness and many deaths may be avoided."

PETER HAMILTON EMPLOYEES' PICNIC.

A Pleasant Outing to Rice Lake on Friday Last.

On Friday last the employees of the Peter Hamilton Company, with their wives, families and friends, to the number of about 250, went to the beautiful picnic grounds of Idyl-Wild and Jubilee Point, for a day's outing, and it is stating the case mildly to say that it was an enjoyable event. The whole day's programme was one highly successful, and the management may be congratulated upon the entire success of the arrangements for the pleasure of the company.

The Calcutt Line steamer "City of Peterborough" was chartered for the day, and the officers and crew used every effort to render the trip enjoyable to the numerous passengers. Leaving her dock at 8.15 she was soon under full steam sailing down the beautiful Otonabee River, while those on her deck were enjoying themselves in various ways. The day was an ideal one for such a trip, and one had but to look at the faces of those on board to realize that they were thoroughly enjoying the outing. A popular form of amusement was that of dancing, which was entered into with great spirit, inspired by the enlivening strains of the music provided by Messrs. Tucker and Gillogly, the favourite dances being reels and waltzes.

Jubilee was reached at about 11 o'clock, where a number disembarked to spend the remainder of the day at the domain of Mr. Dan Foley; the larger number, however, remained on board, and the steamer proceeded to Idyl Wild, where the jolly excursionists enjoyed their dinner on the breezy island. Shortly after noon the boat with the members of the party, returned to Jubilee where an interesting programme of sports was run off, and tea was partaken of before re-embarking to take the return journey.

The Committee of Management, the members of which had charge of the sports as well as the general arrangements for the entire day, was composed of the different departments as follows: Messrs. R. Mulligan, of the moulding shop; Jas. Maude, machine shop; Robert Logan, blacksmith shop; Thos. Gillespie, carpenter shop; and W. Savigny, of the paint shop.

Arrivals at the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing, during the past week were:—J. O. McCarthy, wife and child, Wm. C. Gall, J. B. Tate, Robt. Gemmell, C. S. McDonald, John L. Wood, Miss A. Merrill, Toronto; Miss Alta Bradd, W. C. Ackerman, A. H. Cox, T. H. Glover, W. B. Bletcher and wife, Miss Birdie Thompson, Mrs. E. W. Turner, Misses Ethel Turner, Eva Nesbitt, Adeline Armstrong, Elizabeth A. Armstrong, Peterborough; C. S. Tanner, Lakefield; James S. Hogan and brother, Buffalo; Miss M. Chambers, Montreal; R. Orthinger, F. Orthinger, Dr. P. H. Smith, N. F. Whitmore, Rochester; Evans Townes, P. H. Townes, Mississippi; W. G. Luke, Oshawa.

The dance given at the Victoria House on Monday evening proved one of the most pleasant events of the season. It was under auspices of Eko Camp, and was attended by a large number of campers, as well as a jolly party which Mr. Breeze brought down from Glenwood in his yacht.

THE CHURCHES.

ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

Large congregations greeted Rev. W. L. Armitage at All Saints' church, yesterday, after his absence of four weeks. In the morning Mr. J. E. Firth, Toronto, sang "The Shepherd King," while Rev. Mr. Armitage preached on "Men do not fear God."

In the evening the Rector preached on "The Great Refusal."

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

An especially attractive musical programme was rendered at George Street Church yesterday, by the choir, under the leadership of Mr. G. W. Mulligan. In the morning the anthem was "Hosanna" by Gunier, while in the evening service "The Radiant Morn hath Pased away,' by W. H. Woodward, and "Sands of Time are Sinking" by C. Gounod, were rendered in a very creditable manner. Mr. Mulligan took the solo in the latter. In the evening, Mrs. Dr. J. H. Prust, delighted the congregation by singing in a very pleasing voice, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Rev. M. Dupont, of Belleville, preached at both services.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

At the Park street Baptist church at the close of the evening sermon yesterday five persons were baptized, six were received into the fellowship of the church, and seven were held over for various reasons. The congregation taxed the church to its utmost limit.

Runaway Accident.

On Friday afternoon last, while Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Masson were driving along Front street, the front axle of their carriage broke, and the sudden drop of the box threw them over the dash board on to the horse's heels. Fortunately the horse was quiet and did not kick or they might have been killed. The horse only went a few feet when it freed itself from the rig and started to run. Mr Masson received a deep cut on the temple and another on his hand, but even at his advanced age, nearly ninety, he showed great courage. Mrs. Masson was badly shaken up, but received no bruises except a few scratches on her face. The aged couple were taken into J. A. Louck's drug store where Dr. Loucks' dressed the wounds, after which they were driven to their home. The carriage was a complete wreck, but the horse after running some distance was captured uninjured.—Campbellford Despatch.

My! but it Tastes Nasty!

That warm and tasteless, hydrant water. Give us Batton's well water any day before such mawkish sickening stuff. "Put ice in it." Worse and worse. It's only safe with equal parts of Henry's good old rye whiskey or Brandy. But for a cool, refreshing and wholesome summer drink, use our fine light claret or domestic wines, or a bottle of good pure lime juice, which purifies the water and is very beneficial in cases of rheumatism or blood impurities. The Henry Co.

Work and Play.

The biggest summer resort within easy reach of civilization is what is commonly termed Muskoka, a district in the "Highlands of Ontario," about 100 miles north of Toronto, including an immense tract of country bordering on the Georgian Bay. This district is composed of lakes and rivers innumerable and is situate 1,000 feet above sea level. Good fishing and hunting are assured. Ample hotel accommodation at all points on the lakes is provided to suit the purses of everyone. Excellent transportation service. To Idyl Wyld on Civic Holiday.

The Machinists have chosen a good day and a popular place for their excursion this year. On Civic Holiday, August 20th, they will run an excursion by the City of Peterborough to the ever popular Idyl Wild, and judging from present indications the event will be a most enjoyable one. A splendid programme of sports will be given, for which valuable prizes will be offered. This will be a good opportunity to visit the historic Rice Lake under pleasing auspices. 2d

The Kilt in Canada.

The retention of the kilt as the dress of the Scottish regiments is not to be made an election cry in Canada after all. It would not have been the first time that the Garb of Old Gaul has figured as a "plank" in a political platform. The Highlands have been more than once agitated over the mere suggestion that the philabeg should make way for the trews on the soldiers from the north. Controversy, indeed, has always been more or less busy with the kilts, and one of the few things which have been placed beyond dispute is that it is a healthy garb. When the Fraser Highlanders landed in North America in 1757 it was proposed to change the dress on account of the cold winters and hot summers. The officers successfully opposed this, and were ultimately justified by the Highlanders being the healthiest soldiers in the army. In the campaign in Holland in 1794 some regiments lost as many as three hundred from disease, but the Black Watch, which had three hundred recruits in its ranks, had only twenty-five casualties, including the killed in battle.—London Chronicle.

Rest Your Feet.

The feet really need far more rest than it is usual to grant them in these days of hurry and scurry and tight shoes. Few people have any idea how injurious to health and temper, to heart and brain, an uncomfortable feeling about the feet is. Indeed, in warm weather, the wearing of sandals would be best for both old and young. The feet of children should never be cramped. They may be injured mentally and physically for life by such a practice. Make a rule never to wear heavy soles or boots. Always keep a pair of nice soft house shoes, and get into them as quickly as possible after you return from walking or cycling. If you have an hour to spare in your own room, take off your shoes and stockings both, and bathe the feet in cold or warm (never hot) water, whichever is most agreeable to the feelings. Keep the feet naked while you rest on a sofa, read your paper, and sip your coffee. The best stockings or socks are lambs' wool, and they should fit as well as a glove. Never have them too loose or too tight. If you can always keep your feet nice and comfortable you will add years to the term of your life.

Health and Success.

Weakness and disease cause discouragement, failure and unhappiness but with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food there comes new vigor and energy, new hopes and new confidence, stronger determination to succeed and the ability to apply one's self mentally and physically. Health and success go hand in hand. By restoring good health, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helps to success and happiness.

Windsor, Aug. 18.—Ella Rice, a 19-year-old girl, has confessed to the murder of her infant child. She has been employed for the past three months as a domestic at various city hotels, and formerly lived in Strathroy, where she is well connected. The girl threw her child into the river on the day after its birth, and it was found at the Michigan Central docks by boys swimming. Patrolman Livingston located the mother at the hotel Campus, Detroit, and brought her to this city.

THE DEFENCE OF THE EMPIRE

Principle of Colonial Contributions Is Endorsed—Resolutions re. the Food Supply of the Empire Adopted—Brilliant Galaxy of Delegates From Chambers of Commerce of Empire.

Montreal, Aug. 18.—It was a brilliant assembly that confronted Lord Strathcona when he convened the fifth congress of the Chambers of Commerce yesterday. Six hundred princes of trade from every section of the Empire were there. It was the most representative gathering of commercial spirits ever witnessed in the Dominion, and a ravishing bit of color was contributed by the gallery of ladies. The United Kingdom, Australia, South Africa, India, the West Indies, New Zealand and Canada were there in the person of her most progressive merchants.

Upon Lord Strathcona's left sat Lord Brassey, president of the congress, the representative of a family whose name has been identified with some of Canada's big enterprises of half a century ago. Adjoining was Lieut.-Gen. F. Winburn Laurie, C.B., M.P., of the London Chamber, a Canadian, who has so long resided in London as to desire to see the colonial Empire ruled by Downing street.

Feast For the Eye.

Spreading out from beneath the shield and royal standard, beneath which they stood gathered the delegates, all occupying numbered chairs. Would you have an occular demonstration of the world wide stretch of the British Empire? Then feast your mind's eye upon the spectacle of Sir

LORD BRASSEY, K.C.B.
Chairman of Congress.

Edward Buck, the genius of far-off Cawnpore, rubbing elbows with the venerable Hon. W. Ross of Halifax, Prof. W. R. Lang of London, sandwiched in between delegates from Durban, Kimberley and other South African cities; Willis Raymond of New Zealand seated in the same seat with the commercial bodies from the West Indies; the South Australian visitors crowding into the square devoted to the citizens of the Empire from Alexandria and other sections of the far removed Egypt; or the merchants of Victoria and Vancouver contending for a little more room with the commercial bodies from New South Wales, Queensland and the Barbadoes. Nothing could more strikingly illustrate the world force of the British Empire.

Lord Strathcona.

This was the interesting picture that Lord Strathcona viewed as he arose to address the congress. He was greeted with a whirlwind of applause.

Lord Strathcona referred to the progress which had made the discussion of Imperial preferential trade. He said the proposal might involve some rearrangement of the fiscal policy of the United Kingdom, but he did not think it would necessitate any return to protection or result in the burden on the shoulders of our fellow-citizens of Britain being increased to any appreciable extent, if at all it would not be protection in the way in which it was usually interpreted, but duties on a limited number of articles from countries outside the Empire.

Lord Brassey.

Lord Brassey, who followed, said there was one prime object for them all—that was to strengthen and consolidate the Empire. Lord Brassey is a finished speaker and knows how to secure the best effect. He is tall, grey-bearded and of ruddy complexion. With the idea of saving time, the subjects from one to sixteen were referred to a committee, to be acted on to-day, with the hope of eliminating minor resolutions.

Imperial Defence.

The discussion which followed was on Imperial defence. Geo. E. Drummond of Montreal moved two resolutions, introduced by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Montreal Board of Trade, favoring colonial contributions to Imperial defence.

After some discussion Col. Denison, moved an amendment [illegible] principle of the Montreal Board of Trade's resolution and that of the Montreal District Chambre de Commerce, which he said was an emblem of the unity of the two races as follows:

"It is resolved that this Congress hereby approves the principle that it hereby approves the principle that it is the duty of the self-governing colonies to participate in the cost of the defence of the Empire. The colonies thus claim the privilege of keeping their own initiative as to the nature and mode of help which they may agree to offer in the future to the British Empire."

The passing of this resolution was greeted with enthusiasm.

Britain's Food.

Lieut.-Col. Denison and J. W. Woods of Toronto, moved that "In the opinion of this congress the food supply of Great Britain can be most safely relied upon by developing the output of her own territories to such an extent as to make her independent of supplies from foreign sources, and to best achieve this end it is more desirable and necessary to divert as far as possible all of her able-bodied surplus population who will make useful citizens to the shores of her dominions across the seas."

The resolution was adopted.

Other Resolutions.

The resolution touching the importation of coolie labor from India was withdrawn without comment.

The motion to urge the Imperial Government to request the French surtax charges to be abolished on shipments passing through French territory was adopted.

The resolution requesting the Imperial Government to grant the most favored nation clause to countries who had extended same to the colonies was passed.

Last night a reception was tendered the visitors at the Board of Trade. The city made the occasion a social event, and several thousand persons were present.

Chamberlain's Scheme.

London, Aug. 18.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, replying to a request for a short, definite statement of his fiscal proposals, has written as follows:

"I have never suggested any tax whatever on raw materials, such as wool or cotton, and I believe that such a tax would be entirely unnecessary for the purposes I have in view, namely, for mutual preference with the colonies, and for enabling us to bargain for better terms with our foreign competitors.

"As regards food, there is nothing in the policy of tariff reform which I have put before the country that need increase in the slightest degree the cost of living of any family in the country."

CANADA'S TRADE WITH U. S.

It Has Reached the High Water Mark—Imports and Exports.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—Trade with Canada in the year just ended reached its high water mark. Both in imports and exports the commerce between the two countries exceeded that in any previous year.

Statistics compiled at the Department of Commerce and Labor show that imports from Canada last year amounted to $54,060,410 and the exports to Canada $123,472,416. By Canada is meant British Columbia, Quebec, Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

About $38,000,000 of the imports was from Quebec and Ontario, $10,000,000 from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and $6,000,000 from British Columbia. Of the exports $110,000,000 was to Quebec and Ontario, $7,000,000 to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia and $5,000,000 to British Columbia.

The imports never before reached so much as $50,000,000 save in one exceptional year, 1881, when they barely touched that figure. In 1902 they were $48,076,124. The exports to Canada never reached so much as $100,000,000 until 1901, when they were $105,000,000. In 1902 they were $109,000,000. The Canadian tariff has given to the products and manufactures of the United Kingdom and most of its colonies a reduction of twelve and a half per cent. in the tariff rates since April, 1897; twenty-five per cent. from August, 1898, to July 1, 1900, and since that date a reduction of thirty-three per cent.

It was during that period that the most rapid growth in the exports from the United States to Canada took place. The exports over the year 1897 increased ninety per cent., while the increase in the total exports meantime has been about forty per cent.

Chilkat Indians at War.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 18.—The steamer Princess May, from Skagway, brings word of a tribal war among the Chilkat Indians of the Klukwan tribe. For several days a reign of terror was in progress in the valley of the Chilkat. Witchcraft, which generally prevails among those Indians, is said to have been the cause of the trouble. One Indian is reported killed and many badly injured.

Largest Fleet Assembles.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 18.—Admiral Douglas with the British warships Ariadne, Retribution and Tribune, arrived here yesterday. They were met by the British warships, Charybdis, Alert, Calypso, Goldfinch, Gulnare and Columbine, and the French war vessels La Voisier and Maoche. This combination of warships constitutes the largest fleet ever assembled in these waters.

Crops in Manitoba.

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—Dr. Saunders, Director of Experimental Farms, who is making his annual tour through the West, wires as follows to the Department of Agriculture: "Crops from Winnipeg to Brandon mostly light. Some good fields of wheat will probably average fifteen to eighteen bushels. Will average better in northern and western portions."

With One Firm 59 Years.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—The death occurred yesterday at his home, 270 Ontario street, of Chas. McCurry, in his 87th year. He was for 59 years an employe of Lyman Bros. & Co., wholesale druggists. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, and came to Canada when quite young.

Colony Calls to Colony.

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—Agent Jardine, writing from Cape Town, says: All the South African colonies have now agreed to the Bloemfontein Conference tariff, which provides, among its other features, for a preference to Britain.

CROP OUTLOOK IN THE WEST.

Brantford Expositor.

Mr. J. H. Housser, secretary of the Massey-Harris Company, and a gentlemen, who, by reason of his present official position, and a long residence in Winnipeg, is exceptionally well qualified to judge, has been investigating the crop situation in the west, He states that in southern Manitoba the grain is very light and poorly headed out, while the straw is thin and short. This is due to drought. As you go north and west, however, the crops improve greatly, and around Portage la Prairie, which is a splendid wheat district, they are in a fine condition. Along the Canadian Northern towards Edmonton and the Manitoba Northwestern the crops are looking very well indeed, and the same is true of the Territories. On the whole, in his opinion, judging from his own observation, and the reports of his correspondents, the total yield this year will be considerably below that of last year. He however does not anticipate any injurious effects to the development of the Northwest from a short crop this year. It will act as a steadying influence and will prevent a recurrence of the boom collapse of former years.

Mr. Housser is disposed to think there is something of a boom on in Manitoba, and that a wholesome check will do no harm. He says:

"When I was in Winnipeg I owned three residential lots of 250 feet frontage each on the river front, which I bought for practically nothing. A year ago I sold them for $30 a foot and now the same lots are being offered at $60 a foot, an increase of just double for one year. The main street in Winnipeg is a magnificent business street. There are some very fine bank and official buildings on it, and the Union Bank is about to erect a new nine-storey building. Lots on this street are selling at $1500 a foot. In Edmonton also the prices of land are proportionately high.

"I have the utmost faith in the future of our Northwest. I believe that in time it will become one of the greatest wheat growing countries in the world. When that development comes, Winnipeg and Edmonton, the two main centres of the west, will become two of the most important cities in Canada. But this development will not come all at once, and this is the trouble. People expect it too soon, and the speculative sentiment is apt to become a little too excited."

Speaking of the prospects for a young man in the Northwest, Mr. Housser said:—

"For a young man who has a little capital, is willing to work, and is intelligent, there is no better future to be found than in that country. He can take up land in the Edmonton district, and in ten years he will be comfortable. If he has no capital he can hire as a farm labourer, keep up homestead work, and await the coming of the Canadian Northern, which is now being put through to Edmonton rapidly. Then he will be an independent farmer."

Mr. Housser speaks with a feeling strongly sympathetic with the west, and as a candid friend. In giving his opinion that the wheat yield this year will be less than that of last, he but reiterates what has already been expressed by other competent observers and what there is nothing to be gained by disguising. At the same time there will be a very large crop, and an export which five years ago would have been thought phenomenal. The west will steadily develop, but there cannot always be boom days, and a frank recognition of this fact will do no harm.

FROM MT. PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

After a protracted illness John Sutcliffe died at three a.m. on the 12th of August. Two of his daughters came from Manitoba to wait on him during his illness. His daughter, Mrs. J. D. Denny, of Ottawa, was a constant attendant on him. We sympathize with the family, in this their time of trouble. The place of interment was at St. John's church cemetery, in the township of Cavan.

Another worthy citizen of this township has been called away suddenly, the late George Howson, who has been collector of taxes for the township of Cavan for several years, which office he filled most satisfactorily. All sympathies are extended to the bereaved family in their trouble.

Mr. Johnston, who was engaged with Mr. D. Lough, fell out of an apple tree and broke his leg. Dr. Dean was in attendance. The doctor is now a resident of Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Young of Ottawa is visiting with friends here.

As usual the Rev. Mr. Mounteer, delivered an exceedingly practical address last Sunday. His text was founded on the 17th verse of the 7th chapter of Jeremiah.

Farmers are highly pleased with the splendid crops, which are nearly all safely housed.

We were favoured with a most excellent discourse from the Rev. Mr. Potter, the missionary to the sailors. He occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church last Sunday. His text was "Among whom ye shine as lights in the world, holding forth the word of life."

A WELL KNOWN ALBANY MAN.

Recommends Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

About eighteen months ago, Mr. W. S. Manning, of Albany, N.Y., widely known in trade circles as the representative of the Albany Chemical Co. was suffering from a protracted attack of diarrhoea. "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," he says, "and obtained immediate relief. I cheerfully recommend this medicine to those similarly afflicted." Sold by all druggists.

TURKS ORDERED OUT

Fifty-Two Battalions of 1,000 Each Called by Imperial Irade.

FOR SERVICE IN MACEDONIA.

Russian Black Sea Fleet Has Left Sebastopol—River at Monastir Full of the Mutilated Bodies of Bashi-Bazouks' Victims—A Number of Christian Villages Have Been Pillaged and Destroyed.

Constantinople, Aug. 18.—An imperial irade has been issued calling out fifty-two additiona battalions of troops (about 52,000 men) from the European Provinces of Turkey, in consequence of the spread of the insurrection in Macedonia. These troops comprise twenty battalians of reserves of the first class from the Adrianople and Salonica army corps. The balance are reserves of the second class.

The managers of the railroads have notified the Porte that they disclaim responsibility for the damage done to the line, or for the injuries sustained by officials while the present conditions prevail in Macedonia. A despatch from Salonica says two persons were killed, a number of people were injured and several cars were destroyed by an explosion which occurred yesterday on the railroad between Amatora and Karazonli.

Getting Powder Ready.

Bucharest, Roumania, Aug. 18.—Acting War Minister Dratiano has ordered the Government powder factory and small arms ammunition depot to prepare large quantities of ammunition immediately.

Christian Vill ges Destroyed.

Sofia, Aug. 18.—A despatch received here from Uskub, says that 600 Bashi-Bazouks, under the command of Albanian chiefs, who are notoriously cruel, have pillaged and destroyed a number of Christian villages in the districts of Debre and Okrida. The Turkish authorities, it is added, connived at the outrages and furnished the Bashi-Bazouks with old uniforms, so that they might appear to be regular soldiers.

The Fleet Has Sailed.

Sebastopol, Aug. 18.—The squadron of the Russian Black Sea fleet, which has been ordered to the Turkish coast, sailed yesterday. It is under the command of Rear Admiral Krueger.

Mutilate Women and Children.

Berlin, Aug. 17.—According to a despatch received by The Frankfort Zeitung, the river near Monastir, Macedonia, is full of the mutilated bodies of women and children, who have been massacred by Bashi-Bazouks.

Hamilton's Summer Carnival.

Hamilton, Aug. 18.—The first day of the Summer Carnival is over, and it surpassed the wildest dreams of even those who have been expecting wonders. The program was carried out fully yesterday, and everything has gone off like clockwork. Thousands of Old Boys have already arrived, and every train that comes in is bringing more. To-day Toronto's contingent of 1,000 is expected. One of the features in the morning will be the Old Boys' parade. The city never looked more beautiful. It is ablaze with flags, bunting, Chinese lanterns and electric signs.

Accident. Not Murder.

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—Detective McCaskell of Montreal, after interviewing a number of people, leans to the opinion that Donaz Mathien of Hull met death by accident at Fort Coulonge, rather than by murder as at first supposed. The mother of the boy and Dr. Ouimet of Hull stoutly maintained that the boy was murdered, but the evidence of the foreman of the shanty and others go to prove death by drowning.

Harvesters For the Northwest.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—The first day of the harvesters' excursion to the Northwest was exceptionally well patronized. Nearly 2,000 passed through the Union Station yesterday. The North Bay train went out in three sections, crowded with help for the Western harvest fields.

Some Mustache History.

What is the history of the mustache? In Greece and Rome no mustaches were worn without beards, but in the conquering days of the Roman empire several half civilized races who had come partially under the influence of the Romans and who wished to be rid of the name of barbari, or wearers of beards, attempted to shave in imitation of their conquerors; but, as they had very imperfect implements for the purpose and as the upper lip is notoriously the hardest part of the face to shave in the case of any one poorly skilled in the art, they were unable to make a clean job of it and left a quantity of hair on the upper lip.

This mark was characteristic of several nations on the confines of Roman civilization, of the Gauls in particular, of the Daciens and some others. The Latin language has no word for mustache. This barbarous accident was unworthy of the honor of a Roman name.—Exchange.

The Dinner Hour.

It is a curious fact that with almost every generation the dinner hour has undergone a change, the principal meal of the day being eaten at different periods, from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night. The author of "The Pleasures of the Table" points out that in England 400 or 500 years ago people took four meals—breakfast at 7, dinner at 10, supper at 4 and livery at 8. In France in the thirteenth century 9 in the morning was the dinner hour; Henry VII. dined at 11. In Cromwell's time 1 o'clock had come to be the fashionable hour and in Addison's day 2 o'clock, which gradually was transformed into 4. Pope found fault with Lady Suffolk for dining so late as 4. Four and 5 continued to be the popular dining hours among the aristocracy until the second decade of the nineteenth century, when dinner was further postponed, from which period it has steadily continued to encroach upon the evening.

Kansas City Again Flooded.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 18.—Owing to the rise in the waters of the Kansas River at this point, the James street bridge, the only means of street car communication between here and Kansas City, Kan., was carried away yesterday. Other structures, including the stock yards, and the belt line bridges, are in immediate danger.

S. Kernohan's Incurable Disease Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Five Doctors Agreed There was no Hope for Him, but he has Been Strong and Well for Years.

Gelert, Ont., Aug. 17th. — (Special) —The wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills published almost daily, recall the case of Samuel Kernohan, of this place. It is years now since he was cured but as he is still cured it is well worth recalling the facts, and Mr. Keronhan delights to relate them.

"Some time in December, 1893," he says, "I was taken ill and laid up for fourteen months. During my confinement to my house and to my bed, I was attended at various times by five doctors. Three of them decided that my case was incurable, Floating Kidney, and two of them that it was spinal disease. All agreed on one thing—that my case was incurable.

"When my money was all gone, as a matter of necessity and as my last hope, I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had only taken three boxes when I was able to walk about. I took in all eighteen boxes, when I was entirely cured and quite able to work.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best friend I ever found."

JAMMED TO A JELLY

Samuel Smith Meets a Horrible Death at Owen Sound.

HIS BODY WAS CUT IN TWO.

Death of Engineer McGuire of Rat Portage—Fire Boss W. J. Davis Suffocated—Triple Drowning in the Rainy River—Forty Persons Killed by the Collapse of a Dock in Finnish Lake.

Owen Sound, Aug. 18.—Samuel Smith met with a horrible death here yesterday afternoon. He attempted to drive down a difficult roadway which runs down to the river bank on the farm of William Bell, in Derby, near the corporation limits with a load of lumber. It is assumed that the lumber slipped forward, and that the horse ran away. At a tree half way down the hill the victim was found with his head jammed to a jelly between the spokes. One of his arms was fifteen feet away, having been torn from his body. Death was instantaneous. Deceased was a former resident of Elmwood, having moved to his present residence last spring. A widow and three daughters, Ettie, Bertha and Laura, survive. Out of a family of eleven, of which the eldest is over sixty, this is the first death. The victim was 55 years of age.

HIS BODY CUT IN TWO.

Engineer McGuire of the C.P.R. Thrown in Front of Engine.

Winnipeg, Aug. 18.—Traveling Engineer Ed. McGuire of Rat Portage was killed at Murillo Station last evening. He was testing a new locomotive, which was following a freight. He left the locomotive and climbed upon the top of the caboose, when the train gave a lurch, and he was thrown on the track, directly in front of the locomotive he had just left. Death was instantaneous, the driving wheels cutting the body in two. Mr. McGuire was one of the most popular engineers on the Canadian Pacific, and had recently been promoted to an inspectorship.

Triple Drowning.

Boy Drowned in Don River.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—The River Don claimed another youthful victim yesterday. Walter Johnstone, the nine-year-old son of John Johnstone, 6 Home-place, went in swimming with several other boys at the free bathing place, a few hundred yards north of the Winchester bridge at 4.30. The body was found by 6.30 o'clock.

Man's Back Broken.

Stratford, Aug. 18.—The ambulance was called to the station yesterday to meet the 9.35 train from Goderich, on which Thomas Thomson, section foreman at Blyth, was brought here with a broken back for treatment at the hospital. Thomson is in a critical condition, and but slight hopes are entertained for his recovery. He was riding towards his home on the wagon of an egg merchant when the ring bolt broke and the wagon tipped over. Thomson was pinned beneath it and sustained a fracture of the spine.

His Scalp Torn Off.

St. Thomas, Aug. 18.—A G. T. R section man named Henry Campbell was run over by a train in the station yard at Atwood yesterday. Campbell was working in the yard when a freight train backed down upon him. He had his back to the train and was knocked forward under the cars. His scalp was almost completely torn off, and both legs were broken.

Killed by a Train.

A LONG SPEECH.

A Four Hours' Harangue on the Grand Trunk Pacific Project by the Member For South Simcoe.

Ottawa, Aug. 18. — The Grand Trunk Pacific debate has reached the stage when a day is valued according to the number of speeches that are wiped off the list. Yesterday three and a half were disposed of. Mr. Houghton Lennox, South Simcoe, spoke for over four hours, from 11 o'clock until 5 in the afternoon. Then Mr. Aulay Morrison briefly but effectively explained the reason why British Columbia requires and favors the new road. Lieut.-Col. Sam Hughes delivered an address condemnatory of the terms of the agreement, and Dr. Russell entered upon what promises to be one of the most interesting and effective speeches yet delivered. The House rose at midnight.

HIS BODY HUNG LIMP.

Cattle Men With Blacksnake Whips Flayed a Sheep Herder.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 18.—Information has reached this city from Dupuyer, a small cattle camp in Northern Montana, of the whipping to death of Joe Sturgeon by fourteen white caps, supposed to be cattlemen. Sturgeon, who was a sheep herder, was forced to surrender at the point of rifles. He was bound, slung across a saddle, taken out on the prairie, stripped of his clothing and bound to a tree. The white caps, with blacksnakes and knotted ropes, flayed the herder until his body hung limp and lifeless. Cattlemen had repeatedly posted notices ordering all sheepmen to leave the vicinity, and all but Sturgeon had moved their flocks to other sections.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea

"About six years ago, for the first time in my life, I had a severe and sudden attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents cured me." For sale by all druggists.

TRENT VALLEY CANOE CLUB ILLUMINATED PARADE

To be Held Next Monday Evening on Otonabee River.

Encouraged by their past successes in the regatta line, the Trent Valley Canoe Club will hold an illuminated parade and a programme of races, on Monday evening, August 24th. It was at first proposed to hold this event on Civic Holiday, but on account of so many excursions out of town, it was thought inadvisable, and Monday evening next was selected at the meeting of the club held in the Y.M.C.A. parlours last evening, at which a goodly number of the members were present.

The illuminated parade will take place on Monday evening after some races have been run in front of the C.P.R. dock. The races will commence sharp at seven o'clock, and should attract a large number of spectators.

After the routine business had been transacted medals and trophies were presented to a number of members who had won them at different regattas as follows:—Norman Bell, Bert Stock, Arthur Weeks, Fred Roy, C. Losie and John Watt.

A full meeting of the club, to which all members are invited, will be held next Tuesday night in the Y.M.C.A. parlours.

FIRST PETERBOROUGH INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

The Grounds Have Been Considerably Improved—A Large Attendance Expected.

Perhaps three of the most important days next month to the inhabitants of this district will be the 22nd, 23rd and 24th, when the first Peterborough Industrial Fair will be held on this show grounds. The directors have been particularly busy in endeavouring to make it a complete success, which, judging from all outward indications it is sure to be.

To an Examiner representative yesterday, Mr. Robert Fair stated that this year there will be two paddocks instead of one, as double the amount of live stock is expected. Seats, it is understood, will be put up and thus a good view will be had by all, more especially as no one will be admitted into the paddock. The pavilion is being painted and the grounds in all other ways will be altered for the better.

The directors, who expect to get double the attendance of last year, have issued a handsome prize list, which is printed in red and black. It comprises something over thirty pages and is profusely illustrated. This prize list, which was printed in the Examiner office, illustrates the art of the modern printer. It might be interesting for the public to know the officers for this year:—Hon. J. R. Stratton, Hon. Pres.; Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, Pres.; Mr. C. B. McAllister, First Vice Pres.; Mr. E. M. Elliott, 2nd Vice Pres. and Mr. W. F. Green, Secretary-Treasurer.

Around the Lakes.

The excursion around the lakes, under the management of Peterborough Lodge of Oddfellows on Civic Holiday, is sure to be one of the most popular leaving town on that day. Train leaves Grand Trunk station at 7.45 a. m., connecting at Lindsay with the steamer Kenosha for Lakefield, thence by rail to Peterborough. One hour allowed at Bobcaygeon and Buckhorn for dinner. Meals also served on board. Tickets, adults $1.20, children, 60c, which may be secured from committee to save the rush at station.

A SUNDAY FIRE IN LINDSAY.

Dwelling Occupied by Roadmaster Heels Badly Damaged.

About five o'cloc kon Sunday evening fire broke out in the dwelling of Mr R. Heels, G. T. R. roadmaster, on Lindsay street south, and before the brigade arrived much damage was done. The fire, which is supposed to have originated from a spark thrown by a passing locomotive, started in the back woodshed, and had gained great headway when discovered. Mr. and Mrs. Heels and family happened to be sitting on the lawn in front when the fire broke out and consequently they were able to save the great portion of their furniture, but a new bicycle, a tool case, silverware and other valuables were destroyed.

The alarm was sent in by telephone from Dr. Blanchard's residence and the brigade promptly responded. Mr. Heels' loss will be heavy as he had no insurance. The house is owned by the Touchburn estate and is badly gutted. The loss is partly covered by insurance.—Post.

C. N. R'S POCKET FOLDER.

Has Illustrations of Points of Interest Along the Railway.

In every particular the product of western brain and manufacture, the folder just issued by the Canadian Northern Railway, from the Traffic Manager's office, is a credit alike to the printers and the company.

The cardboard covers of the publication, are lithographed in five distinct colours, and a sixth from blending, the whole being printed on a rich slate coloured background. The circular, red white and black escutcheon of the Canadian Northern, is wreathed in clusters of the Manitoba maple leaf and the central figure in the plate, shows one of the lean, black greyhounds of the great lakes, which connects with the railway's Superior Limited at Port Arthur for the east. The soft blending of hues, breathing the misty atmosphere of these inland seas, is superb in effect. The plates illustrating the interesting reading material, descriptive of the towns and farms and pleasure resorts of the west are finished in double tone ink, which gives a rich three coloured finish. From two to four of these cuts beautify every page of the folder.

* * * *

Nearly 2,000 people saw the Port Hope lacrosse team yesterday afternoon make good their claim that they could defeat the champion Brantfords on neutral grounds. The score was 5 to 4, and the game was one of the fastest of the season. Brantford started off like winners, shooting two goals, after which Port Hope wakened up. At the first quarter the score was 3 to 1. In the second quarter Port Hope's speed enabled the team to draw up and at the end the score was 3 all. In the third quarter Port Hope assumed the lead, and by pretty combination play from end to end, made the score 4 to 3. The eighth game was also all Port Hope, Jack White, the Cornwall Indian, finally carrying the ball up to the Brantford goal for another score, Hendry and Kelly were sent off the field for dirty work. Just before the call of time Hendry shot another goal for Brantford. The last quarter was characterized by fine work on the part of Port Hope. The team from the eastern village made the champions look very gloomy. No attempt to increase the score was made afterwards by players of either side.—Globe.

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a rule to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These Pills not only make the bowels active, but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

IN SLEEPING CARS.

The M.P. Who Poured Water on a Stranger —Profane Railway Contractor—The Dog and the False Hair.

After the early passengers had come down and before the arrival of last-minute travelers, a quartette of sleeping car porters stood on the platform of the Union Station last night and "swapped" stories, says The Mail and Empire. They talked shop, if a railway car can be so considered, and after their suspicion of the newspaper man had been lulled by the opportune display of a cigar case, they spoke freely of the oddities and humors of A. Traveler, Esquire, as revealed to their observant eyes.

The yarn spun by the first man, a round-faced good-humored little porter, had to do with the error made only a few weeks ago by a member of Parliament from Western Ontario, who was traveling down to Ottawa, and taking with him his eight-year-old son. They had "lower 5," and soon after the east-bound express left the Union Station they went to bed, the lad making from time to time, audible comments on the novelty of the situation, which afforded considerable amusement to the other passengers. The car was full, every berth, upper and lower, carrying a double load. The rest of the story is best told in the words of the porter, but the soft Southern darkey accent and the facial expression which added so much to the telling can only be imagined. "It was about 4 o'clock in the morning, I had collected all the boots, and was having forty winks in the smoking car, when I heard a horrible yell. I jumped for the car, and before I took two steps several more shrieks rang out, and the call bell began to ring like an alarm clock. I was sure someone was being murdered, and you can judge of my surprise when I found the M.P. clad in pajamas standing in the aisle and trying to apologize to two ladies in lower seven. The noise wakened everyone in the car, and, what with the screams, the M. P.'s explanations, and the strong language of the commercial men who had been disturbed there was a perfect pandemonium. After I had things quited down I took the politician into the smoking-room and asked for an explanation. He told me that his boy woke him up and asked for a drink of water. In otder to quiet the little chap he got up, got the water, and when he arrived at what he thought was his berth he parted the curtains, which were not buttoned, and was about to lift up the little fellow's head when his supposed son screeched. Naturally startled, he spilled the glass of water and douched the sleeping woman, who screamed again and unloaded a line of "How dare you's?" and "What do you mean's?" which put the politician clear to the bad. He dressed immediately, woke up the boy, dressed him in the smoking-room, and finished his trip in the day-car.

"What did the other passengers say in the morning?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, I told them that he was going to Kingston, and that satisfied them."

Strenuous Language.

"Speaking of strong language," said the stout porter with the well-trained moustache, "reminds me of a man I used to have on the car pretty often who swore in his sleep. And it was no muttering, either, but strong, loud conversation that for the first couple of times made all kinds of trouble for me with the other passengers. He was on railroad construction work, probably had to "talk up" quite a bit to his men; and the habit stuck to him day and night. I told him one morning what a row he had been making, and he wasn't offended, on the contrary, he said, 'Porter, if you ever hear me swear again, come to my berth and hold my nose. That is the only thing that will wake me. There is a dollar in it for you each time.' Sure enough, the next week he was up with me again, and about midnight he got going. I went to the berth and grabbed his nose, but for the first time and only time. He got excited, and when still half asleep handed me a punch on the jaw that loosened all my teeth. Of course, he apologized, and he gave me the dollar, but the punch was worth twice the money. The next week I went on a new route and I haven't seen the fellow since."

"What is the funniest incident you ever experienced in the business?" asked the anxious enquirer.

The long one smiled a reminiscent smile and delivered himself as follows "About two or three weeks ago there was a party of school teachers from the West on my car for Montreal. The most of them were ladies, and good looking ones, too, but there were two or three who were certainly more than 21 years old. One of them smuggled a small pup into the car by a hand bag, and as she went to bed almost immediately, I had no suspicion that everything was not all right. She managed to keep the little brute quiet, and so there was no way of finding out about him.

"About six o'clock in the morning she got up, and I went to make up the berth. On opening the curtains I saw a rough-haired pup, about as big as a pint of cider, mixed up with a 'switch' of false hair. He was having a lovely time, and was growling in a fierce undertone. About half of the hair was torn out of the switch, and was scattered all over the place, while the dog looked like 30 cents. While I was laughing, the woman returned, evidently for the false hair. She was worried all right, but she did the best she could with the switch, and begged me to let her keep the dog until we got to Montreal. She said she would reward me, and so as we were only a few miles from the city I gave in."

"How did she reward you?"

"She gave me ten cents," said the long porter, with a sour smile, as he took the valises of a fat drummer and pointed out his car.

The fat drummer was the advance guard of the late-comers, and the porters had to go to work.

If universal charity prevailed earth would be a heaven and hell a fable.

THE HAPPY LIFE.

How happy is he born and taught
That serveth not another's will,
Whose armor is his honest thought,
And simple truth his utmost skill!

Whose passions not his masters are,
Whose soul is still prepared for death,
Untied unto the worldly care
Of public fame or private breath!

Who envies none that chance doth raise,
Or vice; who never understood
How deepest wounds are given by praise,
Nor rules of state, but rules of good;

Who hath his life from humors freed,
Whose conscience is his strong retreat;
Whose state can neither flatterers feed,
Nor ruin make accusers great;

Who God doth late and early pray
More of His grace that gifts to lend;
And entertains the harmless day
With a well-chosen book or friend.

This man is freed from servile bands
Of hope to rise, or fear to fall—
Lord of himself, though not of lands,
And, having nothing, yet hath all.
—Sir Henry Wotten, 1856-1639.

Are Authors Still Hungry?

It is a fallacy to suppose that the day of the hungry author is of the past. The genus still exists. Often, doubtless, he is author because he is hungry, but the more serious case is to be met where he is hungry because he yearns to be author. Grub street has as many tenants as of old, has, indeed, overflowed its bounds in every direction. The inability nowadays to construct a story of some kind is a very rare piece of distinction, and too frequently the ability to do so makes grubs of many who might unfurl wings in more practical states of being. It is this large class of self appointed grubs that butters the bread of that modern product, the literary reader, who, by a strange anomaly, is apt to be something of a grub himself, with the added gift of discernment. So important a factor, indeed, in the success or nonsuccess of the struggling author is the official reader that it is through his eyes alone that an insight can be gained into the terra incognita lying between the submission of a manuscript and its final disposition.—Gunton's Magazine.

Iron Tree of Vienna.

Hardly the world over could there be found a tree which has come into more intimate connection with the youth desirous of success in life than the curious iron tree of Vienna. For in the old days, when it was the custom of every apprentice who had attained to some degree of proficiency in his trade to bid farewell to family and friends and set out on foot to seek his fortune, he went before leaving the city and drove a nail into this tree's trunk.

Should the nail then drive straight the act was regarded as especially ominous of success and that his road over difficulties would prove smooth, but when it bent or broke in the driving the face of the apprentice turned suddenly awry, he believing that either he would fail utterly in life or that success would only come to him late and through most difficult channels.

In the remnant of the tree that now remains so many nails have been driven that not a vestige of its original wood can be seen. Literally its surface is hard as nails.

Narrow Escape.

She—Of course he bored me awfully, but I don't think I showed it. Every time I yawned I just hid it with my hand.

SIR CUPID OF THE PURPLE HEART

By GRACE ROWAN

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

The fates selected Paul Harvey's devotion for his sister as their tool, and with it drove him straight to his doom.

His idolatrous affection for his tall, stately Virginia, who had "mothered" him ever since the death of their parents, made superstitious women shake their heads and his club friends smile. When Virginia married rich, easy going James Drew people said things would change and Paul would certainly marry and settle down, just as such an eligible person as he owed it to society to do.

But things did not change. Paul explained that Virginia's heart was roomy enough for them both, and while he dwelt nominally at his university club the real hearth fire continued to burn for him in Virginia's beautiful home.

And so it happened that when Virginia's second birthday after her marriage drew near the question of selecting a suitable gift for her exercised Paul's mind considerably more than the fate of certain stocks he had on the market. His broker was paid to look after his business. There was no one he would trust with the selection of Virginia's present.

To his bewildered brain it seemed as if there was nothing which she did not have. Then he remembered the dinner she was to give when a certain art connoisseur should arrive from Paris, and he decided that some unique decoration for her table should form his gift. Further, it should be orchids in some shape or form, for orchids of a peculiar pinkish lavender, with great purple hearts, were Virginia's hobby. This idea he carried to Mrs. Donnelly, a sympathetic friend whose fad was charity bazaars, and from her he obtained the address of a young woman who made silk candle shades of exceeding daintiness.

"But, my dear Paul," added Mrs. Donnelly, as she wrote the address on her card, "Miss Carr's prices will probably stagger you. She charges fearfully for those filmsy little things, but she gets her price and you must stand for it. You see, Mrs. Van Allen and her set have taken her up and she has all the orders she can fill."

Paul smiled as he slipped the card in his pocket. Compared to the pearls he had given Virginia last year, a couple of silk candle shades would be a mere bagatelle. But what pleased him and he knew would please Virginia was the personal thought the gift would carry. Virginia was absurdly sentimental for a woman 5 feet 10 who affected tailor made clothes.

And that is how Paul Harvey stood before the small, private entrance of the Carr flat one crisp January morning, with a bit of pasteboard in his irreproachably gloved fingers, the popular air of a new musical comedy on his lips and ignorance of impending danger in his heart. Then she opened the door, and he found himself clutching after a bit of pasteboard that was slipping from his fingers. The soft whistle died on his lips, and a peculiar something in the place where he had heretofore supposed his heart rested clicked out a danger signal.

He introduced himself, presented his friend's card and stated his errand, but all quite mechanically. His real self was asking itself the most absurd questions, such as whether copper colored hair like hers wasn't much more effective than Virginia's blond locks, and why a girl with a carriage like that was working for a lot of inconsiderate, snobbish women, instead of making some good, appreciative chap ridiculously happy.

He was so busy thinking this out that he was quite annoyed when, seated in the diminutive drawing room, he found himself face to face with a mass of "silk things" in many colors, shades of poppies, of roses, of violets, of chrysanthemums. He wondered if a flower grew that could hold the warm light of her wavy hair, or if ever a lily was of an ivory so pure as her face.

"Is there anything here you like?" she was saying, and he gripped hard on his cane.

"No; you see, Virginia goes in for orchids. She has such jolly good taste"—

"Yes," suggested the girl sympathetically.

"Her favorite is a purple with a deeper purple heart, and I want the shades just like her favorite flower."

"Well, shall we have a large shade hung with small orchid blossoms, or each shade a single bloom?"

"Bless me, I don't know. You look as if you knew best about that"— And he almost added "and everything else."

The girl was looking a bit perplexed. "If only I could see one of the flowers I could reproduce its tints very closely in silk."

Paul beamed.

"The very thing! I'll call a cab and we'll drive right down to Shoreley's. His orchids are the finest in town."

A deep flush spread over Sylvia Carr's face, but she said quietly and calmly:

"That is quite impossible. My mother is not well enough for me to leave her today."

But Paul was already groaning in spirit, "Cad that I am to think she is the sort to ride round in cabs with strange fellows," quite forgetting that he was an eligible in favor with all chaperons. Then his face brightened.

"I'll have some sent up, and please make a dozen shades. I forget how many candles she uses, but she must have plenty of light. And, by the way, you wouldn't mind if I dropped in occasionally to see how they are coming on? You know, Virginia is a jolly good sort, the best sister in the world, and—well, I rather think I take more pleasure in making her a gift than she does in receiving it. It's such good fun to think of how surprised and pleased she'll be."

Sylvia hesitated, then smiled.

"I will have some ready to show you by Friday."

And Paul realized that the interview was over.

An hour later Sylvia opened a florist's box and gave a cry of delight. Never had she seen such tints as met her gaze in the purple hearts of those orchids, and under the orchids were other blossoms, sweet scented and dewy.

"These for the mother who is not feeling so well today," read the card, but Sylvia put a white rose in her hair, and when, with one of the orchids in her hand, she started out to buy silk for the shades, she remarked inconsequently, "Of course it is absurd, but I'm glad they are for his sister, even if she is the Mrs. Drew who rolls by me in her carriage."

The shades were finished, barely in time for the birthday. Sylvia had never done more exquisite work, and now she hated to pack them one by one in their dainty nests of tissue paper, a perfect orchid each one of them, and when they saw the light once more it would be at a feast graced by clever men and beautiful women. But they would go out of her life forever. Something else would go out of her life, too—those pleasant little chats across her sewing table where Paul Harvey had watched the orchids grow. Yes, it was all true, this gossip, that Paul gave all his heart to his sister. But perhaps if a certain slump in stocks and an absconding cashier had not done their united worst for herself and her mother it might have been different.

And she closed the box sharply, tied the twine in hard knots and went out for a walk. She would not be home when the messenger called.

* * * * * * *

Mrs. James Drew was giving an "afternoon." The crowd was thinning out, and the hostess was standing in a small alcove with Mrs. Donnelly. Said the latter:

"My dear Virginia, I shall always feel that it was my fault. I sent your brother to Sylvia Carr for those miserable orchid shades and now"—

Virginia Drew smiled with lips that quivered just a trifle.

"And now my brother says he is the happiest man in the world. It is odd to see how composedly she meets the women for whom she once made german favors, but she has certainly been a success. Don't you think so?"

Mrs. Donnelly nodded her head, and they both glanced at the graceful figure, crowned with copper colored hair, crossing the room in a long trailing robe of softest gray. Virginia Drew stretched out her hand to touch a silken orchid which topped a silver candlestick.

"I shall keep them always, for in their great purple hearts is woven the love story of the dearest and best brother in the world."

A Strong Man

Is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from indigestion or some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man doesn't feel just right, when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous and irritable, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man needs to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, stimulates the liver, nourishes the nerves, and so gives health and strength to the whole body.

Mr. Thomas A. Swarts, of Sub. Station C, Columbus, Ohio, Box 103, writes: "I was taken very sick with severe headache, then cramps in the stomach and my food would not digest, then kidney and liver trouble and my back got weak so I could scarcely get around. The more I doctored the worse I got until six years passed. I could only walk in the house by the aid of a chair, and I had given up to die. Then one of my neighbors said, 'Take my advice and take Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and make a new man out of yourself.' The first bottle helped me and after I had taken eight bottles in about six weeks I was weighed and found I had gained twenty-seven (27) pounds, and I am as stout and healthy to-day, I think, as I ever was."

can always be depended upon to restore the system to its natural condition and keep you in good sound health. A gentle laxative it helps nature to rid the system of poisonous impurities, stimulates the liver and tones up the digestive organs.

London's Bridge Craze.

The bridge craze in London is again agitating society and club circles, and quite a revolt is rising among certain sections against the game. Archdeacon Sinclair waxes very fierce in his indictment of this game. "The present period," he says, "reminds one of the days of the Regency, when women of high position remained indoors throughout the day with the blinds down playing faro. I have recently heard of cases in which young girls started playing bridge on Sundays immediately after breakfast and continued playing all day. No man who is a man should allow his womankind to gamble and become in debt to other men. The consequences of such a state of affairs will not even bear discussion. The only way to check this growing evil is for women of really high position and high principle to form a league against playing bridge by women." A member of the Portland and Turf Clubs—who, although a devotee of bridge, regards with aversion the reckless gambling of fashionable women and would-be smart men—said: "Something must be done to check gambling, at any rate among women. Many men, myself among them, absolutely refuse to play bridge with women. Women have been known to stand up when they have lost three rubbers and hysterically accuse some unfortunate male player of cheating before a roomful of people." Several of the West End clubs have found it necessary to limit bridge gambling. The newly formed Atlantic Club, for example, has decided that not more than $2,500 a week will be booked to a single member. Points will be limited to 50 cents each, with a maximum of $50 on a game. These sums considerably exceed those allowed by other clubs, but the Atlantic's nickname of the "Millionaires' Club" explains why high play is allowed there. The weekly limit at the St. James's Club has been fixed at $1,500, and at the Bachelors' Club at $1,000, while the points of the game are limited to 25 cents at each club. No money changes hands during the games at these clubs. Each player employs a card-room cashier to keep accounts. If a loser does not pay his account by an appointed date he ceases to be a member. A development of the game is that interested persons sit behind a known skilful player and back his skill. A secretary of one of the clubs says that when a member is known to be an exceptionally good player, but is not rich or not rash enough to play heavy points, other members will carry him, that is, pay his points and draw a percentage of his winnings. Many a clever fellow, it is said, is making £3,000 a year in this manner without running any risk.

Ether Vibrations.

The effect of movements in the ether depends upon the rapidity of the vibrations producing them. The unit of measurement for short waves in the ether is the bicron, which is about one twenty-five millionth of an inch. Waves measuring 380 to 810 bicrons affect our sense of sight, the former number giving violet and the latter red color. The invisible rays, to which the actinic and Roentgen rays belong, are shorter and have been measured as short as 100 bicrons. Ether waves longer than those giving light give the feeling of warmth. The longest heat waves are eight times the length of those of the red rays, or one three hundred and fiftieth of an inch.

Chances are we will have a repetition of yesterday's market with manipulation in certain stocks to keep bullish sentiment alive and encourage feature of trading. The source of distribution of large buying orders yesterday are in the main a mystery. Mr. Keene was given credit for a good deal of activity but it is believed that Standard Oil people and Morgan have had more to do with bulling the market and advancing prices. Resumption of old tactics of concentrating of buying power attracted general attention and this very circumstance of itself caused many to take profits. Whether this movement is to force prices still higher in order to further revive confidence is the question everybody is asking. Many good judges think the short interest is pretty well driven in and the crowd is mostly long of stocks again and that is unfavourable.

Port Hope, Aug. 16.— Port Hope lost one of its most respected citizens to-day, when Mr. Frank Wood died at noon, in the 57th year of his age, after a lingering illness of over a year's duration. The deceased was the first principal of the Bradford Model School, which position he resigned 18 years ago to accept the headmastership of Port Hope Public Schools and the position of Principal of the Model School of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham. During his eighteen years of faithful service in this dual position, he established an enviable reputation throughout the Province for the institutions which he so successfully conducted, and by his high character won the esteem of the general public. The deceased was a leading member of St. John's Episcopal Church, and for many years superintendent of the Sunday School.—Globe.

REV. DR. SYMONDS TO THE DELEGATES

Vicar of Cathedral Preached Special Sermon.

COMMERCE AND RELIGION.

He Spoke of the Manner in Which the Two Were Allied to Each Other.

The Montreal Star gives a report of a sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Symonds, formerly of Peterborough, to the visiting delegates to the Congress, now in session in Montreal, of which the following is an abridged account:—

"The Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire was fittingly, though informally inaugurated on Sunday morning at Christ Church Cathedral, when the Rev. Herbert Symonds, D.D., vicar, preached an appropriate sermon on "Commerce and Invention as Allies of Christianity."

"Rarely has the Cathedral held a more influential congregation, and never possibly one that was more representative of the commercial supremacy of Great Britain, and of Greater Britain beyond the seas. Men were there from all parts of the Empire—from the Motherland, from South Africa and Australia, from India and China, from Trinidad and Basutoland, from every part of Canada, from New Zealand, from Egypt, from Ceylon, and the islands of the seas.

"When Dr. Symonds had announced his texts—Genesis 1: 28, and Revelations xxi: 26, he proceeded by saying that he would like on the occasion of the great commercial gathering that was to take place there during the coming week, a gathering fraught, it might be, with momentous issues for the Empire, to point out how commerce and invention, although they appeared to have no connection with what we called religion, and to deal solely with things that were material, might yet be the means to the accomplishment of some of religion's highest aims.

"Drawing attention to the first of the two texts he had chosen, "Be fruitful, and multiply and replenish the earth, and subdue it," he said that it was man's original charter and it set forth the divine intention for man. There could be no doubt, he remarked, that this age of ours is a very great one, both in commerce and inventions, probably the greatest the world has ever seen. It had been a scientic age, and science, like commerce, in the ordinary acceptation of the term, dealt with material things. By patient observation by repeated experiments, by the development of theory out of fact, nature's laws, which were the expression of God's will, had been discovered, and with every discovery man had advanced one step towards the completion of his work—the subjugation of this earth.

OF UNIVERSAL ACTIVITY.

It was true that the enterprise of the nineteenth century was not purely scientific or commercial. We might claim that it was a century of universal activity. In the spheres of literature, art and philanthrophy it was very great; but there could be no doubt that its ruling distinction was its scientific achievements and the development of commerce, the practical outcome of its inventions. He spoke of steam and electricity, and asked "How are these things allied to Christianity?" In answering that question, he remarked that we must not take any narrow standing ground. Christianity was something more than forms of worship, however, elaborate, however beautiful they might be. Worship was good so far as it elevated and inspired our lives, and creeds were good so long as they guided us into the way of truth. But worship and creed were only the means to an end, and that end, the perfect life.

Christianity, it had been said by one of the greatest living theologians, was not a question of doctrine being handed down by uniform repetition; it was a tion of life again and again kindled afresh, and now burning with a flame of its own. And looked at from this point of view, commerce and invention, just because they were in themselves a fulfilling of the divine design, were in the wide sense of the word Christian. They might be depraved; all things are liable to abuse. Christian worship had over and over again become formalism; Christian zeal had been generated into persecution and hideous cruelty. So might the development of the earth's resources be accompanied by dishonesty, with corruption, and with sinful selfishness. But commerce, as such was of the divine will, and commerce and invention were by themselves, apart from any other thought, the fulfillment of the divine purpose, and therefore Christian.

COMMERCE CHRISTIANITY'S ALLY.

There were other ways in which commerce was, more directly speaking, a very real ally to Christianity. The rapidity and ease with which we travelled all over the world tended to bring men of every race into closer and more frequent contact, and the result was the breaking down of irrational national prejudice. By this he meant the real thing, and not something that was oftentimes taken for it, namely, honest and strong conviction, which was good. Prejudice was the child of ignorance and of conceit. It was a sign not of culture, but of small minds to despise or ridicule in a foreigner every custom that differed from our own, and especially injurious to the spread of the Gospel was religious prejudice. Towards this breaking down of prejudice and attainment of a proper standard of comparison between truth and faith, and the acquisition of a fairer and more charitable mind of the good that is in all things, we must greatly acknowledge the indirect, but the very real service of commerce and invention.

He was painting the ceiling at the time of the accident, and stepped backward to observe the effect of his work and missing his footing and falling to the floor. Drs. Clarke and Collinson are in attendance but hold out no hopes of recovery. Mr. Brimmell is now lying at the point of death at his residence, Colborne street.—Globe.

Charlotte Street Methodist.

The Charlotte Street Church pulpit on Sunday was occupied by Rev. T. W. Legroot, of Lakefield, who preached two sermons, which were much appreciated. The musical service, too, was of an especial character and was very much enjoyed. In the morning Schillings "Oh, Joyful in the Lord" was sung. Mrs. Killin-Keough sang a solo, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" in a very pleasing manner. Mr. and Mrs. Killin-Keough sang during the offertory an unaccompanied duett, "O Mother, Dear, Jerusalem". At the evening service the music was an especially enjoyable feature, the anthem was "Hark, Hark, My Soul," by Shelley, and was rendered in a very effective manner. A solo during the offertory "Jesus and Shall it Ever Be," by Mr. Walter Stocker, was thoroughly appreciated. Mr. Stocker's rich bass voice was heard to good advantage in this solo.

A GATHERING OF EMPIRE-BUILDERS

Is That of the Congress of Chambers of Commerce.

Interview With Mr. D. W. Dumble, one of the Delegates From Peterborough.

Messrs. D. W. Dumble and Hampden Burnham, representing the Peterborough Board of Trade to the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, returned home last evening from Montreal, where the Congress is in session. In addition to the interesting letter sent to the Examiner by Mr. Dumble, he gave an interview this morning in which much valuable information was gleaned.

As this was a congress of Boards of Trade, a number of resolutions dealing with the trade of the Empire, were sent in by many of the Boards represented. These resolutions were submitted to a committee, and as many of the resolutions were dealing with the same subjects, those which were the most important were selected for discussion. The English delegates took part freely in the discussion, and, as it was a Congress in which the general good of the Empire was to be the chief object of the discussions, only those resolutions which had this for their object, were considered. The English delegates were men of large commercial interests and spoke plainly and intelligently on all the subjects under consideration. Of course they spoke from their own standpoint, while the Canadian delegates naturally spoke from a Canadian standpoint.

It is unfortunate that the Windsor Hall was selected as a place of meeting, as it is so constructed that it was almost impossible to hear the speakers if one was any distance from the front. The hall is about 150 feet by 70 feet, but the acoustics are so bad that very little of the addresse could be heard by the majority of the delegates. Commencing with the second day the position of the speakers was changed, but with but poor success. Of course to those who could not hear the whole proceedings was but a pantomime show. This situation was helped to a certain extent by the fact that the Montreal papers gave a full report of each speech, but to a great many the pleasure of the whole congress was marred by their inability to hear the excellent addresses.

The delegates were treated with great kindness. Mr. George E. Drummond and Mrs. Drummond gave a very enjoyable reception at their beautiful home to which all the delegates were invited. Lord Strathcona also is this afternoon throwing open his magnificent home which is filled with art treasures, to all delegates. The city of Montreal entertained the visitors in a very hospitable manner, and they were on all sides treated to a marked hospitality. For the most part though the interest of the delegates seemed to be centred in the Congress, and in the work they found their greatest pleasure.

The chief interest of Canadians attending the congress was centred in Lord Strathcona, who is beloved by all Canadians. Lord Brassey was also an interesting figure. His beautiful yacht is anchored in Montreal harbour and recalls to many minds the book written by the late Lady Brassey, a "Voyage in a Sunbeam," and also the fact that in the delirium of fever the talented lady threw herself overboard from the deck of the yacht and was drowned.

The delegates from Peterborough left earlier than they had expected by reason of the fact that no pleasure was experienced by them in sitting in a hall were addresses were being given which they could not hear and from which they could derive no benefit.

COLLISION AT SEA.

Empress of India Sinks a Chinese Cruiser Off Hong Kong.

SAVED 170 OF THE CREW.

The Chinese Captain and Thirteen of His Crew Lost—The C.P.R. Vessel Rescues the Remainder — The Chinaman Starboarded and Came Across the Bow of Empress of India and Is Lost.

Hong Kong, Aug. 19.—The C.P.R. steamer Empress of India (from Vancouver, B.C., July 27, for Hong Kong), collided near this port yesterday with the Chinese cruiser Hueng Tai. The warship sank an hour after the collision. The Huong Tai was a tender to the naval engineering college of the Southern Chinese squadron at Nanking. She was of 2,110 tons displacement, had a speed of 15 knots and carried 300 men. She was built in England in 1888. Her armament consisted of three 7-inch Krupp guns, seven 40-pounders, and six small rapid firing guns.

Official Statement.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 19.—The head office of the C.P.R. has issued the following official statement:

"At midnight Monday the Empress bound to Hong Kong, was passing the Chinese crusier, both vessels being on parallel courses and going in the same direction. When about up to the Chinese cruiser her captain suddenly and without any warning starboarded and came across the bow of the Empress, which at once manoeuvred into a position which resulted in the blow from the cruiser being a glancing one instead of a direct compact. The cruiser, in sliding aft along the mail steamer, did some damage to the upper works of the latter, but she herself was struck by the starboard propeller of the Empress, and sank in 90 minutes. One hundred and seventy-one of the cruiser's crew were saved by the Empress, but her captain and 13 others are missing, though they are supposed to have been picked up by junks.

MR. BORDEN'S POLICY.

Mr. Fitzpatrick Quotes Sir John Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper Against His Alternative Proposition.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—The leader of the Opposition yesterday, in a speech of two hours' duration, suggested an alternative to the scheme for a transcontinental railway submitted by the Government. He advocated the purchase of the Canada Atlantic Railway, the nationalization by purchase of the unprofitable section of the C.P.R. between North Bay and Port Arthur; the improvement of one or both the railways between that point and Winnipeg, and the acquisition of running rights over them, and the control of the Government railways by a commission. Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, who followed, asked what Mr. Borden's proposition would cost, and whether it would furnish any better solution of the problem than that presented by the Government. He quoted Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper against the alternative proposition and Lord Strathcona and Hon. Mr. Blair in favor of the Government's position. Mr. Fitzpatrick, in vigorous terms, protested against the insinuations by Hon. Mr. Blair against the motives of his colleagues, and challenged that gentleman to either make charges or recede from his position. Dr. Russell and Hon. John Costigan also participated in the debate.

APPROVED THE DAM.

Canadian Government May Construct One at the Galops.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The United States Secretary of War has approved the application for a permit for the construction of a dam in the St. Lawrence River at La Galops Island, which is being built by the Canadian Government, on the condition that no change in the level of the St. Lawrence River are affected by the construction of the dam. Congress granted authority for the dam, subject to the approval of the Secretary of War.

Will Massacre Christians.

Sofia, Bulgaria.—A reign of terror is reported to prevail at Uskub, where the Christian inhabitants are afraid to leave their houses. The Musulmans have resolved at a given signal to massacre the whole Christian population immediately the first insurgent band appears near Uskub. The Christians are terrorized. The Turkish troops, who are their only protection, do not show the slightest disposition to aid them.

Big Fire at Quebec.

Quebec, Aug. 19.—Last night fire broke out in the workshops of the Great Northern Railway. The structure soon fell a prey to the flames. The machine shop and several cars were consumed. The loss is between $60,000 and $70,000, fully covered by insurance. Pierre Giroux fell from the roof of his residence, from which he was endeavoring to view the fire and died almost immediately from a fractured skull.

Mr. James Ross Resigns.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—Mr. James Ross yesterday resigned from the Presidency and directorate of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company. All the other directors except Senator Cox, who was unable to be present, were in session at the time, and the resignation was accepted after some discussion.

Millions For Water.

While Curling Her Hair.

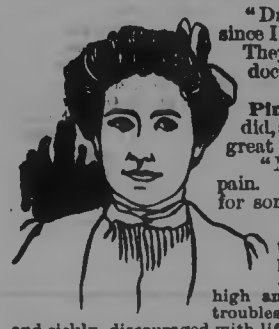
Miss Alice M. Smith, of Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering may be quickly and permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I run across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."—MISS ALICE M. SMITH, 804 Third Ave., South Minneapolis, Minn., Chairman Executive Committee Minneapolis Study Club.

Beauty and strength in women vanish early in life because of monthly pain or some menstrual irregularity. Many suffer silently and see their best gifts fade away. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women preserve roundness of form and freshness of face because it makes their entire female organism healthy. It carries women safely through the various natural crises and is the safeguard of woman's health.

The truth about this great medicine is told in the letters from women being published in this paper constantly.

Mrs. C. Kleinschrodt, Morrison, Ill., says:—



"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered ever since I was thirteen years of age with my menses. They were irregular and very painful. I doctored a great deal but received no benefit.

"A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and after taking a few bottles of it, I found great relief.

"Menstruation is now regular and without pain. I am enjoying better health than I have for sometime."

How is it possible for us to make it plainer that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will positively help all sick women? All women are constituted alike, rich and poor, high and low,—all suffer from the same organic troubles. Surely, no one can wish to remain weak and sickly, discouraged with life and no hope for the future, when proof is so unmistakable that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure monthly suffering—all womb and ovarian troubles, and all the ills peculiar to women.

$5000 FORFEIT If we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

THE CONGRESS OF COMMERCE.

(The Globe.)

The greatest thing about the Montreal Congress of representatives of Chambers of Commerce, is the Congress itself. It is important mainly for what it is, and not so much for what it says or does. Any opinions it may pronounce may or may not bring about important results, but the Congress itself is an important result of events and tendencies that have been for a long time acting as potent causes in a certain direction. The trend of these forces is Empire-ward, and in relation to the increasing solidarity of the British Empire the Congress is itself a cause as well as a consequence. It will give an impulse to the movement of which it is an outcome, and this irrespective of the wisdom or otherwise of its findings.

The Congress is made up of delegates from commercial bodies all over the Empire. The right to be so represented was for years limited to Chambers of Commerce in the United Kingdom, but at the last meeting held in 1900 in London, some Colonial bodies sent delegates, and these created an impression so favourable that it proved an easy task to induce the Chambers of Commerce in the mother Land to consent to a meeting this year in Canada Quite fittingly, Montreal was chosen as the place of meeting, and while the delegates are the guests of the whole Dominion they will be especially delighted with the entertainment provided for them in the commercial capital.

The transatlantic delegates may rest assured that the Canadian representatives are typical specimens of our Canadian business men, and that we have a great abundance of such men, who have made their way without adventitious aid from small beginnings to influential positions in their own localities. It would be too much to say that they represent correctly the opinions of their fellow-citizens, for there is no means of ascertaining what those opinions are; but they know what they believe and are adepts at explaining their views to others. Some interesting debates will take place during the session, not the less so because Mr. Chamberlain's political new departure has for the past few weeks kept the public on both sides of the Atlantic thinking much on the subject of trade within the Empire.

It is exactly in accordance with the feelings of all Canadians that the Congress has been opened by Lord Strathcona at Montreal. We are all proud of the distinguished peer who left Scotland in his boyhood, spent his early and middle life in the wilderness, and now holds a social and commercial position second to none of the assembled delegates. Whatever part he may see fit to take in the proceedings of the Congress will be found in strictest keeping with his already high reputation as a statesman and a man of affairs.

THE DOMINION ABROAD.

(The Globe.)

The Statist is one of the great financial journals of London, and its opinions are always ably and conservatively expressed. In a recent issue it has a long and carefully written article on Canada, containing a mass of accurately compiled statistical information and some interesting views of the economical and political future of the country, as they appear to a disinterested outside observer.

The steady and rapid increase of population through the census decades from 3,4335,761 in 1871 to 5,-371,315 in 1901 is noted, as is also the development of the country indicated by the 697,593 acres of Dominion lands homesteaded and purchased in 1893, and the 3,681,533 similarly taken up in 1902. This relatively great influx of settlers The Statist attributes to the practical demonstration of the fertility of the country, while its prosperity is due to the greatly increased purchases of Canadian produce by Great Britain and the United States.

It is needless to follow the Statist through its analysis of our commercial and industrial condition. Our future, it says, is one of much promise. The influx of settlers, not only from Europe, but from America, indicates that our agricultural production will in the next few years greatly increase. "Moreover, the steps that are now being taken to greatly extend the railway system of Canada will mear that the development of the country will be very rapid. If the new line from the Atlantic to the Pacific is constructed it will open out for settlement a vast new territory from one end of Canada to the other. It will be considerably over 3,000 miles in length, passing for the most part through hitherto undeveloped territory. That this country (Great Britain) will be willing to find the capital for the new line, provided that the terms of concession by the Canadian Government are sufficiently attractive, is unquestionable, and consequently there is every possibility that the growth of wealth and of population in Canada will in the next ten or twenty years be at a greater rate than it has ever previously been."

Speaking of the industrial development of this country, and of its great natural resources awaiting the application of capital, the Statist expresses the opinion that in course of time Canada will become almost as independent of foreign supplies of manufactured articles as the United States, but argues that, as her prosperity depends on the prosperity of the mother country, which is her best customer, the preference given to British manufacturers ought to be increased rather than deminished. As a matter of fact, it is not likely to be soon or greatly changed, the disposition here being to let well enough alone.

CANADA LEADS IN TRADE INCREASE.

Remarkable Showing in Statistics o Leading Countries of the World.

The Examiner has received from the Department of Trade and Commerce an interesting brochure of the latest figures in connection with Canada's great trade expansion, which is to be distributed to the delegates to the fifth triennial meeting of the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, which meets at Montreal this week.

An interesting feature contained therein is a statement showing Canada's percentage of increase of total trade, as compared with ten other principal countries. The basis of comparison is upon the last published figures for fiscal years. The Canadian and United States fiscal years end June 30, while all others end December 31.

For the past five years the percentage of increase has been as follows:

Canada	64.97
Italy	42.27
Argentine Republic	41.64
Japan	35.49
United States	32.39
Cape Colony	30.44
Germany	23.96
Great Britain	18.47
Belgium	18.11
Switzerland	16.14
France	14.54

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Happenings of Interest at Lakefield.

Miss Quigley, a nurse in training in St. Joseph's Hospital, London, is home spending her holidays with her parents in the village.

Miss Bates of Hampton is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. Finlay.

Mr. J. S. Madill of Napanee, who has been spending a few days at Lakefield and Stony Lake, returned to his home on Tuesday.

On Thursday a party of Government men came down to the village on the Empire after making a tour of inspection of the Trent Canal. They had dinner at the Craig House and then drove to Peterborough.

Mr. Gus Sawers paid a flying visit to the village on Thursday, renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Sawers is in charge of the construction of the lift lock at Kirkfield

Mr. Ed. Rathbone of Toronto, returned to that city on Saturday, after spending a couple of weeks with his sister, Mrs. J. H. Sherin, Regent street.

Mr. Herb Montgomery left on Monday for Hawkesbury, to spend a couple of weeks with his brother, Mr. Wm. Montgomery of that place.

Miss Cora Lightfoot is spending a couple of weeks with her mother in Peterborough.

A very interesting baseball match was played on the agricultural grounds on Saturday, Aug. 15th, when a local team, which was gathered from the highways and byways, and compelled to play, met the Earskinites from Peterborough. Although the local men met with a slight defeat, they showed that all they wanted was a little practice to defeat all comers. Some of the features of the game were Mr. Clare Bravender's brilliant twirling of the ball, which baffled the visitors in their frantic attempts to make a hit, and Mr. McKenzie's star outfielding.

Mr. Sidney Hunter, who has been visiting in Winnipeg, and other points in the west, arrived home on Friday, looking much better for the outing.

Quite a number of the young farmers from this district took advantage of the cheap excursion on Monday for the west.

Mrs. and Miss Graham of Toronto, are the guests of Mr. Robert Graham for a couple of weeek.

Mrs. George Baptie and family, who have been visiting at Stirling for some time, arrived home on Monday.

Mrs. Chas. Pentz and Miss Gordon left on Monday for Winnipeg.

Rev. Mr. McCallum, of Toronto, who is summering at his cottage at Lovesick Lake, took charge of the services in the church of England here last Sunday.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Official Bulletin on Crops of Ontario Was Compiled.

FARMERS' FAIR PROSPECTS.

Exhaustive and Interesting Report of the Grain Crops—In Some Instances There Were Enormous Yields of Grain—The Root Crops Patchy, While Apples Are Not Up to the Average.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—The following report concerning the crops of the Province has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and deals with conditions as described by regular correspondents of the Bureau of Industries under date of the 1st of August. It is based on the returns of over 2,000 correspondents:

Fall Wheat.

Much of the fall wheat just harvested was sown a week or two later than usual, owing to the rainy weather prevailing in the early part of last fall, but this does not seem to have had any bad effect upon the general character of the crop. There was but little injury by winter-killing, and very little was plowed up in the spring. April was not favorable to the growth of the young wheat, but during the summer the crop picked up to such an extent that it turned out to be one of the best crops yet recorded in the Province, both as to yield and quality. While some returns fall short of an average, several instances are given where the crop range from 40 to 50 bushels per acre, and samples are reported going fully 63 pounds to the bushel. Much of the straw is shorter than usual, but bright. Owing to heavy rains in July some of the wheat lodged and sprouted, but not in sufficient proportion to be a serious drawback. The Hessian fly was reported in several counties, but only to a slight extent compared with recent years. The injury from other insects, and from rust and smut, has been but trifling, and this may also be said of the grain crops. A few complaints have been made of depredations of sparrows in wheat and other cereals. The cutting of fall wheat ranged from the 10th to the 30th of July, according to locality, although at the later date the greater part of the crop was in the barn.

Spring Wheat.

The harvesting of all spring grains this year is about a week or so later than usual, and the cutting of spring wheat was expected during the first and second weeks of August. Like fall wheat, the crop suffered from drouth in the spring, but pulled up with the more favorable weather prevailing later. While rather thin on the ground in places, the heads are well filled, the grain is plump, and the average yield will be a fairly large one. There was but slight injury from insect or other pests.

Barley.

A large acreage and a big yield fairly describes this crop. Cutting began about the 20th July, and was expected to run a week into August. While some barley had lodged and was discolored by rain, the bulk of the crop is of the choicest quality, both in color and weight, while the average yield is one of the most generous yet reported. Most of the barley grown in Ontario is now fed to live stock on the farm, being substituted largely for peas since the latter crop has been suffering from the weevil. There was but little injury to the crop from any other source but rain.

Oats.

While a few correspondents writing on the 1st of August reported the cutting of oats, most of the crop had yet to ripen, and harvesting was likely to continue for a couple of weeks yet. The yield will be large, and the quality of the grain good. As in the case of fall wheat and barley, some individual yields will be immense. The straw is comparatively short, but otherwise of fair quality, but there has been considerable lodging owing to heavy rains during the past week or two. Rust and smut are complained of in a few localities, but only to a slight extent even then.

Rye.

Comparatively little rye is now raised for the grain, much of that which is sown being either cut green or plowed under. The crop has been a most uneven one this season, both as to yield and quality. The season of harvesting rye ranged from the middle to the end of July.

Peas.

It is difficult to sum up the exact situation regarding peas, owing to the fact that for the past two or three years the flat or grass pea has been largely substituted for the common round field pea on account of the depredations of the pea weevil or "bug," and that this year a number of farmers have returned to the latter variety. While complaints are yet too frequent concerning the presence of the weevil, it would seem as if peas have been comparatively successful where grown, some correspondents, indeed, being quite enthusiastic over the prospects of the crop. There has also been a great growth of straw owing to frequent rains, but some mildew is reported. Some early fancy peas have been already cut, but ordinary field peas were not expected to be harvested for a week or two. While the acreage of peas is still small compared with that of a few years ago, the general outlook for the crop is more encouraging than for the past two years.

Beans.

The growing of field beans is confined mainly to Kent and adjacent counties in the Lake Erie district. There has been a great growth of stalk, the plants have blossomed profusely, and the prospects at present are most favorable for a more than average yield when the crop is gathered in the first or second week of September. In many instances beans were planted late, but aside from the effects of heavy rains in low places there has been but little complaint.

Hay and Clover.

April was too cold and dry for clover, and this, together with the drouth which prevailed in May, gave the crop a very poor start. Rains in the latter part of June and in the early portion of July, however, brought most meadows along in remarkably good form, with the result that the yield of hay will be about an average, although individual returns will range from ½ to 3 tons per acre. Timothy has done much better than clover this year, and new meadows, as a rule, have been much ahead of old fields. The weather was very "catchy" during haying, and a part of the crop was caught by rain; nevertheless there has been a much larger proportion of first-class hay saved than was the case last season. Some of the hay had to be cut late on account of the scarcity of farm labor and the coming in of the fall wheat harvest, although the use of hay-loaders and other special appliances helped many farmers out. A few correspondents speak of lucerne as increasing in favor. Clover cutting began about the 4th of June, and timothy was a week or two later.

Corn.

This appears to be a very uneven crop this year. It was so dry at the time of planting that much of the seed failed to germinate, which made considerable replanting necessary. A number of correspondents also complain of the poor quality of the seed apart from weather conditions. Crows and blackbirds were unusually troublesome when the plants had just sprouted, and cold, wet weather later on told against the growth of the crop. Notwithstanding all these drawbacks many correspondents are of opinion that with favorable weather during the remainder of the season a fair yield will be recorded. Fodder corns were considered to be in a relatively better condition than those varieties raised for grain.

Tobacco.

Most of the tobacco raised in the Province is grown in the counties of Essex and Kent in the west, and in Prescott and Russell in the east. Correspondents do not report very fully concerning this crop, but western returns were to the effect that it was rather backward owing to the late planting and cold, wet weather, although otherwise looking well. The reports from eastern Ontario were rather more favorable as to general condition, but it was stated that some replanting had to be done on account of drouth. The interest in tobacco growing appears to be less than during the past two or three years.

Potatoes.

As correspondents wrote on the 1st of August potatoes promised to be one of the best yields for years, more or less favorable accounts coming from nearly every county in the Province. The only fear expressed was that should the rainy weather continue, there would be danger of a loss from rot. At the time of writing, however, only a few cases of rot were reported, and these appeared to be of a local character. A number of the returns spoke of bugs being very plentiful, doubtless owing to the frequent rains washing off the applications of Paris green.

Roots.

Reports concerning mangels vary very much, for while some of the returns speak of the crop as being in good condition, a large number describe it as thin and patchy in places, owing to the dry weather which prevailed at seeding interfering with germination. In various parts of the Province some of the mangels had to be plowed up. Turnips have done much better, and promise to be a large crop. Hardly any mention was made of carrots, and reference to sugar beets were to the effect that the crop was rather backward, and hardly up to the average for the time of year. However, all classes of roots have still a considerable period before them in which to make further growth.

Fruit.

Taking the western half of the Province as a whole, apples are not up to the average, either in yield or quality, but most of the reports from counties extending from York to Grenville speak favorably of this fruit in both respects. Some correspondents claim that the greatest injury was from frost during the period of blossom. Winter apples will be relatively scarcer that the earlier sorts. Considerable scab has been reported where the trees were not sprayed, but complaints have been less than usual concerning wormy fruit. Blight among apple trees is reported in several districts. While a few correspondents speak well of the prospects for pears, most of the returns do not favor a large, or even an average yield. Plums, however, have had a most favorable season for bearing, and where sprayed have yielded generously, but where neglected much injury was wrought by the curculio causing young fruit to drop from the tree. A few complaints have also been received of plums rotting. In most quarters where grown, peaches are yielding well, more especially the later varieties. Cherries give from a fair to a light yield, and, like plums, have suffered somewhat from black-rot. Grapes will be a medium crop should favorable weather continue until ripening. Strawberries, raspberries, and other small fruits have been more or less abundant.

Pastures and Live Stock.

The early part of the season was most unpromising for pastures, being so dry and cold, but frequent rains later on brought meadows into the very best condition, generally speaking. Live stock are in correspondingly good trim, having suffered from little but the horn fly, which, however, appeared later in the season than usual. The flow of milk has been large, and there will be a large supply of dairy products. Farmers supplying cheese factories appear to be more satisfied with results this year than those in the butter line. There is every prospect of an abundance of all kinds of fodder for fall and winter keep.

Bees and Honey.

The season has been a favorable one for the apiary. Bees swarmed freely, and there has been an abundance of nectar in both field and forest, more especially in the case of white clover, which was more or less in bloom all summer. The yields reported range from 25 to 100 pounds per colony, but the average for the Province will be about 55 pounds, spring count. Little or no disease has been reported among bees, and at last accounts they were said to be in a thrifty condition.

Farm Labor and Wages.

Full crops and the migration of farmers' sons to New Ontario and to Manitoba and the Northwest, created a demand for farm laborers in Ontario that could not be met during the rush of summer operations. Several correspondents refer to the influx of British immigrants as having relieved the situation to some extent; for while a number of these, having had no previous experience in agricultural work, were a sore disappointment, many of them have given good satisfaction. Wages during harvesting ranged from $1.25 to $2 a day according to locality, the skill of the worker, and the urgency of the demand for help, the average rate being about $1.50 with board. Monthly wages ran all the way from $20 to $40, and in a few cases as high as $45, the prevailing quotations being from $25 to $30, with board While many farmers were undoubtedly hard pushed for a while during harvest, the plan of interchanging labor proved to be of great assistance in some cases, and improved machinery is also mentioned as having been of much help in meeting the rush of work. On account of the scarcity and comparatively high price of labor, a number of farmers are considerably behind in their work, and others have had to let intended building improvements lie over from the same cause.

Field Crop Forecast.

The following table gives the area and estimated yields of the principal crops in Ontario for the year 1903. The forecast of August 1st is based on returns from 2,000 special correspondents:

SUFFERED 25 YEARS

With Catarrh of the Stomach—Pe-ru-na Cured.

Congressman Botkin, of Winfield, Kan.

In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Botkin says:

"My Dear Doctor—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Peruna and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure."—J. D. Botkin.

Mr. L. F. Verdery, a prominent real estate agent, of Augusta, Ga., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from catarrhal dyspepsia. I tried many physicians, visited a good many springs, but I believe Peruna has done more for me than all of the above put together. I feel like a new person."—L. F. Verdery.

The most common form of summer catarrh is catarrh of the stomach. This is generally known as dyspepsia. Peruna cures these cases like magic.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advise gratis.

CIVIC HOLIDAY OUTINGS TO-MORROW

List of Excursions Booked for the Occasion.

Something That Will Appeal to Every Taste.

It seems to be generally conceded that on Civic Holiday the proper way to celebrate is by taking a trip out of town, and for those who wish to spend to-morrow in the orthodox fashion, there is an especially attractive list of excursions, from which to select one best suited to one's inclination. Each trip advertised presents some peculiar advantage which commends it, and those who are undecided as to how to spend the day may select anyone of the numerous excursions and enjoy the outing.

OTONABEE LODGE—ROCHESTER.

Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., has established an annual custom of running an excursion to Summerville, N.Y., the port of Rochester, the "Flower City," and this year, as usthe trip will be taken, and under the same efficient management as that of former years it is bound to be a success. The sail across Lake Ontario will be taken on the steamer "North King," and for those who wish to lengthen out the trip three days will be allowed. Train leaves Peterborough at 11.45 a.m.

PETERBOROUGH LODGE—LINDSAY.

A trip in the opposite direction has been arranged by Peterborough Lodge I.O.O.F., and it will be one of the most interesting and pleasant trips of the day. T. R. station at 7.45 a.m.

K.O.T.M.—ORILLIA.

Orillia will be visited by the K.O. T.M. and their friends, and the indications are that the trip will be participated in by a large number. A special attraction at the objective point will be a lacrosse match between the Orillia Intermediates and St. Peter's T.A.S. of Peterborough. The journey will be made by G.T.R., leaving here at 7.30 a.m.

COURT LITTLEJOHN — NIAGARA FALLS.

An excursion, which has always in the past attracted a large number, is that to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, arranged by Court Littlejohn, C.O.F. The journey from Peterborough will this year be made by the G.T.R., which will give a change, as it has usually been over the C.P.R. From Toronto the palatial steamers of the Niagara River Line will convey the excursionists to the picturesque and historic spot, Queenston, where a change will be made to the electric cars of the Niagara Falls Park and River Railway's Whirlpool Route. Those who wish, may go on to Buffalo, and in order that the places of interest may be thoroughly enjoyed stop-over privileges will be given. Special train leaves G.T.R. station at 7.10 a. m.

EPWORTH LEAGUE—BURLEIGH FALLS.

The Epworth League of the George street church with its usual enterprise, has arranged for an outing which will doubtless appeal to many as being an ideal way to spend the holiday. They will leave by 'bus at eight o'clock in the morning for Chemong, where the steamer "Ogemah" will be in waiting to convey the party to Burleigh Falls, where dinner will be partaken of, and and hour or two allowed in which to enjoy the beauties of nature at that point. The return trip will be made in the afternoon to Chemong and the conveyances will leave there in the evening for town, giving a pleasant evening drive. The young people are confident that the trip arrangead by them will prove to be a very enjoyable one.

MACHINISTS—IDYL WYLD.

The local lodge of the Machinists' Union is fortunate in having at its head a president who is a "pusher," and, in his efforts to arrange an enjoyable outing under the auspices of the Union he has received the united support of the members of the union. The excursion arranged by them is one to Idyl Wyld by the popular steamer City of Peterborough, and Mr. Wright, the president, and chairman of the committee, states that the prospects are good for a record crowd. The Band of the 57th Regiment will accompany this excursion, and in addition a splendid programme of sports will be run off at the pretty summer resort on Rice Lake. For those who enjoy dancing, special provisions will be made, both as regards music and space accommodations, and altogether this promises to be a highly enjoyable event. Steamer leaves wharf at 8 a.m.

ST. PETER'S C.O.F.—STONY LAKE.

Stony Lake, which is always a popular resort at this season, will be visited by St. Peter's Court, C.O.F. The trip will be taken by the regular G.T.R. train leaving here at 8.30 and steamer Majestic and palace barge will be the mediums used to convey the party to McCracken's Landing, where a stop will be made for dinner, returning by the regular train in the evening, reaching here shortly after dark.

There will also be numerous private pic-nics participated in by those who do not care to take a longer journey, but it is pretty safe to say that very few will be left in town tomorrow with such an attractive list of excursions to the numerous interesting points. The only thing remaining to make the day a thoroughly enjoyable one is good weather.

My! but it Tastes Nasty!

That warm and tasteless, hydrant water. Give us Batten's well water any day before such mawkish sickening stuff. "Put ice in it." Worse and worse. It's only safe with equal parts of Henry's good old rye whiskey or brandy. But for a cool, refreshing and wholesome summer drink, use our fine light claret or domestic wines, or a bottle of good pure lime juice, which purifies the water and is very beneficial in cases of rheumatism or blood impurties. The quarter was trotted in 33 1-4, and the 3-4 in 1.40 1-4.

An efficient committee is in charge and everything possible is being done for the accommodation of those who take in the trip. Tickets at Lynch's drug store or from members of the committee. POLICE COURT

Two Men Were up Charged With Vagrancy.

John Dunn and Timothy Fobert were in the prisoners' dock this morning charged with vagrancy.

"This man," said the Chief, pointing to Dunn, "has been bumming for more than a month. I've repeatedly told him to clear out of town." He was fined $2 with the option of 15 days in gaol. Mr. Dumble sternly informed him that should he again appear in Court he would be sent to the Central Prison.

The information laid against Timothy Fobert stated that he had no visible means of support. This was an error, however, as Fobert brought a 15-foot fishing rod into court with him. Notwithstanding Tim's three score and eighteen years he is a great scavenger and gives material assistance in clearing the streets of all the rubbish he can find. The Magistrate allowed him to go with a severe warning.

Meals also served on board. Tickets, adults $1.20, children, 60c, which may be secured from committee to save the rush at station.

MR. D. W. DUMBLE AT THE CONGRESS.

Describes Some of the Chief Characters at the Meeting.

Lord Strathcona is a Man Beloved by his Countrymen—Resolutions Presented to the Congress.

A second interesting letter from Mr. D. W. Dumble has been received and is published below :—

Montreal, 8 p.m.

The first sitting of the fifth Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire was held this morning, and after the addresses of Lord Strathcona and Lord Brassey, Mr. Darling, representing the Montreal Board of Trade, introduced a resolution asserting the duty of the Colonies to bear part of the expense of maintaining the Army and Navy of the Empire. An amendment was moved by Mr. Masson, representing the Montreal Chamber of Commerce—which is the Board of Trade of the French people, of Montreal. Mr. Masson's resolution asserted loyalty and willingness to assist, but not by methods that would become obligatory. Asserting that a bond of unity of spirit would secure the desired help from the Colonies in time of need, as it did in the South African war. Col. Dennison, of Toronto, by a happy suggestion got both to agree to the main resolution, but leaving it free to Canada to help in her own way. This was carried with cheers and God Save the King.

Lord Strathcona is a dignified old man, tall, bald on top, heavy bushy white eyebrows, hair and side whiskers, a typical, long, Scotch head. He is about 80 years of age, but pretty hale for such a hard worker. He was Sir Donald Smith, chief factor of the Hudson Bay Company, and one of the builders of the C.P.R. He has faithfully served Canada and is much beloved throughout the Dominion for his patriotism in raising the Strathcona Horse and for his able service as High Commissioner for Canada in London. He entertains the Board of Trade delegates at a garden party to-morrow, at his splendid Montreal home.

Lord Brassey is an aged man, but lusty and hearty, he delivered his address in the tone of an Anglican clergyman, but with much vigour. Unfortunately the accoustic properties of the great hall at the Windsor were so bad that only a few near him could catch his words. However, he was very well received and made a good address. He is president of the London Chamber of Commerce.

It is intended to continue the Sessions four days, after which the foreign delegates will be sent over the country in trips that involve 10,166 miles of travel, and which will give them a fair knowledge of this great Dominion. It will take them some time to get over the whir of movement and settle down to ordinary ways. Much good must come from the thorough inspection of our country by so many men of ability and standing.

We had the pleasure of meeting our old friends, Andrew Mercer and Mr. Taylor, formerly of the Bank of Montreal, now an inspector of the Bank, both look well and are apparently happy.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of seasons affects pianos as well as everything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with twenty-eight years' experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

HON. A. G. BLAIR.

When a man who has been a score of years in the occupancy of a high public position as a Provincial Premier and member of a Government, abruptly leaves the Government and practically turns his back upon the party he has been actively associated with a quarter of a century, his attitude and motives become fair subjects for consideration. Hon. Mr. Blair's sudden decision to retire from the Cabinet at a time when the Government was confronted with the consideration of one of the most important projects ever presented to the country, suggests the action of the Hon. Geo. E. Foster, who with his fellow conspirators, bolted and left their leader in the lurch at a time of crisis. The cases may not be exactly parallel in detail, for Hon. Mr. Blair claims in effect that his course differs from that of Mr. Foster and his collegues in that Mr. Blair's motive was patriotic. He claims that no personal difference with his colleagues to whom relations were cordial, influenced his decision, but that a lofty sense of duty prompted him to take the step he did take. In his statement in the House he declared that his resignation was not due to any difference of opinion, with the majority of his colleagues as regards the advisability of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway project, but in the matter of details only, and that otherwise he was in accord with the general policy of the Government. His statement that he desired more definite information regarding the route, etc., is a key to a phrase of his character, which makes him an undesirable member of an enterprising and progressive Government. He does not possess the balanced optimism which differentiates the statesman from the mere administrator and politician. While caution is at all times desirable, there are crises in the history of a country when the spirit of venture is justifiable. No country would be what it is to-day if its statesmen had always waited for a demonstrated credit balance before acting. There are times when to adventure a great deal for the sake of undeniably great results, is perfectly justifiable, wise and praiseworthy. Hon. Mr. Blair is too much of a pessimist, to be patriotic. He claims that patriotic motives influenced his resignation. While his course, at first, may have, to some extent, justified this action, yet his speech in the House on the railway bill, shows that he is not so much a patriot as a pessimist. His treatment of the resources of the country through which the proposed railway is to pass, were needlessly depreciative, and would be much more consistent in an avowed enemy of the country, than in a professed patriot. While at one time declaring his amicable relations with his colleagues, and his patriotic motives, his speech in the House had a vindictiveness, bitterness of tone, and hostility to the Government, which would be surprising coming from a courteous Opposition member. We must therefore look elsewhere for Hon. Mr. Blair's motives. Is it unfair to assume that he has chafed in harness ever since he entered the Cabinet? A man accustomed to the premier position for over a dozen years in the sphere of parochial politics, may have found it distasteful to occupy a position subordinate to even so distinguished a leader as Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and while his general administration of his department may have been tolerated, his disposition to become a brake on the wheels of progress at a crucial point in the country's history, was more than could be borne; and a recognition of this fact may have precipated the resolution to retire from a subordinate position distasteful to the ambition of a man so many years accustomed to command, rather than serve.

Hon. Mr. Blair's unprogressive attitude on the railway project characterized some features of his administration policy. We in this district have no very great reason to remember Hon. Mr. Blair with gratitude, or to regret his retirement. His lack of foresight led him to under-rate the importance of the Trent Valley Canal, as he failed in appreciation of the importance and indispensability of another transcontinental railway. With no desire to minimize the value of Hon. Mr. Blair's services as an administrator, it must be apparent that he lacks the initiative, the foresight, and the faith in the resources and the future of the country necessary to the bearer of the portfolio of Railways and Canals, and circumstances will no doubt demonstrate that Sir Wilfrid Laurier did a proper thing when he accepted the resignation of Hon. Mr. Blair as well as Hon. MrTarte, and that he has done so without any impairment of the strength of his Government or any diminution of his reputation as a wise and resourceful statesman.

A meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held this morning in the Council Chamber at 10.30 o'clock, at which 6,071 boxes were boarded.

The following buyers were present: Messrs. Gillespie, Kerr, Fitzgerald, Cook, Whitton, Rollins and Wrighton.

The following factories were represented and boarded as follows:

Buckhorn	185
Brickley	50
Shamrock	60
Apsley	75
Percy	200
South Burleigh	60
Dartford	170
	6,071

The bidding was opened at 9 1-2 cents by Mr. Kerr, who was followed by Mr. Rollins at 9 3-4. Mr. Kerr called 9 13-16 and Mr. Rollins went 1-8 higher, bringing the price up to 9 15-16. Mr. Wrighton jumped to 10 cents and Mr. Whitton went 1-8 higher. Mr. Fitzgerald called 10 1-4, Mr. Rollins succeeded with 10 5-16, Mr. Whitton offered 3-8 and Mr. Rollins at last topped the bids by calling 10 7-16 cents. He made the following selection:—Warminster, North Smith, Warsaw, Pine Grove, Maple Leaf, Young's Point, North Dummer, Ballyduff, Cedardale, Stony Lake, South Burleigh, Shamrock, Apsley, Keene, Central Smith, East Emily, (Belleville inspection) Shearer. All of these accepted.

Mr. Whitton then offered 10 1-2 and called Westwood, Villiers, Melrose Abbey, Myrtle, Ormonde, Percy, Dartford, Brickley, Cavanville.

Mr. Whitton tried further at 7-16 but Mr. Wrighton offered 10 1-2. He called Buckhorn, Benefort, Fraserville, Indian River, Peterborough, Treewern.

On Mr. Wrighton stating that he had made all his choice Mr. Whitton got his chance and offered 10 7-16. He called Laing and Fleetwood.

At 10 7-16 Mr. Rollins called Oakdale, Lakefield. He offered Missing Link, Otonabee Union and Mount Pleasant 10 3-8, but these refused.

Otonabee Union sold later to Mr Rollins at 10 7-16.

Mr. Whitton took Mount Pleasant at 10 7-16. Missing Link remained unsold.

At the conclusion of the sales several gentlemen spoke on the necessity of more boxes, cheese makers stating that boxes were very scarce. Mr. Cooke remarked that the matter had better be settled now while the question was before the Board.

The president remarked that every cheesemaker should guarantee the box makers the money for he felt assured the box makers would fulfill their part of the contract and supply the boxes. After this he suggested that the names of Messrs. Anderson, Fitzgerald and Crowe be also added to the committee appointed to ask the Eastern Dairymen's Association to hold their next meeting in Peterborough.

The remarks implying a cause for the scarcity of cheese boxes is not the real one; it is explained that the difficulty of procuring labour is the cause of the scarcity of boxes.

The secretary suggested that the committee meet after the meeting to arrange final details. He also asked all the cheese-makers to give him their names and post office addresses.

It was resolved that the Board adjourn for two weeks and offer ten days' cheese for sale. The meeting will be held at 10 o'clock sharp.

DOWAGER DUCHESS OF ABERCORN.

Lady Recently Celebrated Her 91st Birthday at Montague House, Whitehall.

A very interesting member of the aristocracy is the Dowager Duchess of Abercorn, who celebrated her 91st birthday at Montagu house, Whitehall, on the 8th of July last. Her birthday party was a remarkable one. Her grace has 205 direct descendants, and of these no less than 146 attended to offer congratulations to their venerable relative. They represented four generations—children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and even great-great-grandchildren. One of the incidents of the day was the photographghing of the

DOWAGER DUCHESS OF ABERCORN.

Duchess and her nearest relatives. They all assembled on the terrace steps at Montagu house, many carrying bouquets of choice flowers. Her grace was, of course, the central figure, and the youngest member of the party was the nine-months' old daughter of Mr. Claud Lambton, who is called "Baby Angela." The Dowager Duchess of Abercorn has had fourteen children, of whom ten survive—namely, the present Duke of Abercorn, Lords Claud, George Frederic, and Ernest Hamilton, Harriet, Countess of Lichfield, the Duchess of Buccleuch, the Countess of Wintarton, Albertha, Duchess of Marlborough, and the Marchioness of Lansdowne. Among the survivors of her 65 grandchildren are the Duke of Marlborough, the Duchess of Leeds, the Marchioness of Waterford, the Earl of Lichfield, the Earl of Durham, the Countesses of Pembroke and Wicklow, the Marquis of Hamilton, M.P., Lady Eleanor Cecil, the Earl of Dalkeith, Viscount Valketort, Lady Algernon Percy, Lady Edith St. Aubyn, Viscount Turnour, Lady Frances Gresley, Lady Lilian Grenfell, the Earl of Kerry, Lady Evelyn Cavendish, and Rear-Admiral the Hon. Hedworth Lambton. Most of these were present at the birthday party. There was also a host of great-grandchildren, including the Marquis of Landford, and the husbands and wives of many of the direct descendants, the Earl of Mount-Edgcumbe, son-in-law of the Dowager Duchess. A garden party was given at Montagu house in the afternoon, and a family dinner in the evening concluded the birthday celebrations.

CURED LONG AGO BUT STILL CURED.

S. Kernohan's Incurable Disease Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Five Doctors Agreed There was no Hope for Him, but he has Been Strong and Well for Years.

Gelert, Ont., Aug. 17th. — (Special) —The wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills published almost daily, recall the case of Samuel Kernohan, of this place. It is years now since he was cured but as he is still cured it is well worth recalling the facts, and Mr. Keronhan delights to relate them.

"Some time in December, 1893," he says, "I was taken ill and laid up for fourteen months. During my confinement to my house and to my bed, I was attended at various times by five doctors. Three of them decided that my case was incurable, Floating Kidney, and two of them that it was spinal disease. All agreed on one thing—that my case was incurable.

"When my money was all gone, as a matter of necessity and as my last hope, I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had ony taken three boxes when I was able to walk about. I took in all eighteen boxes, when I was entirely cured and quite able to work.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best friend I ever found."

Medical Perils.

In Baluchistan when a physician gives a dose he is expected to partake of a similar one himself as a guarantee of his good faith. Should the patient die under his hands the relatives, though they rarely exercise it, have the right of putting him to death unless a special agreement has been made freeing him from all responsibility as to consequences, while if they should decide upon immolating him he is fully expected to yield to his fate like a man.

Willing to Compromise.

Mamma—Oh, you bad boy! Where have you been all this time? Don't you think you should be ashamed to worry your mother so?

The Boy—Well, ma, I'm willin' to be ashamed that I worried you if you'll promise not to tell pa anything that 'll worry me.

Physicians and Hospitals.

During the past twenty years, millions of bottles of Angier's Petroleum Emulsion have been sold, and nearly all upon doctors' prescriptions. It is also extensively used in hospitals, especially for consumption, and wasting diseases of children. A good reason why you should use it.

Thought Bulbs.

(A travesty of "Garden" books.)

One of the most helpful and inspiring of the year's garden books is "Thought Bulbs," by Gardenia Smart Weed, author of "Soul Wistaria," "Gardens I Have Thought In," etc. It is divided into four chapters, corresponding to the four moods of the author—Spring, Summer, Autumn, Winter. Thus, in the opening chapter there is a freshness of fancy and a verdancy of idea that suggest the annual mystery of Nature's resurrection. Here, then, are a few leaves from SPRING.

How I love a garden! Oh, I just love it! What a sanctuary in which to commune with one's soul! I can conceive of a garden without a house—there was none in the Garden of Eden; but a house without a garden—to me it is unthinkable.

Yet think of the number of people in the world that have no gardens, who do not know Delphinium formosum from Narcissus poeticus or Specium rubrum! Think of an existence without sun-dials, box-edgings and pergola! A gardenless life! Can anything be sadder?

I was wondering to-day, while caressing a Rhododendron maximum, why it is I have affinity for one flower and indifference for another. Why do I confess a passion for Viola blanda, while Heracleum lanatum leaves me cold? Do flowers have souls? The eye, 'tis said, is the window of the soul; potatoes have eyes, therefore potatoes have souls. (Yet scoffers say a woman cannot think logically.) And if the lowly potato has a soul, surely Narcissus poeticus is not without one.

"How wonderful is spring!" I thought to-day. "How symbolical it is of resurrection after death!" I wonder if that idea ever occurred to anyone else. I do hope not. I should like to have it for my very own.

Gardening is not learned in a day. You must expect to "make many slips."

A pine tree always reminds me of a cow at rest. It is so peaceful, so placid so uncommunicative.

Never plant Dianthus barbatus in the north-west corner of your garden; it prefers the south-east. Flowers have feelings and preferences. In certain environments they languish, in others they flourish. How like our own life!

I love bulbs. I have a perfect passion for them. Bulbs are so symbolical. And the potentialities locked within the scales of a bulb are almost startling. What may not a bulb become? To me a bulb is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. I can not more imagine life without bulbs than without ink and paper. I am fond even of electric-light bulbs though of course one can't plant them. And that is rather too bad, for they might grow up into current bushes.

It's odd, but I never see a Magnolia conspicua but I think of Van Diemen's Land. I never visited Van Diemen's Land, and I doubt whether Magnolia conspicua grows there. Yet somehow I associate the two. Isn't it strange?

I had such a happy idea to-day. Why not plant my thoughts, literally plant them? For example, take the thought "The grass is green:" why not plant flowers so as to form those very words! Thus I might water and nourish my thought, and watch it grow in beauty day by day. And think of a whole garden of such thoughts—flower plotitudes!

Of all my flowers I like best the Poppycock (Poppyeockus literatus). Oh, I love it! I never tire of caressing its paper leaves and violet-ink corolla. Whenever I have a thought, I run to Poppycock and tell my secret. And Poppycock understands.—Bert Leston Taylor in the "Reader."

TRAINED FOR WIVES

PRACTICAL WORK DONE BY LONDON SCHOOL BOARD.

Grappled Quietly With Evils Social Reformers Deplored—Organization Fully Perfected—Suppressing London's Two Pressing Evils, Early Mortality of Babies and Drunkenness—Progress of the Work.

The London School Board set out some years ago to grapple with the evils which social reformers deplore in the most practical of all possible ways. That the board has never quite received due recognition of its work as a pioneer of social reforms is partly due to the fact that its work was a work of future, rather than immediate, effect, and partly to that other fact that it was done without ostentation.

What the board did was this: It considered the outlook for the coming generation, and noted the sore places. Then it conceived that good feeding and comfortably ordered homes would be the most effectual method of suppressing both the early mortality of babies and drunkenness, London's two pressing social evils. It prepared a course of training in "Domestic Subjects," and determined to give the same to all the little girls within its borders. Extending and developing this course year by year, it is only to-day that it has reached its fully perfected organization; but in 1878 it inaugurated the work by the opening of cooking centres, at which every "future woman" was eligible to receive one half-day's instruction per week, from the moment of her promotion to Standard 4. The syllabus, which at every alteration is submitted to the Board of Education for sanction, is expressly planned for the training of girls as wives, mothers and managers of small but well-kept homes—not as professional cooks. It includes boiling, baking, roasting, frying, grilling, &c., the making of broths, pastry, and cakes, the preparation, cooking, and serving of vegetables, fish and meat. The implements used are of the simplest, such as the children could themselves procure; and especial stress is laid on the recooking and using up of fragments and "scraps that remain" into economical but tempting dishes. Imaginary babies, and sick or aged people, whose dietary the wise house mother should especially consider and understand, are constantly introduced to make the scheme comprehensive and the teaching applicable to every order of home.

Learning to Wash.

In 1890 the teaching of laundry was added, and has developed into as great a success as the cookery. At the age of eleven the wives of the coming men make their introductory bow to the washtub, and they learn how to wash flannels without their hardening, shrinking, or discoloring; how to wash silks without destroying their pliability and richness; how to starch and get up their prospective husbands' collars and shirts, and how to grapple with such unwieldy articles as blankets and window curtains.

Up to this point both cookery and laundry are taught as "class lessons." That is to say, the whole class makes milk puddings, or steam fish, or prepares a baby's food simultaneously. Simultaneously, too, the whole class washes curtains, starches collars, irons shirts, and has expounded to it the evils of using soda and of boiling the wrong materials! For learning purposes, of course, this is the most expeditious and thorough way of conveying the information. But with growing years and growing competency it becomes imperative that each child should be thrown increasingly upon her own resources to enable her to apply these lessons. She must be taught not only to make separate dishes well, but to plan and organize the entire household dinner; most important of all, she must be taught to do all her own marketing.

So in 1896 a further course, known as "Housewifery," was added, and most interesting it is. Twenty-seven ordinary residential houses were successively acquired by the board in various parts of their area, each one similar in kind to that occupied by the average school child of the respective localities. These are furnished in absolute simplicity, with just such furniture as the ordinary simple household could obtain for itself with reasonable thriftiness. Here the girls take their third year's course, which includes the entire routine of cleaning the house, the boots, the windows, the knives, sweeping, scrubbing, dusting, setting and clearing tables, laying fires that are likely to burn, and making beds—comfortably. The mending, making, and keeping of house linen, personal and domestic hygiene, household sanitation and ventilation, the treatment of common ailments, bandaging, poulticing, putting splints on imaginarily broken limbs, and the washing and dressing of a baby (that has to be borrowed for demonstrations), all have their repeated turn, and hugely the damsels enjoy the program.

Then, too, hunting in couples, they are sent off to plan, purchase and prepare a meal for their prospective families, after receiving instructions as to whether the family for the day includes an infirm grandmother, a sickly husband, or a baby; and also as to whether their gross expenditure is to work out at 2d., 3d., 4d., or 6d. per head, according to the range of income with which they are supposed to be dealing. Thus they give proof of their assimilation of the previous class lessons.

The Latest Developments.

Some eighteen months since a new departure was made by opening experimentally two half-time centres, in which girls whose mothers were willing to undertake that they should remain at school an additional six months might take a further course of these things by attending the centre for five half-days a week, instead of one. Eagerly the girls petition for that additional six months which allows so much additional sick nursing and advanced house management to be acquired. In these centres, too, an entirely new line has been taken by the introduction of upholstery, a subject not previously included in the domestic code of the elementary schools of our own country or any other. Mattresses are made, chairs are cushioned, couches are fitted with springs, window blinds are made, corded and fitted, carpets made and laid. This latter pioneer work is entirely due to the energy of three of the lady superintendents of the domestic subjects' courses, who in their spare time, and with no emolument, have trained sufficient teachers to undertake this particularly valuable work, similarly training some forty of the Board's teachers to qualify for the diploma of the Board of Education for the teaching of domestic subjects.

At the last return of attendances at the domestic subjects' course of the London School Board there were registered 64,807 little "wives in the making," of whom 33,618 were in the 181 Cookery Centre; 20,401 were in the 139 Laundry Centres; and 10,788 were in the Housewifery Centres. This surely creates a felicitous prospect for 64,807 husbands in the making, not to mention that it furnishes an additional reason for thankfulness that "Caluse 2," with its possibilities for cutting up this work into local sections, is swept away from the much discussed Education Bill.—London Chronicle.

WORN TO A SHADOW.

When there is a falling off in flesh in woman or man there is "something wrong." And that something wrong is generally a loss of nutrition due to disease of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition. Sometimes this loss of flesh is accompanied by variable appetite, but in many cases the appetite does not fail and there may be a constant desire to eat. Languor, nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness, are symptoms often associated with this loss of nutrition and falling off in flesh.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that lost flesh is regained and the physical health re-established.

"I had suffered from indigestion and only those who have suffered from it know what it really is," writes Mrs. M. J. Fagan, of 1613 East Genesee St., Syracuse, N. Y. "I had had severe attacks of headache and dizziness, with cold hands and feet; everything I ate distressed me, bowels were constipated and I was growing very thin and nervous. I cannot half express the bad feelings I had when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took nine bottles of the 'Discovery' and have taken several bottles of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I commenced feeling better with the first bottle and kept on improving. Now I am so greatly improved in health my friends often speak of it. I most heartily recommend these medicines to all suffering as I was."

Sudden drops of temperature are impossible in the home heated by hot water. Stove fires die out, hot air furnaces heat unevenly, and the hot air switches to other parts of the house leaving the remaining rooms cold and drafty. But with the heating system of the in connection with Oxford Radiators an even, steady circulation of hot water is kept up throughout the house. Each radiator is diffusing the same temperature of heat in sufficient quantities for the size of the room.

The illustration below shows that the distance from the fire to the first surface is less than in any heater made, and the water has a shorter distance to travel, thus a more equal temperature is maintained in the water of the several sections.

Write for our booklets, they are of interest to everyone with a home to heat.

Stages of Life.

It is a queer coincidence that the matrimonial word "united" also spells "untied." Birth, marriage and death are the three life stages of man, or, rather, they used to be. Nowadays there are five stages—born, engaged married, divorced, died.

Raising a False Issue.

A story well known to lawyers of the last generation is about the "umbrella case." A man was charged with stealing an umbrella, and a number of witnesses went into the box to testify to the offense. The counsel for the defendant noted that each witness carried an umbrella (the time of year was midsummer, which explains the necessity for these impediments). As a matter of fact the prisoner had no defense to make. The barrister, thrown on his wits, exclaimed: "Gentlemen of the jury, did you not notice that each of the witnesses carried an umbrella into the box? Why is this, gentlemen? It is done in order to infect your minds with the idea of an umbrella, to prejudice the prisoner in your eyes, to raise 'a false issue,' and I appeal to you to signify your detestation of this concerted action by bringing in a verdict of not guilty." The judge, who imagined that little attention would be paid to such a plea, took little time and less pains to sum up the case. The jury nevertheless brought in a verdict in accordance with the resourceful barrister's wishes.—London News.

Ibsen's Gruffness.

In 1891 Georg Brandes happened to be with some friends at Sandviken, near Christiania, when they heard that Ibsen was staying at the local hotel. They decided to invite him to dinner, but he declined when he was told that there would be nine persons at the banquet. "I never dine with so large a party," he said. Finally he was persuaded to say "Yes," but in the meantime the number of persons whose request to be present Brandes could not possibly refuse had grown to twenty-two. Ibsen was furious when he discovered this, but Brandes managed to get him to the dining room, where, however, the poet looked so forbidding that champagne had to be served immediately after the soup to give courage to the guests. Ibsen acted like a bear all the evening. When one of the guests, an actress, remarked that she liked his roles better than any others he answered gruffly: "I do not write any roles. I represent characters, and I never work for any actor or actress."

The Volcano.

The London Globe contains a number of amusing answers to a recent examination for office boys in a government office. Some of the descriptions of a volcano are graphic:

"A volcano is a hill, and smoke raises from the top."

"A Volcano is a Mountain with solphur and a collection of Iron and led. Soon aftor a few years they get hot and bursts the mountain Does a lot of Damage to the country."

"A volcano is a mountain which his a large amount of lather and this sometimes overflows and burns villages down."

The most flattering answer runs as follows: "The boundaries of England are united states america and Europe." "Latitude and Longitude," said another student, "are terms used to describe certain spots on the sea."

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, Aug. 19, 9.45 a.m.—Question everybody asking last night and this morning, is whether reactionary movement in closing hour yesterday is beginning of a good setback or whether it is merely a natural slump and profit-taking and covering demand from shorts and falling off of outside investment buying. We cannot answer it as the solution of problem depends more on character of support the market receives and attitude of leading financial interests like Standard Oil and Morgan people. One thing was noticed that stood out prominently and that was the fact that there was good steady selling by brokers who act for some of big interests and this was undoubtedly liquidation of stocks accumulated during the recent break. Another thing is the fact that Mr. Rockefeller's predicted rise has practically been fulfilled and that short interest has been well covered. Foreign houses have been selling stocks for some days and it is thought they have liquidated over 150,000 shares. It is not believed that Macedonian troubles had anything to do with selling, but that it was influenced by belief that our recovery was too rapid to continue.—McIntyre & Marshall.

THE WHEEL.

Last night Mr. J. E. Riffer and Mr. H. L. Young met at the Examiner office to arrange the details of the road race for which the latter was challenged. It was mutually agreed that the race should take place on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 29, at 3 o'clock, and it will be over the same course as the road race of last Thursday evening, that is, start at the corner of Smith and Water streets, go to Nassau and return, finishing at the oval. The race will be for a trophy equal in value to that won by Mr. Young in Thursday's road race, and is being presented by supporters of Mr. Riffer.

It will be remembered that Mr. Young finished first in the race held by Mr. McPherson last Thursday, but Mr. Riffer met with an accident at the Nassau bridge, which his supporters claim materially affected the result of the race. A large number will no doubt witness this further test of the relative riding abilities of these cyclists.

THE TRIGGER.

The Peterborough Gun Club will hold a shoot at their grounds, at the Riverside Park, to-morrow morning at 9.30 o'clock. Sweepstake shooting and shooting for prizes will be in order. Let all the members be on hand.

AN ENLARGEMENT TO CALCUTT'S BREWERY

Made Necessary by Increased Demand for Product.

Space Will be Almost Doubled by Addition—First Load of Barley Brought in by Mr. W. H. Allen, of Douro.

One of the most satisfactory features in connection with the expansion of trade in Canada is the fact that it is not confined to any one or even few lines of business. Commerce of all kinds is in a most healthy condition, and expansion and enlargement is what every business man is planning for. It is gratifying to know that Peterborough business interests are expanding and improving the facilities for handling the increasing volume of trade, and in this connection an enlargement to the works of the Calcutt Brewing Company may be worthy of mention.

Mr. R. Tivey is at present busily engaged with a good staff of workmen in adding a story in height to a large portion of the brewery building. The main building, which formerly was but one story in heighth, is for a length of 98 feet being raised by ten feet, practically making a double amount of floor space in which to carry on the brewing operations. This has been made necessary by the fact that the business has grown to such an extent that the space available was found inadequate for the production of the increased output demanded by the growth of the business. The story added will give additional room for beer vats and hot water tubs, and a portion of it will also be utilized for a storage room for hops, of which a great quantity is used. The roof covering the new structure is the particular pride of Mr. Tivey, and is supported by what he terms a "Queen" truss. The construction of this particular truss as a means of supporting the roof, gives a maximum amount of space in which to work, and is, at the same time, capable of supporting an extraordinarily heavy weight.

Another interesting feature of the work is that while the enlargement was being made no suspension of the brewing operations was made necessary, as the roof and walls were put up in sections after having been fitted on the ground. The work is not completed yet by any means. It will require fully a month before the carpenters will have finished the sheathing, etc., that is to be done, but the roof will by the end of the present week have been completed, and the additional space will immediately be utilized.

The business of the company has never been in as healthy a condition as it is at the present time, and the season's output will exceed that of any previous year. On an average five brews per week have been necessary to supply the demand for the product, the extent of which is attributed by Mr. Calcutt to the fact that special care is taken to maintain the high quality of the product. The water used is obtained from an artesian well 150 feet deep, and a Government test made in 1888 declares it to be one of eleven wells in the Dominion producing water "classed as really first class drinking water." In these days when so much care is taken to provide pure drinking water, it must be gratifying to this company, as well as to their patrons, to know that such a necessary element in the manufacture of their product, is of such a satisfactory character.

The first load of barley for the season to be delivered at the brewery was brought in by Mr. W. H. Allen of Douro, who had grown it. The grain was of a good quality, as it is expected that the great bulk of it will be this year.

There is no doubt but that the business of the firm will continue to grow at a satisfactory rate in the future as it has during the last season, and with the improved facilities for handling an increased volume of business their patrons will be even better served in the future than they have been in the past.

Wind So Light That Cup Contest Was Called Off.

LOG OF THE THURSDAY RACE

Reliance a Mile Ahead When the Race Was Called Off—Challenger Crosses the Starting Line First—A Drifting Match But Time Was Out—Sir Thomas Lipton Satisfied With His Challenger.

New York, Aug. 21.—One of the biggest crowds of sightseers and yachtsmen that ever sailed down Sandy Hook to witness an attempt of the British cup hunter to wrest from America the yachting supremacy of the world returned to New York last night disappointed because the sea had refused a field of combat to the racers, some jubilant in the conviction that Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenger, like the two Shamrocks which had preceded her, was doomed to return to England empty-handed, while others were of the other opinion.

Race Not Conclusive.

The race yesterday was not absolutely conclusive, but in a 15-mile beat to windward the cup defender

NAT. HERRESHOFF,
(Designer of Reliance.)

Reliance showed her heels to Shamrock III, in commanding style, and in weather conditions which were supposed to be to the particular liking of the challenger. Fife's latest creation has been heralded as a veritable wizard in light breezes, in windward work in good sea, while the Reliance, in her trials, had showed to best advantage in a whole-sail wind. Yet yesterday, with a breeze varying from 1 to 12 knots, and against a long ground swell, the defender outfooted and outpointed the Fife boat. It is estimated that the Shamrock was more than a mile astern, or beaten about 16 minutes in the existing strength of the wind, when the Reliance rounded the outer mark. Soon after the race was called off, because it was seen that it could not be finished within the time limit.

Sir Thomas Says Wait.

Sandy Hook, N.J., Aug. 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton said last night:

"No, I am not in the least disappointed with my boat or its efforts to-day. The wind was so variable neither boat had a good chance, and particularly mine with the smaller sail area. Wait until we get a good breeze."

All that Mr. Iselin would say is: "We are perfectly satisfied, we always have been."

Jockeying at the Start.

The Reliance reached the starting line at 10 o'clock a.m., and dropped her tow line. Shamrock III. arrived ten minutes later. No sooner had she filled away than the Reliance bore down upon her from a windward position and hauled on the wind alongside of her in a position to blanket the challenger, but Captain Wringe promptly bore away, refusing the brush. The regatta's tug established the outer mark at 10.30 a.m., and signalled that the race would be 15 miles to windward and return, the first leg south, southwest from Sandy Hook lightship. The wind was then blowing about five knots and a moderate sea was running, with long ground swells.

Shamrock III. Across Line First.

When the committee tug fired the preparatory signal at 10.25 the two racers were crossing the line for a light brush out to the windward of it, but, as the warning signal was fired, at 10.55, they whirled around and ran back toward the line. Shamrock III. whirled on her heel just to leeward of the line and crossed it. The Reliance promptly followed. The Shamrock III. led the American boat across by about 50 yards, but the Reliance held the windward position. The official starting time was:

Shamrock III. 11.01.14
Reliance 11.01.47

Both boats sailed seaward for an hour and twenty minutes. The wind dropped to about four knots soon after the start.

Reliance Pointed Higher.

Within 25 minutes after starting, the Reliance had overhauled Shamrock III., was abeam of her and 200 yards to windward. The Reliance had not only footed faster, but pointed higher than the challenger.

Half an hour after the start, when the boats were about four miles from the starting line a shower swept down and brought a shaft of wind to the westward, which enabled the racers to lay a course direct to the mark. This robbed the Reliance of most of the advantage of her windward position and put the boats on almost even terms. They had this relative position until they had sailed eight miles, when the wind backed to south by west, again making it a dead beat to the mark and restoring to the Reliance her former advantage to windward. When they made their tack at 12.30 Shamrock III. was to leeward.

Bad Scare For Americans.

The shower has passed. Then for the first time the challenger gave the Americans a bad scare. Without apparent reason she began to foot faster than the Reliance, passed to leeward of her and drew away ahead. It looked for a moment as though she was going to show her heels to Reliance, but when she came about and the two boats met, the admirers of the Reliance discovered after a while that though the challenger had been outfooting her, the American craft had been outpointing the challenger and had even increased her lead. The boats were nine miles from the starting line and the Reliance had a lead of a quarter of a mile. In a dropping wind the British boat twice repeated her performance of slipping past the Reliance to leeward, but she was losing ground in the windward through by reason of the Reliance sailing closer to the wind. When four miles from the turning mark, at 1.25 p. m., they started on a long leg to sea.

Racers Moving Very Slowly.

As they came about it was apparent that the Reliance was a mile ahead. The wind had dropped to a little better than a flat calm, and the racers were moving very slowly. In vain effort to woo the fickle airs, the yachts changed their head sails, but the race had degenerated into a drifting match. Fluky streaks of gentle air drifted across the course. One of these flukes, when the Reliance was more than two miles from the mark, sent her off at a good rate, while the Shamrock III. was headed off by an unfavorable slant until she pointed two points further off the actual course than did the Reliance. Three and a half hours after the race started it was evident that the race could not be finished within the time limit. The Reliance had steadily gained, and the Reliance was a good two miles dead ahead of the Shamrock, when observers noticed that the Shamrock caught a little breeze from the west, and was cutting down the lead. The Reliance promptly went about when a mile away from the turn, and, catching the westerly wind, scurried away from the mark at almost a racing pace.

Swept Around the Mark.

The wind continued to freshen until she swept around the mark, at 8.37.20, heeling to a smart northwest breeze and giving the first real exhibition of her speed. The defender hauled on the wind for a close reach back to the finish line, saluted by the whistles of the big fleet. Shamrock III. was coming on at a fast clip to meet the returning defender, but she had been so far astern that it was eight minutes after the Reliance turned the mark before the racers met going in opposite directions, indicating that the Reliance's actual lead was 16 minutes. Just at that moment the regatta committee's tug displayed the signal "the race is off," and the Shamrock III. came about before turning the mark and followed the Reliance a short distance. Both boats were taken in tow, and the fleet, hurrying homeward, quickly dropped them. The admirers of the Reliance are jubilant because the American yacht demonstrated that, in extremely light airs and unusually rough water she could show her heels to the British challenger, and those were the conditions supposed to be the severest test of the Herreshoff boat.

NO HOPE FOR SALISBURY.

Former Premier of Great Britain Once Thought to Be Dead—Royalty Informed of His Critical Condition.

London, Aug. 21.—A bulletin issued at 10 o'clock last night says Lord Salisbury's condition was critical, and there was little hope of his recovery.

The end may be expected at any moment. Once in the course of the evening it was thought that His Lordship had breathed his last, but he made a surprising rally, and at midnight it was announced that his condition had not changed since 10 o'clock.

Telegrams have been despatched to the King, the Queen, and the Prince of Wales, acquainting them with the critical condition of the former Premier.

It is not proposed to issue any further bulletins until this morning.

RUNNING RIGHTS.

(Toronto News.)

Mr. Blair's argument upon the impossibility of granting effectual running powers over the trans-continental line to trains other than those of the Grand Trunk Pacific was largely based upon assumptions for which we can find no warrant. In his endeavour to find the real nature of such running powers arrangements he selected, instead of the legal phraseology of the agreement, a particularly picturesque passage from Sir Wilfred Laurier's speech. It was perfectly in order for the Premier, after laying the agreement on the table, to use figurative language concerning some of its provisions; and Mr. Blair should not have built up fantastic theories upon a figure of speech when he could just as well have gone to the document itself.

The idea of issuing a kind of right-of-way ticket to any line and irresponsible train that presents itself at the national highway is fully as preposterous as Mr. Blair represents it. The fact is, however, that nobody but Mr. Blair ever contemplated such a thing. The agreement requires that certain provisions be incorporated in the lease of the Eastern Division. These provisions are to the effect that the Intercolonial shall be able to secure "running powers and haulage rights" over the Eastern Division "upon equal terms with the lessees," and over the Western upon terms to be agreed upon, and that any company to whom the Government may grant them shall be able to secure the same powers on either Division or terms and compensation to be agreed upon. Further, in event of failure to agree, the Board of Railway Commissioners is absolute arbiter between the company and the Government, and the Governemnt between the company and any other company.

There is no definition of the terms "running powers and haulage rights" in the agreement. We know of no authentic definition which restricts them, as Mr. Blair did for the purposes of his argument, to the use of the rails. In fact the phrase, "upon equal terms with the lessees," if it has any meaning (and in clause 24 (a), at any rate it cannot refer to compensation, which is dealt with separately), surely means that the Government railway is entitled to a use of the whole of that great property, the Eastern Division, as complete, as effective, as general as that of the leasing company. The Government may in the terms of the lease, it is true, whittle down this privilege to a nullity, but there is nothing in the agreement to indicate that they will do so. That document expressly says that the "running powers and haulage rights" shall be "sufficient to enable any railway company desiring to use the said Eastern Division, or any part thereof to do so."

The arrangement is not intended to meet the case of Mr. Blair's lonely train. It is intended for lines which desire to make regular use of the new route or any portion of it; and the arrangements which they make for train crews, relays and so forth —everything extraneous to the permanent way itself, as defined in the section "cost of construction" —will be precisely what they would make were they operating the same service on a line that no other company ever entered. To a company exercising such rights it would not be ruinous to have to erect and maintain its own divisional points and round houses; but so long as the equipment on the line is sufficient both lessee and running powers-holder, there is no reason for concluding that they cannot use it in common. That there will be friction is possible, that the arbiters of compensation will compel the purchaser of running rights to pay more than it has cost the Grand Trunk Pacific to secure the same privilege is perhaps possible, for the former takes no risks. Upon these matters Mr Blair could speak with some authority. Could have spoken, perhaps, we should say; for by this extraordinary excursion out of his way to demolish a non-existent proposal, he has injured his claim to be listened to as an impartial expert

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a rule to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These Pills not only make the bowels active, but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

THE FLOATING BRIDGE AT GANNON'S NARROWS

Is at Last Open for Traffic and is a Great Convenience.

For twenty years a bridge at Gannon's Narrows has been agitated for; at last the efforts of those who have been for so long trying to make the construction of a bridge a reality, have been successful. By the combined support of the Dominion and Provincial Governments, the County Council and the Council of Harvey township, the bridge has been built, and is now open for traffic.

The structure is a floating one, built by Mr. W. O'Leary, and is a credit to his ability as a bridge constructor. He is very much pleased with the floating swing bridge, built to allow boats to pass through the Narrows. Those living in the vicinity are already making good use of the bridge, which is a great convenience to them, saving, in many cases, a long journey.

The Committee of the County Council, to which was entrusted the oversight of the construction, was composed of Warden Richard Crowe, J. W. Fitzgerald, chairman of the Committee on Bridges and Buildings, Mr. Johnson and Robert Shaw. During the fifteen years that Mr. Shaw has occupied a seat on the County Council he has been working for a bridge at the Narrows, and he naturally feels elated that at last his efforts have brought the desired result.

The work of construction has been carried on during the last two months, and the completion of the bridge in such a short time is a further tribute to Mr. O'Leary's ability.

FROM MT. PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

After a protracted illness John Sutcliffe died at three a.m. on the 12th of August. Two of his daughters came from Manitoba to wait on him during his illness. His daughter, Mrs. J. D. Denny, of Ottawa, was a constant attendant on him. We sympathize with the family, in this their time of trouble. The place of interment was at St. John's church cemetery, in the township of Cavan.

Another worthy citizen of this township has been called away suddenly, the late George Howson, who has been collector of taxes for the township of Cavan for several years, which office he filled most satisfactorily. All sympathies are extended to the bereaved family in their trouble.

Mr. Johnston, who was engaged with Mr. D. Lough, fell out of an apple tree and broke his leg. Dr. Dean was in attendance. The doctor is now a resident of Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Young of Ottawa is visiting with friends here.

As usual the Rev. Mr. Mounteer, delivered an exceedingly practical address last Sunday. His text was founded on the 17th verse of the 7th chapter of Jeremiah.

Farmers are highly pleased with the splendid crops, which are nearly all safely housed.

We were favoured with a most excellent discourse from the Rev. Mr. Potter, the missionary to the sailors. He occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church last Sunday. His text was "Among whom ye shine as lights in the world, holding forth the word of life."

OMEMEE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Our harvest is pretty well advanced and the yield is abundant in every respect. Root crops are also very promising. Threshing has begun, and the yield is excellent. The Peterborough binder twine is giving good satisfaction in these parts.

The Choral Society, 40 strong, are keeping up their practices with great earnestness, and have rented a hall and piano, and are looking forward with great pleasure to the Musical Festival in Peterborough in September.

Some half-a-dozen persons left on the Manitoba harvest excursion from here.

There is a great demand for labourers on the new railway north at Dunsford and Bobcaygeon. Mr. T. H. McQuade has taken a large contract.

Mr. D. Hall, who purchased the Mrs M. Thornton homestead is well pleased, and for the first season considers the land and place compares favourably with what he left at Centreville.

Rev. Mr. Potter, sr., missionary to sailors and lumbermen, has again visited us in the interests of the good work, and occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church acceptably on Sunday.

We will not have our settled minister for one month yet.

There will be an excursion to Bobcaygeon, under the auspices of the church here about August 29th, per steamer Kenosha.

Solved the Fight Over an Imperial Fiscal Policy.

UNIT FOR MUTUAL BENEFIT.

The Industrial Needs of Component Parts Should Receive Due Consideration—A Hot Debate Between Free Traders and Protectionists — Many Minor Resolutions Were Carried—The Banquet.

Montreal, Aug. 21.—The great fiscal debate in the Chamber of Commerce Congress closed yesterday with the passing of a resolution which still further compromised the difference between Mr. W. F. Cockshutt's motion and Sir William Holland's amendment by uniting some features of both. The change consisted in inserting Sir William Holland's two words, "and industrial" in the clause reading "undue consideration being given to the fiscal and industrial needs of the Empire." The portion of the Manchester amendment which was omitted in deference to the sentiments of the Canadians was the view of avoiding injury to any words which Sir William proposed should be inserted after "component parts of the Empire." The compromise resolution was ultimately submitted by Lord Strathcona, whose appearance, hailed as that of a mediator, was received with great cheering. The resolution as finally adopted then calls for a policy of mutual benefit in the following words:

Resolution as Adopted.

"It is resolved that in the opinion of this Congress the bonds of the British Empire would be materially strengthened and the union of the various parts of His Majesty's dominions greatly consolidated by the adoption of a commercial policy based upon the principle of mutual benefit, whereby each component part of the Empire would receive a substantial advantage in trade as the result of its national relationship, due consideration being given to the fiscal and industrial needs of the component parts of the Empire; that this Congress urges upon His Majesty's Government the appointment by them of a special commission composed of representatives of Great Britain and her colonies and India to consider the possibility of thus increasing and strengthening the trade relations between the different parts of the Empire, and the trading facilities within the Empire and with foreign countries."

Every Delegate on His Feet.

This resolution was accepted by Mr. Cockshutt and Sir William Holland and passed at 12.50 unanimously. The consummation of the plan to promote tariff revision provoked a thrilling scene. Every delegate was on his feet, shouting and waving papers, or hats. Some of them climbed to the chairs and desks in their demonstrative efforts to manifest their satisfaction. Even Lord Brassey left his place in the chair to walk over and congratulate Lord Strathcona.

The Debaters.

The lofty tone of the debate was even more pronounced than Wednesday. There were forty-four speakers on the joint resolution, but only twenty of them succeeded in securing place. They were: George E. Davis, Bristol; James Patterson, Glasgow; James Peat, Leeds; Colonel Denison, Toronto; D. Marsland, Oldham; W. Sanford Evans, Winnipeg; J. Stephen Jeans, London; Alexander H. MacNeill, Rossland B. C.; Edward Snell, Durban, South Africa; J. C. Poynton, Pretoria; T. V. S. Angier, London; Hon. M. A. Robert, Cawnpore; Charles Lancaster, Liverpool; S. W. Royce, Manchester; W. D. Peacock, Tasmania, Australia; Hon. T. A. Brassey of London, the chairman's son; W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford, E. J. Gill, N. L. Cohen, London; Sir William Holland, Manchester. Lord Strathcona was not scheduled for a speech and was only called in the eleventh hour to secure harmony. Of those speeches Cockshutt, MacNeill, Evans and Brassey carried off the honors for the strength of their arguments and the riots they provoked from the demonstrative delegates. Marsland alone of this number formally opposed the resolution in its original form.

Lord Brassey's Tribute.

At the conclusion of the debate, amid intense excitement, Lord Brassey said: "In the interests of the wise solution of the great question we have been debating, and for the credit of this Congress and for the true expression of our mutual sentiments and regard personally towards one another, it is extremely desirable that our proceedings should terminate with a resolution which should be passed nemine contradicent. You have heard Mr. Cockshutt and the representatives who, like himself, represent a large body of opinion, which, as you know is but imperfectly represented in this hall. Now, gentlemen, that is the situation, and I think we shall all agree to this, that if one man should come amongst us, who can by his wisdom and his influence bring us to a common conclusion, that he is a man to whom we shall all be greatly indebted. That man is present here—Lord Strathcona." (Applause.)

Lord Strathcona's Reply.

After the ovation Lord Strathcona answered: "Lord Brassey and gentlemen, delegates of this Congress, as you all know, I have taken no part in the discussion that have been had within the last four days, having confined myself to a few introductory remarks as honorary president of the Congress, in the forenoon of Monday last, when we first met here. And I certainly would not intervene at this time were it not that I knew I could count on your great indulgence and consideration, and that I knew that each and all, whether coming from the Mother Country or from the colonies over the seas or from this colony and this nation of Canada, I knew that you had all the one object in view, that is of doing what in your opinion was for the best interest of the whole Empire. We do not look to one locality or another, but we must judge of what is required under the different circumstances of the different portions of the Empire for their welfare and then consider how this can be made to subserve all the interests of the Empire."

Lord Strathcona then paid a tribute to the honesty and zeal of adherents of both sides of the controversy, and after an eloquent tribute to the King as a peacemaker in the world's politics, said:

"We in Canada are apt to express ourselves somewhat forcibly, because we are very earnest, but we know our friends on the other side are also not less earnest, and we have, as I have said already, but one object in view. Were it not so I would have hesitated to be here addressing you on the present occasion. It is that of endeavoring to find out a modus vivendi, of having what each and all approve of, and not only consent to, but cordially and heartily approve of. I think I cannot do better than to just put before you the resolution which I have in my hand, and which I have no doubt, I cannot otherwise believe, will be accepted by all those who have spoken and those who have listened to the most eloquent addresses we have heard in this assemblage. And I venture to say that in no gathering of commercial men, in no gathering of politicians, if you will, in no assemblage of people coming together for one object, has there been more eloquence displayed than in this Congress. I will now with your permission, Mr. President and gentlemen, move the compromise resolution."

To Round Federation.

The Congress will adjourn Friday at noon. The completion of Canadian confederation by securing Newfoundland was the absorbing topic of the afternoon and provoked much enthusiasm. A resolution in this direction, introduced by Col. Ponton of the Belleville Board of Trade, was carried unanimously:

A resolution to improve the copyright law was unanimously carried.

The live stock interests of Canada also secured the passage of the resolution offered by the St. John Board of Trade relative to restrictions upon Canadian cattle in Britain.

A resolution favoring the adoption of the decimal system of currency throughout the Empire; another freeing commercial travelers from licenses; one that the colonies and dependencies could, if properly developed, provide the food of the Empire, and another to simplify naturalization were passed, and the Congress adjourned at 5 o'clock till this morning.

The Social End.

Last night one of the most representative gatherings ever assembled around a Canadian banquet board was participated in by the delegates at the Windsor. Five hundred covers were laid. Lord Strathcona, Lord Brassey and many other leading men addressed the guests. A. J. Hodgson, president of the Board of Trade, presided. On his right was Lord Minto, Lord Brassey and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. On his left, Lord Strathcona, Mr. R. L. Borden and Sir William Holland. Lord Minto responded to the toast of the Governor-General, making a strictly Imperial defence speech. The toast, "Our Guests," was replied to by Lord Brassey; that of the "Empire" by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and others; the "Parliament of Canada," by Mr. R. L. Borden and others.

REST SEASON.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Give the Stomach a Holiday and Make it Ready for its Work Again.

Every man or woman tries during the summer to get a week or two of complete rest. They need it, and when they get it return to their work refreshed and invigorated. On the same principle the stomach needs a vacation. Give it one by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will digest the food while the stomach rests. The result will be good digestion and renewed vigour all over the body.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets working on this principle never fail to cure stomach ailments. They cure indigestion or Dyspepsia of any stage. The proof is found in the statements of those who have used them and been cured. Mr. H. Bailey, of 206 Patrick street, Winnipeg, is one of these. Mr. Bailey says:

"It gives me pleasure to tell of the benefit I have received from the use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have gained eight pounds in weight since I commenced to use them. Before that no matter what I ate I never seemed to gain strength or put on weight. I heartily recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Fear Canadian Competition.

Baltimore, Aug. 20.—Grain exporters in Baltimore have taken action against diversion of freight from Atlantic seaboard ports to Gulf and Canadian ports. By concerted action it is hoped to have eastern American grain carriers reduce the rates so as to enable the Atlantic cities to compete with their Canadian and southern rivals.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea

"About six years ago, for the first time in my life, I had a severe and sudden attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents cured me." For sale by all druggists.

The Tate Optical Co's

We are doing one thing extremely well—making Good Glasses. In fact the best Glasses made in Canada today. Perhaps you may think this a strong statement, but it is writen deliberately and meant to be convincing.

We examine your eyes carefully, and in our examining room we have all the latest instruments for that purpose. We are Eye Specialists, and our long years of experience make us experts. In the rear of the office is a work shop equipped with the most modern machinery for optical work—the only shop of the kind in Peterborough. Surface grinding of lenses is done on the premises. When you buy a pair of glasses from us we grind the lenses to suit the requirements of your eye. WE DO NOT pick them haphazard from a box of numbered lenses.

Our patients are in all parts of the Dominion. We will be pleased to answer mail orders. Particular care is given to the fit of frames and mounts.

One of our patients, Miss Beavis, writes: "Before coming to you for Glasses I had spent over $50.00 in my endeavour to get satisfactory Glasses, but, thanks to your skill as opticians, I am now enjoying perfect vision and comfort."

A Runaway.

The only excitement afforded those who remained in town yesterday was an interesting chase after a runaway dog, which had liberated himself from a crate in the office of one of the Express Companys. A fleet-footed clerk was dispatched after the fox terrior and he overtook the animal after it had run several blocks. It was again fastened, as was thought, securely in a crate, but Mr. Doggie again obtained his liberty and departed in the direction of North Monaghan.

HOW CIVIC HOLIDAY WAS CELEBRATED.

A Series of Very Successful Excursions Characterized the Day.

Thousands of Pleasure Seekers Left Town—Record Crowds Handled by G. T. R.—Excursions Down the River—Picnics and Family Gatherings.

Civic Holiday was celebrated yesterday in a thoroughly enjoyable fashion, and it is safe to say that never have as many persons left Peterborough to participate in excursions in one day as did they yesterday. The weather man was very considerate, and served out weather which was ideal for the day's pleasure outings. All the different excursions attracted a large number, perhaps that which was the most extensively patronized being the Oddfellows' trip to Rochester. It was learned at the Grand Trunk Depot that 2,000 persons left town yesterday by that line, this in addition to the hundreds who sought recreation in other avenues. After the last excursion had left town at 11.45 the place presented a rather deserted appearance, and only those whose duty forbad their leaving town remained at home. In addition to the numerous excursions, many private picnics were held, at the various parks and down the river, Jackson and Inverlea Parks being the scene of numerous family festivities.

The arrangements made by the Grand Trunk for the transportation of the very large number who patronized the various excursions over that line were excellent, and Station Master Sandys came in for considerable well earned commendation for the efficiency which characterized the manner in which the largest exodus in the history of the town was handled. Considering the amount of work to be accomplished by the trainmen, the different trains left in good time and any little delay experienced was accepted cheerfully because everyone recognized that the G.T.R. was handling a record crowd and did not expect impossibilities.

Civic Holiday of 1903 has been an unqualified success and to everyone the memory must be a pleasant one.

TO THE "FLOWER CITY."

Otonabee Lodge, I. O. O. F., ran Large Excursion to Rochester.

The Oddfellows' excursion to Rochester, was even a greater success than had been anticipated. The trip in the past has always proved a very popular one, and the committee was planning for an attendance slightly in excess of that of last year, but the numbers of those desirous of going completely surprised the management. Four hundred tickets were reserved for Peterborough, but it was found that these were not nearly sufficient, and it is stated that nearly one hundred were unable to go because tickets could not be procured for them. A large number also boarded the train at Lindsay, and at that place the same trouble of a shortage of tickets occurred. About 600 in all took in the trip, which must have been a delightful one across Lake Ontario.

The excursionists will not return until to-morrow evening, and many will doubtless remain over Sunday. The large number who were anxious to take this trip is a satisfactory tribute to the excellent management which has characterized the excursions of the Oddfellows in the past, and is no doubt also largely due to the co-operation of all the members of the Lodge with the committee in working for the success of the event. The management, profiting by the experience of this year will no doubt in future arrange for an increased number of tickets. The train conveying the excursionists was a double header and was composed of ten coaches. The journey across the lake to the "Flower City" was made on the steamer North King.

THROUGH STONY LAKE.

Excursion Under Auspices of Catholic Foresters.

Among the numerous successful excursions which were held yesterday must be recorded that held under the auspices of St. Peter's Court No. 225, Catholic Order of Foresters.

There was a large number of persons present, who first of all took train to Lakefield and then went through Stony Lake per steamer "Majestic."

When at McCracken's Landing the boat discharged her passengers who were given an hour to dine. Some went to the hotel, but the large majority took their luncheon baskets to some convenient nook and there indulged in a satisfying repast. The party, all of whom, it is felt, thoroughly enjoyed themselves, went as far as Burleigh Falls, where they turned round and then returned to Lakefield, stopping again for a short time at McCracken's.

This excursion was certainly a popular one and many grasped the opportunity of being able to view the beautiful lake scenery at so trifling a cost and with such desirable companions. Peterborough was reached about 7.30 o'clock and it is thought all went home gratified that they had taken in the trip.

AT NIAGARA FALLS.

Court Littlejohn, Canadian Foresters' Excursion Well Patronized.

Everyone of the four or five hundred persons who went with Court Littlejohn, C.O.F., to Niagara Falls, is well pleased with the trip, which was one of the most successful of the day's outings. The excursionists left here at 7.10 in nine coaches drawn by two engines, and at each of the stations a number were taken on until on reaching Markham, the last station at which excursion tickets were sold, nearly 500 persons were on the train. Toronto was reached on time and the train stopped at the foot of Yonge street to allow the passengers to, without loss of time, go aboard the steamer Corona, which was waiting to convey the company to Queenston. The sail across the lake was made in good time and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The service provided on the Niagara River Line steamers was the subject of many commendatory remarks, and both the members of the Management Committee and the excursionists are much pleased with the splendid provision made for their comfort and enjoyment. Queenston was reached about 1.30 and the cars of the Niagara Falls Park and River Railway were taken and the beautiful Niagara River was followed for the 8 miles to the Falls, where the great cataract was viewed by many for the first time. A good stay was allowed here, and during the time at their disposal the visitors saw all the points of historic interest. Nearly 100 went on to Buffalo taking advantage of the arrangement made by the committee for those who desired to visit that city.

The return trip was made across the lake by the magnificent steamer Chippewa, the largest of the fleet, and the train left promptly on the time advertised and Peterborough was reached early in the morning. A number, of course, remained in Toronto until to-day, a provision of the arrangements allowing that privilege. The committee is much pleased with the success of the event, for which they have worked industriously. The committee consisted of a number of the members of Court Littlejohn, and the officers of it were W. Kemp, chairman, and W. Fleetwood, secretary.

AT IDYL WYLD.

The Machinists Had a Highly Successful Excursion to That Resort.

The excursion under the auspices of Peterborough Lodge, No. 286, I. A. of M., left town shortly after 8 o'clock. The steamers City of Peterborough and Water Lily were both chartered for the occasion, and fully 360 excursionists took in this pleasant trip. The sail down the river was a very enjoyable one to all and much appreciated by many who had not been down to Idyl Wild before. It was perhaps the largest excursion that went down to Rice Lake this season.

The party have every reason to congratulate themselves on the satisfactory manner in which the committee carried out the details of the day's outing. The Machinists are of course elated over the large and respectable character of this, their first, regular union excursion.

A splendid breeze was blowing off the lake all day and the island air was very refreshing to all.

As soon as the crowds on both steamers had landed a stampede was made for the dining room, which was filled and refilled a dozen times over. Many brought well filled baskets and dined out in the fresh air on the picnic tables erected in the shadiest nooks of the island.

Professor Gliddon and a detachment of the 57th Band, accompanied the party and played some of their favourite selections.

After dinner the dancing pavilion was the centre of attraction, the band playing spirited music for the votaries of the waltz.

During the afternoon the following sports were run off, under the direction of the committee, as follows:

Single men's race, union men only —W. Courtney, W Mellish.

Single ladies' race, union men's daughters — Miss L Ward, Miss Fair.

Married men's race, union men— W Pease, Hugh Smith.

Married ladies' race, union men's wives — Mrs LeBar, Mrs Graham.

Open race, 100 yards — Fred McGrath, M Dusty.

Ladies' open race — Miss Ward, Miss Fair.

Apprentices' race, 100 yards — Fred McGrath, M Dusty.

Girls' race, 10 and under — Miss Marrion, Miss Fair.

Committee race, 100 yards — W Mellish, Jos Wright.

Tug of war between married and single men — Won by the married men.

Canoe race, quarter mile, off the south east of the island — Entries, Bruce Patterson and D. Dycke; Fred Roy and Arthur Weeks; W Pease and J Kelly. Won by Fred Roy and Arthur Weesk.

The committee having charge of the arrangements consisted of Messrs. Joe Wright, chairman; and Geo. Stenton, Robert Baker, J. B. Richardson, W. Mellish, E. Cookson, Secretary, and they have every reason to feel proud of the successful outcome of their efforts. Mr. Wright is a host in himself and the other members of the committee ably assisted him in his endeavour to make the day enjoyable.

The steamers left for home about 5 o'clock, and arrived at their dock about 9 o'clock, bringing back a thoroughly satisfied company.

THE ORILLIA OUTING.

Maccabees' Excursion to the Northern Town a Success.

The K.O.T.M. excursion to Orillia yesterday proved to be one of the most successful outings of the day and the committee in charge of the affair are certainly to be congratulated on the successful outcome of the venture.

Shortly after eight o'clock the excursion train pulled out from the G. T. R. station with about 600 excursionists on board, and Orillia was reached shortly before 11 o'clock. The excursionists immediately proceeded to the different hotels for dinner while not a few were taken in hand by friends who gathered at the station to greet them. The sights and attractions of the northern town were taken in during the afternoon and many enjoyed a sail on beautiful Lake Couchiching, and also visited the far-famous Strawberry Island.

At 2.30 a large number of the excursionists, together with a goodly sprinkling of Orillians, took in the lacrosse match at the Oval between

It's only safe with equal parts of Henry's good old rye whiskey or Brandy. THE ATHLETICS WERE INVINCIBLE

First Game in Semi-finals Won by Boys in Blue.

LINDSAY DEFEATED BY 11 TO 4

Game Characterised by Some Fast Playing—Brilliant Work of Athletics' Home—Return Game on Aug. 26th.

The first game in the semi-finals to decide the Junior C.L.A. championship in which the Athletics have participated was played at Lindsay yesterday, the Athletics' opponents being the fast Lindsay team, the winners of their district, and the team against which the Orillia Intermediate C.L.A. team was able to score only two goals, in a game played last week. Although the Athletics made no attempt to induce their supporters to go to Lindsay, the team was accompanied by nearly 200 persons from this town, who saw the boys in blue defeat the Lindsay team by a score of 11—4. The defeated team was considerably weakened by the absence of one or two of their best players, and, in the deciding game to be played at the Oval here next Wednesday, they will no doubt give a much better account of themselves. They number on their team some experienced lacrosse players, and on the whole put up a good stiff argument.

The Athletics, although playing without the services of Howell, the clever defence man, who was suffering from an injury received in the game of last week, and Forman, who was unable to play, gave an exhibition of the National game, which was a credit to themselves, and to the town they represented, and the clean, scientific game played by them must have been a pleasure to all lovers of pure sport.

About 400 spectators attended the game, which was held on the Exhibition grounds, and although the Athletic supporters were in the majority, good plays on both sides were appreciated and applauded by those who witnessed the game. As the teams faced each other on the field, the Lindsay players appeared to have the advantage in weight, although the subsequent playing showed them to be deficient in the finer points of the game, and in stick handling they were inferior to the Athletics. On the whole, however, they played a good stiff game, and the Athletics in the first three-quarters had to go some. Carruth, who in the early part of the season played with the Port Hope Ontarios, and in the exhibition game played here on May 25th, was a prominent figure on the Port Hope team, was in the nets for the Lindsay team yesterday, and in that capacity proved to be a very material aid to the home team. He had plenty to do, and stopped a number of hot shots from the sticks of the visitors' home players. G. and J. Halworth are also fast players, the former on defence and the latter at 3rd home; they are both stalwart men, and played their positions well. The home players, particularly W. Reesor and Gillespie are lacrossists of no mean ability and it was only by the excellent work of the Athletics' defence that a larger score was not rolled up to the credit of the Scugog town. Elliott at centre is the only small man on the team, but what he lacks in stature he makes up in speed, and put up a good consistent game. In fact all the member of the team deserve credit for the showing they made.

The Athletics were in excellent form, and it is doubtful if the home players have ever played a prettier game. Best, who was out of the last game was back in his old position, outside home, and his presence on the team enabled them to get in some of the combination work for which they are justly famous. His shooting was a conspicuous feature of the game. To particularize on the work of the Athletics would be impossible, as every man played his position excellently. Cavanah was in his usual good form, and although his reputation had evidently preceded him, as he was checked by one of the very best men on the home team, he eluded him at will and has to his credit a goodly number of the scores made by the visitors. "Ernie" Wasson, who has not been in a championship game this season, proved a valuable man, and he showed not only a thorough knowledge of the game, but an ability to put the knowledge into practice. He played a very effective game. O'Flynn yesterday surpassed even his remarkable work in previous contests, and he figured conspicuously in the majority of goals that were scored. He earned the hearty applause frequently tendered him by the spectators. During the early portion of the game Glover played on the home, his work there being of a style that counts in the score. His check was kept pretty busy, which is all that need be said. Robertson must be accorded considerable credit for the success of the team. He was always in his place when needed, and on different occasions he took the sphere into the opponents' territory. He scored two of the Athletics' goals. Wilkinson, in yesterday's game was moved back on defence, and he proved his worth as a utility man. He is equally at home on the defence or on the attacking division. Dunsford and Mein also were right in their positions when work was to be done, and broke up some very dangerous combination play. To Morgan and Ketchum also, a tribute is due for their very efficient work, the former at cover point ably supported the defence, and occasionally took the ball into the Lindsay territory, while the latter is fast rounding up into an accomplished point man. His value to the team was made apparent by his work in the game yesterday. The Athletics net was in good hands. Clarke attended to that, and a number of fast shots were well taken care of.

HOW THE GAME WAS WON

The ball was faced off at 3.26, and the first game went to Lindsay after 6 minutes play, A. Reesor doing the trick on a pass from J Halworth. Play started off fast and the ball quickly went the length of the field. Best shot one on the goal which Carruth took care of. After the face off subsequent to the first goal the ball by some pretty combination work went to the Lindsay goal, but a score was again prevented by Carruth, who turned aside what looked like a sure shot from Cavanah's stick. The attack was again made however, and this time Cavanah located the net, after seven minutes play, tying the score. The next goal also went to the Athletics in 1 2 minute. Glover making the shot from behind the net.

On the face off the Lindsay team attempted to rush matters, and the ball travelled to the Athletics' goal, but Wilkinson relieved, and securing the sphere made a beautiful rush up the field, and with Best and Robertson made a combination which scored a game in one minute, Robertson doing the needful. The next went to the home team in 2 minutes, W. Reesor scoring on a long throw from Carruth. This was one of the cleanest plays made by the home team during the day. With the score 3—2 the visitors got their combination at work and scored six goals in succession, the first being recorded in one half minute, the trick being done by Cavanah on a pass from O'Flynn. This was followed in three minutes by one from Robertson, after some very pretty combination work on the part of O'Flynn, Glover and Robertson. The first quarter ended with the score 5—2.

The second quarter saw the Athletics started out strong. Wasson scored a goal in 1-2 minute from the face-off. This goal was secured in a peculiar manner. Glover made the shot, but Carruth stopped it, and the ball bounced out into Wasson's stick, who immediately sent it in. The play during this quarter was not as free from roughness, and at this point W. Reesor and Ketchum were ruled off for a minor offence. The next goal was scored by O'Flynn for the Athletics on a nice pass from Cavanah, followed in a couple of minutes by another scored by the same clever player, likewise on a pass from Cavanah. Cameron was given a five minutes rest for slashing. The last score in the quarter was made by Best in 7 minutes on a pass from Wilkinson, making the standing at half time 9—2. In the third quarter some pretty fast work was done, Gillespie setting the pace by scoring for Lindsay in 1-2 minute. O'Flynn followed with one for the Athletics in the same period of time, scoring on a pass from Cavanah. No further scoring was done until the quarter was almost over, when Best located the nets again on a pass from Robertson. Stanton shot one into the Athletics goal after the referee's whistle had blown for a foul. The quarter ended with the score 11—3.

There was no further scoring on the part of the Athletics, although Lindsay added one to their credit during the last quarter. Stanton locating the net. The play during this quarter was not as clean nor as fast as that of the earlier periods of the game, and a number of the Lindsay men were given varying periods in which to view the game from the fence. At one time three of the Lindsay players were out of the game as a result of injudicious playing.

The Lindsay team will be here on Wednesday, Aug. 26th, and will make a strenuous attempt to reverse the result of yesterday's game. They will bring their stongest team on that occasion, and the Athletics are making calculations on a game which will be warmly contested. They are practicing consistently and whether they win or lose they will do so knowing that they have done their best. The visitors were well treated by the Lindsay team, and have only pleasant memories of the first game in the semi-finals for the Junior C.L.A. championship. The teams lined up as follows:—

REMARKED ON THE GRAND STAND.

It is a pleasure to witness the clever combination work of the Athletics home.

The boys' temporal wants were well supplied by Mine Host Simpson, of the Simpson House.

J. J. Howden, Hon. President of the Athletics, was one of the most interested spectators of the game. His heart is still in his beloved sport.

A combination of small boy, cigarette and matches was the cause of a small blaze in a building adjoining the grand stand. It was quickly extinguished, but the fire brigade visited the scene and gave the building a good drenching.

Lindsay people do not support lacrosse as heartily as baseball. This was evidenced yesterday by the fact that fully half of those witnessing the game were from Peterborough.

Captain Dillon is still obliged to refrain from playing on account of his injured hand. He witnessed the work of his team yesterday from behind the goal, and has no reason to be ashamed of his men.

YUKON COMMISSION.

Some Evidence Taken as to the Treadgold Concession.

MINERS' METHOD OF RELIEF

Mr. Sigmund Rothschild's Statement Regarding the Cost of the Water System—The Cost of Getting Out Gold at the Present Time—What His Company Is Prepared to Do For Water Takers.

Vancouver, Aug. 20.—The Treadgold concessions commission, Hon. Judge Britton and Mr. Bell, have lost no time in settling down to a businesslike investigation of the questions referred to them. The first evidence was taken Tuesday, George White-Fraser being for a long time in the box and giving valuable expert testimony for the opposition. Being asked by the commission to suggest in his opinion the best method of relief, the witness said: "Annul the Treadgold monopoly of Klondike waters, give them five thousand inches as their grant calls for, but do not tie up the balance to the exclusion of all others." The witness stated that capital was ready and waiting to put in a system of water supply for the creeks if it could get the right to proceed with this important improvement.

Mr. Sigmund Rothschild as President of the Detroit Yukon syndicate, purchaser of the famous Williams concessions on Hunker Creek, testified that this company made vest expenditures upon their property only to have it now idle upon their hands because water could not be got to operate at a profit. Asked why the property lies idle, Mr. Rothschild said, "Because it costs one hundred dollars to get seventy-five dollars and nineteen cents worth of gold as things are at present."

"If you cannot get water on your ground what method do you adopt?" the witness was asked.

"Lie idle perforce, as we are now," he answered.

The witness stated that his company was ready at the present time to invest millions if necessary in the establishment of a perfect water system, and to sell the water at a price which all could pay and make money, if only the right to do so could be secured.

During yesterday morning's sittings Dr. Catto applied for subpoenas for Treadgold and for Gold Commissioner E. C. Senkler. A complaint was formally filed yesterday against the Matson and Doyle concession on Bonanza Creek, witnesses testifying to the richness of the ground in support of the contention that the concession had been secured by fraud. The allegation is that it has been claimed this ground was only for hydraulic operations, whereas it would pay handsomely when worked by the ordinary placer methods.

THE HEART NOT THE CHIEF VITAL ORGAN.

The stomach, not the heart, is the vital centre of the human body. What affects the stomach affects every organ of the body because from the stomach comes the nutrition which sustains life. If by reason of disease the digestive and assimilative processes of the stomach and its allied organs are impaired, that means the impairment of every organ of the body which must suffer from impaired sustenance.

It is a remarkable fact that people trifle with the stomach as with no other physical organ. They let it grow weak, know that its functions are failing and will do little or nothing to cure themselves. Let symptoms of disease manifest themselves in the heart, liver, kidneys, or lungs, and there is instant anxiety. They begin to "doctor" for "weak" heart, liver "trouble," kidney "trouble," or lung "trouble" as the case may be. And still they neglect stomach trouble, which is probably the cause of the disorder of other organs. That is the reason why so many people "doctor" without success for diseases of the heart, liver, kidneys, lungs, etc. They are entirely neglecting the cause of the disease which is in the stomach and which results in physical weakness because of lack of nutrition. And as the body as a whole is made up of the several organs of the body, heart, liver, kidneys, lungs, each bearing its share. If there is special predisposition to disease in any one organ, that organ will probably be the first to develop symptoms of disease.

The reason why Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures so many various diseases is that so many diseases have their origin in disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of the heart, liver, kidneys, lungs, etc., caused by disease of the stomach, are cured also.

The reason why "Golden Medical Discovery" cures when doctors have failed and other medicines have been tried in vain, is because the ordinary medical treatment ignores the stomach, while Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery begins by the cure of diseases of this vital centre and progresses to the cure of diseases of other organs remote from the stomach, but influenced by it and dependent upon it.

Remember that food is the material that sustains life, but only when it is perfectly digested and assimilated. It is by curing the disease of the stomach and its allied organs which hinder digestion and assimilation that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enables the building up of the body into vigourous health and strength, through perfect nutrition derived from food; the only source of physical strength and vigour.

OLD BATTLE AGAIN.

Commerce Congress Discussed Free Trade and Protection.

NO CONCLUSION WAS REACHED.

An Attempt to Reconcile the Divergent Views in Committee Failed, and the Subject Is Now Being Threshed Out on the Floor of Congress—Fast Atlantic Steamship Question.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 20.—Straight lines and sharp corners marked the debate on a revision of the fiscal policy of the Empire yesterday. In anticipation of a warm discussion every delegate was in his seat when Lord Brassey called the congress to order. The gallery was crowded with prominent business men from all sections of the Dominion and many parts of the United States. The conflict raged fiercely for six hours. There were dramatic situations and outbursts of feeling that few were prepared for. At one time every delegate was on his feet shouting vigorously. This was the echo of a particularly strong peroration from Mr. Hurst of Birstall picturing the Empire conquering the world by her new policy of preferential trade relations, her dazzling gospel of commerce.

Lord Strathcona declared that not in his experience had he witnessed a more inspiring situation, and Lord Brassey asserted that the nation had gained substantially by the splendid spectacle of these princes of the Empire's trade threshing out their differences as if it were to ever end now.

Advocated Free Trade.

The honor of initiating the debate for those who oppose the compromise resolution was accorded Sir William Holland, M.P. of Manchester. He desired to add to the article as agreed upon these words: "Due consideration being given to the fiscal and industrial needs of the component parts of the Empire, with a view to avoid injury to any."

Greeted with Mixed Expressions.

This was greeted with mixed expressions, and to avoid an open conflict a committee retired to grapple with it privately, the Canadian delegates declining to accept the change. The committee was out an hour, and on their return Mr. Owen Cockshutt of Toronto announced that the time had been wasted, as they had been unable to agree upon changing the resolution as he had introduced it Tuesday.

The discussion was then resumed by Sir William Holland, who argued at length in favor of the present system of free trade, and the colonies being left to adjust their tariffs to suit their own conditions. He then moved the amendment which he proposed earlier in the day.

The Debaters.

Those who discussed the tariff resolution formally were: Sir William Holland, Manchester; P. W. Ellis, Toronto; Joseph Walton, M. P., Barnsley; C. H. Lugerin, Victoria; Sir Elwyn Buck, Cawnpore; P. M. Belcher, Winnipeg; G. H. Hogg, North Shields; George Hurst, Birstall; Ebenezer Parks of Birmingham; Henry Bell Irving, Vancouver; Elijah Helmn, Manchester; F. J. Usher, Dublin; Robert J. Graham, Belleville; John W. Johnston, Belleville; O. E. Bodington of the Paris, France, Chamber of English merchants.

Fast Steamship Service.

The other matter discussed during the lull in the trade debate was a fast steamship service. Mr. Robert Reford, one of Montreal's most prominent steamship men, moved the Montreal resolution, favoring a steamship policy giving fast mail services, and the promotion of trade within the Empire. Mr. Reford somewhat surprised the delegates by coming out strongly in favor of Halifax as the all-year-round Canadian port of the fast line service, with Galway as the British entry. The resolution was debated for some time, the opinion being practically unanimous in favor of a subsidy from Britain, and was finally passed.

Favors Metric System.

The following resolution on the metric system was adopted with little waste of oratory, being proposed by the Birmingham Chamber:

That this congress, having had under its consideration the following resolution, adopted at the conference held in London during the months of June, July and August, 1902, between His Majesty's principal Secretary of State for the Colonies and the Prime Ministers of the self-governing colonies of the British Empire, namely:

"That it is advisable to adopt the metric system of weights and measures for use within the Empire, and the Prime Ministers urge the Governments represented at this conference to give consideration to the question of its early adoption."

Hereby expresses its hearty concurrence therewith, and urges upon the Government of the United Kingdom the necessity for legislative measures being taken in the interests of British trade and commerce to make the use of metric weights and measures compulsory.

Last night Lord Strathcona entertained the delegates at a grand function at his home. One thousand guests were present.

A WELL KNOWN ALBANY MAN.

Recommends Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

About eighteen months ago, Mr. W. S. Manning, of Albany, N.Y., widely known in trade circles as the representative of the Albany Chemical Co. was suffering from a protracted attack of diarrhoea. "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," he says, "and obtained immediate relief. I cheerfully recommend this medicine to those similarly afflicted." Sold by all druggists.

INCIDENT EXAGGERATED.

The Petrel's Log Concerning the Silver Spray Affair.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—The firing on the Erie tug Silver Spray for poaching in Canadian waters on Lake Erie turns out to have been a greatly exaggerated incident. Captain Dunn's log has been received by the Minister of Marine, and in it the matter is treated as an ordinary occurrence of no great importance. The Petrel sighted the Silver Spray and gave chase. The Silver Spray turned and made straight for the Government cutter. When the former was almost up, the latter signalled for her to stop, but the tug rushed by at full speed. Captain Dunn fired a rifle across the Silver Spray's bow, but it failed to bring her to. Thereupon, to quote from the log itself:—"I then fired direct at her with several rifles, but the tug kept on, and as she was as fast as the Petrel, there was nothing to do but lay to until she was out of sight, when we put in for Port Stanley."

This exhausts the details in the log. The department have asked for more information, and Captain Dunn will make an extended report.

SANCTIONED BY DIRECTORS.

A. E. Wallace Says Margins Were Bought With Knowledge of Atlas Officials.

St. Thomas, Aug. 20.—A conference was held yesterday between the directors of the Atlas Loan Company and the committees representing the general creditors and the employes of the Michigan Central Railway who had deposits with the company.

A. E. Wallace, the president, was examined at length by D. W. Saunders of the legal firm of Kingsmill & Co., Toronto, solicitors for the M. C. R. He was unable to explain the discrepancies between the report issued by the directors and that made by the liquidator, but said that in buying stocks he used the names of the directors, and also of personal friends, which explains the difficulty the liquidator will have in separating the accounts of the company from those of private parties.

Mr. Wallace stated the directors had sanctioned the use of the company's funds for buying margins on the stock market.

The committee will make a report after considering the statement of the president, which will be written up by a stenographer.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh; which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A. K. Schofield Dead.

Port Colborne, Aug. 20.—A. K. Schofield died at his residence here Tuesday night, after a long illness. EMPIRE AS A UNIT.

Object of Compromise Resolution at Commerce Congress.

TO STRENGTHEN THE BONDS.

According to Compromise Resolution It Will Be on Basis of Mutual Benefit—Great Debate Began on Question of Preferential Trade Within the Empire—The Proceedings at Montreal on Tuesday.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—The first practical step in the direction of a revision of the fiscal policy of the Empire was taken yesterday, when the preferential trade resolution was reported to the Congress of Chambers of Commerce. The historic debate on the reciprocal commercial relations opened instantly and promises to continue for two days. The committee's report was unanimous, but many hours were required to reach the conclusion. There were twelve sets of resolutions urging preferential trade relations within the Empire. Ten were from Canada and there was one each from the London Chamber of Commence and the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. These were crystallized by the committee into the following:

On Basis of Mutual Benefit.

It is resolved, That in the opinion of this congress the bonds of the British Empire should be materially strengthened and a union of the various parts of His Majesty's dominion greatly consolidated by the adoption of a commercial policy based upon the principle of mutual benefit, whereby each component part of the Empire would receive a substantial advantage in trade as the result of the national relationship, due consideration being given to the fiscal need of component parts of the Empire. That this congress urges upon His Majesty's Government the appointment by them of a special commission composed of representatives of Great Britain and her colonies and India to consider the possibilities of thus increasing and strengthening the trade relations between the different parts of the Empire, and the trading facilities within the Empire and with foreign countries.

The Debate.

There were five speeches made on this resolution. The debate was opened by Mr. F. W. Cockshutt of Toronto, in a great speech in its favor, and he was followed by Mr. S. B. Boulton, London Chambers of Commerce, in a most eloquent speech on the same side. Mr. Harvey Dawe of Plymouth, Mr. N. N. Cohen of London, Hon. George. A. Drummond of Montreal and Mr. Robert Meighen of the Montreal Chambers also voiced their support of the resolution.

Other Topics.

During the forenoon several speakers threshed out the subject of better consular service, and a reduction of the postal rates of the Empire, favoring a postal union. Resolutions were adopted, declaring an increase of the consular service imperative, and that it was essential to the prosperity of the colonies that postal rates be improved so that periodicals and newspapers can be circulated as cheaply between the Mother Country and the colonies as between the British Empire and the foreign countries adjacent.

Prisoners Escape.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—At the portals of the jail yesterday afternoon, Quackenbush, Gallagher and Doyle, the burglars, made a bold stroke for liberty. They were supposed to be securely handcuffed together, but a sister of Quackenbush and another female friend had smuggled a file to the prisoners, and they had filed their handcuffs. The police were taken by surprise, and the men got away. Quackenbush and Gallagher were, however, soon captured, but Doyle, up to a late hour last night had not been taken.

Operator Had Headache.

Kingston, Aug. 19.—The disastrous collision on Aug. 12 on the C. P. R., near Sharbot Lake, in which Engineer Hallihan and Fireman Forsythe lost their lives, was due to the awful mistake of Operator Worth of Arendale station, who, while dazed by a severe headache, told Despatcher Ivory, at Havelock, that No. 54, a freight train, had not passed when it had been let through by himself. The jury decided that Worth was the cause of the accident but that in his condition he was not responsible.

Dropped Dead in Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Aug. 19.—Horace E. Crawford, K.C., a prominent lawyer from Winnipeg, dropped dead in his room at the King's Royal Hotel here yesterday. Mr. Crawford was the law partner of Hon. J. A. Campbell, Attorney-General for the Roblin Government.

Massacre Over Melons.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 19.— A special from Heflin, Ala., says: Three men have been killed and ten wounded in Randolph County by a negro named Sledge. The white men slashed the negro's melons.

Destructive Hail Storm.

Moose Jaw, Aug. 19.—A destruction Tuesday night and damaged the section for 21 square miles. The estimated loss has not been figured out, but it will go into six figures.

Celebrated a Century.

Athens, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Robert Lee celebrated her 100th birthday yesterday. Mrs. Lee is still quite smart and recalls vividly events of her earlier days.

Would You Think It?

Would you think it possible that you could be disappointed in the face of a woman whose shapely shoulders, and beautiful hair suggest womanly perfection and beauty? Such disappointment comes not seldom when the face turned to you shows disfiguring blotches and blemishes. In general the cause of these eruptions is impure blood.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood, and removes the corrupt accumulations which cause disease. When the blood is cleansed, pimples, tetter, salt-rheum, boils, sores, and other results of impure blood, are perfectly and permanently cured.

"For three years I suffered with that dreaded disease eczema," writes Mrs. J. Koepp, of Herman, Oregon. "I was told to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did, and after I had taken fourteen bottles I was permanently cured. It has been a year since I stopped taking your medicine and it has never appeared since. I think your medicine a wonderful cure and hope others suffering as I did, will take it and be relieved of their suffering."

Some of the most remarkable cures effected by "Golden Medical Discovery," have been of scrofulous diseases.

"I will forever thank you for advising me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mrs. Jas Murphy, of Fonda, Pocahontas Co, Iowa, "It has cured me of chronic scrofula of twelve years' standing. I had doctored for the trouble until I was completely discouraged. I also had chronic diarrhea for twelve years. I am in good health now—better than I ever was in my life, owing to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took several bottles of the 'Discovery' before I stopped."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

1847 ROGERS BROS. TRADE MARK

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

LABOR'S AMENDMENT

Mr. Puttee of Winnipeg on G. T. P. Railway Question.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP!

Mr. Hugh Guthrie and Others Continue the Discussion of the Transcontinental Line Wholly Within Canada—Mr. Charlton Again Expresses Himself in Favor of a Divorce Court—Sir William's Bill.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—A bill, introduced by Sir William Mulock in the House yesterday, provides that the Deputy Ministers' salaries are increased to $3,500 with annual increases on a recommendation of the Minister to $4,000, and an extra $1,000 may be paid to the Deputy Minister of Justice, Deputy Minister of Finance and Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, if these gentlemen are possessed of special qualifications mentioned in the bill.

A new class of clerkships will be created, known as grade "A." The minimum salary for these will be $2,400, with annual increases to $2,500.

The minimum salary for junior and first-class clerks is made $700, and the maximum salary $1,000, but such clerks may be paid $50 each for optional subjects, not to make their salaries on appointment more than $800. Junior second-class clerks now in the Government employ may be paid $700 a year, if they are not receiving that amount already.

No person shall be appointed a third-class clerk without passing the qualifying civil service examinations. The minimum salary shall be $400 in this grade, and maximum $700. Fifty dollars each may be paid for optional subjects, not to increase the salary on appointment beyond $500.

Temporary writers who have been 10 years in the service may be appointed third-class clerks.

The G.T.P. Debate.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie resumed the debate on the transcontinental railway question. He supported the Government scheme on national as opposed to sectional grounds, and criticising Mr. Borden's speech said the policy it enunciated was "a piece of patchwork."

Mr. A. W. Puttee said the Government's scheme and contract with the Grand Trunk had touched no popular chord, and he moved an amendment to the Government's plan setting forth the desirability of railways being owned and operated by the Government. His amendment also declared that the time is now opportune for Government construction and operation of railways, under a properly safe-guarded civil service, placed beyond the influence of party politics.

Mr. A. E. Kemp attacked Mr. Charlton and other defenders of the Government's scheme, and urged the abandonment of the eastern section of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mr. Hughes of Prince Edward Island discussed the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme in its effects in the Maritime Province. The cost to the people of Canada, he said, would not amount to 20 cents a head.

Mr. Bennett (East Simcoe) declared that the eastern section of the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme was essentially a political railway. He said of the western section that the system pursued by the Western States should be pursued by Canada, that is, a mixed system of rail and water. An all-rail route was out of the question.

Again a Divorce Court.

The bill for the relief of Ellen McDermid was read a third time in the House last night. Mr. Charlton again advocated the establishment of a divorce court.

On Her Beam Ends.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 20.—Capt. Goodwin of the schooner Carleton Belle arrived at Sydney yesterday, and reported passing a schooner of about 80 tons on her beam ends off Louisburg. The weather was so rough that he could not ascertain her name.

Lunatic Murderer Is Dead.

Kingston, Aug. 20.—Gideon Butts, aged 60, who was violently insane, died yesterday in Rockwood Asylum. In May he murdered his wife and was sent to Napanee to await trial, and sent here because of his insane condition.

THREW UP THE SPONGE.

The Fight Over the T. & H. Railway Bill Has Been Finished by an Agreement Safeguarding the Municipalities.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—The promoters of the Toronto and Hamilton Railway Bill threw up the sponge yesterday morning, and all that the Railway Committee had to do was to ratify an agreement reached between the promoters and the municipal representatives. All the municipal rights jeopardized by the bill as first drawn have been safe-guarded, and the Government has declared that such measures should not be dealt with by the Dominion Parliament.

H. H. Dewart told the committee that an agreement had been reached. The company had agreed to amendments providing that only the trunk line between the cities of Toronto and Hamilton should be declared "a work for the general advantage of Canada." Secondly, no part of the proposed line is to be constructed on any street or highway or public communication without the consent of the municipality expressed by by-law. Thirdly, none of the provincial railways to be acquired by the Toronto and Hamilton Railway are to be declared as works for the general advantage of Canada.

The position of the Government with regard to the bill, as given by Hon. W. S. Fielding, acting Minister of Railways, was this:

"It may lay down some rules that may embarrass us in the future. My one view is that it is not an enterprise for the general advantage of Canada and required nothing more than could be given it by the province. We have been erring in the past in declaring too many roads for the general advantage of Canada when they were not so. I know this bill is going through, but I do not want to be told hereafter that it is a precedent and hereafter we must have conclusive evidence that a railway is for the advantage of Canada before declaring it as such and that it wants something that it cannot get from the province."

The bill, as amended was reported.

Cholera Infantum.

This has long been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and castor oil, as directed with each bottle, and a cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

Harcourt on Preference.

London, Aug. 20.—In a letter to The Times yesterday, Sir William Vernon Harcourt says: "Without a taxation of food there can be no colonial preference; without colonial preference there can be no stable alliance of the colonies; without loyalty on the part of the colonies the fabric of the Empire would be dissolved."

20 Sailed For Canada.

London, Aug. 20.—The British Parliamentary party, numbering twenty, sailed for Canada yesterday.

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, August 21, 9.45 a.m.—The weather map shows conditions equal or more favourable in wheat and corn belts than yesterday. Liverpool wheat 3-8 to 1-2 lower; corn, 1-8 to 1-4 lower.

London shows much more confident tone as result of our better closing. Apart from this the attitude of Sultan in connection with Russian demands is conclusive for making peaceful settlement of Balkan difficulty. It developed yesterday that some attempt was made to force a decline of importance during afternoon. Supply of stocks, however, very limited, and sharp rally, which took place, was largely the result of covering. As pointed out in these advices, many properties are attractive at present to investors, and, while speculation is not encouraged by large interests, the investment public are watching the situation closely, and the influence of this class of buying is potent on the declines.

HOW CIVIC HOLIDAY WAS CELEBRATED.

St. Peter's T.A.S. team and the Intermediate Orillians. The T.A.S. management put a very weak team on the field. They were without the services of Jimmy O'Brien, F. Derocher, Muldoon and Doyle, and were obliged to line up Billy Donovan(goal), Joe Begley, Jack McDonough and Charley LaPierre, the latter player kindly consenting to fill a gap, and for one who was not in condition put up a good game. The quality of lacrosse put up by the teams was at times first class, and the game was closer than the score would indicate. The locals however were outclassed and were no match for their speedy opponents, who certainly are a fast bunch and will be heard of later on in the Intermediate race. In Arens they have a goal keeper who stands in a class by himself and has all others beat to death. His remarkable work in goal yesterday kept the score of the T.A.S. home down to three goals, and in his position in the nets he can handle all sorts of propositions. Mickey Connors on the home is the same dare devil player, swift and accurate in his shooting and fast and cunning in his dodging. Dan Connons is the same old Dan, and that is saying a great deal, while in Northcotte the northerners have a find. He is certainly a dandy. The Orillians defeated Gravenhurst a few days ago in an Intermediate game 14—0, and were in splendid condition yesterday. A commendable feature of the game was the good feeling which existed between the players. The game was entirely free from roughness; not a player was ruled off or injured, and Mr. Darcy Regan, who officiated as referee had nothing to do but face the ball at the beginning of each quarter.

The excursionists reached town shortly after ten o'clock everyone being well pleased with the day's outing. The committee of management, to whom great credit is due for the success of the event, was composed of Messrs. T. J. Titterson, F. Darling, B. Doupe, W. Maniece and J. Symons.

AROUND THE LAKES.

Peterborough Lodge, I. O. O. F., Held a Very Successful Outing.

One of the most pleasant and picturesque of the many excursions advertised for Civic Holiday was that of Peterborough Lodge, I.O.O.F., by rail to Lindsay, by boat to Lakefield, and from Lakefield home by train. When the special pulled out of the Grand Trunk station there were between three and four hundred pleasure-seekers on board. After a run of 45 minutes Lindsay was reached, the excursion train being taken down to the wharf at the Scugog town. Here the steamer Kenosha was boarded and the journey commenced through the beautiful waters of the Kawartha Lakes. Bobcaygeon, the "home of the good, the true and the beautiful," was reached at noon, and a stay of an hour was made for dinner, and inspecting the romantic scenery of this rock-bound village. After the appetites of all had been appeased the steamer was again boarded, and the sail continued through Pigeon Lake, and Buckhorn Lake, to Buckhorn, passing en route the new floating bridge at Gannon's Narrows, which is just having the finishing touches put on by a number of carpenters. The choir boys of St. John's church, with their long row of snowy-white tents, encamped on Jacobs' Island, were saluted by the steamer. While the boat was being locked through at Buckhorn, a number availed themselves of the opportunity to pay a visit to the immense rocks near the hotel. The sail through Deer Bay and Lovesick to Burleigh was one of the prettiest portions of the seventy mile trip. Burleigh was reached at six, and the sail homeward to Lakefield was made in quick time. Here the steamer was left, and Conductor Hackill's Cannon Ball Express was boarded, and a record run made to Peterborough.

The Kenosha is a large roomy boat and is splendidly adapted for excursion parties. Though not very fast, she is steady and a good sea boat. She is illuminated by incandescent light, and carries a large search light at her bow.

Altogether the day was an ideal one for such a trip, and the 300 passengers and over were unanimous in according the day as one of the most pleasant they ever enjoyed.

LEAGUERS AT BURLEIGH.

A Pleasant Excursion Under the Auspices of George Street Epworth League.

Perhaps no better day could have been chosen for an excursion than yesterday and perhaps no excursions provide as much pleasure as those held under the auspices of the Epworth League of the George street Methodist church. Be that as it may, however, yesterday's excursion to Burleigh Falls, which was held under the auspices of that League, was a complete success socially if not financially.

At eight o'clock in the morning five 'busses, well laden with people, including the usual sprinkling of children, left for Chemong Park to make connections with the steamer "Ogemah," by which vessel transportation to Burleigh was effected.

It was a glorious drive to Chemong; the leaves blushing to a deeper hue and nature everywhere seeming to surpass herself in beauty, while the constant change of scene occupied the minds of all, more especially on the trip by water, when each, of an almost numberless quantity of islets, seemed to be more beautiful than the last.

It would be a fruitless task to describe in detail, the scenery, so beautiful that once seen it is impossible to forget. The large expanse of water, broken on all sides by tiny islands, with their abundance of overgrowth, although so largely void of human presence, represented a picture so full of life that one could but look and be entranced.

At last, at about 12.40 o'clock, Burleigh Falls was reached and the passengers of the "Ogemah" with their heavy pic-nic baskets, well laden with necessities for human existence, went "back, back, back to the woods," to try and find some shady nook by the babbling water where they might satisfy their desires of what has been termed "the inner man."

It was with many expressions of regret, not to say surprise that the warning note of the steamer's departure was heard at half past one o'clock. The stay was, of necessity, a short one, but the time had been well spent, and it is thought the pangs of hunger, which had been felt an hour previous had all been dispelled.

It was not long before everyone had settled down to the homeward trip, and pleasant chat went around in musical undertone. Occasionally, during a lapse in the conversation, the playful dashing of the water against the boat would seem to whisper echoes of Indian songs with which those islands must have oft resounded long before they knew the tread of white man.

Chemong was again reached shortly after five o'clock and here by the lapping waters and rustling trees a stop of three hours was made, until finally the 'busses rolled up, collected their human freight and rattled off through the ever increasing darkness until the lights of home were once again in view at close range, when everyone went their ways dwelling upon the pleasures which the excursion had afforded them.

AT RICE LAKE.

Interesting Happenings at the Breezy Island.

Idyl Wyld, Aug. 20th.

Arrivals at the Idyl Wyld summer resort are increasing. The following guests are registered this week: Mr. Thos. Breakenridge, Woodstock; Mr. Thos. Newton, Cavanville; Mr. M. T. Breakenridge, Peterborough; Mrs. Ida DeVitney and two children, St. Mary's; Mrs. Martha Hicks, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. W. Menzies, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hicks, Peterborough; Rev. W. L. Armitage, Peterborough; Miss Mamie Stewart, Toronto.

There are also quite a number of summer visitors at other points on the Lake. Mr. Corkery of the Lakeview House, Harwood, has a number of American tourists, and is expecting more. Mr. Dan Foley, of the Jubilee House, has had a good season, and Mr. Harris, of Gore's Landing, has a full house.

Rainy Point Cottage is at present occupied by a pleasant party from Peterborough, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watt and son, Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lang and two children. There are some expert fishermen among this party, from whom some fine catches are expected.

Mr. Hutchinson, the genial host of the Idyl Wyld Hotel, gave his guests a musical entertainment on Tuesday night. The programme consisted of a number of popular violin and banjo selections with vocal accompaniments by lady and gentlemen vocalists.

Flocks of ducks are seen flying into the rice beds in front of Idyl Wyld every day. Duck shooting begins here September 1st, and is an event looked forward to with eager expectation.

The rice is ripening quickly and the crop is fairly good.

Mr. Schonberg, a wealthy American lady, of Cobourg, has purchased Spooke Island, just off Gore's Landing. It is said she intends erecting a $5,000 cottage on the island.

The bosom of Rice Lake is continually dotted with sailing and boating parties, some engaged in trawling for the rather too shy maskinonge, others still-fishing for the gamey bass, and others enjoying the stiff lake breeze, rowing and sailing.

Idyl Wyld has been selected this season by a larger number of excursion parties than has visited the island for eight years previous. Not only has Peterborough furnished a goodly share of these, but Hastings, Warkworth, Keene, Roseneath, Millbrook, Monaghan and Alinwick have sent their contingents of pleasure parties. This island is certainly admirably adapted for pic-nics. No other point in the Rice Lake region can excell it for invigorating breezes and cool bracing air. The necessity for artificial apetitizers is unknown at Idyl Wyld.

Much unnecessary disappointment, as well as loss of business to the house, has been caused to Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson by the want of forethought on the part of the managers of excursions in not notifying them of their coming. On quite a number of occasions this season big excursion parties have pulled into the wharf and the crowds have rushed up to the dining room expecting to be supplied with dinner or supper, when no notice had been given of their coming. This is not treating the host fairly. The house is well able to cater to any extra crowd that may favour it with a visit, if only some intimation is given of their coming. The meals supplied to regular weekly guests at Idyl Wyld are not excelled at any of the lake resorts round Peterborough. There is both variety and abundance of everything, well cooked and well prepared, and no one can find fault with the cuisine except the chronic fault finder.

The daily steamer service is a great convenience and mail matter for the guests is received and delivered at Harwood P.O., with regularity.

The big pic-nic of the machinists of Peterborough is the principal attraction on the island to-day.

A party of American visitors are expected here on Saturday.

TRAITOR TO LABOR.

Chief Organizer in Canada Sold Himself to the C. P. R.

REPORT OF B. C. COMMISSION

Labor Troubles in the Far West Impel Commission to Say There Are Good Unions and Bad Unions—Legislation Suggested to Declare Certain Organizations Illegal—Strikes Caused by Intrigues.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—The report of the British Columbia Labor Commission, which was tabled in the House yesterday afternoon, contains some startling revelations. It shows that the strike of the United Brotherhood of Railway Employes on the C.P.R., which began in February last year, was brought about by the headquarters of the organization at San Francisco, while the strikes this year of the coal miners in the employ of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, the Western Fuel Company, Nanaimo; the Wellington Colliery Company, Ladysmith and Union, respectively, were due to another foreign organization, the Western Federation of Miners, with headquarters at Denver.

Sold Himself to C.P.R.

With respect to the C.P.R. strike it was established that the chief organizer in Canada of the United Brotherhood, while acting in this capacity, had sold his services, along with confidential letters received from the president of the order, to the railway company, and acted as one of their secret service officials, while he still continued to be chief executive officer of the order for the Dominion. George Estes, president of the order, exercised an all but complete control over the movements of the striking forces and directed the entire strike.

Brought About by Intrigue.

The report details at length attempts to tie up the steamship service of the Canadian Pacific Railway on the Pacific and Kootenay Lakes, to bring about a stoppage in the supply of coal and to effect a gigantic boycott in connection with the products of all concerns which even remotely might be brought into business connection with the C.P.R. The commissioners express the opinion that the strike of the coal miners at Ladysmith, which commenced on March 12, and affected about 800 employes, was brought about first by an intrigue whereby the Western Federation of Miners, in an effort to assist the United Brotherhood of Railway Employes, strikers on the Canadian Pacific Railway, sought to tie up the Dunsmuir mining properties, on Vancouver Island, which were at the time supplying the Canadian Pacific Railway with coal. Upon this point the report says: "The trouble at Ladysmith would never have taken place but for the strike of the United Brotherhood of Vancouver. It originated in the intrigues of a few men who, in part consciously, in part unwittingly, allowed themselves to be used as instruments to serve the desires and ends of a handful of dictators residing in the United States, and who are not in any way amenable to the laws of the country or responsible to those of its inhabitants whom they succeed in enlisting in the forces with which they hold sway."

Unsatisfactory Arbitration.

The report draws attention to the arbitrary and inconsiderate dealing on the part of the management of the Wellington Colliery Company with its employes and of the manner in which they were required to give up residence at the mines at Extension and reside at the Town of Ladysmith. Commenting on this, the commissioners say: "It is just such arbitrary and inconsiderate dealing that antagonizes employes to their employers, and is at once a provocation and justification for the formation of unions."

There was an absence of any general desire among the miners at Ladysmith for organization or of dissatisfaction with the wages or conditions of their employment.

Guilty of Deception.

In the case of the strike at Union the officials of the Western Federation of Miners were proved to have been guilty of deception in dealing with the officers of local unions, who still should have possessed their utmost confidence. The federation were prepared to organize the Japanese and Chinese laborers in the Dominion to effect their purposes, and their chief representative in Canada did not respect his oath as it should have been respected in giving evidence before the commissioners, as in the case of Ladysmith, the strike at Union was not due to any real feeling of dissatisfaction among the miners in regard to the conditions of their employment, but to a carefully contrived and skilfully executed intrigue on the part of persons acting as part of, or in connection with the executive of the Western Federation of Miners at Denver.

General Conclusions.

In the conclusions of the commissioners the problems to which the relations of organized labor and organized capital have given rise and more particularly the matter of industrial disputes and questions incident to them are carefully reviewed, and the rights and duties of the respective parties in relation thereto set forth. The right of workmen to combine is defended, but the sympathetic strike, the boycott, intimidation, blacklisting and picketing, as commonly practised, are condemned.

The strike for recognition, according to the report, should not be declared unlawful, but it is specially incumbent on the authorities when such a strike takes place to see that no illegal or criminal methods are used to gain reinforcements.

With respect to international organizations, it is pointed out that the chief objection is the liability of Canadian workmen to interference by officials in matters of contract and in settlement of differences with their employes. In this connection, if Parliament would declare that, notwithstanding anything contained in the constitution or in the rules of the international bodies, any agreement arrived at by an employer with his employes in settlement of a dispute should be valid and binding, the most formidable objection to these bodies would be removed.

Different Sorts of Unions.

The report draws a sharp line of distinction between the legitimate trade union and "a class of so-called union which is not really a trade union at all, but a secret political organization." To the latter class are assigned the American Labor Union, the Western Federation of Miners and the United Brotherhood of Railway Employes, which are in confederation with each other and whose leaders were engaged in a conspiracy to sweep all the employes of the Canadian Pacific Railway into the United Brotherhood and all coal miners into the Western Federation, doubtless with a view to being able to stop all transportation and all mining whenever it might appear expedient in the advancement of the common end. The commissioners say that all legitimate trade unionism ought to be encouraged and protected, but organizations such as these referred to should be prohibited and declared illegal, and there ought to be a strict enforcement of the law relating to the administration of voluntary oath. The commissioners suggested that provision be made for the incorporation of trade unions with a model constitution.

Government Interference.

The establishment of boards of conciliation and the compulsory investigation of disputes are recommended. While the weight of opinion, as expressed before the commission, was opposed to compulsory arbitration, the commissioners advise that in case of disputes affecting the public interest which are not settled within a certain period the Government should have power to refer the matter to a court, whose award shall be binding for a period not exceeding one year. As to foreign interference, the commissioners think it necessary for Parliament to interfere in the direction of making it an offence for any person not a British subject who has not been a resident in the Province for at least one year to procure or incite any employe in Canada to quit employment without the consent of the employer or for any person in Canada to communicate in any way the contents of any order or request by persons individually resident without Canada having in view the bringing about of a strike in this country.

The report concludes with a recommendation in favor of strengthening the laws of labor, which should be done gradually and with due regard to the conditions of the particular industry in other countries.

AWAIT FINAL CALL.

Lord Salisbury's Relatives Gathered Near the Sick Room.

IS KEPT ALIVE BY OXYGEN.

Aged Statesman Does Not Suffer Much Pain, and Has Only Brief Periods of Consciousness — Friday Evening's Improvements Likely to Prove No More Than the Last Flicker —Death of His Sister.

London, Aug. 22.—The gates of Hatfield House were closed at midnight, with the announcement that there had been no change in the patient's condition since early in the evening, and no other bulletin was expected until morning.

The general belief is that Lord Salisbury will last through the night, but there is little expectation that the improvement shown last evening will prove more than a last flicker.

Since the bulletin, issued Thursday night, announcing that the condition of Lord Salisbury was critical, the members of his family have been gathered in the vicinity of the sick room, awaiting the final call.

It is realized that death is inevitable, though the patient is making a wonderful struggle. For 24 hours he has been fighting for every breath, aided by a continual supply of oxygen. The heart weakness, which has been the patient's last seizure, is hourly becoming accentuated, and the Marquis is gradually sinking. He does not suffer much pain, and has only brief periods of consciousness.

King Edward Anxious.

Telegrams have poured in from notable men throughout the world. King Edward telegraphed for additional information, though His Majesty has been kept informed of the bulletins.

Viscount Cranborne, Lord Salisbury's eldest son, says that his father was improving in health until last week, when a slight accident led to a recurrence of the complications he had been suffering from, including marked weakness of the heart and circulation. The most serious element of his illness, however, is nervous prostration, which on several occasions has been acute. The slight accident to which Viscount Cranborne referred yesterday occurred under these circumstances: Lord Salisbury was asleep in a chair, when the arm on which he was leaning gave way, and he fell heavily to the ground, receiving a severe shock.

His Sister Is Dead.

Hatfield House is situated in a magnificent park, which skirts the quaint town of which the Marquis of Salisbury is practically the owner.

FIRST RACE WON BY THE RELIANCE.

The Defender Crossed the Line Nearly Nine Minutes Ahead of the Shamrock III.

SHAMROCK III. AND RELIANCE RACING FOR THE CUP.

(Special to the Examiner.)

With a strong wind blowing offshore at the rate of seventeen miles an hour, the race between Shamrock III and Reliance was sailed to-day. A despatch sent at 10.30 stated that the prospects were good for a splendid race. Both boats got a good start, the Shamrock leading slightly, which lead she maintained until noon, when it was reported that the Reliance was gaining on her. An unofficial report at 2.30 stated that the Shamrock was still leading.

New York, August 22nd — Reliance crossed finish line at 3.17.45, Shamrock III. at 3.26.40, official time.

The above despatch tells the story of the defeat of Lipton's cup challenger in the first race.

A CARNIVAL ACCIDENT.

Harry Seaman of Toronto Run Over by a Hamilton Trolley.

Hamilton, Aug. 22.—A most distressing accident occurred at the corner of Hughson and King streets last night about 10.15. The victim is Harry Seaman, the 10-year-old son of Thomas Seaman, 140 Duchess street, Toronto. He was knocked down and run over by a street car. The flesh on his left leg, from the knee up, was torn clear off the bone. The doctor says he cannot live.

Deadly Crossing Again.

Clinton, Aug. 22.—As the G.T.R. pay train was returning from Goderich at noon yesterday it ran into Thos. Webster and his little son, who were driving along the 14th concession. Both Mr. Webster and the horse were instantly killed, but the boy escaped without injury.

Barn Was Burned

London, Aug. 22.—On Wednesday morning the barns of John Cruikshanks, near Springbank, East Williams, were struck by lightning. All the season's crops were lost.

from H. M. S. Good Hope. Out of sixteen 100-pound shells fired from a 6-in. quick-firing gun in two minutes, fifteen hit the target, and our correspondent informs us that the first shot cannot have missed by more than six or eight inches. This constitutes a world's record for a run of two minutes.

are overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Menard cured after doctors failed to help her.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me after doctors had failed, and I want other girls to know about it. During menstruation I suffered most intense pain low in the abdomen and in my limbs. At other times I had a heavy, depressed feeling which made my work seem twice as hard, and I grew pale and thin. The medicine the doctor gave me did not do me one bit of good, and I was thoroughly discouraged. The doctor wanted me to stop work, but, of course, I could not do that. I finally began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and felt better after taking the first bottle, and after taking six bottles I was entirely cured, and am now in perfect health, and I am so grateful for it."—Miss GEORGIE MENARD, 537 E. 152nd St., New York City.—

THREE CHEERS FOR PROSPERITY.

The other day the Conservatives met in pic-nic in Toronto, to bewail the ruin that was being brought upon the country by Liberal rule. While one of the speakers on Toronto Island was painting the scene of national destruction in blue ruin colours there suddenly arose a babel of steam whistles—roaring and screeching. Then the people stood up in thousands and gave three cheers. The speaker knew that it was not his dismal oratory that brought the cheering, which the people meant as an expression of joy over the winning of the Canadian boat in the yacht race. But really why the whistles roared and screamed was because at that moment a big ship was being launched from the Bertram Shipyards. The other boats in the bay whistled a welcome to a new vessel and the whistles in the engine works whistled it good-bye as it sailed away to do its share in handling the trade and commerce of the country so rapidly growing under the blue ruin rule of the Liberals—according to Conservative sour grapes ideas. And we have examples nearer home. A citizen of Peterborough placed an order some time ago with a Toronto firm, but failed to have his order filled promptly. He was told that the firm could not get men to do their work. He wrote many letters of remonstrance in vain, and at last in spirit of compelled resignation wrote that he supposed that things would not grow better till that man Laurier was turned out. The next day he received the following letter:—

Toronto, Aug. 13th, 1903.

Dear Sir.—Yours of 12th inst to hand. The best and only answer we can give you is that your order was shipped this morning. As you say, you see nothing for it but to turn that man Laurier out. No doubt his policy has brought a very great excess of business in the country and that is the trouble. If we had got some good old fossil in his place we should have less to do.

Yours truly,

Yes, turn that man Laurier out and put some fossil in his place and we shall speedily all "have less to do." Meanwhile, to borrow the language of a contemporary, let us cheer for our busy shipyards, our humming factories, where the wheels whirl, our foundries where the hammers ring, and farms where the barns bulge, and our political pienics where the voice of the spell-binder is drowned by the jubilant whistles of our lusty infant industries.

MR. BORDEN'S INCONSISTENCIES

(Toronto Star.)

Mr. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition, argues that railways cannot compete with waterways in carrying grain, and yet he advocates the construction of the Winnipeg to Moncton road under Government operation. If he thinks the line cannot get traffic as against the waterways, he ought not to want the Government to operate it.

He declares he will join with the Government in building colonization railways in unopened country in the West, but says the Government should not spend its money where there are already railways. This is exactly what the Government is doing. But it is not what Mr. Borden would have them do. In his alternative policy he says he would acquire the Canada Atlantic Railway to Parry Sound, buy the C.P.R. north of Lake Superior, and the two railways from Port Arthur and Fort William to Winnipeg. These are all existing roads and the money spent would not open new country. He directly contradicts the principle which he lays down.

He bases his proposals upon the congestion of traffic in the West, but at the same time expresses the opinion that the two railways now built between Port Arthur and Winnipeg are capable of handling all the traffic likely to arise for some time to come.

He criticizes the Government for contributing to what are called the lean portions of the new transcontinental line, and yet with extraordinary inconsistency proposes that the Government should build through the Rocky Mountains, paying the total cost of the road, while also assuming the risks of operation on this most expensive as well as leanest section of the road.

Throughout his whole speech, Mr. Borden is hopelessly at sea. Feeling it incumbent upon him to find fault with the Government's policy, he has pieced together a string of proposals which only serve to make still plainer than before the advantages of the Government's policy.

THE CASE OF MR. SCHWAB.

(Christian Guardian.)

Mr. Charles M. Schwab, for two years president of the United States Steel Corporation, the greatest industrial combination in the world, in which position he received a salary of two million dollars a year, has resigned. There had been rumors that this was coming, and various reasons had been assigned, but now that it has come the official reason given is that Mr. Schwab's health is shattered. That this is a part of the truth is possible, that it is all of it is not likely. Mr. Schwab's career has been a remarkable one. In a few years, by sheer force of ability and determination, he has risen from the post of stage-driver to a position of commanding importance in the industrial world. Without education himself, he has frequently spoken against the advisability of giving a high-school or college education to any young man intended for industrial life. With such views and sentiments, he found himself suddenly placed in a position of unusual influence and wealth, which he had not the training or instinct to rightly enjoy or use. No wonder that shattered nerves resulted. Recently, too, he has become somewhat of a "highflyer," as his exploits at Monte Carlo show. It is quite probable that the revelation to the leaders of the great combination of his lack of moral balance had as much to do with his fall as anything else.

SQUARE DEALING PAYS.

(Toronto Star.)

Here is a little sermon on honesty that Canadians who produce for export should take well to heart. "Dishonesty on the part of the American cheesemaker," says an agricultural newspaper published in Iowa, "destroyed his English market for his product ,and gave to his shrewder and more honest Canadian competitor a market worth millions of dollars a year. It pays in the long run to be honest."

Having, according to this, gained a market worth millions by honesty, it should not be necessary to remind Canadians who export cheese, butter, fruit, and other products that "it pays in the long run to be honest."

But such reminders are necessary. The Canadian trade agents abroad are sending home warnings against sharp practices in packing goods for export. The Government has found it necessary to guard the outlet, to prevent improperly packed and dishonestly graded goods from getting away to foreign parts. It seems that the individual producer often takes no interest in the foreign market, and that the small dealer is often equally deficient in a sense of responsibility, so that everything depends on the man who actually does the exporting. The Government by various newly-devised regulations seeks to enforce honesty where it does not exist, and the importance of this cannot be overestimated. But the individual producer should bear in mind that when the products of a country get a good reputation in the world's markets it means prosperity for the producing classes.

CAUSED BY THE HEAT.

A Rash on Baby's Skin That Often Alarms Careful Mothers.

During the summer months a rash often appears on the face, neck and body of babies and small children which is liable to alarm the careful mother. It is due to the excessive heat, and, while not dangerous, is the cause of much suffering. Immediate relief is given by dusting the eruption liberally with Baby's Own Powder, which may be had at any druggist's, but to cure the trouble a medicine must be given that will cool the blood of the little sufferer. Baby's Own Tablets will be found a positive blessing in such cases and will soon restore the cleanliness and beauty of baby's skin. Mrs. Clifton Cuyler, of Kincardine, Ont., says: "My baby had a rash break out on her face and all over her body. I gave her medicine ,but the eruption never left her until I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and after using them a short time the rash entirely disappeared. I have also given her the Tablets for constipation, with the best of results; they act gently, but promptly, and always make baby quiet and restful. I think the tablets a splendid medicine for young children." Baby's Own Tablets may be had from all dugists at 25 cents per box, and Baby's Own Powder at the same price. If you prefer to order direct they will be sent post paid on receipt of price by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

ALL TRAINS TO CARRY MAIL.

A New Departure of the United States Postal Department.

(Montreal Witness.)

A reported decision by the United States Postmaster General to make all railway trains mail trains, and thus bring the whole transportation system of the country under the protection of the federal government, would be a centralizing movement of far-reaching importance. It means not only greatly increased mailing facilities, but also that interference with railways or trains by strikers or others will be an offence against government, and punishable as such To obstruct the tracks or try to prevent the regular going or coming of trains would cease to be private criminal acts and would become technically attacks on the national government, which will have the right to call out regular troops to maintain its authority. The new order is said to have been decided upon in view of the threatening aspects of the labour struggle.

To put it into practical operation it is said that all baggagemen and train hands are to be enrolled in the postal service and receive pay in addition to their regular wages from the railway companies. All trains would be furnished with boxes for the mailing of letters by passengers, and places that now receive only one mail a day would be served by every passing train if necessary. This system will require an enormous additional outlay on the postal service, but it is believed that the objects to be obtained and the greater security of the public against disturbance and interference with railway traffic will compensate for the increased expenditure.

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

BEAUTIFUL WAIST.

There are various devices by means of which the long-shouldered effect may be produced, one of which is by cutting the front of the waist and the upper part of the sleeve all in one piece, or by extending the yoke trimming out on to the shoulder. The latter method is the one employed in the model here shown. The yoke extends down the front of the waist in a novel fashion.

The design on the yoke and sleeves is embroidered in white, using one of the larger sizes of Corticelli mountmellick embroidery silk.

Among the popular fabrics for summer wear, foulards promise to be well to the front. Some models made of this material are seen built in almost tailor fashion, with a simple skirt and with a sack coat, having a deep collar of cloth. The deep cape collar has sprung into prominence of late, one reason for its popularity probably being the absence of revers. This style of collar gives the desired width to the shoulders.

REVOLUTION SPREADING.

Alarming Macedonian News of an Outbreak Covering a Considerable Area—Insurgents Burn Vasiliko.

Sofia, Aug. 22.—All the despatches received here yesterday indicate that the revolution in Macedonia is spreading. The most alarming news relates to an outbreak covering a considerable area in the eastern part of the Adrianople Vilayet, where the insurgents have captured the town of Vasiliko. They took the chief Turkish officials prisoners, and brought them to the Bulgarian frontier, where they liberated them. The Turkish officials, fearing to return to Vasiliko, sought refuge of the Bulgarian authorities who sent them to an hotel in Burgas, where they are at liberty to remain or depart.

Burned Vasiliko and 12 Villages.

The insurgents completely burned Vasiliko and also 12 villages in the neighborhood. The Bulgarian officials arrested the insugents who brought the Turkish officials at Vasiliko to the Bulgarian frontier.

Severe fighting is reported to be proceeding near Gebgede, with heavy losses on both sides. The Sofia Dnevjnjk declares that all the Turkish vilayets in Macedonia will be in full revolt Aug 28, and that the revolution is spreading from Salonica into the districts towards Servos. Several new bands have appeared in the districts of Voden, southeast from Monastir. A general panic prevails in the Vilayet of Uskub

Await Marching Orders.

The Turkish authorities have mobilized their whole forces in Macedonia, numbering 18,000 men. A large body of Asiatic troops is ready to move. Twenty-four regiments are only awaiting marching orders.

Drowned on a Dare.

Quebec, Aug. 22.—George Richard, a French-Canadian truckman, was drowned yesterday morning in the River St Lawrence. Richard had been drinking heavily for the past two years and yesterday morning, while standing near the old Finlay Market, in the Lower Town, a number of butchers and wharf idlers got around him, and, after teasing him, made a wager of $1 that he would not jump into the river. The unfortunate truck driver accepted the bet and jumped into the river.

Winnipeg, Aug 22.—Henry Fields, while driving a binder at Thornhill, Minn., was struck by lightning and killed.

COMMERCE CONGRESS

At the Last Session It Passes Many Resolutions.

A WIDE RANGE OF SUBJECTS.

The Transcontinental Railways of Canada Not Considered For the General Advantage of the Empire—State-Owned Telegraph Unites British Communities—Other Topics of Debate and Motion.

Montreal, Aug 22.—The conclusion of the Imperial Trade Congress was spirited and fraught with much business of grave importance to Canada. The closing chapter of the important commercial record was written in terms of loyalty to the Crown and the person of the King, a cable being authorized to convey these sentiments to His Majesty.

An Ill-Fated Resolution.

Mr. R. J. Graham of the Belleville Board of Trade moved the following resolution, seconded by Mr. C. H. Lugrin of Victoria, B. C.:

"It is resolved that the transcontinental railways of Canada, those existing and those projected, are in the opinion of this Congress for the general advantage not merely of Canada, but of the Empire, and should receive some Imperial support and consideration in any proposed plan of Imperial federation, not merely on the ground that they furnish rapid and effective modes of transportation of troops and munitions of war for Imperial defence, but also on the ground that they also form the chief land links in the chain of British commerce and are the inlets to and outlets from the granary of the Empire and essential to the future food supply of Great Britain."

There were no speeches, and on the motion being put Lord Brassey declared the motion lost by a large majority.

State-Owned Cables.

The next subject considered was telegraphy, the London resolution upon this subject was withdrawn and that of the Toronto and Ottawa Boards, moved by Sir Sanford Fleming and seconded by Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, of Brantford, was unanimously carried as follows:—

"That in the opinion of this Congress all the self-governing British communities around the globe should be united by a continuous chain of State-owned telegraphs, that such an inter-Imperial line of communication would under Government control put an end to the difficulty which has been caused by the allied cable companies in Australia and remove all friction which has arisen between the partners in the Pacific cable, that it would lower charges to a minimum on over sea messages passing between New Zealand, Australia, India and South Africa and the West Indies, Newfoundland, Canada and the mother country, that it would provide a double means of communication at low uniform rates between the mother country or any one British State and all self-governing British States, that it would constitute the most effective means by which the several Governmental units of the Empire may hold communion with each other whenever they desire, and that, while it would be of the highest importance to the commercial and social interests of the British people around the world, it would by the subtle force of the electricity at once promote the consolidation of the Empire and prove an indispensable factor in Imperial unity."

Wireless Telegraphy.

Sir Sanford Fleming had charge of the resolution regarding wireless telegraphy being added to the equipment of lighthouses and lightships. Owing to the pressure of time Sir Sanford merely moved the resolution, and it was seconded by Mr. Cockshutt of Brantford and carried unanimously.

Other Subjects Passed Upon.

Other business included resolutions asking for an inquiry into the unsatisfactory state of the trade marks' regulations throughout the Empire. Other resolutions favored the assimilation of the patent laws throughout the Empire, codification of at least one branch of commercial law before next meeting, protesting against the British embargo of Canadian cattle, favoring the promotion of commercial education, advocating the establishment of conciliation boards for the settlement of trades' disputes, also demanding the passage of a bankruptcy law in Canada.

Then came the final scenes. The big hall had filled up gradually, and Lord Brassey moved the usual votes of thanks. The Congress then adjourned singing the National Anthem.

HAL. P. DENTON.

Mr. Hal. P. Denton, Chief Department Publicity and Promotion of National Export Exposition, writes:

Philadelphia, Dec. 20, 1899.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Gentlemen:—"Toward the latter part of August I found myself in a very much run-down condition. I suffered particularly from catarrh of the stomach, aggravated no doubt by the responsibilities and worriment incident to the exploitation of a great international exposition. What I ate distressed me and I would lie awake at night 'threshing over,' if I may use that expression, the affairs of the previous day.

"My family physician said I had nervous prostration and recommended a sea voyage. I gradually grew worse. A kind friend whom I had known in Ohio recommended Peruna. Though skeptical, I finally yielded to his advice. After using one bottle I was much improved and with the fifth bottle came complete recovery. I am in perfect health to-day and owe everything to Peruna."

Very truly yours,
HAL. P. DENTON.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

TWO SPEECHES.

Brilliant Frenchman and Veteran Lumberman Unqualifiedly Endorse Grand Trunk Pacific Resolution.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—The debate on the transcontinental railway resolution yesterday, the last working day of the week, was enlivened by several speeches of more than average interest. The first speaker was Mr. Charles Marcil, the eloquent representative of Bonaventure, who, speaking for his French-Canadian compatriots from a portion of the Province of Quebec which does not enjoy the advantages of a railway service, declared that he would be ashamed to go back to his constituents if he did not support a proposition so evidently intended to develop the trade, commerce and settlement of the Dominion. The other feature of the debate yesterday was unqualified endorsement of the Government's resolution by Mr. Thos Mackie, the veteran lumberman from Renfrew, who spoke from personal observation, having traversed the country through which the proposed road will run for 300 miles in Ontario and Quebec. He said there were in that territory many million feet of white pine, which could never be got out until railway facilities were provided. There were also vast tracts of rich and fertile land suitable for settlement.

The Toronto & Hamilton Railway bill was given its third reading, after Sir William Mulock, Mr. E. F. Clarke, Mr. R. L. Borden and others had delivered addresses strongly condemning the practice of companies seeking from the Dominion Parliament measures which were really within the jurisdiction of Provincial Legislatures.

Poaching Must Stop.

A supplementary report has been received from Capt. Dunn of the fishery cutter Petrel in regard to the attempt to seize the United States tug Silver Spray on Lake Erie. Capt. Dunn states that he fired thirteen shots from a rifle at the Silver Spray. He did not use the seven-pounder gun with which his ship is armed. Hon Mr. Prefontaine states that he is determined to put down the operations by the American poachers in Canadian waters.

Tried Clerk Arrested.

Hamilton, Aug 22. — John W. Noble was placed under arrest last night, charged with stealing $2,000 from the Canadian Express Company. The announcement of his arrest on such a grave charge caused a sensation in the city. He had been with the company for over 18 years, and is known by almost everyone in Hamilton. He was popular and bore a good reputation for honesty. The warrant under which he was arrested charges that he stole a package containing $2,000. As far as known, the prisoner had no bad habits, and his friends refuse to believe that he is guilty. He is a married man, about 40 years of age.

Scanning His Motive.

You can't be dead sure that a young man is saving to get married just because he stops smoking cigars and begins to smoke a pipe.—Boston Globe.

No, he may be smoking the pipe to get even with the neighbors.

Not Afraid to Endorse It.

People have learned to have such confidence in Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for every form of Piles, that they do not hesitate to endorse it at every opportunity. As a result Dr. Chase's Ointment is probably recommended by more persons than any other preparation on the market to-day. There is no guesswork about its effects—relief is prompt and cure certain.

HEROIC SELF SACRIFICE.

Courage With Which a Young Naval Officer Greeted Death.

"Speaking of heroism," said a navy officer at his club a few evenings ago, "it is rare that such an example is seen as that of Hynson, who was a passed midshipman at Vera Cruz in 1846. It was really more than a bit of heroism; it was fortitude, passive courage, that confronted a peculiar danger, a self sacrifice, that was most conspicuous.

"Our fleet was off the harbor on blockade duty when one day a Spanish merchant vessel managed to slip in without being discovered. Hynson conceived the idea of capturing the vessel by a night attack, and he succeeded in doing so. But as he could not take the vessel out of harbor, for the reason that she was under the close range of the enemy's guns, Hynson set fire to the vessel. In doing so he burned both his arms so badly that he carried them in slings for several days. While in this disabled condition a terrific squall came up and played havoc with several of our little vessels, and the one on which Hynson was serving was capsized. Hynson and one of the other officers managed to get hold of a floating spar, but as it was not sufficient to keep them both afloat Hynson let go his hold and in a few moments sank to his death."

Weight of a Growing Child.

The weight of a growing child is the most important index to its general health. The standard of weight for growing children, that usually given by authorities in the matter, is that at five years of age a child should weigh about as many pounds as it is inches high. As a rule, this will not be much over or under forty pounds. Children who come of large parents should weigh something more than that. The rate of increase should be about two pounds for every inch of growth, with a tendency for the weight to exceed this standard proportionately rather than to fall below it. When a child is rather heavier in proportion to its height than this standard it is a sign of good health. If the child is growing rapidly it should not be allowed to fall much below it without being made to rest more than has been the custom before. A deficiency of weight in proportion to height is always an unfavorable sign. Any interruption in the progress of increase of weight, especially during the continuance of growth, must be a danger signal that should not be neglected by those interested in the patient.

THE DAN SPENCE MEMORIAL AMBULANCE

Will Probably Arrive in Town in the Course of a Few Days.

After a long wait the citizens of Peterborough will be pleased to hear that the Dan Spence Memorial Ambulance will soon be finished, and may be expected to arrive at any time. Mr. Jos. Sucee, the well-known townsman, thinking the delay of a somewhat lengthy duration, wrote to Mr. A. B. Greer, of London, Ont., who is building the ambulance, asking him when it could be expected. He received a reply, the substance of which was that the ambulance might arrive at any time, as it was "being finished." It went on to state that the delay had been caused by some trouble with the union, but the matter had since been cleared up.

It will be remembered that Mr. Dan Spence was the only young man who left Peterborough to participate in the Boer war who did not return. He was highly esteemed, a token of which is shown in the memorial ambulance, which may be expected daily.

NEW PRINCIPAL FOR THE SEPARATE SCHOOL.

Mr. Henry Matthews of Montreal High School Staff Appointed.

At a meeting of the Separate School Board held yesterday afternoon, a principal was appointed to fill the position vacated by Mr. E. Jones, who is removing to Mattawa to take up journalistic work. After considering a number of applications for the vacancy the unanimous decision of the Board was that Mr. Henry Matthews, of Montreal, should be engaged. The decision of the Board was communicated to Mr. Matthews yesterday and he will be here to commence his duties on school opening, September 8th. The new principal comes to Peterborough highly recommended. He has for two years filled a position on the teaching staff of a Montreal High School, and letters from the Board speak highly of his ability as a teacher. He is not unknown to Peterborough people as his former home was in Ops township, where he was raised, and taught school for a number of years, before going to Montreal. The Board considers itself fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Matthews, and to those who know his fitness for the position, the appointment is a most satisfactory one. He is a man of wide teaching experience and is spoken of as being a thorough disciplinarian. The education of those attending the Separate School will be safe under the direction of Mr. Matthews.

It was no easy matter to pick up that number of first-class horses, as they were all selected with great care.

POLICE COURT

A Citizen Fined for Riding a Wheel on the Sidewalk.

At the police court this morning a citizen was charged with riding his bicycle on the sidewalk, contrary to the bylaw. The evidence disclosed the fact that the accused was in the custom of breaking the law in this matter. However he complained of the bad condition of the road near his house, which compelled him to take the sidewalk. The magistrate told him that he could not make a law for each citizen, and that he could not enter into the peculiar details which attended each of these cases. Police Constable Stewart had warned the accused, who however did not comply, and he consequently found himsel in court. When he was fined $2 he said, "I'll pay the fine, but I think I'll appeal." Mr. Dumble said "You've come to court to get a case settled, and I have settled it."

The suit arising between members of the Gowland Pre-payment Electric Meter Company has been settled through the efforts of Mr. J. H. McClellan of Peterborough, one of the number. The disposing of the 17 foreign patents held by the company will be left to a trust company to carry out the agreements made among the members of the company. A Montreal concern has secured the Canadian patent for $125,000, said to be the largest sum ever paid for a Canadian patent.

At the Hospital.

There is perhaps no building in which it is necessary to exercise greater precautions in the avoidence of fires than an hospital. The Board of Management of the Nicholls Hospital recognizing this fact decided to install the safest and most complete system of electric lighting it is possible to have. The Alexander & Miller Electrical Construction Company of town have just completed a most excellent system of lighting throughout the building. The current enters the building on the third floor, and is here controlled by a large knife switch and main cut-out, and distributes on the three wire system. From here the wires are encased in iron armoured conduit, (made by the Richmondr Conduit Company, of Toronto) running from top floor to basement. The building is divided into numerous circuits and in the corridor of each floor is placed a beautiful marble cabinet box of six-circuit capacity, distributing the light throughout the flat. All the wiring throughout the building is concealed and of the most modern type, being all run on porcelain or in interior iron conduit, thereby reducing the fire risk to a minimum and making perhaps the most complete system of wiring installed in this part of Ontario. Mr. H. A. Aldrich had charge of the work.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR LABOUR CELEBRATION.

Baseball Game in Afternoon at Murray Street Grounds.

Complete Programme of Sports—Parade Will be a Large one—57th Band Engaged for the Day.

A meeting of the demonstration committee of the Trades and Labour Council was held last night, and made some further arrangements in connection with the Labour Day Celebration. From present indications it seems certain that a very successful demonstration will be held. It is expected that all of the seventeen labour unions in town will participate in the parade which will be held at ten o'clock on the morning of September 7th. The 57th Regiment Band has been engaged for the day, and will head the parade, a conspicuous feature of which will be a number of floats representing the various trades. In the afternoon there will be a programme of sports, conducted on the Murray street school grounds. A baseball match will be played between the Clippers of Lindsay, and the Excelsiors of town. This will be only one of an interesting list of sports. In the evening a band concert will be held in the Brock street hockey rink given by Bandmaster Gliddon and the band of the 57th Regiment, assisted by Jos Halpany, humorous caricaturist, and Jas. Dawson. The committee expect that this year's celebration will surpass all previous efforts. The officers of the committee are: Messrs. A. Dugan, chairman; Geo. Sloan, Secretary, and Hugh Robertson, Treasurer.

Official programmes are being prepared and those desirous of securing advertising space are asked to communicate with Mr. C. P. Murty, P. O. box 7x.

A "CAMPER'S" QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I would like, through your valuable paper, to inquire if campers along the Otonabee River can be charged by the land owners for camping near the waters edge, and on land that is practically of no value, or if there is any distance from the water's edge reserved for campers.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain,

Yours truly,
"CAMPER"

THE AMERICA CUP.

Although to win the precious cup
Sir Thomas journeys far;
We greatly fear his quest in vain—
He'll only get a jar.
—New York Sun

Still on the final racing day,
Sans victory and jug,
He's pretty sure to bear away
A long and doleful mug.
—Cleveland Plaindealer.

But think of the tremendous ad
That Lipton's tea has got.
And then admit that, win or lose,
Sir Tom will take the pot
—Hamilton Herald.

Don't be too sure, smart gentlemen,
Ere long you'll be all muter;
Just wait two weeks and you will see
Sir Thomas lift the pewter.
—Belleville Intelligencer.

In spite of brag and record past,
We're not afraid to speak up;
And say that Lipton surely'll make
The America Cup a tea-cup.

SEVEN PERSONS WERE VERY NEARLY DROWNED.

The Mystery of the Nine Persons who Were Reported Drowned at Stony Lake Cleared up.

On Tuesday morning last the town was startled to hear that a party consisting of nine persons, who were supposed to come from Pittsburg, had been drowned in Stony Lake. Everyone was anxious to know whether the report was correct and the Examiner office was visited by many anxious enquirers, who desired to be enlightened on the matter. "Is the report correct?" "Who are the victims?" and "Did any escape?" were a few of the questions hurriedly asked. The Examiner learned by telephone that no news had reached either Burleigh Falls or Young's Point, so the report was regarded as a fake and denied.

The mystery has been cleared up, and it is learned that Mr. R. B. Roger's steam yacht "Victoria," with a party of eleven young persons on board, nearly foundered when returning from Lakefield, by running into a boom. It was about ten o'clock, and the yacht was nearing Young's Point. It was very dark, and but a short distance could be seen ahead. Suddenly the boat crashed into the boom, smashing in her bow. The fire was low and she had but little steam, and to make matters worse she began to fill rapidly. The party it is almost needless to say, were very frightened. To be out on the lake in a sinking boat in broad daylight must be bad enough but to have the feeling that one is sinking, only having a faint view of the land, must have been indeed terrifying. The Victoria was speedily backed, and with what little steam remained was at last run aground. The party was only too glad to get out of the boat and feel firm clay beneath their feet again. The boat had been pulling a fifteen foot canoe, into which four of the party got. Their feelings, as they were again skimming over the water, could not have been at all of the pleasantest kind. However the port was reached safely, and then the second party was transported.

This is the story on which the rumour was founded. It is a clear indication of how exaggeration in such a matter always takes place. The persons who underwent the experience can indeed feel thankful that they received nothing more than a severe frightening, and that they are alive to tell the tale.

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR BOYS IN CAMP.

A Pleasant Outing Being Spent at Sandy Beach.

Three Union Jacks, hoisted near the water's edge, and flapping fearlessly to the breeze, mark the location of the St. John's choir camp, Sandy Beach, Pigeon Lake. Directly between the middle flag is a banner suspended between two pennant mounted poles and bearing the inscription, "St John's Choir." Beyond this, embowered by stately oak trees, is the camp proper, consisting of over a dozen tents, occupied by nearly a score of boy choristers, and two older supervisors. Each tent is surmounted by a small flag fluttering defiance to the world. One who sees the camp decked as it is with flags, could not but admire the loyal spirit shown.

The place where the tents are pitched is indeed a happy selection. The Ogemah calls daily delivering the mails, and Bobcaygeon is only four or five miles distant. Jacob's Island, Oak Orchard and other points of interest, are also in close proximity to Sandy Beach. Numerous islands abound in the immediate vicinity, and they possess interesting characteristics, and invite exploration. Sandy Beach has excellent bathing facilities. A nice smooth sand floored bottom slopes gradually and one may walk a considerable distance before swimming becomes necessary. The lads, by the way, are wonderfully well accomplished in this valuable art, and with hardly a single exception they are good swimmers. There are plenty of boats and canoes, and these perhaps are made to contribute most largely to the boys' enjoyment. Capital fishing beds are also near by, and several good catches have been made this year.

The camping grounds are high and dry and a delightfully fascinating scene greets one as he gazes over the broad stretch of lake water, and a piping health-laden intoxicating breeze reaches the remotest air cells of one's lungs. Perhaps no more appropriate camping spot exists on the whole seventy miles of Kawartha chain of lakes.

It is at night that the camp is seen to the best advantage. The tents are illuminated by lanterns and candles with an imposing tree occasionally looming in front of them, and a dark background of gigantic oaks, presents a picture long to be remembered. This, combined with the musical plashing of the waves upon the beach and the soft soughing of the zephyrs through the trees, has a delightful fascination for the camper.

The ordinary routine of camp life is observed in this as in most other camps. The same knight of the culinary department who accompanied the boys last year, still skeeps the pot a-boilin'," and his wife renders him invaluable service. It must be a source of great satisfaction to Sir Isaac to see his dishes disappear so rapidly and this bespeaks a greater appreciation than could mere words.

The camp is most complete in its equipment. Every possible comfort under the prevailing conditions, is provided. The place affords a regular mine of health. Everybody is bubbling over with buoyant spirits. In referring to the camp, the word that seems most appropriate in descriptive force and accuracy is — model!

The entire camp equipment, including the tents, of which there is one rainy day tent, 40 ft x 20 ft., a dining room tent and 7 sleeping tents, were supplied by Mr. A. Kingscote, who is a member of the tenor section of the choir. He has supplied an equipment which has rendered the comfort of the boys complete.

Cholera Infantum.

This has long been been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and castor oil, as directed with each bottle, and a cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

MR. SORSOLEIL GOES TO THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Which Gains What Peterborough Loses, a Good Teacher.

The many friends of Mr. M. A. Sorsoleil, will, while congratulating him on his promotion, regret that it removes him from Peterborough. Mr. Sorsoleil, who has for some time been on the staff of the Collegiate Institute, has accepted a more advanced and lucrative position on the teaching staff of the Provincial Model School, in connection with the Toronto Normal School.

For six years Mr. Sorsoleil occupied with credit and effectiveness the position of assistant principal of the South Central School, and for the past year he has done excellent work at the Collegiate Institute. His new position is to be regarded as a distinct promotion, of which he is abundantly worthy.

It is not only in a professional capacity that Mr. Sorsoleil has won warm appreciation. For six years he has been the faithful and acceptible teacher of the Young Men's Bible Class in the Charlotte street Methodist Sunday School, and has also been associated with the Young Men's Guild and Epworth League of the same church. Mr. Sorsoleil has also taken an active interest in healthy, manly sports, and in this sphere as in all his relations he has exercised a beneficial influence.

Without flattery it may be said that the Provincial Model School has secured in Mr. Sorsoleil a model teacher, and he leaves behind him many friends who will wish him the success which his ability and industry under favourable conditions are sure to bring.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT.

GOLF.

A match between the Lindsay and Peterborough Golf Clubs is in progress this afternoon on the local links. The following gentlemen compose the latter team,— Messrs. S. Ray, Hamilton, Burnett, Garvin, Dr. McFall, J. McGill, F. McGill, J. Hall, ——D. Davidson, A. H. Stratton and Laing.

LACROSSE.

Funny thing about that Port Hope team was that Port Hope didn't pick it. They just took what was left after the other clubs had gathered up what they wanted. And with more practice together they had the strongest team in the bunch. All of which goes to show how much luck and how much judgment there is in picking lacrosse teams.—Telegram.

The Lindsay Post concedes the game played on Thursday to the Athletics as the superior team in the following terms: "We think we voice the opinion of the spectators when we say that the locals were simply outclassed, and the better team won .....They are fast runners and good catchers and stick handlers, consequently they put up a great game. Their combination work is of the splendid kind and Lindsay's goal was attacked quite frequently."

THE TRIGGER.

Mr. Jos Gibson made a particularly creditable record at the Peterborough Rifle Ranges on Thursday, having a record of 99 out of a possible 102.

CANOEING.

On Monday evening next, August 24th, the P. V. C. intend having an illuminated parade, to take place immediately after a few races which are to be held in front of the C. P. R. wharf at seven o'clock. The club is desirous of having this parade a success, and have offered two handsome prizes for the two best decorated canoes, provided 25 canoes enter. The club have also secured a yacht for towing purposes and will have a gramophone and several other musical instruments along.

The members of the club are requested to attend another meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, Aug. 25th, in the Y.M.C.A., at 8.30 sharp.

THE BAND CONCERT AT VICTORIA PARK.

Several New Selections Rendered by 57th Regimental Band.

Notwithstanding the extensive emigration from Peterborough to the Kawartha Lacks, which has been in progress for the past few weeks, there was a large number of person in Victoria Park last night, who heard the 57th Regimental Band give an excellent programme, at which the following new pieces were played: Overture, "Last Stand," cake walk, "A Punch of Blackberries;" selection, "Ermine;" intermezzo, "Anona;" Spanish serenade, "La Paloma," characteristic, "In the Mill."

Perhaps the high wind somewhat marred the pleasure which can be derived from listening to the band's music, but nevertheless the different selections, more so the new ones, together with "Florodora," were, it is thought, highly appreciated.

These band concerts, it is believed, will soon be discontinued for this season, and it is but just to remark that they have been a source of great pleasure all summer

REVERIE AWAKENED BY A ROBIN.

When twilight falls, and memory calls
Dear forms long hid away,
Enchantin' song is borne along
As dawns or wanes the day.

'Mid the sighing and the dying,
The sorrow, pain and blood,
With lashes wet, we might forget
That e'er all things were good;

But that dear trill when all is still
Floats on the summer air,
And visions rise of other skies
When earth was young and fair.

And then I seem as in a dream
To view a vista vast;
Long rows of years in mystic tiers—
The ages of the past.

And all the sheaves the dead past leaves
In annals true are traced
For good or ill. All human skill
Is powerless to deface.

How many eyes have scanned these skies
As sunlight crept away!
How many heard the robin-bird,
Alike as we, to-day!

Ah, they are not, save lonely spot,
Perhaps without a trace
To tell the tale, or mark the vale—
Their silent hiding place.

No tidings come, for lips are dumb
That tender love had kiss'd!
Among the throng that moves along
Some loving ones are missed.

We see the sod; but hid in God
Are many, passed away
Who faithful wrought—His wisdom sought
And duty, day by day.
Ah, they will live and sing
When "Morning" plumes her wing!

Oh, gladdest prime! earth's gala time!
'Tis coming, sure and fast!
Unwelcome fears, unbidden tears
Forever in the past!
The troublings of the wicked cease,
The weary rest in perfect peace.

Then, ever song will glide along—
No touch of blight or pain
Where all is good. There, memory's flood
Will wake no minor strain.

A Positive Menace to the Business Interests of the Town.

A Suggestion That the Board of Trade Should Take the Matter up.

A condition of affairs, the existence of which is working to the detriment of the business interests of Peterborough, is the scarcity of dwelling houses in the town. It is almost an impossibility to obtain a house of any description to rent, even at a rate, which, ordinarily would be considered exorbitant, and there is no immediate remedy in sight. The position in which one manufacturer in Peterborough finds himself, as a result of this serious house famine, as expressed to the Examiner, is but an indication of what every employer of labour to any extent has to contend with.

The Vice-President of one of the growing business concerns in town expressed it as his opinion that this trouble to procure houses to rent at a moderate rate was one of the most serious disadvantages against which manufacturers here have to work, citing his own experience he said that they were in need of skilled mechanics, but found it almost impossible to secure their services, not because they did not wish to come to the town, but because there were no houses into which they could move their families. This experience is not the common one of all the large manufacturers here, and it seems a regrettable fact that some concerted action is not being taken to remove what is proving a positive menace to the business interests of the town. It is doubtful if there are in Peterborough to-day half a dozen vacant houses fit for occupancy; surely this is an abnormal state of affairs in what is practically a city of 15,000 population. The worst feature of the whole circumstance is the fact that no remedy seems to be in sight. Every manufacturing concern in town is expanding its business, and more men are being required, and in some instances large additions are being made to works, which when completed, will require a large number of men, skilled mechanics to operate them.

The house accommodation is not increasing at a proportionate rate, and the present situation will become more and more acute. It is true that there are a number of houses under course of construction, but the number is comparatively small. It has been suggested that this is a matter in which the Board of Trade might take some action. What appears to be the most effective way is for a syndicate to be formed to build houses which will rent for a moderate figure, suited for the use of a class of tenants who do not require large dwellings. At the present rate of rental, and even should it be considerably reduced, it should prove a good investment, particularly if the work was undertaken by a syndicate, which appears to be the most feasible solution of the difficulty.

It may be urged that the present high prices prevailing for building materials and labour make it abnormally expensive to build houses at a profit, and if this is the case it is all the stronger reason why the situation should be dealt with by the Board of Trade, in whose legitimate jurisdiction the matter is.

It is to be hoped that for the sake of the future business prosperity of the town, in which all citizens, and particularly the members of the Board of Trade are vitally interested, some solution of the existing difficulty will be found.

Grand Trunk Pacific Debate on the Resolutions Still in Progress—Half a Dozen Speeches Made Thursday.

Ottawa, Aug. 20. — Rather better progress was made with the debate upon the Grand Trunk Pacific resolution yesterday, half a dozen speeches being delivered. The speakers were Mr McPherson (Burrard, B.C.), who dealt with the question from the standpoint of his Province, and favored its construction as a necessity; Mr. Jabel Robinson (West Elgin), who spoke for a Government road and favored Mr. Puttee's amendment; Mr. H. J. Logan (Cumberland), who said the Government had submitted to the House a motion for a tra... which met wi... requirements of all the provinces; Mr. E. B. Osler (West Toronto), who dealt with the financial clauses, and held that the safeguards were not sufficient; Mr C. B. Hayd (Brantford), who analyzed the counter propositions and showed how superior the Government's plan was as compared with them; Mr. Ganong followed in a vigorous criticism of the Government's policy, and the debate was adjourned by Mr. Charles Marcil (Bonaventure.) It is expected that the vote will be taken on Wednesday next.

REST SEASON.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Give the Stomach a Holiday and Make it Ready for its Work Again.

Every man or woman tries during the summer to get a week or two of complete rest. They need it, and when they get it return to their work refreshed and invigorated. On the same principle the stomach needs a vacation. Give it one by using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will digest the food while the stomach rests. The result will be good digestion and renewed vigour all over the body.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets working on this principle never fail to cure stomach ailments. They cure Indigestion or Dyspepsia of any stage. The proof is found in the statements of those who have used them and been cured. Mr. H. Bailey, of 206 Patrick street, Winnipeg, is one of these. Mr. Bailey says:

"It gives me pleasure to tell of the benefit I have received from the use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I have gained eight pounds in weight since I commenced to use them. Before that no matter what I ate I never seemed to gain strength or put on weight. I heartily recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

The enemy's loss was 700 killed including the former Sultan of Sokoto and a majority of the chiefs. The British loss was 11 men killed, including one officer, and 62 men wounded. The enemy made a desperate house-to-house resistance.

Ferrol in Summer.

Those who are prevented by want of time, or lack of means, or both, from going to the mountains or the seaside during the heated term, often feel the need of a concentrated and easily assimilated food to afford proper nourishment when ordinary food cloys the appetite and clogs the digestion.

To combat the depressing and enervating effects of hard work in the hot weather there is nothing like FERROL. Do not imagine that, because FERROL contains Cod Liver Oil, it is therefore unsuited for summer use. Nothing could be more erroneous. FERROL is a food quite as much as a medicine: it is, moreover, a highly concentrated food and so scientifically prepared that it is almost ready for instant absorption. It therefore furnishes the most valuable nourishment without impairing the digestion in the slightest.

When the hot weather comes, and you begin to feel languid, depressed and unfit for business, just try FERROL. You will find it pleasant to take, easy to digest and absolutely infallible in its results.

DECREASE IN PRODUCTION.

Accounts For Less Gold Being Mined Because Miners Are Discouraged and Quitting and Prospectors Are Not Looking For New Ground—Two Concessions Alle... Have ... Obtained.

Vancouver, Aug. 21. — Thomas Charlton and George Coffey were witnesses before the Treadgold commission at Dawson City. The latter is manager of the Anglo-Klondike Company, operating hydraulics near Fox Gulch. He sells some water at $7 per sluice head per hour. The witness was non-committal as to the Treadgold concession. Ernest Bishop, a Gold Hill miner, proved a strong witness for the opposition. He said he would give $25 a day for water per sluice head.

"Why the present decrease in the gold production?" he was asked.

He replied:— "The miners are so discouraged they are quitting, and prospectors are ceasing to look for new ground, all being tied up by the concessions."

Mr. Treadgold's counsel called attention to the recent stampedes to the Alsike and Polly. He asked why the miners stampeded if what the witness had said were true. Bishop replied, "Because the gold fever is rampant when any new discovery is announced." He said he knew of an instance where two men prospected Indian River for two years; found something good, and then were denied grants because it was in the concession. Judge Britton took the names of the men, and intimated that he would have the records produced.

Complaints against the Williams and Boyle concessions were filed yesterday. The former is alleged to have been obtained by fraud, the lease being antedated to circumvent an order in Council. The Boyle lease is also held to have been illegally issued on a subsequent date to the order in Council.

Montreal Woman Gets Rid of Man Who Deserted Her.

Detroit, Aug. 20.—For $500 Mrs. Constant Menthe of Montreal made an agreement yesterday afternoon to give up her husband to another woman who had once been her servant in the Canadian city. The agreement to accept $500 and call all accounts square was signed by husband and wife. Ludger Menthe then went to the bank, drew out the money and handed it over to his wife, after which the couple separated, and the wife left Detroit on the midnight train for her home in Montreal. The husband returned to his home at 595 Monroe avenue to continue to live with the woman for whose sake he deserted his wife.

The Origin of Pyrography.

About a century ago an artist named Cranch was standing one day in front of a fire in his home at Axminster. Over the fireplace was an oaken mantelpiece, and it occurred to Cranch that this expanse of wood might be improved by a little ornamentation. He picked up the poker, heated it red hot and began to sketch in a bold design. The result pleased him so much that he elaborated his work and began to attempt other fire pictures on panels of wood. These met with a ready sale, and Cranch soon gave all his time to his new art. This was the beginning of what is now known as pyrography. The poker artist of today uses many different shaped tools and has a special furnace in which they are kept heated. The art has been elaborated greatly. The knots, curls and fibers of the wood are often worked into the design and delicate tinting produced by scorching the panel.

Cure For the Talking Habit.

One part horse sense and two parts of manly determination to keep still. Mix well with an unlimited amount of the best quality of thought. It is impossible for a woman to talk all the time without saying a lot of things that she shouldn't or without proving a jolly bore to everybody about her. This tattling habit is not confined entirely to women, though. Some men have the affliction terribly. Sometimes it's wheat, sometimes it's chess, sometimes it's baseball. A steady diet of one kind conversation is always tiresome. Take a nibble of this and a nibble of that, and your chatter will be more interesting, particularly if there are plenty of rests between nibbles. Talking improves when there's silence by way of contrast.

A VICTIM OF DROPSY

Cured After Doctors Pronounced His Case Hopeless.

Limbs Swollen Until he had Become a Bloated Helpless Mass—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Wrought the Cure.

In the little village of Rodney, not far from the mining town of Springhill, N. S., lives Mr. James Stevens, a quiet, middle aged man, who through living an unobtrusive life, has lately been talked of as having been the subject of a cure pronounced by all familiar with the circumstances as scarcely less than miraculous. The disease, which some two years ago prostrated Mr. Stevens, came upon him gradually. There was an increasing feeling of general lassitude, the kidneys did not rightly perform their function, and then the body began to bloat. This feeling continued extending to the extremities, until Mr. Stevens became a helpless bloated mass of flesh. A finger pressed upon the bloated flesh would leave a mark all day. The urinary weakness became painful and distressing, the passages becoming very frequent. Doctors diagnosed the trouble as dropsy but as their remedies failed to effect a cure they pronounced the trouble incurable. At this stage, the case of a neighbour who had been cured after a long and painful illness through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was recalled, and it was decided to give the pills a trial. By the time the second box was used the swelling began to decrease, the passage of the urine was less frequent and the patient was inspired with fresh hope. The use of the pills for some times longer set Mr. Stevens upon his feet again, a cured man. The limbs were restored to a healthy condition, his weight became normal, the kidneys resumed their functions healthfully and today Mr. Stevens goes about his daily work, a good specimen of hardy, healthy Canadian manhood. His restoration is entirely due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he does not hesitate to strongly recommend them to other sufferers.

To the casual reader cases like this may seem remarkable but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have, in reality, cured thousands of cases pronounced by the doctors to be incurable. Struck by a Train.

Markham, Aug. 20.—About 6.30 yesterday morning, Mrs. Doyle, wife of Wm. Doyle, manager of the Maple Leaf Woollen Mills, here, was struck by a train at Reesor's Crossing, and sustained severe injuries to her head. Mrs. Doyle was driving to Oshawa to a wedding, and as the road approaching the crossing crosses diagonally she did not notice the approach of a C.P.R. train going north. It struck the conveyance squarely in the centre, and Mrs. Doyle was thrown out and knocked senseless. The buggy was smashed and the horse killed. Mrs. Doyle was brought to the General Hospital about 7.30. At an early hour this morning she was reported as resting easily and her recovery is assured.

War Eagle Mine on Fire.

Rossland, B. C., Aug. 21.—War Eagle mine is on fire at the 1,000-foot level station. The timbers were ignited presumably by a candle left burning. It is expected to extinguish the fire with steam vapor, now being introduced in large quantities. A portion of the upper level is not interfered with, and the company will not lose heavily. The incident is of special interest, however, being practically unprecedented in the history of Rossland.

Booth's Millmen Strike.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—J. R. Booth's entire mill staff went out on strike at 1 o'clock yesterday. This will affect about eight hundred men. The demand of the men is for increased pay, but the details are not known yet. The men went quietly to their homes at noon and did not return to work.

Invented First Oil Stove.

New York, Aug 21.—Charles Reichmann, known as the inventor of the first oil cooking stove, is dead, at his home in Brooklyn, aged 86 years. He was a native of Russia.

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a rule to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These Pills not only make the bowels active, but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

One Was Enough.

"You love my daughter?" said the old man.

"Love her!" he exclaimed passionately. "Why, I could die for her! For one soft glance from those sweet eyes I would hurl myself from yonder cliff and perish, a bleeding, bruised mass, upon the rocks 200 feet below!"

The old man shook his head.

"I'm something of a liar myself," he said, "and one is enough for a small family like mine."

His Bad Memory.

"I suppose," said the condoling neighbor, "that you will erect a handsome monument to your husband's memory?"

"To his memory!" echoes the tearful widow. "Why, poor John hadn't any. I was sorting over some of the clothes he left today and found the pockets full of letters I had given him to mail."

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea

"About six years ago, for the first time in my life, I had a severe and sudden attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful, I could hardly realize that I was well again or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents cured me." For sale by all druggists.

FOUR-POINT-SEVEN

By WALTER WOOD

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Four-Point-Seven was attached to an expedition operating against a strongly intrenched body of Boxers. An admiral commanded, and it was his purpose to reach and destroy the enemy before they could muster in greater force.

"Four-Point-Seven," said Jock to a comrade at the end of the first march, "is a useful creature, but a big, unwillin' lump. What I want to know is why Four-Point-Seven? Why not maxims or pompoms or mountain guns—somethin' you can bring with you if you want 'em; eh, Harry?"

"Bring 'em away from heathen Chinee!" exclaimed the comrade. "Never! There's no turnin' back on this journey."

"I've been in China before," said Jock, "an' I know the breed. We've only a handful after all, an' if we're overpowered"—

For five days the expedition forced its way into the land of the enemy, sometimes meeting and beating him and sometimes advancing unopposed. The commanding officer then began to see that success was not to follow him and gave the word for a return to the place from which they had started. By this time a number of the officers and men had been killed, disease was breaking out, and the number of the sick and wounded grew.

Not a shot had been fired by Four-Point-Seven, and her weakened crew dragged disappointedly at the heavy bulk. The retreat was kept up for two full days; then it was known that a horde of imperial troops was following to cut off stragglers. It's more a case of cut up than cut off if they get us," said Jock, by way of grim jest. "Will the admiral never tell us to heave her into the nearest hole?"

But there was no need for a command like that. One of the wheels of the carriage sank deep into a bed of mud, and the most furious efforts of the crew could not get it out.

Lieutenant Reeder was among the wounded. He had been shot through both ankles and could not walk. Jock and Harry were among the sick and could scarcely crawl. They watched with languid interest while the admiral's order that the gun should be destroyed and the ammunition buried was given. At the same time the sick and wounded were placed on the ground near Four-Point-Seven.

Reeder watched earnestly. He understood before the admiral came up to him to explain.

"I've got to leave you," said the admiral. "God knows how I feel about it, but it's the only way."

"I understand that, sir," said Reeder. "I know it will take you all your time to get away with those who are sound, let alone the cripples and the sick. But leave us the gun, sir, and a shell."

"Be it so," said the admiral, "and goodby."

"Goodby, sir," answered Reeder. He raised himself a little as he spoke, but, exhausted with the effort, he sank back.

It seemed long before the lieutenant heard a sound of any sort. Then he raised his head and looked sharply across the country before him, for he heard the sound of distant marching. But nothing met his gaze. His head sank back.

Jock and Harry heard the noise also.

"Is it to be a case of tryin' to run for it after all," asked Harry, "or squattin' 'ere till they come on?"

"Wait for 'em," said Jock grimly. "But we shan't wait long. It'll soon be over when they see us, an' they can't miss. They're walkin' straight on top of us."

"I've told you, men," said Reeder sternly, whose sharp ears had caught the sounds, "that I won't have you either talking or moving. Put your rifles down and shut your mouths. If this move fails then blaze away as hard as you please, only, in mercy's sake, give me a shot first and keep a couple for yourselves. That 'll be better shift than ever you'll get from devils like these."

They raised their heads a little, but even yet did not see what the lieutenant's purpose was.

"Jock," said Reeder, after a pause.

"Sir," answered the seaman.

"Can you climb on to your pins for two minutes? Help's coming. I'm sure of that. The admiral was pretty certain or he wouldn't have gone and left us here. Can you lend a hand? You're about the only one left among us that can stand."

Jock forced himself into a sitting position. Without saying a word he struggled to his feet, stood on them for a full second and sank to the ground. He gave a short, hard laugh. "You've seen that exhibition, sir. What do you think?"

"Why," answered Reeder stoutly, "I think you can, my lad. Jock, you've got to."

"Put it as an order, sir," said Jock, with a strange light in his eyes. "Can you stand an' walk yourself at all?"

"I can crawl a bit," said the lieutenant.

"So can I," said a feeble voice near him.

"Why, Harry," said Reeder, "I thought you were"—

"So did I, sir, but I'm not—not yet. Can you do as Jock says, sir—make it an order, like? Give us the word to fall in, sir—rap it out well. Then we can't help it. Force of habit 'll see us through."

"Fall in!" said Reeder in a loud, firm voice.

Jock and Harry struggled to their feet. They tottered; but, supporting each other, they did not succumb.

"Keep it up, sir," said Harry. "I feel the strength comin' back to my bones as if I'd had a nip of grog."

"Lug me up to the gun," ordered Reeder.

The men bent down and took an arm each. They helped but feebly, yet the lieutenant got over the ground toward the weapon. Four-Point-Seven had stopped sinking and was now lying forlornly on one side with the muzzle and the breech near the ground, so near that men could load her while on their knees. To any one approaching over the primitive road the gun and the sick and wounded were alike invisible a thousand yards away.

"Prop me up here against this stone," continued the lieutenant, "and be smart about it, my lads." He smiled as he gave the order.

"That's the ticket, sir!" exclaimed Harry, with a grin. "It's as good as a pantymime."

"It makes a first rate chair, sir—the stone for a back an' the soft earth for a seat," commented Jock when they had helped the lieutenant to a sitting posture. "If you'd like an armchair I can get you a couple of stones to put your elbows on."

"No, thank you; I want my elbows free," answered the lieutenant. "Give her a bit of a list to port, if you can. Just a touch up with that handspike. There; that's enough. Now she has an uninterrupted view from her one eye of the roadway. Now, if all's tight, make yourselves scarce in the ditch here."

Jock and Harry, exhausted with their labors, did as they were ordered. The lieutenant crawled from his stone support and stretched himself upon his back near the gun, the lanyard of which he held.

"If they do come past us," he murmured, "we shall be ready to receive 'em. Now, old girl, if you never distinguished yourself before, see that you do it now. Let me see—that dismal looking tree's about 1,000 yards away. The shell will catch the head of 'em and do mischief with the body and tail unless I'm a Dutchman. Are they really here? They are coming in a bee line for us."

He raised himself on his elbow and looked. The column came on, solid, resistless, it seemed, straight for the spot where Four-Point-Seven and the remnant of her crew were hidden. It was like a wall advancing. Banners were waving, and the men were crying excitedly.

Those who were first among them kept stopping to examine the road, in which the footmarks of the retreating force were clearly seen. They came on like a huge pack of hounds keen on the scent and having the quarry almost visible.

The mass came nearer. Reeder saw that the entire column was in the direct line of fire of Four-Point-Seven, that a shot or shell must bore a lane down the very middle of the mass and that a bursting shell must devastate the forces. He fell flat on his face and pulled the lanyard.

There were a crash and a hiss from Four-Point-Seven. At the same instant there were appalling cries and another crash, the sound of the bursting shell.

Reeder, Jock and every sailor who could move rose up to mark what Four-Point-Seven had done.

"They run, they run!" cried Reeder. "It's doubled 'em up! They didn't expect it, and they're demoralized."

"If we could only get another in," said Harry longingly.

"But we can't." Jock answered. "There's no more ammunition. Besides, look at the gun."

The lieutenant looked and saw that Four-Point-Seven had been driven by the recoil deep into the earth.

"Not all the men here, sir, could get her out of that," added Jock, "even if they could stand on their legs. But what is that?"

Reeder turned slowly and looked to the rear. He saw men—men with white hats and helmets hurrying over the ground. "They're our own people!" he exclaimed. "It's our own people reenforced and coming back for us. Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!" he cried, waving his hand. The effort was too much for him and he fainted.

When he came round he saw that a marine artillery officer from his own ship was bending over him, offering him liquid from his water bottle.

"You murdering young man," said the gunner in deep admiration. "They'll have to call you the 'plow' in future. Why, you pretty well wiped a regiment out with that shot."

"Good old Four-Point-Seven!" said Reeder. "I always knew she'd do us well. She'll be a credit to us all for long enough yet if we can only get her out of the mud."

"You are wrong there," said the gunner. "She'll talk no more. She can't possibly be got away from here, so as soon as we're all clear of this spot she'll be blown up. Here comes the stretcher chaps for you—you have the honor to be the last to go."

A couple of marines got the lieutenant upon a stretcher and marched off with him. When they were some hundred yards away they halted. Reeder turned and looked. Jock, from a neighboring stretcher, looked too.

They saw a cloud of smoke in which were dark fragments. Then they heard the crash of an explosion. A very small fragment of steel fell near the lieutenant's right hand. He picked it up. "A bit of a gun," he muttered. "I'll keep it till the end of my days to remind me of what saved my life. Good old Four-Point-Seven!"

Jock sighed regretfully. "I always said the gun was all right if you could only get the other side to walk up an' give her a chance. They did walk up, sir."

Dr. FOWLER'S EXT-OF WILD STRAWBERRY

Has been in use for nearly sixty years.

It is nature's specific for Children and Adults.

It cures DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, CHOLERA, CHOLERA MORBUS, CHOLERA INFANTUM, COLIC, CRAMPS, SEASICKNESS, SUMMER COMPLAINT, AND ALL FLUXES OF THE BOWELS.

Its action is Harmless, Reliable and Effectual.

Relief is almost Instantaneous.

Given Up by Doctor and Mother.

MRS. MAXWELL BARTER, Grand Cascapedia, Que., writes:

"I take great pleasure in telling you what Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has done for me and mine. A year ago my little girl, now nearly three years old, was attacked by Cholera Infantum. It was in the hot season and she was teething at the time. The doctor gave her up; in fact, I did so myself.

"I finally decided to try Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry. I procured a bottle and it did her so much good that I got another bottle and by the time it was finished she was completely cured. As for myself, it has saved me from inflammation of the bowels several times. I always keep a bottle in the house and cannot recommend it too highly."

does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. There is many a woman whose future seems absolutely unclouded who is marked by her own condition for future disappointment and distress.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.

Womanly health may be retained or regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have taken six bottles of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss M. Eyfe, of Orilla, Simcoe Co., Ontario, "and two bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets' as you advised for congestion of uterus, ovaries, and weakness, and can safely say that your medicine has been the means of restoring me to good health again, which I had not had for over three years, until taking your medicine. I thank you very much for your kind and prompt attention to my letter asking advice."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

Almost From Birth.

"Almost from birth my little girl was troubled with bronchitis and a harsh, hacking cough. Angier's Petroleum Emulsion was prescribed. It cured her cough, and she almost immediately gained in flesh and colour. To-day she is strong and robust."—A. Putsey, Toronto, Canada. 15

Life After Death.

A German biologist has been investigating the question of the activity of animal bodies after death and has published some suggestive conclusions. It appears that death is not instantaneous throughout the physical organism, for it has been observed that many of the different tissues continue active for a considerable period after the time when the animal is assumed to be dead, particularly in the case of the lower animals. Cells from the brain of a frog, for example, have been kept alive for over a week when held in certain solutions, and the heart of a frog has been known to beat for many hours after being removed from the dead body. The hearts of turtles and snakes will beat for days or even a week after death.

Whom Love Exalts.

Some time ago there dwelt in the heart of a great metropolis an artist. His canvases were known throughout the world, and before them the people stood and marvelled.

But as they gazed, unconsciously a sense of disappointment came over them and they turned away, for the exquisite work, the marvelous detail, appealed only to the eye, but left the heart cold. Only the artists and critics lingered over them, analyzing his skill, his delicate strokes, his wonderful coloring and the fame he was winning.

And the great artist, understanding, despaired, for he felt that the critics prated coldly, but that the people knew. So he studied and worked and watched—and painted yet again. Once more the papers praised, the critics approved—but the people turned away—for it was all the work of the hand; not a stroke was vitalized by the soul.

Now it so happened that a great misfortune came to the artist: his wealth took flight, and he became very poor. He still painted, but none bought. "We are tired of your placid fields, your doll-like faces," they said. "They chill us." But still the man worked on; and as he toiled at his easel from early dawn till gray twilight, he grew embittered; then fame deserted him; then his friends; and then—his youth.

Into the life of the artist there came one day, as he lay sick unto death, a woman. In his conscious moments he saw her here and there about him, ministering to his wants—and even in his delirium he was conscious of her presence. He recovered—and the woman was gone.

He painted no more, only stood at the small window of his dingy studio and noted the never-ending procession of faces before him. Day by day he watched for that one face with its deep, tender eyes and its crown of beautiful hair white as his own. At last it came; and then, after a time—it stayed with him.

Again the artist resumed his work. He was painting a portrait of a woman, the tender little woman who sat before him, her hands folded simply in her lap; and for the first time in his life it was his soul that painted—not merely his hand—and so—the picture was finished.

In a dark corner of the gallery the man and his wife watched. The people came, saw the artist's signature, and passed on. But involuntarily they hesitated, retraced their steps, and then stood motionless before the portrait. Some turned away, but it was only to hide their tears. And in the eyes of the man and woman, silently gazing, the tears were reflected. But the artist's face was radiant, and he stood erect, although he was very old, and so, with clasped hands, they walked slowly away . . .—Hermann Hagedorn, jr., in the "Reader."

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

BOOTH'S DRAWING POWERS.

The Famous Tragedian Was a Star Money Maker.

A retired theater manager said the other day: "It is not generally known that Edwin Booth received 50 per cent of the gross receipts of his performances while under the management of Messrs. Brooks & Dixon. There never was a star on the stage who could draw the money that Booth could to a theater. There were no spasms about his business. It was as steady as Gibraltar. We could bank on it. Out of their half of the receipts Brooks & Dixon paid the rent for theaters, paid the salaries of the company, the railroad and hotel bills and the advertising throughout the country and made big profits, which they shared with Horace McVicker, to whom Booth intrusted his affairs at the start and who afterward associated himself with Brooks & Dixon.

"Booth's agreement with Henry E. Abbey was this: After all expenses of every description were paid Booth got 85 per cent and Abbey 15. Booth lost a week in Philadelphia owing to the death of his wife. The company was put in there without him, and we had to indemnify the local manager. Our loss that week was $4,000. Deducting that, Abbey's profits on the season were $30,000. I do not know any star, save Booth, who ever commanded 50 per cent of the gross receipts."

Where Blood Tells.

It was in one of the farming districts of New England. The young folks had banded themselves together for monthly jollifications during the winter and were about to celebrate the last dance of the season as well as a couple of engagements which had resulted from the assemblies. Ben Hawkins, the local Paganini, and his Stradivarius had been engaged to lead them through the mazes of the country dance, and all were looking forward to the "time of their life."

But death inconsiderately claimed Mrs. Hawkins for his own on the afternoon of the eventful party. The young people gathered as arranged, but bemoaned the absence of Old Ben, and games were being substituted for the dancing when, lo, Hawkins and his fiddle appeared on the scene.

Great astonishment and many questions greeted the old man, but he calmly slipped his fiddle out of its green bag and as he meditatively rubbed the rosin on the bow said:

"Waal, yes; Maria's gone; died this afternoon. But I reckon 'tain't no sin for me to play for you tonight, seein' she wa'n't no blood relation."

AFTER WAITING 27 YEARS

For Reconciliation With Her Husband, Lady Cowell-Stepney at Last Obtains Divorce From Him for Desertion.

After living apart from her husband, Sir Emile Algernon A. K. Cowell-Stepney, for twenty-seven years, Lady Cowell-Stepney has sought and obtained a judicial separation on the ground of desertion.

This step, which it was stated Lady Cowell-Stepney took "with the profoundest reluctance," was brought about by the fact that the baronet recently obtained a divorce in Idaho, United States, the validity of which was now challenged and which might injuriously affect the right of Miss Katherine Cowell-Stepney, the only child of the marriage, to the entailed estates.

Her Ladyship, a dignified woman past middle age, with a pleasant face, wore a black silk dress, black hat, and a gold chain. Beside her in the Divorce Court sat her daughter, Lord Bathurst, and Sir Charles Ryan.

In opening the case the Hon. A. Lyttleton, K.C., M.P., said that Sir Emile was a large landowner in Wales, formerly M.P. for Carmarthen, and had houses at Llanelly and Ascot. He was forty-one when, in August, 1875, he married the Hon. Margaret Warren, daughter of the second Lord De Tabley, his present wife.

His Eccentricities.

There were certain eccentricities, continued counsel, about the baronet that his wife overlooked. He absented himself from home, made vague insinuations against her, and dismissed her maid without giving a reason. He showed the greatest delight, however, when his daughter was born, in September, 1876, but within three weeks of that event he left his home and had never since lived with his wife.

Certain suggestions made at the time by Sir Emile against Lady Cowell-Stepney were investigated, and were found to be absolutely baseless. They were the result really of mental delusion, for which he was treated by Sir William Gull and Dr. Maudsley. This resulted in his being sent abroad with a doctor in 1877.

In 1882 husband and wife met, and he showed then, as at all times, great affection for his daughter. In 1890 he fell under the strange delusion that certain pictures of an improper kind were being made of his daughter, and he wrote to Lady Cowell-Stepney to the effect that such portraiture would be damaging to the future welfare of their child.

Lady Stepney wrote back, treating this as a transitory delusion. "You may go abroad with a quiet mind," she said in the letter. "You know well that my whole life has been devoted to her since she was born. It is not likely I should allow such a thing."

Mr. Gladstone Intervenes.

The husband, however, took Chancery proceedings to secure custody of the daughter. His case was met by affidavits by his own personal friends, including Lord Currie and the late Mr. Gladstone, and the action was abandoned.

Then there was an incident of a luncheon at which Sir Emile entertained his tenants in 1889, and at which he introduced Miss Cowell-Stepney with toasts to the company. Respecting that his wife wrote:

"I know that in taking her there you meant to do all that was right and kind, but only think how it must strike all your friends and mine that her first going into society should be without her mother.

"Forgive me if I say that it must be a false position for her, which she may regret. * * * If I were now silent I might let you think that I cheerfully agreed to our separation." K

Friends made good-natured but ineffectual efforts to bring about a reconciliation. At length on Jan 1, 1901, the baronet wrote from Dakota informing his daughter that he had commenced the new century in a way that might startle her.

Now "Mr. Stepney."

He had, he said, become an American citizen, and letters to him should be addressed "E. Stepney," as, following the example of Lord Fairfax, he had dropped his title.

His wife be invited to come out and join him, leaving their daughter in England, but that invitation, said counsel, was clearly insincere. Sir Emile next went to Idaho with the object of getting a divorce. His longest stay there was two and a half months, and in March last he obtained a divorce decree on the sole ground of his wife's desertion of him for over a year.

"I always hoped things would come right," said Lady Cowell-Stepney, giving evidence in a low, clear voice.

She had no other complaint than desertion to make against her husband, she added. Out of his net revenues of £5,000 a year he allowed her and their daughter £2,000 a year.

Miss Cowell-Stepney, stylishly dressed in black, stated that when, in 1901, she asked her father whether he intended to get a divorce in America, he said "Yes."

He also told her that he wrote asking her mother to join him merely to "satisfy his conscience."

Mr. Lawson Walton, K.C., who defended, said he could not call Sir Emile, and therefore could not prove the American divorce. Sir Emile wished to state that he made no charge against his wife.

In granting a judicial separation, with costs, Sir Francis Jeune observed that the desertion on the part of the husband was proved, but, on the other hand, no evidence had been given that he acquired the American domicile necessary for the Idaho divorce. It was not necessary, therefore, to consider the point whether a husband could succeed who, against the will of his wife, sought to obtain a foreign domicile for the purpose of obtaining a divorce.

MISS CURZON, B. A., DROWNED

Got Out of Her Depth While Bathing Alone at Go-Home Island, Georgian Bay—A Canoe Tragedy on the River Speed—Frank Maddock and Arthur Bradley Were Drowned.

Tweed, August 24.—A terrific explosion which shook the whole town and which was distinctly felt in towns and villages surrounding for fifty miles, occurred in the packing house of the Ontario Power Company's works situated in Tweed on Saturday morning, 22nd inst., at ten minutes past ten. Three men, Lyman Moon, Charles Moon and Edward Tebo, who were in the building were literally blown to pieces and only three or four small fragments of their bodies, not more than ten inches long, could be found. Nothing is left to show that a building had ever been erected on the spot. The explosion made no excavation in the ground and there are only small splinters of timber scattered about. There are a dozen or more buildings constituting the plant but they are scattered over a considerable area and none were destroyed except the packing house. Many of the employees in the other buildings received violent shocks and some were knocked to the floor but all escaped injury.

All the victims are young married men with small families. Nearly every building in town was shaken and people rushed to the streets, many thinking an earthquake had taken place. Several windows were broken, including a large plate glass window, about 10 feet by 7 feet, in T. R. Preston's dry goods store. This is the first accident that has occurred in this plant and it has been in operation for many years.

NITRO-GLYCERINE EXPLOSION.

Two Men Blown to Atoms While Preparing to Shoot a Well.

Leamington, Aug. 24.—A terrible accident occurred here Saturday at No. 2 oil well, owned by the Leamington Oil Co. While making preparations for shooting the well a premature explosion of nitro-glycerine occurred and two men were blown to atoms.

The dead are:

William Booth, an expert from Petrolea, Ont.

William Kennedy, a driller from Kingsville, Ont.

The cause of the explosion has not as yet been ascertained, but it is thought that the can slipped out of the expert's hand. They had lowered one quart of the nitro-glycerine to the bottom of the well, and were in the act of placing twenty quarts more when they exploded.

The derrick was blown to pieces, and a hole 15 feet square and 20 feet deep torn up around the well. Pieces of the derrick and casing were blown for twenty rods in every direction.

There were some very narrow escapes. Ed. Winters, one of the principal stockholders and promoters of the company, only left the well about a minute before the explosion occurred, and was only a rod or so away at the time. His escaping the falling timbers is miraculous. The other directors arrived on a special from Detroit a short time after the accident happened.

MISS CURZON DROWNED.

Was Professor of Chemistry at Lillian Massey Training School, Toronto.

Pentanguishene, Aug. 24.—Miss E. M. Curzon, B.A., professor of chemistry in the Lillian Massey School of Domestic Science, was accidentally drowned yesterday morning at Go-Home, Georgian Bay, off the island where she was camping. She was in bathing alone at the time, and got into water beyond her depth. Her friends on the island were not aware of her danger in time to rescue her. Help was summoned with all haste from the nearest island, Prof. McCurdy's, some distance away, and promptly on arrival Mr. John McCurdy dived for the body and brought it to the surface. It was lying in ten or twelve feet of water, and some twenty-five feet from the shore. Over half an hour had, however, elapsed, and although prolonged efforts at resuscitation were made by several physicians, who were soon at hand, these were unavailing.

Miss Curzon, who was a daughter of the late Mrs. Sarah Anne Curzon, the well-known writer, and member of the Ontario Historical Society, graduated from the University of Toronto in 1889 and was for over ten years assistant to Dr. W. H. Ellis, Dominion analyst, resigning the position on the organization of the Lilian Massey School of Domestic Science, to join its staff. She was identified with the movement to secure a woman's residence for University College, and took an active interest in all women's societies in the University.

Two Men Drowned.

Guelph, Aug. 24.—Saturday night Arthur Bradley of the Traders' Bank and Frank Maddock, bookkeeper in Raymond Manufacturing Co.'s office, while going up the river in a canoe to their camp, were drowned. The bodies were found about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Bradley's people are residents of Mount Forest, and Maddock's live in Ingersoll. Neither of the young men could swim.

Fell From Bridge, Was Drowned.

Newtonville, Aug. 24.—Little Cecil Noden, youngest son of Wesley Noden, blacksmith, with two other small boys, went out bathing Saturday afternoon, and were on the railing of a bridge when young Noden slipped, fell into about 6 feet of water, and was drowned.

SHOCKED TO DEATH.

Ottawa Contributes Two Fatal Accidents to the News Columns.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Two fatal accidents by electrocution occurred here Saturday. Elzear Remond of St. Geneviève, 23 miles from Montreal, a lineman for the Bell Telephone Company, was killed at Elgin and Maclaren streets. He was sitting on a cable pulling a guy wire used to hold the cable taut, when the wire came in contact with an electric wire. Remond had not the regulation rubber mitts on, and, having hold of the wire by the right hand, a complete circuit was formed. He received a heavy shock and fell to the ground, a distance of about 30 feet, breaking his collar bone and suffering other injuries, from which he died. He came here last Thursday.

George Stone, aged 19, a plumber apprentice, was electrocuted in the Collegiate Institute building while examining some plumbing work in a lavatory. He had an ordinary sixteen candle-power lamp in his hand and his right hand was on a piece of and his right hand was on a piece of iron work when he received the shock. The flesh was burned off his hand to the bone. There is some wonder expressed as to how a hundred voltage wire could cause electrocution, and it was said that a crossing with outside wires is impossible. An inquest will be held and evidence taken on that point.

SALISBURY IS DEAD

All But One of His Lordship's Family at His Bedside.

KING EDWARD PAYS TRIBUTE

His Majesty Deeply Deplores the Loss of So Great a Statesman and Says That His Memory Will Ever Dwell With His Fellow-Countrymen — Many Messages of Condolence— His Career.

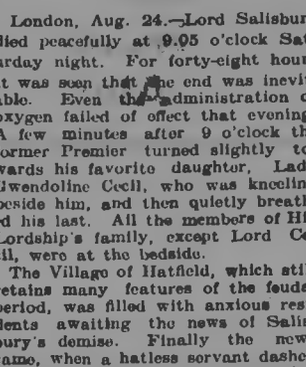
London, Aug. 24.—Lord Salisbury died peacefully at 9.05 o'clock Saturday night. For forty-eight hours it was seen that the end was inevitable. Even the administration of oxygen failed of effect that evening. A few minutes after 9 o'clock the former Premier turned slightly towards his favorite daughter, Lady Gwendoline Cecil, who was kneeling beside him, and then quietly breathed his last. All the members of His Lordship's family, except Lord Cecil, were at the bedside.

The Village of Hatfield, which still retains many features of the feudal period, was filled with anxious residents awaiting the news of Salisbury's demise. Finally the news came, when a hatless servant dashed down the graveled roadway, saying as he passed "He has gone," and then disappeared in the church. Soon thereafter the bell from the tower above tolled slowly, in memory of the celebrated statesman.

Viscount Cranborne, who now assumes the title of Marquis of Salisbury, immediately notified King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales and others, including Lord Edward Cecil, the soldier son of Lord Salisbury, who is now in Egypt, and who was the only child of the Marquis absent from the death-bed. Scores of telegrams of condolence were received at Hatfield House.

The ex-Premier, though retired from political life, was an important figure in many public ways. He was warden of the Cinque Ports, High Ward of Westminster, and Chancellor of Oxford University. His death places an Order of Knight of the Garter within the disposal of King Edward.

Saturday was the fiftieth anniversary of his entrance into public life as a member of parliament for Stamford, Robert Cecil, Marquis of Salisbury. His disappearance from the scene leaves a vacancy which men of the newer generation will find hard to fill. He was the greatest figure left on Britain's political stage on which he had remained until the limit of his endurance was reached.



THE LATE LORD SALISBURY.

When half a century ago young Lord Robert Cecil had just returned from a visit to the Australian gold fields he became a member of the House of Commons for Stamford, which was practically a pocketborough of the Marquis of Exeter, himself a Cecil. Since then Lord Salisbury's career is part of modern history.

In private life, as in politics, he was always the great aristocrat. His party never dared to attempt to dictate to him. His "people" on his estates in seven counties also regarded him as their chief in a fashion which is quite rare nowadays. This was particularly noticeable at his home estate at Hatfield, whose villagers throughout the past anxious days have shown that silent courtesy which only springs from sincere respect.

Lord Salisbury had long been a great sufferer from gouty complaints. Lord Salisbury's death and the consequent elevation of Viscount Cranborne to the marquisate will inevitably lead to alterations in the personnel of the ministry, as the new marquis cannot retain his under secretaryship in the House of Lords, where the Marquis of Lansdowne represents the Foreign Office. Viscount Cranborne's departure from the House of Commons and consequent elevation to the House of Lords will cause a bye-election in the Rochester division.

When the Liberals were defeated in the elections of 1895, and the Rosebery ministry went out of power, Lord Salisbury again assumed the Premiership, though even at that time it was recognized that the actual control of affairs was rapidly passing into the hands of younger men. He remained at the head of the Unionist ministry until June 11, 1902, when his advanced age and ill health, added to the mental distraction caused by the death of his wife, led him to resign. He had previously given up his portfolio as Minister of Foreign Affairs. The new ministry with Arthur J. Balfour a Premier was formed without calling a general election.

His Lordship's Career.

He was 73 years old. Robert Cecil was a second son, and began his career with only the title "Honorable." He married Miss Alderson, the daughter of a barrister who brought him no dower. It was a love match. With a university education as his only capital, he soon became known as one of the ablest writers of the period. In journalism he won a high place. This brought him a parliamentary nomination. In 1865 he was interrupted in an important speech in the Commons with the announcement of the death of his eldest brother, Viscount Cranborne. This made Salisbury the heir to the title and big estate of the Marquis of Salisbury. In 1866 he entered Lord Derby's Cabinet. He became Foreign Secretary under Disraeli. In 1996 he reached the Premiership, holding it but one year. In 1894 he was recalled to power and served until the accession of Mr. Balfour. He was an opponent of Home Rule in Ireland, believed in the protection of home industries, was ultra-conserva-

"THE GRANARY OF THE EMPIRE."

(Toronto Globe)

One of the best articles on the grain-producing capacity, present and future, of Canada that have recently appeared is contained in the current number of The Nineteenth Century. The author, Mr. Robert Machray, approaches his subject with a clear and open mind, and, uninfluenced by the natural patriotism of the Canadian or by the prejudice of the foreigner, proceeds to examine the Dominion's claims to the title that she has assumed—"the granary of the Empire." Mr. Machray introduces his subject by commenting on the effect produced by the coronation arch erected in Whitehall by the Canadian Government. He refers to the arch as "a not unsuccessful attempt to bring before the people of England—to visualize, as it were—that aspect of the Dominion which Mr. Rudyard Kipling, in Our Lady of the Snows, and some other writers have somewhat obscured!" Not the least useful effect of the arch is the essay referred to, for in placing before the British people a clear estimate of our resources it cannot fail to exercise a wide and beneficial influence.

In compairing Canada with the United States Mr. Machray in his desire to avoid the charge of too great optimism seems to leave himself open to a charge of inconsistency. He calls attention to the fact that Canada's growth has been remarkably slow, the population of the republic being nearly fifteen times that of the Dominion, and from this he infers that "for years to come the ratio will increase rather than decrease, but most probably not to such an extent as in the past." Yet later he admits that "the Dominion in some respects does more than hold her own, the percentage of increase in her trade last year being nearly twice that of the United States." It is scarcely likely that our trade ratio can for long outstrip that of the republic without a corresponding increase in population. The enormous rush of settlers into the country during the last two years, a great number coming from the United States, furnishes the most convincing proof that the "slow growth" of Canada will soon be looked upon as an interesting phase of our past.

When Mr. Machray comes to the real substance of his subject he is highly interesting. He deprecates the enthusiastic patriotism of some Canadian writers who "seldom fail to make a point of observing that the Dominion is 'vastly greater' than the republic." This, he says, is misleading, for while Canada undoubtedly does contain a much greater number of square miles than the United States, a great area is unfit for cultivation. No Canadian will dispute this statement, but the fact remains, as the writer admits, that Canada possesses a wheat-producing area not only greater than that owned by the United States, but greater than that of any other country in the world. It is on this that we base our claim to the title, "The granary of the empire." Commenting on the enormous dimensions of our wheat lands, Mr. Machray quotes from an American writer: "If we draw a line through Harper's Ferry from the northern boundary of Pennsylvania to the southern line of Virginia, and take all west of that line to the Missouri River, embracing parts of the states named and all of West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Missouri, and Iowa, we shall have an American territory equal in extent and area and in no wise superior in agricultural resources to the Canadian territory under discussion." This, coming from an independent source, should give the British reader a pretty good idea of the possibilities of this country. But lest his readers might hold the opinion that the choicest parts of this land were already occupied, the writer points out that "Manitoba has room and to spare for more than twice her number of farmers." And, again, "Suppose that in the course of a few years—it is inevitable as anything well can be—but suppose there are 380,000 farmers in the Canadian west, what, then, will be the wheat yield of the Dominion? What will it be when there are a million farmers? And there is room, plenty of room, for more than a million farmers."

Mr. Machray calls attention to the fact that there is always danger of serious loss of what from frost. It should be understood, however, that frost is inseparable from the best quality of what. It is the frost, deep in the ground, while the wheat is growing, that furnishes the moisture which makes Canada famous for her No. 1 Hard. But in recent years damage from frost in the Canadian Northwest has been extremely light, as it has been observed that as the country becomes more thickly settled injurious frosts are less common. Besides anything that the west loses by frost is more than made up by the extra yield and quality. It is estimated that our prairie lands produce from 20 to 40 per cent. more to the acre than similar lands in the United States. Mr. Machray also mentions the fact that while at Minneapolis, the great hard wheat market of the United States, the percentage of No 1. hard in the wheat examined was only 1.09, at Winnipeg it was 50.75. When we consider that No. 1 hard is the finest wheat in the whole world and it brings the highest price, the significance of these figures becomes evident. Mr. Machray's conclusion on the question whether Canada is entitled to be called "the granary of the Empire," is that at present she is not, but before long "Canada will have demonstrated to the world that the inscription she placed on her Coronation arch was no empty, unmeaning boast."

A BIG CONTRACT FOR POWER PLANT.

Given by Local Power to Westinghouse Electric Company.

That the Peterborough Power Co. is preparing to enter the power field, is evidenced by the following item the Monetary Times:—

"The Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company of Peterborough, has placed a contract with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company of New York, for a considerable quantity of machinery to be installed in its new power house on the Otonabee River. The power will be utilized to drive the mill of the American Cereal Company, owned by the Quaker Oats Company in Peterborough, and also to operate several other manufacturing plants in the town, besides the Peterborough Light and Power Company. The contract calls for a 1500 killowatt generator, to operate at 2240 volts, 60 cycles, 150 revolutions per minute, to be directly connected to water wheels; also two 125 volt direct current, direct coupled exciters of 75 kilowatts capacity each, together with switchboard consisting of a large generator panel and two exciter panels."

A Very Good Rule.

It is well known that the majority of human ills arise from constipation of the bowels and on this account many people make it a rule to see that the bowels move once every day. If you are subject to constipation you can be cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These Pills not only make the bowels active, but by their action on the liver ensure a regular flow of bile, nature's own cathartic, and so remove the cause of serious disease.

CONTRAST BETWEEN THE TWO CONTRACTS

$37,742,816, which was the cost of existing sections of railway which had been built by the Government (report of Department of Railways and Canals, 1102, part II., page 39,) and which the contract transferred absolutely to the company.	$8,853,502, being the present cash payment down that would be equivalent to seven years' interest paid annually on cost of construction of Eastern Section, (Moncton to Quebec, 400 miles at $25,000 a mile, $10,000,000; Quebec to Winnipeg, 1475 miles, at $28,000 a mile, $41,300,000. Total, $51,300,000); and $324,246, being the present cash payment equivalent to seven years' interest on cost of bridging the St. Lawrence at Quebec, $2,000,000. On the Prairie Section the company pays all the interest from the issue of the bonds.
For twenty years from the date of the contract no competing road south of the main line was to be authorized by Parliament, and in the establishment of new provinces provision was to be made for the continuance of this monopoly until the expiration of the twenty year period	NO MONOPOLY PROVISIONS WHATEVER.

Full ownership and absoulute control of road by the company.	The lease of the Eastern Section to the company by the Government reserves running rights on equal terms to the Intercolonial, and the Government may also grant running rights to any other railways that ask for them. Running rights over the Western Section are also secured to any railways desiring them upon terms to be fixed by the Government in case the companies cannot agree.

The result of the contract made in 1881 with the Canadian Pacific was an addition of 2,550 miles—namely, from Callandar, near North Bay, to Vancouver—to the railway mileage already in existence in Canada. The result of the contract with the Grand Trunk Pacific will be a new trans-continental line from ocean to ocean, with a mileage of 3,300 miles from Moncton to Port Simpson, all on Canadian soil.—Winnipeg Free Press.

THE AMERICA'S CUP

Reliance, the Yankee Yacht, Wins the First Race.

CHALLENGER IS OUTPOINTED

Defender Led the Way to the Outer Buoy and Increased Her Lead Coming Home —Americans Made a Pandemonium When the Reliance Dashed Past the Line at 11 2, 17 and 18—Fluke Helped Winner.

New York, Aug. 24.—The summary, official:

	Start.	Turn.	Finish.	Elapsed Time
Reliance	11.45.21	1.35.10	3.17.38	3.32.17
Shamrock III	11.45.17	1.50.30	3.26.34	3.41.17

In a splendid 12 to 15-knot breeze over a windward and leeward course of 30 miles, the sloop Reliance Saturday beat Shamrock III. by exactly nine minutes actual time, or 7 minutes and 3 seconds after deducting the 1 minute and 57 seconds allowance to Sir Thomas Lipton's third challenger. It was a royal water fight for the ancient trophy, which carries with it the yachting supremacy of the world and by a strange coincidence the first victory in the cup series of 1903 occurred on the 52nd anniversary of the day on which the old schooner America captured it in her famous race around the Isle of Wight. The Reliance beat the British boat 3 minutes and 24 seconds in the thrash to windward and 5 minutes and 36 seconds in the run home.

It must be conceded that the Shamrock showed herself a wonderful boat in beating to windward, perhaps the ablest craft in this respect ever sent here on a cup-hunting expedition. For 12 miles the great single stickers raced like a team of horses and during that portion of the duel, the followers of Reliance made no attempt to conceal their nervousness.

The racing conditions Saturday were ideal. A thin haze hung over the Jersey shore, obstructing the view of the spectators gathered there, but out on the ocean race course the sea was flooded with sunshine from a vault of fleckless blue. A long ocean swell heaved up from the south and a 12-knot breeze, fresh and strengthening, blew out of the southwest, throwing up fleeting white caps. The marine picture was superb. The size of the enormous excursion fleet and the number of sightseers made a record for an international cup race.

As the direction of the wind would have carried a windward course from Sandy Hook lightship into the Jersey shore, the committee was obliged to set the mark 7 miles farther out. This delayed the start about three-quarters of an hour, and prevented the massing of the excursion fleet as usual in the form of a great marine amphitheatre back of the starting line. Instead they formed a column of hulls and stacks extending 8 miles toward the Jersey shore. The course, southwest, carried the yachts directly into the eye of the wind to a point off Asbury Park.

The honors of the start, as on Thursday, were captured by the American skipper. Captain Wringe timed his approach to the line with the Shamrock very badly and in an effort to keep off until the gun boomed he almost lost his bowsprit as he luffed up to cross. Barr, as usual, went over in the windward berth, four seconds behind his rival. Both were close hauled on the starboard tack. It was a magnificent sight as they plunged seaward in a 12-knot breeze pounding fountains of spray from their convex bows. The crew in white duck were piled up along the weather side. The first few minutes of the windward work were watched with intense interest. Both yachts were footing rapidly with yards of their underbodies showing. But after 15 minutes of sailing their positions had not varied perceptibly and there was alarm among the exports. Those who had expected to see the Reliance walk away from her adversary as a result of last Thursday's showing were disappointed. The Shamrock hung on with bulldog tenacity and with tack after tack she seemed to be holding her own.

For 13 miles challenger and challenged fought out the magnificent duel, sailing between two lanes of excursion boats. All the time the wind was increasing and the whitecaps were whitening the waves in tumbled ardor. The critical point of the race came at 1.40, a little less than two hours after the start. The mark float was two miles away and the relative positions of the boats were about the same. Both were on the starboard tack. Reliance ahead, but to leeward. Suddenly the wind dropped and hauled a trifle to the west. The shift enabled the yachts to hold up for a mark with Reliance in the lead by about 200 yards. This was the only thing which marred an otherwise truly fine race. But from that time on the Reliance increased her lead in the windward work until she was three-quarters of a mile ahead. As she tacked around the outer mark a vast chorus of whistles, bands and the cheer which up from the excursion fleet.

Turning for home, her spinnaker boom, poised along the mast like a lance in rest, fell to port and the big sail burst out like a cloud, while at the same moment their enormous balloon jib topsail bellied out forward. A moment afterwards there was dismay among the patriots when the guy, which held the spinnaker pole parted. The enormous sail soared aloft and tumbled over the jib topsail stay, collapsing like an empty meal sack. But the spar was hauled back into place and then with her three balloon sails setting like plaster, Reliance fled homeward before the following wind.

The fleet remained to salute the Shamrock as she rounded and then made way for the finish line.

In setting her balloon jib the Shamrock encountered another piece of bad luck. One of the stops would not break out and the sail hung for some minutes like a limp rag. When both had been squared away for home, it was seen that Reliance was making a run away race of it. With her crew aft to keep her head up she skimmed along the surface of the water like a gull with outstretched pinions, leaving the Shamrock farther and farther astern. The pace was so fast that many of the tugs and not a few of the steam yachts were left behind.

The scene at the finish was soul stirring. Under her towering cloud of canvas, rolling in the swell, in the Reliance bounded across the finish line. The excursion boats gathered there and burst forth with a terrific din, and the patriots shouted themselves hoarse. Then the immense concourse of vessels waited nine minutes longer until the Shamrock with a slight rent in her spinnaker, but majestic looking even in defeat, swept by between the stake boats. The reception she received was, if anything, more hearty than that accorded to her successful rival. The net result of the race shows that barring the fluke Shamrock III. had held her own in the windward work and had been beaten more than fine and a half minutes to leeward. It is expected that the next race will be sailed on Tuesday.

The Erin steamed into her haven at Sandy Hook after the race with the American flag flying at the main mast and another at her bow, a tribute to the winner. After his guests had departed, Sir Thomas Lipton said with a smile: "We were beaten fair and square. It was splendid weather and Shamrock did not do as well as I had expected she would in the race to windward and return. I appreciate the splendid manner in which my boat was handled. Reliance is a wonderful yacht. My confidence in Shamrock is not shaken and I hope she will yet make a better showing."

A VERDICT OF GUILTY.

Humberts to Live in Jail—Great Criminal Trial Results in Finding Against the Whole Gang.

Paris, Aug. 24.—One of the greatest criminal trials in the history of France culminated Saturday night, when the jury in the Court of Assizes rendered a verdict of guilty against Therese and Frederic Humbert and Romaine and Emile Daurignac. After a brief deliberation the court sentenced Therese and Frederic Humbert each to five years, and to a fine of 100 francs; Emile Daurignac to three years, and Romaine Daurignac to two years. Frederic Humbert acted as though dazed by the shock of conviction, his thin face assuming a ghastly pallor. Romaine and Emile Daurignac preserved an air of stolid indifference Therese thanked her lawyers and then calmly announced she was ready to go to prison.

RUSSIAN FLEET GOES HOME.

Sultan Agrees to Russia's Demands and Czar Is Satisfied.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—The Russian Black Sea Squadron, which was ordered to Turkish waters, and which arrived at Inalada, Eastern European Turkey, Aug. 19, in order to support Russia's demands on the Sultan, growing out of the assassination of M. Rostkowski, Russian Consul at Monastir, has been recalled to Sebastopol, the squadron's point of departure, and has left Turkish waters. The recall of the Russian squadron followed on a notification from the Porte that the Sultan had ordered all the Russian demands to be complied with.

Turkish Troops Defeated.

Sofia, Aug. 24.—From Eastern Adrianople come reports of more fighting, which so far seems to be resulting in favor of the revolutionists. Many villages have been burned and their inhabitants have taken refuge across the Bulgarian frontier. At Stolloro the insurgents defeated a detachment of Turkish troops, which lost 20 killed and wounded.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MORE LIGHT REQUIRED.

A Suggestion That if Victoria Park Were Better Lighted Less Destruction of Property Would Result.

Mr. B. Cooney, at Victoria Park, has a plant in which he takes considerable pardonable pride. It is a beautiful Hydrangea, and for a plant of one season's growth shows the result of great care. Mr. Cooney has all the flowers in both parks looking at their best, and, if the depredations of thoughtless or vicious persons, such as have been lately committed, can be stopped, the parks will be a credit to the town. It has been suggested that about the most effective method of coping with the contemptible action of those who destroy the flowers and other property of the parks would be for the town to provide more light, and, even were it but for the general convenience and comfort of those who use the park, particularly on Friday nights, the council would be conferring a favour on the citizens by providing a few arc lights. It is understood the current has been offered free by a power company so that the only expense to the town would be that of erecting the poles and wiring. It is the custom in larger cities to forbid entrance to public parks in which there are no lights, after dark, and if the beauty of the public property is to be preserved, it would seem that the most effective way to do it is by illuminating the parks to a satisfactory degree, and to a great extent the depredations will cease.

THE INSTRUMENTS HAVE ARRIVED

Complete Equipment for the Band of the T. A. S.

The instruments purchased by the T.A.S. for the members of the band, which is now being formed, have arrived, and are on view in the window of Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. The collection consists of four cornets, four claronettes, four slide trombones, four French horns, two basses, one euphonium, two drums, and one pair of Turkish cymbals, manufactured by Jerome, Lamey, Thibillville & Co., of Paris, France.

They are all of an especially high grade, and capable of producing sweet, rich tones The instruments manufactured by this firm have, wherever they have been exhibited, been awarded highest honours for their good quality. Mr. R. P. Broderick, of Montreal, has been engaged as bandmaster, and with the musical talent available in the membership of the T.A.S., hopes to organize a band that will do credit to the Society. Mr. John McIntyre, a snare drummer of long experience, and considerable talent, and Mr. John Pare, a thoroughly competent euphonium player, have already been engaged, and there are a number of other promising musicians who will be given places on the band, of which Mr. J. J. Boyette will be the manager. Practices will commence almost immediately, and it is expected that in a short time a band which will furnish music to the King's taste, will be a fixture of St. Peter's T.A.S.

MEN ARE SCARCE.

Railway Contractor Tells of his Trouble to Secure men.

Mr. Guy Campbell, sub-contractor on the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Pontypool Railway, experiences the same difficulty in procuring men that all other employers are up against. In the Lindsay Post he is reported as saying: "I am looking for men and teams but they are hard to get. After harvest they will perhaps be more plentiful. I have the contract to build eight miles of the new railway, and my section lies between Nestleton and West Cross Creeks. A man named McMartin has the contract for the eight miles lying between Burketon and Nestleton. Mr. Farquier, who is the chief contractor, will build the road between West Cross Creeks and Bobcaygeon. My camp is on Captain Ball's farm and I have about 25 horses and 50 men at present working in that neighbourhood. I am under contract to have my section completed by October 15, so it will require a large gang of men."

TRENT VALLEY CANOE CLUB ILLUMINATED PARADE

To be Held This Evening on Otonabee River.

Encouraged by their past successes in the regatta line, the Trent Valley Canoe Club will hold an illuminated parade and a programme of races, this evening on the river. It was at first proposed to hold this event on Civic Holiday, but on account of so many excursions out of town, it was thought inadvisable.

The illuminated parade will take place on the river after some races have been run in front of the C.P.R. dock. The races will commence sharp at seven o'clock, and should attract a large number of spectators.

EXCURSIONISTS HOME FROM ROCHESTER.

Returned by Special Train From Port Hope Yesterday.

The excursionists to Rochester on Civic Holiday, have had a somewhat unique experience, and some of them have had their trip prolonged beyond what they had anticipated. On account of the high wind blowing on the lake on Saturday the North King was unable to make her usual trip across, consequently their visit to the "Flower City" was lengthened out another day. The steamer arrived at Port Hope yesterday and a special train was sent from Lindsay to Port Hope to convey the excursionists home. The trip across the lake on Thursday was a somewhat rough one, and some of the passengers were unpleasantly influenced. The time allowed in Rochester was very pleasantly spent, and it is safe to say, that in spite of the few unpleasant features of the trip, for which the management was not responsible, those who patronized it were much pleased. The committee did everything possible to render the excursion an enjoyable one, and well sustained their reputation for providing successful and pleasing excursions.

SOCIAL EVENTS AT STONY LAKE.

Recent Arrivals at the Popular Resort.

Hon. Senator Cox has Purchased Land—Will Build a Handsome Cottage.

Juniper Island,
Stony Lake, Aug. 24.

The last two weeks of August are seeing Stony Lake at its best this year. The number of summer visitors at the various resorts is the largest of the season, and the programme of attractions is interesting and varied. The feature of the month was the masquerade ball of Thursday last, and it is sure to become an annual affair from now forward.

The reguair Saturday night hop was held last week. The attendance may not have been as large as at some of the previous Saturday night dances but a pleasant evening was spent by all who were present.

The services at the pavilion on Sunday morning were quite largely attended as was also the song service at night.

One of the jolliest camps that has ever been pitched on Stony Lake, is that which is situated at Sandy Point. It is the John L. Ruiss Fishing and Hunting Club of Pittsburg, and there are 24 in the party. They have a neatly arranged camp and at night the illuminations are magnificent, to say the least. Mr. Fred Roy of Peterborough, visited the camp and secured some excellent photographs.

Miss Pearl Lundy, who has been spending some weeks at Stony Lake, returned home this morning. She has been the guest of Miss Olive Bradburn for the past week.

Mrs. John R. Eakins of Millbrook, is the guest of Mr. Jas. Eakins.

Mrs A. E. Ames of Toronto, is at the lakes, a guest at Mr. W. G. Morrow's cottage.

Mr. Jas. Hyde spent Sunday at Kilkenny.

Mr. Gerald Rackham of the Bank of Toronto, spent Sunday as the guest of Mr. Frank Bradburn.

Mr. Harold Burnham is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bumble.

Miss Wilmott of Toronto, and Miss Flora Burnham of town, have returned from after a pleasant stay at "Forest Nook."

Mr. E. S. Clarry was the guest of Mrs. W. H. Meldrum over Sunday.

Messrs. A. W. McPherson of Peterborough, and Garnet Bell of the Ontario Bank, Toronto, are camping at Juniper Island.

Rev. J. E. Trotter of Port Hope, is a guest at Mr. George Cochrane's cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McCallum, of Toronto, who have been occupying their cottage, near Burleigh, have closed up the house for the season, and are returning home. They intend remaining in Lakefield for a day or two, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnston.

Mr. Black, of the Canadian General Electric Company, is the guest of the Misses Hall, at Sheriff Hall's cottage.

Mr. Ernie Best has returned from a brief holiday at "Forest Nook."

It is stated on what appears to be good authority, that Hon. Senator George A. Cox has purchased part of the Grundy Island, and will next season erect a magnificent summer House. If Hon. Mr. Cox erects a summer cottage it will undoubtedly be one of the finest on the lakes.

Stony Lake will very likely see a grand new boat next summer. It is stated that Mr. P. Young, the owner of the Majestic, is considering the advisability of placing an up-to-date excursion boat on Stony Lake. The Majestic, with its obliging crew, finds its capacity pretty well taxed at times, and a second boat would overcome the congestion of traffic that often exists. Again, the tourist trade on Stony Lake is growing to large proportions and Mr. Young with his usual enterprise, purposes to be ready for everything that comes his way.

Miss Henderson of Niagara Falls, N.Y., is the guest of Mrs. John Nugent at the lakes.

Mrs. R. S. Davidson was the guest of her sister, Mrs. K. G. Lech, over Sunday.

ELOQUENT SERMON AT ST. LUKES CHURCH.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt's Practical Discourse on Trust.

Appeal for an Acceptance of Providential Care—"Take no Thought for the Morrow."

A sermon that was not only of interest, but very helpful as well, was that preached at St. Luke's church last night by the Rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, his subject being "Trust in the providence of God," and the text upon which his very timely discourse was based was St. Matt. 3; 34—"Take therefor no thought for the morrow; for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." The speaker remarked that there was a large class of "careful" Christians; that is those who are unduly anxious about the future and the things pertaining to it. There were many who were not able to trust fully in the providence of the Divine Father, and their unwillingness was a hindarance to the most perfect enjoyment of religion. The faculty which every Christian should possess, that of following the injunction of the text, would make life much happier and bring brightness where now rest clouds. Not only does this unwillingness to trust prove to be a detriment to the perfect enjoyment of mankind, but it is a wrong wrought to God, because He has said that "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

The way to live, said the reverend speaker, so that the most perfect enjoyment may result is to live so that every day is one unto itself, and only its duties and responsibilities are to be the subject of thought. The Lord's life while He was on earth was an exemplification of the fact that this was the true way to live.

The question might be asked, "Is not the Christian character essentially a provident one?" and the answer to this must be in the affirmative. But we are taught that nothing should be considered of importance except our future life, and all other things should subserve to what should be the aim of everyone; to give supreme importance to the preparation for the future life. This life is a mere parenthesis to those who fully enjoy religion, and all thoughts are of the eternity which must be spent. God's great intention is that all should be kept in humble dependence upon Him. The speaker cited from the Scripture instances of where men had attempted to work independently of the Divine Being and showed how that only sorrow and misery resulted. God's promise is for to-day, and no thought should be unduly given to the cares and anxieties of the future. Speaking of the interest which God takes in the affairs of His children, the speaker said that there was nothing in life in which His guidance and help should not be sought, and there is nothing in which God wishes to be left out of the question. The chief pleasure in life should be found in the fact that Christ lives. God does not give an impulse which enables one to be independent of Him for the remainder of life, but gives momentarily access to himself, and has promised that "as thy day is so shall thy strength be."

Speaking of the benefits resultant to the life of those who accepted in its fullness the providential care of God, trusting Him daily, the speakor said that in the pleasures of life, there might be immeasurably enhanced and the duties of life would be performed with a great deal more enjoyment. He said that the anticipated pain was the hardest to bear, but that the text "Take no thought, etc." was a panacea for all such pain. This trust would also enable men the easier to achieve success, the secret of which was concentration. This was recognized by everyone, but it is impossible for one who was troubled about future cares concentrate his powers for the perfect performance of present duties. Mr. Langfeldt closed his practical sermon with a very eloquent appeal to his hearers to trust God's providential care, knowing that He "doeth all things well."

TULLY & MERRELL, Managers.

REV. ALEX. LAIRD AT ST. ANDREW'S

Excellent Sermon on Parable of Pearl of Great Price.

Rev. Alex. Laird, of Kingston, preached at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church last night to a fairly large congregation, taking his text from St. Matthew 13; verses 44 to 46:

"Again the Kingdom of Heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field; the which when a man hath found he hideth, and for joy thereof gooth and selleth all that he hath and buyeth that field.

"Again the Kingdom of Heaven is like unto a merchant man, seeking goodly pearls.

"Who, when he had found one pearl of great price went and sold all that he hath, and bought it."

The following is the substance of Rev. Mr. Laird's discourse:—

Those two parables are not difficult to understand. In both the Lord is the sower of the seed. The ordinary solution is that Christ is the pearl of great price and that we are looking for Him. The field where the wheat and tares are growing is the world. Let us look into the parables. Does it not seem as if the Redeemer of the world is searching for the hidden treasure—the good men of the world. Christ, finding the world contained pearls of great price, purchased it with His precious blood when He died on the cross.

Rev. Mr. Laird at some length dwelt on the custom in the East of hiding treasures. Changing his theme the preacher said that if a child got lost in a wood, its cry would be heard by the mother before others. So if there is any response in our hearts Christ, our Redeemer, will at once see it. He who once took upon him the seed of Abraham, and not the form of angels; bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh, would enter our hearts at even the slightest response.

In conclusion Rev. Mr. Laird added: May Christ, to-night, who is looking for our response, find it and be satisfied with its sincerity.

Modern Athletic Training.

The trainer of a generation ago would simply have stood aghast at the sweets and other savory food stuffs eaten by your modern rowing or running collegians. Yet it may be doubted if the physique either of the individual athlete or of the nation ever stood at a higher general standard of "fitness." One pertinent fact with regard to training is that both past tradition and present practice condemn with emphatic voice the use of tobacco and alcohol and other indulgences to which healthy man—wonderful animal that he is—is unhappily prone. So long as the main principles of temperance, plain living and abundant exercise are carefully applied to the man in training so long will the results be likely to succeed. Every human being living under reasonably good conditions of environment ought to be, like the healthy schoolboy, always in a state of "training."—Medical Press.

Where It Always Rains.

There is a group of islands to the south of New Zealand called the Sisters, or Seven Sisters, which are reputed to be subjected to a practically constant rainfall. The same may be said of the islands and mainland of Tierra del Fuego, save for the difference that the rain often takes the form of sleet and snow. On a line running round the world from 4 degrees to 8 or 9 degrees there are patches over which rain seldom ceases to fall. This is called the "zone of constant precipitation," but at the same time there are several localities along with it with very little rainfall.

THE CANADIAN EXHIBIT.

Dominion Government Planning for Grand Representation at the World's Fair at St. Louis Next Year.

St. Louis, August, 1903.—Canada's exhibit at the World's Fair to be held here next year will be the largest and most comprehensive that she has ever before attempted to show. The Canadian authorities, represented by their Agriculture Department at Ottawa, Ont., and Mr. William Hutchison, exposition commissioner, are putting forth unusual efforts to make such a display of Canadian products as will do justice to this country's magnificent resources.

It is a very well known fact that the neighbors in the North are more vitally interested in the St. Louis Exposition than any other foreign country. It is also, and it has been already proved that at the Paris and Buffalo expositions, Canada was to the front in securing first positions for natural products, dairy interests and cattle; furthermore; at the Osaka fair held last winter in Japan, ten foreign countries competed, Canada easily won the medal of honor for the best display.

The Hon. Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture in the Dominion Government, has just caused an item of $150,000 to be voted for the St. Louis World's Fair. The Canadian Building will cost upwards $25,000.

One of the most interesting features of the Canadian exhibit will be a cold storage plant for the preservation of natural products.

One fact which although not widely known is nevertheless very true, namely, that for the last five years a great number of Americans have crossed the border and have settled in the Canadian Northwest. It is obvious, therefore, that a practical illustration of Canada's natural wealth such as she intends to show here next year, cannot but stimulate to a high degree a continuance of the emigration.

The entrances to the building are distributed so as to serve the visitors. A gradual rising approach will lead up from the northwest where is located the main picture of the Fair. The beautiful slopes of the hill around the building have been assigned to the Departments of Agriculture and Horticulture, and here during the Fair there will be maintained a fine display of flowering shrubbery and of indigenous and exotic plants. Hydrants to supply water to these exhibits at all times have been planned.

On its south side it will have a gallery 500 feet long and 25 feet wide. Here will be the offices for Chief F. W. Taylor and his staff; reading rooms where the leading agriculture publications will be kept on file; jury rooms and a large committee room. There will also be on this gallery an assembly hall for the meeting of agriculture and other societies. This hall will be 106 by 50 feet and will have a seating capacity of nearly 1,000.

GRANTON MAN SPEAKS OUT.

To let the Public Know Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

John Fletcher had Lumbago and Kidney Disease and Could Get no Relief Till he Tried the Great Kidney Remedy

Granton, Ont., Aug. 23.—(Special).—"I am glad to let the public know that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Lumbago, and I am now perfectly sound."

These are the words of John Fletcher, a well-known resident of this village, and similar tributes to the great Canadian Kidney remedy can be heard on every side.

"I had been troubled for a year with Lumbago and Kidney troubles," Mr. Fletcher continued, when asked for particulars. "My urine was of a very bad colour and I could get nothing to help me. I consulted the best doctors in Granton and St. Mary's, but got no relief. Finally I bought a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and commenced taking them. They helped me almost from the first, and I was soon completely cured."

It is cures of this kind that have given Dodd's Kidney Pills their popularity. You can't find a neighbourhood in Canada where Dodd's Kidney Pills are not known by their cures. If the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure it.

Sam Parks Guilty.

New York, Aug. 22.—Samuel J. Parks, the labor leader, who has been on trial for several days, charged with extortion in demanding and receiving money from various employers under threat that he would call strikes, was found "guilty" yesterday. Recorder Goff remanded Parks until Monday. Parks was locked up in the Tombs.

Lord Dundonald's Daughter.

The engagement of Lady Grizel Cochrane, eldest daughter of Lord Dundonald, Commandant of the Canadian Militia, to the Hon. R. Hamilton (The Master of Belhaven) was recently announced in England. Both are very young, but early marriages are just now the fashion. The Master of Belhaven, like his father, who served in the Zulu war, is a soldier, for after leaving the Royal Military College he joined the Grenadier Guards. Lady Grizel belongs to a family now so well known in Canada that her father's daughter seems one of ourselves.

"TUDOR HOUSE."

Beautiful Half-Timbered Edifice Recently Restored at Stratford-on-Avon.

Opposite the town hall at Stratford-on-Avon stands "Tudor House," which has just been restored. Nobody dreamt that such a beautiful half-timbered edifice existed until the stucco and modern brickwork were removed. When its beauties were seen Mr. Stanley, the present proprietor, decided to preserve it, and with some monetary help from a lady who desires that her name shall not be mentioned he was enabled to do so. Mr. Kennard, a local builder, undertook the task, and has admirably carried it through. According to Mr. R. Savage the exact date of this important residential house has not yet been discovered, but from the records of the Corporation of Stratford-on-Avon it is ascertained that in the 38th year of Henry VI. (1459-60) it was occupied by John Hannys, Master of the Guild of the Holy Cross. In 1482 it was the property and the residence of Roger Pagette, another Master of the Guild, who, it appears, had let it to a Mr. John Balamy, Aug. 31, 1498. From that date till Nov. 26, 1621, documentary evidence concerning the house has not yet been found. On the 26th November, 1621, it belonged to the very influential family of Wolmer, members of which were High Bailiffs and Mayors of Stratford-on-Avon eight times between 1641 and 1715. From them the property passed successively to various families of little or no importance till finally, in June, 1902, it was purchased by Mr. A. J. Stanley.

How to Succeed in Life.

The problem of how to succeed in life will always exercise human minds and human curiosity. Every successful man, has no doubt, a theory by which to explain his own success, and some of them have been generous enough to publish these to the world. According to a famous American millionaire, if we remember aright, to be industrious is to succeed, but that dictum must have been delivered in an optimistic moment, or out of a spirit of modesty which would disclaim for itself any other virtues. We cannot credit that industry alone, or even joined with temperance, will achieve success; and Dr. Max Nordau confirms our scepticism. Dr. Nordau, in his instructive essay on "The conditions of success" in the current Fortnightly, divides success into three classes—one pecuniary, another political, and the third artistic. It should be pleasing to artists generally to know that to the last he confines the use of the word "fame." Mr. Carnegie, then, is not famous, nor is Mr. Chamberlain. . . . . Dr. Nordau warns us not to despise money, which we should hardly have looked on as necessary advice in these days. He also considers that unusual qualities go to make money, qualities "not possessed by one man in a million." That is not, of course, why he is called a millionaire. It is probable, however, that there is not so great a difference between human beings as between their circumstances and the chances which fall to them. The tide may come once in the affairs of all men, and the flood pass unnoticed by most, but it would look as if some men had many tides. But Dr. Nordau, we are glad to observe, does not on the whole recommend a search after riches. On the other hand, he approves of ambition to succeed in public life, which may come of "honesty, firmness of character, sound commonsense, public spirit, sympathy with one's fellowman, a little geniality, and a little gift of the gab."—London Morning Post.

The Delirium of Speed.

The development of rapid traveling seems to have brought its disease, affecting chiefly individuals of degenerate type. French physicians find high speed attended by a kind of intoxication in certain automobilists, the effects resembling the morphine delirium and the victims becoming quite unable to control their reckless passion for rapid motion. Like the morphine and alcohol habits the speed habit seems to develop gradually, entire loss of restraint being reached only in advanced cases.

ZERO AN ANCIENT TERM.

It Was In Use In Babylon Thirty-six Centuries Ago.

The term zero, which is used to designate a cipher and in meteorology the entire absence of heat in the atmosphere, was, according to a mathematical historian, Moritz Cantor, used by the Babylonians about the year 1700 B. C. This, however, is merely a supposition. It has not been definitely established that zero was in use any earlier than 400 A. D. About this time it was used in India, and several centuries later the Arabs began to employ it. Through the Arabs its use became known to Europeans during the twelfth century. It was not generally adopted in Europe until several centuries later, notwithstanding its great advantages. For a considerable time there were two parties among the European educators. One party, known as the algorists, favored the adoption of the Hindoo system of notation (falsely called Arabic), with its position values, while the other, known as the abacists, favored the Roman notation, without zero or position value.

The general adoption of the Hindoo system was greatly facilitated by the facts that it was explained in most of the calendars for more than a century, beginning with 1300, and that the mediæval universities frequently offered courses devoted to the use of this notation.

An American Waterloo.

Wellington at Waterloo and Meade at Gettysburg each held the highlands against his antagonist. Wellington on Mont Saint Jean and Meade on Cemetery Ridge had the birdseye view of the forces of attack. The English batteries on the plateau and the Union batteries on Cemetery Heights commanded alike the intervening undulations across which the charging columns must advance. Behind Mont Saint Jean, to conceal Wellington's movements from Napoleon's eyes, were the woodlands of Soignes. Behind Cemetery Ridge, to conceal Meade's movements from the field glasses of Lee, was a sharp declivity, a protecting and helpful depression. As the French under Napoleon at Waterloo, so the Confederates under Lee at Gettysburg held the weaker position. In both cases the assailants sought to expel their opponents from the stronger lines. I might add another resemblance in the results which followed. Waterloo decreed the destiny of France, of England, of Europe. Gettysburg, not so directly or immediately, but practically, decided the fate of the Confederacy.—General John B. Gordon in Scribner's.

DINNER ON THE GRIP

By A. WALLIE

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Captain Alexander Mather of the steam coaster Grip was hurrying along Cardiff street dockward to his vessel when he was accosted by a youngish man smartly attired in yachting costume.

"Captain Mather?" the stranger queried.

"That's me," the sailor retorted gruffly enough, having all the dislike of his class toward the average amateur seaman.

"You were pointed out to me as master of a boat just leaving for Southampton. I want to go there at once."

The hint was obvious enough, but Mather did not choose to follow it up. "Take the train, then," he replied. "Passengers ain't in my line."

"So I would" — the young man appeared disposed to be persistent—"but I have a lot of heavy baggage here, and I wish it to accompany me to my yacht, which is lying off Cowes. If you'll take it and me I'll make it well worth your while."

The captain hesitated. The Grip possessed small accommodation for outsiders, but a job like this might mean something in the skipper's pocket.

"Well," he said, surveying the stranger over again, "my ship ain't a liner, you know, but just a coastin' tramp covered this blessed minute with coal muck that won't come off her till she starts washin' herself outside Lundy."

His new acquaintance seemed in no way dismayed at this description. "That will be all right, captain," he returned. "Come in here a minute and let us talk it over."

The place thus indicated was an adjacent bar, where over suitable drinks the yachtsman continued negotiations.

"There are about a dozen large wooden cases," he went on, "with furnishings and my own outfit for a long West Indian cruise. I should have sent them on ahead of me but for some stupid delay, and now if I lose sight of them heaven knows how long I may be kept waiting for them."

"What's your yacht's name?" demanded Mather.

The stranger took out his cardcase. "You are a bit suspicious," he said pleasantly enough, "but we'll have everything fair and square." He handed over a card as he spoke, and on it the sailor read: "E. V. Rentore, S. Y. Sea-Swift R. Z. Y. C."

The first names were unknown to Mather, but the last four cryptic letters he was aware represented the title of one of the most exclusive clubs in the kingdom.

"Then, sir," he said with an obvious change of manner, "if you want me to take your things it will have to be arranged quickly. I'll be haulin' out for sea in a couple of hours. If they are not too heavy and you have them alongside within that time I might manage."

"My man shall have the cases down within the time you say—they are not heavy, and your own crane will easily swing them on board. And as to terms —will £20 suit you?"

The sailor gasped. He had not expected nearly so much.

"If you'll throw in the price of a new hat for myself, sir," he responded quickly, "we'll call it a deal."

"Good!" Rentore produced his purse. "Here's half of it now, and a couple of sovereigns for yourself."

Thus the bargain was sealed, and Mather, much elated at his fortune, made his way down to the Grip. He had not been long there when a wagon appeared, bearing the cases and escorted by a man of the valet type.

"There's the stuff," the latter grumbled to the skipper; "and what the gov'nor wanted traveling with it in a coal barge for I don't know. Is your ship safe, captain?"

Mather surveyed him scornfully. "She'll carry you, my son," he retorted sarcastically.

The servant scowled. "I 'ope so," he replied with meaning. "Anyway you'd best see the goods are kept right side up—they're all marked for that."

Presently Rentore himself clambered on board.

"Ah," he remarked, smiling in the pleasant way he had, "I see you have my dunnage, captain. Are you going to carry all the cases on deck?"

"Yes, sir," answered Mather. "The weather is fine, and they'll be safe lashed."

The dock gates just then opening, the captain took his post on the bridge, while the passenger went below to see his accommodation.

Nor did Mather set eyes on him again until the Grip had opened out the channel and in the growing dusk the light on Flatholme was commencing to twinkle far astern. Then he met the skipper as the latter was descending from the bridge.

"Come along, captain," he said. "I've taken the liberty of making myself at home—got my man to overlook your cook and have a bit of dinner ready for you."

In response to this invitation the sailor passed below to encounter a scene such as the dingy saloon of the tramp had not seen since her long past trial trip, if then. The table was set with crystal on spotless linen, silver and flowers garnished it, and the swinging tray above sparkled with bottles full of such wines as the captain had seldom seen nearer than across a bar counter.

"I told you I'd make myself comfortable," Rentore laughed at the other's amusement. "The hotel people put some of this up for me, but your cook did the rest, so sit down and do him justice."

Captain Mather was sufficient of a philosopher to accept the gifts the gods thus sent. He sat down as requested, and if his handling of his knife and fork left something to be desired his appreciation of the meal was none the less patent. Moreover, his host saw to it that his glass was frequently replenished, so that as the cheese came on the table the skipper went under it.

"Perkins," ordered Rentore, "get the steward to help you to take Captain Mather to his room; he does not seem well. And—ah—you might have word sent to the bridge I'll be glad if the mate will join me here. The night's fine, and I expect the boatswain can take the ship past Lundy without sinking the island."

The passenger appeared to the steward, who was present, to be also slightly touched with an after dinner manner. The mate, when he came, had the same impression, but nevertheless that officer also collapsed, as his superior had done, leaving Rentore still quite composed. The chief engineer, who had joined the feast at the request of the giver of it, along with the mate, was simultaneously overcome.

"Most extraordinary," remarked Rentore. "Never saw men so easily upset. I'm going on deck. Perkins, you might see the steward gets out that case of whisky for the men forward and the stokers."

On deck the passenger lit a cigar, mounted to the bridge and joined the boatswain, who had charge of it.

"I've sent a bottle or two of hard stuff forward," he said to him affably. "You might go down and have your share. I'm sailor enough to watch her if you leave me the course."

"Thank 'ee kindly, sir," answered the seaman, who, like the rest of the crew, was blessing his stars for having given the Grip the carrying of such a benefactor. "Keep her sou'west by west, and she'll take no harm for the minute I'll be gone."

When the boatswain's cap had vanished down the ladder Rentore turned to the hand at the wheel.

"You shouldn't be out of this, my man," he said. "Off you go, and drink my health. I can keep her head straight."

He gripped the wheel, and the sailor saw the compass card kept steady to the course. Then he, too, disappeared, and silence reigned fore and aft along the decks of the Grip.

This lasted for perhaps half an hour —then Perkins appeared upon the bridge.

"They're gone under at last!" he said in tones very different from any he had previously used. "Shall I let our lads loose?"

"Yes," answered Rentore. "Tell some of them to see quickly to the fires—I can feel the old tub's speed slackening. And send a hand here to relieve me."

Perkins descended to where the cases were ranged and tapped on each. They opened as he did so, and dim figures from them darted swiftly to his bidding. The Grip had got a fresh crew.

Next morning, just before daylight, a small coasting steamer crept into the anchorage of St. Mary's, Scilly, and brought up close alongside the palatial yacht Boccanera, belonging to a multimillionaire of American extraction. It had been lying there for some days while its owner explored the islands in accordance with intentions previously announced somewhat widely in the public prints.

The Boccanera was visited by a boatful of armed men from the new arrival. The anchor watch on her deck was overpowered, the remainder of her crew battened down, and the millionaire was robbed under threat of violence of every portable article of value he had with him, including a large sum of gold and his wife's jewels, reputedly of fabulous worth.

Word of this daring robbery reached the shore, but by that time the stranger had utterly vanished beyond sight.

During the night following the Grip reached Southampton and was berthed ready to commence discharge next morning. Not even the police on duty noticed that her crew all slipped ashore one by one during the darkness. It was the lumpers, coming down to commence work on the cargo, who found the place deserted. They explored the forecastle last, and from below it came a muffled knocking. Raising the hatch leading into the fore peak, there emerged from that literally black hole a string of disconsolate figures, Captain Mather bringing up the rear in crestfallen fashion.

"Here," he demanded, rubbing his eyes, "where in blazes are we?"

"Southampton," in course, he was told.

"Where's the ship been?" he added brokenly. "I know no more than a baby. I'd best see the police. If they'll catch me that yachtsman I'll hang him for them myself."

A sentiment in which the multimillionaire fully concurred.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there

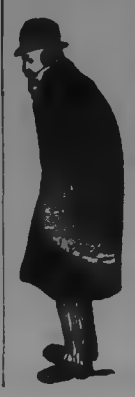
It is courting danger to stand under icy eaves. Not a few have learned this to their cost. Every winter injury and even death are reported as the result of this carelessness. But there is a far more popular way of courting danger. Every man or woman who neglects a cough is inviting sickness, and many a fatal sickness has its beginning in a slight cough.

The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure the cough. Even when the cough is obstinate and there is hemorrhage with emaciation and weakness, "Golden Medical Discovery" always helps and almost always cures.

"I was troubled with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and left me with a miserable cough," writes Mr. Joseph D. Burns, of 318 Huestis Street, Ithaca, New York. "I used two bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' after which my cough disappeared entirely. I cannot recommend your medicine too highly."



Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs. Substitution means a little more profit to the dealer but a loss to you.

The Origin of Woolwich Arsenal.

Woolwich arsenal is said to owe its existence to an explosion. According to the story the surveyor general gave orders that some old French guns, captured by the Duke of Marlborough, should be recast into English guns at Moorfields. A young Swiss student, Andrew Schalch, who was traveling in search of scientific knowledge, happened to be present and noted that the molds to receive the molten metal were not dry. He spoke to the authorities of the danger, but the metal was run, and the generation of steam in the damp mold caused an explosion, attended with loss of life. Schalch was subsequently summoned to the ordnance office, his abilities tested, and he was then requested to select a site for a new foundry. His choice fell on Woolwich, where he was superintendent of the arsenal for many years.—London Chronicle.

Had to Keep on Building.

The Canadian Magazine has a story apropos of a building reputed to be the highest west of Chicago. The projector found some need of outside help in financing his expenses and every Saturday used to exchange checks with a friend to pay his building expenses. At last his friend got tired of these transactions and said: "Major, I've had enough of your checks. You've got that building high enough already. Why don't you roof it in?" "I can't afford to put the roof on," said the major. "You see, I have contracted to pay for the material when I get it roofed in."

The Best Way to Preserve a Body.

There is no other way in which a body can be preserved so long, leaving freezing and mummification out of the question, as by burial in a lead coffin. If the receptacle is airtight, lack of oxygen brings putrefaction almost if not quite to a pause, and the face of a defunct person may be recognisable after a long period of time. The attempts frequently made to destroy bodies by covering them with lime usually have the opposite effect, preserving them by keeping out the air.—London Answers.

The following despatch has been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, Aug. 24th, 9.45 a.m.—London shows a better tone than expected, 3-8 above New York parity. Many prominent traders who were absent Saturday, will be on floor to-day, and we are inclined to look for a steady market with possibility of some rally. Many stocks are now at attractive prices, and we believe good stocks will do to buy on any decline for a turn.—M. & M.

We expect to see bears attack the list to-day. There should be some general selling on account of bad statement. In event of attack, a greater impression should be made upon the market than was done Saturday, when movements were exceedingly narrow. There are no signs at present that general urgent liquidation has not been finished, but there are a few weak spots. We warn the bears, however, against being too aggressive, therefore the outlook favours a sort of dragging market.—Town Topics.

GOLF.

LINDSAY VS. PETERBOROUGH.

A match was played on Saturday afternoon between representatives of the Lindsay and Peterborough Golf Clubs, on the links of the local golfers, resulting in the visitors suffering defeat by 23 holes up.

The Lindsay gentlemen arrived on the 11.45 train and were entertained to lunch at the Club House by the local team.

Notwithstanding the fact that a strong wind was prevalent some good scores were made as the following, which is a list of the names of the players with their individual scores, will show:—

The Lindsay golfers who left on the 5.38 G.T.R. train for home, expressed themselves highly pleased at the reception which they had been tendered.

LACROSSE.

The Lindsay lacrosse team will come to Peterborough on Wednesday for the second game of the semi-finals with the Athletics, prepared to put up a good stiff game, and the Athletics are practicing in anticipation of a game which will require some hard work. Should the Athletics win this game they will have to play with the winners of the Western Districts, some of whom are reported as being very fast.

* * * *

Peterborough boys abroad hold their own in sports as well as in the more serious affairs of life. Mr. P. Rubidge, formerly of Peterborough, now a member of the Calumet lacrosse team of Chicago, played inside home in a game in Chicago, in which the Calumets defeated the St. Paul team by a score of 10—2, and won the western championship. The great Canadian game is now obtaining a foothold in the United States.

* * * *

A big surprise was administered to the [illegible] team on the Island on Saturday. The Tecumsehs, after giving the impression by their playing all summer that they "couldn't win a game nohow," defeated the St. Catharines team, which, at least, by the St. Catharines Star, is considered the best lacrosse aggregation in the C.L.A. This win by the Indians puts Oshawa at the foot of the list, where she is likely to stay.

* * * *

The Athletics will practice to-night and to-morrow night.

* * * *

In the Senior C.L.A. Saturday the now weakened Oshawa team played the Brantford aggregation and were defeated, the score being 18—4. Fagan, Blythe and Kimpton were off the Oshawa line-up, their places being filled by juniors.

YACHTING.

It was 52 years ago Saturday that the yacht America, in a race for a cup offered by Queen Victoria, won the prize which since that day has become recognized as the most highly sought trophy in the yachting world. Commodore Stevens, after many refusals was finally permitted to enter a protest against English boats to be sailed around the Isle of Wight, and so well did he sail his yacht, that the remark has become historical, "There was no second."

The second race for the America Cup will be sailed to-morrow, when we all hope that the Shamrock will turn the tables on the Reliance.

SALISBURY IS DEAD.

tive regarding internal politics, but aggressively radical in his Foreign politics. He astounded all Europe by dictating to the world at the Berlin conference, drawing his finger through the map of the Balkan mountains, and saying, "England draws the line here," thus proving a barrier to the dismemberment of Turkey. Bismarck declared it was the boldest speech that ever came from an English Premier's lips. The ultimatum stood. He ranked as the master of the art of clear, succinct oratory.

King Edward's Tribute.

King Edward's tribute to the deceased Marquis of Salisbury is given in the Court Circular last night, dated Marienbad, Sunday. It runs as follows:

"The King has received with profound regret the news of the death of the Marquis of Salisbury, and His Majesty deeply deplores the loss of so great a statesman, whose invaluable services to Queen Victoria, to the King and his country in the highest offices of state, which he held for so many years, will ever dwell in the memory of his fellow-countrymen."

Messages of condolence are pouring in at Hatfield House. The senders include King Edward and Queen Alexandra, the Queen of Portugal and President Loubet. Touching references were made to the dead statesman in the pulpits of almost all the churches in the United Kingdom. There were many visitors to the village of Hatfield yesterday. The parish church was crowded yesterday morning, the worshipers including Premier Balfour, the Earl and Countess of Selborne, the Marquis' sons and members of his family and household.

The funeral has been provisionally fixed for the end of this week to enable Lord Edward Cecil, who is on his way home from Egypt, to assist.

THE FLAMES RACED

People in Budapest Cut Off by Fire and Many Burned to Death.

THIRTY-EIGHT MISSED NETS,

Of These 12 Were Instantly Killed, 16 Were Mortally Injured and 9 Were Seriously Hurt—Fire Was in a Factory With Residential Flats on Upper Floor — Only Those Near the Doors Escaped.

Budapest, Aug. 25.—(1 a.m.)—Between 40 and 50 persons were burned to death, according to reports at this hour, in a fire last night in a four-story building.

The lower floors of the building were occupied by a fancy goods firm, named Goldberg, and the upper floors as residential flats. There were 200 working people in the building, and the escape of many of them and of the residents on the third and fourth fourth floors were cut off. The warehouse contained piles of flimsy material and the flames spread with great rapidity. Only the work people near the doors below were able to escape.

The residents above, seeing their escape cut off, clung desperately to the windows, screaming for help. Fifteen persons were saved by jumping into fire nets. Many in jumping missed the nets, thirteen being killed in this way. Sixteen others were mortally and nine seriously injured.

Several buildings near by caught fire, but the firemen extinguished the flames in these before heavy damage had been done.

The damage is estimated at 4,000,000 krönen, mostly covered by insurance.

SATURDAY SUICIDES.

Woman Near Mitchell Takes Large Quantity of Paris Green.

Mitchell, Aug. 25.—Mrs. Winteringham, who has resided with her son at lot 6, Con. 8, Logan, a short distance from here, died Sunday evening from the effects of a dose of paris green, which she took with suicidal intent on Saturday morning. The woman was 80 years of age. The quantity of the poison that she swallowed would have been sufficient to kill half a dozen persons.

Suicide at Monkton.

Mitchell, Aug. 25.—A very shocking affair occurred at Monkton on Saturday, when Alfred Huggins, hotelkeeper of that place, deliberately took his life with his own hand. He left home in the morning and was seen by a man who was plowing in the field walking along by the fence and entering the bush. Not long after the man heard a shot. Searchers found the body cold in death with the revolver in Mr. Huggins' hand. The ball had entered the right temple.

ROWLEY'S DEFALCATIONS.

Fifty More Cases Where Deposits Were Not Credited.

St. Thomas, Aug. 25.—Further stealings of George Rowley, ex-manager of the Elgin Loan Co., are daily coming to light. On Saturday it was stated that Barrister E. Horton was acting for two clients, one of whom had deposited $1,240 and another $105, and had pass books showing that the amounts were deposited, but no entry could be found on the books of the company. It has since been learned that so far about fifty similar cases have been reported and that instead of Rowley's defalcations amounting as given out to $188,000 in round figures they will exceed a quarter of a million dollars.

Peculiar Death of a Huckster.

Toronto, Junction, Aug. 25.— Alfred Anthony, a huckster for Barton Bros., Weston-road, died under rather peculiar circumstances about 12 o'clock on Saturday night. He had taken a load of vegetables to Brampton and, while returning home, fell asleep on the wagon and dropped off the seat. The wheels evidently went over his chest, but he thought he was not hurt and jumped on the wagon again. He drove to Mr. Barton's farm and handed him the money for the day's sales. He refused to be helped, and, as he was getting into bed, died. He had been married about twenty-five years, and leaves a wife, but no children.

Freedom Granted For $4,000.

Hamilton, Aug. 25.—John W. Noble, cashier of the Canadian Express Company, was committed for trial yesterday by the police magistrate. His friends still believe that he will be able to clear himself of the charge of stealing $2,000 from the company. He was released on $4,000 bail yesterday afternoon. Manager Moore and William Oblender, a clerk, swore that he had made damaging admissions to them.

He Killed the "Tweed Ring."

New York, Aug 25.—John Foley, who brought the famous injunction suit which ended in the rout of the "Tweed Ring" is dead. His health was shattered 20 years ago by his persistent fight for good government. He was born in Ireland in 1834, and came to America when nine years old.

MASSACRE CHILDREN

Turks Out-Herod Herod in Their Cruel Atrocities.

CONSULS CONFIRM STORIES.

So Many Horrors Have Been Enacted That the Situation Has Become Intolerable —Fighting Is Desperate—Situation in the Vilayet of Monastir Is Hopeless—Twenty-Two Villages Burned and Desolate.

Sofia, Aug. 25.—Travelers who arrived here last night from Adrianople state a massacre of children occurred there Sunday morning. One version says the guns in one of the forts opened fire upon an insurgent band, which had attacked a military outpost. A panic followed inside the town, and the Mohammedan population fell upon the Christians.

The Turks are reported to have massacred all the women and children in twenty-two villages of the districts of Florila and Monastir, and to have afterwards burned the villages. They are also alleged to have killed a number of prisoners. The streets of Krushevo are said to be strewn with dead and the survivors are afraid to bury the bodies, fearing to incur the suspicions of the Turks.

Turks Terrible Atrocities.

Reports from Monastir authenticated by the Russian and Austrian Consuls, give horrifying details of the massacres and atrocities. At the village of Armensko, the Turks destroyed 150 homes out of a total of 157, and massacred every man, woman and child. The women were subjected to the most terrible atrocities by the soldiers. Eight revolutionaries, captured at Krushevo, who were sent in the direction of Monastir in chains, were slaughtered by their guards.

With the rumors of massacres, atrocities and the murder of prisoners in Monastir, now authenticated, the general situation here is fast becoming intolerable. Official and diplomatic circles are alike concerned fearing that many horrors enacted have yet to come to light. The revolutionary committees are doing their utmost to force the hands of the Bulgarian Government, and the immediate outlook is exceedingly serious.

Killed 150 Persons.

Constantinople, Aug. 25.—According to Turkish advices, when the insurgents captured Vasilike in the eastern part of the Vilayet of Adrianople, they killed the garrison, consisting of fifty soldiers, and about one hundred of the inhabitants.

200 Persons Killed.

Vienna, Aug. 25.—The Neue Freie Presse, Constantinople correspondent telegraphs that a band of Bulgarians has attacked the Turkish town of Urgas, south of Iniada, on the east coast of Turkey, and have blown up the Government buildings with dynamite. It is reported that 200 persons were killed.

The purpose of the corporation, it is said, is to build a line of railway extending from Port Nelson, Hudson Bay, in a southerly direction, crossing the line of the Canadian Pacific near Winnipeg, thence through the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory to Galveston; through Mexico to the Isthmus of Panama; through Colombia to Ecuador, and finally through Peru to Buenos Ayres.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM.

A gentlemen from Brandon, connected there with the Canadian Northern Railway, who has been visiting in town, makes the statement that with all their best efforts neither the C.P.R., or the Northern, nor both combined, can handle the freight that now offers. Their tracks, he says, cannot run enough rolling stock to handle the ordinary goods freight, not to speak of the wheat crop which will in a few weeks make congestion more congested. It stands to reason that this condition of things retards the development and checks the prosperity of the Northwest. The influx of population will cease, if it comes to this, that the farmers cannot turn their crops into cash, by reason of lack of facilities to get them to the market. This condition of insufficiency of transport, presents a strong argument for the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific; for even with that line in full operation, and all the other lines, there will be an insufficiency of transport service. For this very reason, if for no other, the line should be constructed. The development of the Northwest, and the prosperity thus created, will mean much for the prosperity of Ontario. The Northwest in its developed condition, will furnish a market for the manufactured products of this province, and the more we can fill up the unfillable Northwest with population, the greater and better will be the Northwest market. Since the northwest cannot be filled up without fairly adequate transportation facilities, it is evident that a new line of railway—a trunk line connecting the east with the west—will be a very powerful agent in developing the Northwest market to the advantage of the industrial interests of Ontario and the east generally. While the Government is exploiting the Grand Trunk Pacific, it should not neglect a very important outlet for Northwestern grain — the Trent Canal route. When the Grand Trunk Pacific is built, when the C. P. R. is double tracked from Winnipeg to Fort William, we shall have four lines of railway bringing wheat to the lake side, with only two through trunk lines to carry it to the seaboard. So that if we have transportation to Fort William or Port Arthur provided for, we shall still need the Trent Canal to help move the grain to the seaboard. The railway problem may bulk most largely in the politicians' and the public eye, but the Trant Canal is available to offer an important contribution to the solution of the terminal grain transportation problem.

The Carleton, N. B., Sentinel says: "A large section of the Tory party in Ontario continue to exploit Gamey and trot him out on every possible occasion. It is noteworthy that both Robert L. Borden and Sir Mackenzie Bowell found excuses for absenting themselves from the Toronto powwow at which "the man from Manitoulin" was the star actor."

Considerable interest, says the Fredericton, N. B., Herald, attaches to what Mr. Tarte may have to say on the railway question. Although he is out of the cabinet, Mr. Tarte and Sir Wilfrid Laurier maintain friendly personal relations, and the ex-Minister of Public Works has not uttered a word that could be construed into an attack on his former leader.

NOW IS THE TIME

For the Construction of Proposed Transcontinental Railway.

SO SAYS REV. DR. GORDON,

Who is now Principal of Queen's University,

And has Intimate Acquaintance With the West.

"A railroad to the Pacific would naturally be a competitor for the Asiatic trade and the proposed railway to Port Simpson could be built at less cost than any railway to the Pacific has been," such is the opinion of Rev. D. M. Gordon, D. D., formerly of Halifax and now principal of Queen's University, Kingston.

Few Canadians are more familiar with the western section of the proposed route of the Grand Trunk Pacific than Dr. Gordon, and he readily gave to a Halifax Chronicle reporter his impressions of the country. He believes the new road will induce immigration to the Peace River country, which he regards as one of the best portions of the great Northwest, comparing favourably with Manitoba and Ontario. The resources of the country would, in his opinion, be thoroughly developed by the building of the proposed road. He observed that it was certainly desirable to open up settlement in the Peace River country and no more favourable line could be adopted for the purpose than that which is now proposed. In short Dr. Gordon endorses the Government's policy in the main:—

"You have visited parts of British Columbia and the Northwest through which it is proposed to run the New Grand Trunk Pacific line, have you not?" asked the reporter.

WENT OVER THE ROUTE.

"Yes, in 1877 I was one of a small party that came from the Pacific Coast by a course which, so far as I can ascertain is much the same as that of the projected railway west of Winnipeg. The Government that day considered that before ally deciding on the route of the P. R. it would be well to examine northern country, as some of the British Columbia members had urged that a better line could be found with a terminus at Port Simpson, than any that could be run to a northern port; so, before deciding a small expedition was to examine the northern route. The late Dr. Geo. Dawson, of the Geological Survey, and Messrs. Cambie and McLeod, of the C.P.R. staff, were elected to go upon this expedition, and I was asked by Sir Sanford Fleming, then chief engineer of the railway, to accompany them as secretary."

"Did you write any account of the trip?"

"Yes, of course, I presented a report, through Sir Sanford Fleming, to the Government, which may be found among the Government papers of the sessions of 1880. I also wrote two articles in 'Good Words' that same year, and published a fuller account in a little volume entitled 'Mountain and Prairie.'"

"Are there any published accounts of that northern country?"

"The earliest that we have is that of a journey made by Sir Alexander Mackenzie in 1793. Later on Sir Geo. Simpson, Governor of the Hudson Bay Company., made a similar journey, at least in part, going through the Peace River district, in 1828, taking his canoe from York Factory, on the Hudson Bay to the mouth of the Fraser River on the Pacific. One of the most interesting accounts is given in the report of the Geological Survey, by Dr. Selwyn and Prof. Macoun, of a trip made by them in 1875, and Butler's 'Wild North Land,' also a report of a journey through part of the same country that we traversed."

"What route did you follow?"

THE PEACE RIVER COUNTRY.

"Having visited Port Simpson and Metlahkatla, where we engaged two crews, we started from Port Essington and worked up the Skeena River, crossed from it to Lake Babine, canoed the whole length of Lake Babine, then portaged eight miles to Lake Stewart, at the other end of which is Fort St. James. From there we followed the trail about seventy miles to the Pack River, where we divided our party, Dr. Dawson going with some of the men through the Pine River Pass, while Messrs. McLeod, Cambie and I, with the others, went by boat down the Pack River and Parsnip River into the Peace River."

"What sort of a country did you traverse in British Columbia before reaching the Rockies?"

"Like the rest of British Columbia, it is a sea of mountains, but the mountains, are not by any means so lofty as those further south, nor is the distance between the Rockies and the coast nearly as great as that from Calgary to Vancouver."

"Is that section fit for agriculture?"

"No, with the exception of very small patches there is nothing to induce settlers to attempt farming operations. Not far south of our route is the Omeaica region, where gold mining was at one time carried on somewhat briskly, but it is not by any means as promising a district as many others in the province, and there are few resources outside of mining, except hunting for fur bearing animals."

NO INSUPERABLE DIFFICULTIES.

"Does the country present many difficulties for railway building?"

"In comparison with the praries, of course it does, but not in comparison with the country traversed by the present C.P.R. Nothing, for example, would be encountered in this Northern country presenting such difficulties as have been overcome in crossing the Selkirks."

"How did you come through the Rockies?"

"We came by boat through the Parsnip River to its junction with Pinlay, where the united river takes the name of Peace, or as the Indians call it Unchagah, for the Peace River flows through the mountains and then eastward for some distance, through what is called the Peace River country until at a point called Little Smoky it turns northward and flows into the Slave River, as the Slave in turn flows into the Mackenzie, forming one continuous water way from the Rockies to the Artic Ocean, broken only by a few short interruptions of rapids, which might, of course, easily be overcome by canals."

"Does the Peace River give a favourable passage, then, through the Rockies?"

"A favourable almost as the Prairies. Indeed the Pine River Pass, which was examined by Mr. Dawson, as well as the Peace River Pass, through which we came, present equally favourable conditions for railway construction. The river, which is here about 130 yards in width, flows with a very equable current in great serpentine curves, so that as the boat was borne along by the stream we had nothing to do but admire the marvellous scenery, seeing into how many shapes of grandeur mountains may be cast. About fifty miles east of the mountains the river outs through a canyon of a few miles in length, making it impossible to navigate it, and presenting no serious difficulties to the railway engineer. East of the canyon you enter upon a magnificent stretch of country that is known as the Peace River country."

A FERTILE COUNTRY.

"What is the character of the Peace River District?"

"Much the same as the country around Edmonton, which is one of the best portions of our great Northwest. We spent a month exploring in different directions and found the best confirmation of the very favourable reports that had already been given to it by Prof Macoun in the report of his journey of 1875. Mr. Macoun indeed made a very extensive examination of the plants of the country, comparing them with those of Manitoba and Ontario, and from this comparison we conclude a general simularity of climate and of product. The claim that this vast country will be favourable to wheat raising, is based, however, not merely on the examination of the general plant life to be met with there, but is attested to by actual experiment. Prize wheat that took the Gold Medal at the Philadelphia Exhibition of 1876 was grown at Fort Chipewayn on the banks of Lake Athabasca."

Note. — Lake Athabasca is about latitude 59 1-2, about eight degrees north of the latitude of London, England. The isothermal line takes a great sweep northward from Manitoba, accounting for a climate equal to the maturing of what, not many degrees south of the Arctic circle.

"Have you re-visited any of the farther Northwest?"

"Not the Peace River country, but I have re-visited most of it from Edmonton to Winnipeg at different times, having spent part of the summer of 1885 with the troops in the Northwest Rebellion campaign, and having visited other portions in connection with the mission work of the Presbyterian church during my residence in Winnipeg."

A SAFE VENTURE.

"Is it a safe venture to build a railway through that country?"

"Perfectly safe from Winnipeg to Edmonton, and probably very safe also to extend it up through the Peace River country, as for some time the Peace River Extension would be largely a colonozation railway. Between the Peace River country to the post at Port Simpson there would be extremely little local traffic, but a railway by that northern route might favourably compete for the traffic from Japan."

"What about the country east of Winnipeg?"

"Of the country from Winnipeg to Quebec, through which it is proposed to run this new railway, I know nothing from personal experience, and of the country traversed by the Canadian Pacific east of Winnipeg I need say nothing, because it is so thoroughly familiar to the general public."

"If that northern country could have been considered as a candidate for the transcontinental railway as far back as 1879, would it not be a stronger candidate to-day?"

"The Provincial traffic to be developed through British Columbia must in all probability be very small by the northern route, and as all the interests of the province (twenty-five years ago) lay as they still largely lie, in the southern portion, it was necessary that the line of railway should serve these interests, and therefore the southern route was adopted."

WOULD DEVELOP THE COUNTRY.

"Would not the railway develop the country as nothing else would?"

"No doubt whatever resources there would be more thoroughly developed if the country were traversed by a railway, and it may be that large mining interests would be found, especially in the Omeneka region, but we saw few indications of other sources of wealth that called for a railway, although of course a railway to the Pacific would naturally be a competitor for the Asiatic trade, and this railway to Port Simpson could be built at less cost than any railway to the Pacific has been."

"Will it not induce immigration?"

"It willl induce immigration, as I have already pointed out, in the Peace River country, but we saw very few inducements for immigrants to settle in the portion of British Columbia that would be traversed by it."

NO MORE FAVOURABLE LINE.

"What do you think of the Government's policy?"

"If it is desirable to have another railway to the Pacific then there is no more favourable line than the one that would make Port Simpson its terminus, and it is certainly desirable at no distant date to open up settlement in the Peace River country. I understand that a line projected by Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann is to run as far as Edmonton. Whether it is necessary at the present stage to run another line from Winnipeg to Edmonton I do not know, although I would suppose that one trunk line might be sufficient for years, if it were fed by a sufficient number of branch lines. As to the Government's policy in regard to a line east of Winnipeg, it seems to me that whatever general argument may be urged in its favour, it would be desirable to have the country more fully examined before a contract is made for the construction of any particular line."

In conclusion Principal Gordon said its value as a national line would depend on its ability to secure the grain trade of the Northwest and to develop a large trade with the Orient. He had such faith in the resources of the Northwest, which has yet only been touched, that he would look with favour upon any project that would give an outlet for the wheat crop of that great country.

TO-DAY'S YACHT RACE.

Winds to Be Light to Fresh to Variable, Mostly From Some Easterly Point—The Re-measurement.

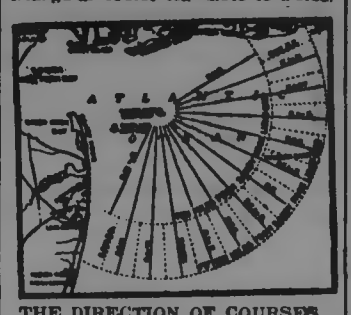
Washington, Aug. 25.—"To Observer, New York: 'The winds Tuesday over the international yacht race course will be light to fresh and variable, though mostly from some easterly point. Unsettled weather, possibly showers.' (Signed) Frankenfield."

After having removed 1,100 pounds of ballast and taking on board a cable and anchor weighing that much the Shamrock III. was measured in dry dock in the Erie Basin yesterday. The net result was that there was no change in the time allowance of 1 minute and 57 seconds.

The Direction of Courses.

The chart herewith shows the possible directions in which the course can be laid from the Sandy Hook Lightship, the starting point of the races. The lightship is about eight nautical miles, east half south, from the point of the Hook.

To-day's race, which will be over a triangular course ten knots to a side.



THE DIRECTION OF COURSES.

the yachts will not go beyond the inner circular line, but the course, if to the eastward, may be laid half a point further north; or if to the southward, half a point further west than the fifteen-knot course. It must be borne in mind that a knot or nautical mile is 800 feet longer than a statute mile.

The radial lines show the points of the compass, the continuous lines indicating the full points, and the broken lines the half points. For example, take the continuous line marked East; the broken line immediately above indicates east, half north, while the broken line immediately below indicates east, half south. There are also intermediate or quarter points, but these are not indicated. The circular lines, as shown by the lettering, mark the distance from the lightship.

On account of the draught of the yachts the course cannot be laid north of east northeast half east, nor west of south southwest half west. The most northerly course would take the yachts to a point close to the Long Island shore, a mile or two east of Long Beach. The most westerly course, on the other hand, would take them close to the Jersey coast, nearly opposite Asbury Park. Any other course would take them along one, or between two of the intermediate radial lines.

Judging by the Shamrock's work to windward, and barring accidents, she should do much better than in the first race.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

They Are the Filters of the Body—Danger Signals.

Into everything we eat and drink, no matter how "pure" the food is labeled nor how careful we are, poisons enter. Were we not provided with organs especially designed to look after these poisons, human life would soon perish. The kidneys are the filters of the blood. They catch the poison in the food and expel it from the system. That is, they do these things when they are in healthy and vigorous condition. When they are weak, or overworked, or clogged, or handicapped by the ravages of disease in even a slight degree, they do their assigned work more or less imperfectly, or not at all. When the kidneys are not working well, the poison which should pass from the system is returned to the blood, to circulate through the body. Excess of uric acid in the blood causes inflammatory, muscular or articular rheumatism, for one thing, and those who have suffered from any of the forms of this distressing and dangerous malady will say that this is enough. The best authorities on the subject, however, believe that this is only a small part, and that to kidney irregularities are due a long train of bodily ailments. The kidneys often give warning, though not always and not always in time, of the dangers which menace the body from their abnormal condition. Among these danger signals are weakness of the back, pains or aches in the region of the kidneys, irregularity of the bowels and kidney action, chills, feverishness, puffy eyes, brick dust deposit or cloudiness, and a dropsical appearance of the ankles or wrists. When any of these symptoms appear blood poisoning to a certain extent is undermining the fabric of life. The result of the latest research into kidney troubles and their cure is the vegetable preparation known as Bu-Ju, which is put forth by the Claflin Chemical Co., Ltd., of New York, N. Y., and Windsor, Ont. It may be purchased at any drug store in boxes of 50 pills at 50 cents. It were well to pay no heed to efforts to substitute other so-called remedies for this dangerous condition, as Bu-Ju embodies all that these have with the addition of the latest-upto-date discoveries and enhanced skill in preparation.

The Manitoba Crops.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Reports from Manitoba indicate that the crops are being harvested satisfactorily and a good yield is assured. In the southern portions of the province cutting is about concluded. Eight thousand harvesters have already arrived, and 2,400 more from the east are on the way. This will be ample to supply farmers' needs.

The Pope of the Poor.

PLENTY OF TRAFFIC

Mr. Fisher Shows an Increase in the Production of the West

MORE LAND TO BE TILLED.

Minister of Agriculture Estimates the Yield of Twenty-Five Years Hence—Debate on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Resolutions Continued by Messrs. Talbot, Roche, Hackett, Blain and Lefurgey.

Ottawa, Aug. 25. — The House spent another full day yesterday debating the railway resolutions. A notable contribution to the material of the debate was supplied by Hon. Sydney Fisher, who, by a series of interesting mathematical computations, showed the necessity of the railway, the traffic for which, when completed, would be many times greater than it is at present

Wheat Not the Only Product.

Mr. Fisher said that in this discussion wheat had been spoken of as the only product. That was entirely wrong, and he ventured to say that in twenty-five years the wheat would be an insignificant portion of the traffic. Mr. Fisher then entered upon an examination of the present state and future prospects of western agriculture. In 1891 there were 31,800 farms in Manitoba and the Northwest, occupying 8,140,000 acres. In 1901 there were 54,000 farms, of 15,400,000 acres. There yet remained unoccupied 213,000,000 acres, which were equal to 758,000 farms of the same size. The area under crop had increased from 1,421,000 acres to 3,000,000 acres, of which 1,010,000 acres were in wheat in 1891 and 2,495,000 acres in 1901. The live stock increased as follows: Horses, 147,700 to 305,000; milch cows, 120,000 to 228,000; other beef cattle, 343,000 to 687,000. Since 1901, 48,858 homestead entries had been made, and 158,658 settlers had entered. Based upon these figures, he estimated that by 1906 there would be 970,000 souls in Manitoba and the Northwest, and 1,638,000 by 1901. If the growth of the northwest, however, continued these figures would fall far short, just as an estimate of the trade of Canada, made in 1896, based on the previous years, would have fallen $122,000,000 short in respect to the years since 1896.

Some Telling Figures.

There would be an enormous increase in production, and the result was it was absolutely necessary not to lose a month or even a day in preparing for it. He estimated that while there were 63,310,000 bushels of wheat produced there in 1901, in 1906 there would be 70,300,000 bushels, and in 1911, 117,800,000 bushels. It would be 1908 before the railway was built, and probably 1911 before it was in good running shape. By that time, he anticipated, in addition 18,824,000 bushels of barley and 81,400,000 bushels of oats, besides 1,240,000 horses 925,000 milch cows and 2,500,000 beef cattle. Of these 100,000,000 bushels of wheat would be available for export, 4,000,000 bushels of oats and 250,000 head of cattle. This meant 165,000 carloads, or fifteen trains per day of thirty cars each every day in the year, compared with an average of four trains of thirty days daily during the last three years. (Applause.)

The Lake and Rail Bugaboo.

The lake and rail route had been heralded by Opposition speakers as the only one to be patronized. What had been the result in the western States? The live stock industry had grown enormously, and in Chicago it entirely dwarfed the grain trade. Chicago could fairly be compared to the Winnipeg of the future as a shipping point by both the all-rail and the water route. In 1900 there were shipped from there of grain, flour and animal products 8,579,000 tons by water and 4,847,000 tons by all-rail; in 1901, 2,276,000 tons by water and 4,600,000 tons by rail; in 1902, 1,867,000 tons by water and 3,842,000 tons by rail. The total during the three years was 7,720,000 tons by water and 12,298,000 tons by rail, or a great advantage in favor of the all-rail route. That was a complete answer to the statement of the rail export quoted by Mr. Borden, who said the water routes got 75 per cent. of the traffic where there was competition.

Trans-Canada Favors Project.

Mr. Talbot of Bellechasse, who was one of the main promoters of the Trans-Canada Railway, strongly favored the contract, and gave interesting facts relative to the country traversed. Mr. Wm. Roche of Halifax also entertained the House by presenting the case in a new light. The Opposition speakers of the day were Messrs. Hackett, Blain, Lefurgey and Thomson.

Railway Bill in the Senate.

In the Senate yesterday the bill to incorporate the Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Railway Co. and the bill to incorporate the Canadian Telephone & Telegraph Co. were read a third time and passed. The committee then entered upon the consideration in Committee of the Whole of the railway bill. The first fifty clauses were gone through and 16 stood over when, at 11.15, the committee rose, reporting progress.

RELIANCE WON BY NARROW MARGIN.

Reliance Wins Second Race by 52 Seconds.

Cup Challenger Again Worsted—This Time in Light Breeze.

The following despatches were received by Messrs. E. M. Pousett & Co.:—

Reliance wins by 52 seconds corrected time.

New York, Aug 25th, 10 a.m.—The International yacht race will be sailed to-day over a triangular course of 10 miles to the leg. The wind this morning is light and variable. It looks dark and gloomy and has the appearance of rain.

11.30 a.m.—Wind south-east about seven knots. The weather is cloudy but the air is clear. The preparatory gun was fied at 10.45 a.m. The Reliance crossed the line at 11.00.27, while the Shamrock was over the line at 11.02.00.

12.10 p.m.—The Reliance is leading by about 1-4 mile.

12.30 p.m.—Both yachts are on the starboard tact, about five miles off shore, and directly opposite the Monmouth Beach. The Shamrock has succeeded in getting the weather berth and is pointing higher than the Reliance, who, however, still maintains her lead of about 1-4 mile. It looks like a much closer race, and there are hopes of the Shamrock winning. The wind is about 6 knots.

1 p.m. — The Shamrock is doing better work than the Reliance. She is making a much better showing in the moderate wind, and within the first hour of sailing was certainly within her time limit. Both boats stood very close in shore, and it is evident that both skippers are picking for a shift of the wind which they expect to veer more to the southward. At 12.30 p.m. both boats were still on the starboard tack, and heading southwest. Position is the same with strengthening wind. Reliance has increased her lead to 3-8 mile. The defender rounded the first buoy 1 minute 21 seconds ahead of the challenger.

2.10 p.m. — Taking the time of starting into consideration the Shamrock at the second buoy is 2 minutes and 6 seconds to the good. The Relaince does not seem to be increasing her lead. Should the Reliance not increase the lead before crossing the line the Shamrock will win. To win the race the Reliance must cross the line 3 minutes and 30 seconds ahead of the Shamrock. The weather is very hazy, almost impossible to see the yachts. They however appear to have passed the second buoy.

ALD. BATTEN'S DAUGHTER UNITED IN MARRIAGE.

Mr. R G. Cottrell and Miss Minnie Batten Joined Together in Holy Matrimony.

At three o'clock this afternoon, Miss Minnie A. Batten, eldest daughter of Alderman Jos. Batten, was married to Mr. R. G. Cottrell, of town, at the residence of the bride's father, 351 McDonel street, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Rev. Dr. Dupont, who has occupied the pulpit of the George street church during Rev. J. P. Wilson's absence, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who wore a travelling suit of blue ladies' cloth, was assisted by Miss E. LeMay, who in turn was attired in a gown of white silk de soie.

Mr. Robert Matchett supported the groom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a very pretty wedding dejeuner was served, at which the relatives and immediate friends were present.

The newly married couple left on the 5.35 G.T.R. train for Toronto and Hamilton and will pass through town on Thursday for Montreal. They will on their return take up residence in ACCIDENT TO A LITTLE GIRL.

The Kick of a Pony Produces Painful Contusion.

Yesterday evening two little girls of Mr. W. S. Merrill, one of the managers of Gough Bros., were playing in a vacant lot on Gilmour street west, in rear of Mr. Merrill's residence, Homewood avenue. One of them, Kathleen, was petting a pony which is pasturing in the lot, when suddenly the animal lashed out in a vicious little kick, hitting the little girl in the front of the leg just below the knee, the caulk of the shoe producing a painful wound which required the insertion of six stiches by Dr. Scott, who was on hand a few minutes after the accident. The plucky girl bore the pain without flinching and without the help of an anaesthetic.

MARTIN-STANLEY PIANO EXHIBIT.

Beautiful Instrument is the "Owain Martin" Piano.

IT IS A GEM OF ART.

A Visit to the Factory of Considerable Interest—Details of the Manufacture of This Type of Piano.

Everyone, from the president of the company to the office boy, is up to his eyes in work just now at the Martin and Stanley Piano Company's works. The particular cause of the rush is the extra work connected with getting the pianos ready to send to the Dominion Industrial Fair at Toronto. This work, added to their own legitimate trade, is taxing the capacity of the factory to its utmost.

The Examiner was this morning shown some of the instruments which will be exhibbited at the Fair, and even to the eye of the uninitiated, they impress one as being of a superior quality. One particularly pleasing type was what is known as Style 18. It is of an entirely new design, made by Mr. Owain Martin, the President, who, it will be remembered, has but recently taken the management of the company after having been for over twenty years superintendent of the works of the company which at present has the reputation of producing the highest grade of pianos manufactured in Canada. This Style, 18, is one which appeals to those who have a highly cultivated artistic taste. The tendency in the best grade of pianos now is to plainness, and in this piano Mr. Martin has succeeded in making one, which ,while fully meeting the demands of the best buyers for a plain instrument, has made one in which the finish is simply superb. The veneer appears to have been selected with especial care, and the effect aimed at, that of producing an instrument which both in appearance and in quality, would compare favourably with the best imported makes, has been reached. The finish is in the old Spanish magogany type, and the colour is one which gives a very rich effect. The finish of these pianos is accomplished so as to bring out the beauty of the wood, and this appears to be a particularly successful department of their works. Mr. J. H. Scobell has charge of the finishing rooms and in the work being turned out a fitting tribute is made to his ability in that line. A visit to the factory also impresses one with the fact that quality is not being sacrificed to finish, and that while an instrument is being produced that looks pleasing to the eye, it has also the more valuable quality of endurance. As a proof of this fact, in the Owain Martin piano, the new acoustic rim is being used, and while to those who are not thoroughly conversant with piano manufacture, the installation of this improvement would mean but little, it is a decided addition to the practical value of an instrument, producing a tone of great sweetness and brilliancy. It is but recently that the acoustic rim has been put into use in Canada, and only those makers who produce the best pianos use it, as it increases the cost by about five per cent. This rim is now being used in all the "Owain Martin" pianos The style described above is but one of the many which will be shown by the company, but it is on this that Mr. Martin expects to score a triumph; it is, in a sense, his particular pride, and he has every reason to be proud of the beautiful instrument of which he is the designer.

Mr. F. Stanley will accompany the pianos comprising the exhibit, and will have charge of it. He stated, in speaking of the satisfactory condition of their trade now, that the orders for this week were in excess of double the capacity of the factory, and as an indication of the extension of their trade, he said that during the last week pianos had been shipped to Maple Creek, Assa., Wahanessa, Man., several points in Ontario, and as far east as Quebec City.

The exhibition pianos will be shipped this afternoon, and when, on Saturday, the Manufacturers' Building and the musical exhibit, is thrown open to the public, it is safe to say that no pianos will be the subject of more favourable comment among connoisseurs than the new "Owain Martin."

Mr. Frank Stanley of the Martin and Stanley Piano Company, and Mr. George Heintzman, of the Heintzman Piano Company, are the representatives of the piano manufacturers on the executive board of the Dominion Industrial Fair at Toronto, and in this capacity Mr. Stanley will visit the Fair. The latter is vice-president of the Piano Section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

A WEDDING AT ST. PETERS' CATHEDRAL.

Nuptials of Mr. H. Overend and Miss May McFadden This Morning.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at 6 a.m., when Miss May McFadden, daughter of Mrs. M. McFadden, Dublin street, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry H. Overend, son of Mr. William Overend, of town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien. The bride entered the Cathedral on the arm of her cousin, Mr. Martin McFadden, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss M. McCabe. The bride, who looked very charming, was attired in a voile gown with a point lace yoke, and black picture hat. She was attended by Miss N. McCabe, who wore a white organdie dress, and black picture hat. The groom was supported by Mr. Fred McFadden, brother of the bride. During the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. George Ball sang a duet, Ecce Panis, by Donzetti, in a very pleasing manner.

After the ceremony, the guests —among whom were the Misses May and Ada Irwin of Chicago, cousins of the bride — and the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, drove to the home of the bride's mother, 414 Dublin street, where the wedding breakfast was served. The bride received a very large number of handsome presents, attesting to the popularity of the young couple.

The newly married couple left on the 8.20 G.T.R. train for a trip west, and on their return will reside on Water street.

The bride's travelling costume was of green basket cloth, with hat to match.

MASQUERADE DANCE AT JUNIPER ISLAND.

A Highly Successful Society Event.

Large Number of Masqueraders—Some of the Costumes Described—List of Characters.

To say that the masquerade dance was a huge success is to put it mildly. Being the first venture of the kind, and from the difficulty of obtaining suitable materials for costumes and the short notice given the committee had grave doubts that the first venture would be a very great success. But these doubts were soon dispelled as the hour approached for the commencement of the entertainment. A glance at the list of costumes will show the variety of illustrous personages that were represented. There was not a single poor costume on the floor. The great majority of the costumes were fit to have been worn at any of the fancy dress balls in the capitals of the land. It was not only that the costumes were good, but a closer examination revealed the skill that was exhibited in putting together such a cheap class of materials in such a picturesque manner to represent the different costumes depicted. For instance the costume of the Indian Chief was composed of some cheap factory cotton, bound with some braid off a hammock; the leggings being the white ducks of a small boy cut in two, the ornaments were curchains, curtain rings and a lady's metalic belt about his neck, turkey feathers composed his head gear and to put the finishing touch on the make up as the Chief was entering the pavillion a number of the aborigines saw him and were so delighted with his appearance that they presented him with a large red cedar bludgeon, beautifully carved, which they had with them for safe. The Chief's squaw was also got up in the same style, the trimmings of her dress were made of creton cut into narrow strips. She looked beautiful. This same lady wore a similar costume at a fancy dress ball given in Ottawa by Lord Aberdeen and it was considered, perhaps, the most picturesque costume there. I am sure if the Chief and his squaw were to walk down to his office on Broadway in New York, his most intimate friends would not know him.

It would take a lot of your valuable space if each individual costume were described, but there were some that perhaps might be mentioned as being above the average. For instance "Folly" with his jumping doll, "Pocahontas," "Gipsy Queen," "Coloured lady and gentlemen," "Mephistophenes," "Mother Goose," "Fi-Fi," "Two Little Girls in Blue," "Uncle Sam," and many others. The programme was started by a grand march in which the company was formed in singles, then doubles, then three and finally four in line. This was really fine. Lancers, two steps then followed. The pavillion was not nearly large enough to hold the crowds, the greater portion having to stand outside. The committee are to be congratulated on the success of the entertainment and it was announced that in future it will be an annual affair.

INTERESTING ADDRESS ON MISSION WORK.

Delivered by Rev. Dr. Smith at a Reception Last Night.

Valuable Information Gained of the Chinese Kingdom—Pleasing Features of Reception Were Musical Selections

The lecture room at George street church was filled last night, at the reception tendered to Rev. Dr. Smith, a missionary who for seven years has been working in China, as the representative of the Epworth Leagues of Cobourg and Peterborough Districts. The reception was under the auspices of the District Executive and was given in order that the different Leagues might have an opportunity of meeting Dr. Smith, and hearing of his work. The large audience was highly pleased with the interesting address given by the doctor, and the work in China will be additionally interesting as a result.

The chairman of the meeting was Dr. Metzler, the District President, and preceeding the address a musical programme was rendered. The meeting opened with a rousing missionary hymn, followed by prayer by Rev. Jos. Kilgour. A cornet solo was then given by Mr. Rogers, and was much enjoyed, as was also a vocal solo by Miss Clara Belleghem. Rev. J. G. Lewis, of Mark street church, Ashburnham, was then called upon to give an address of welcome to Dr. Smith, which he did, incorporating in it a high tribute to the worth of the guest of the evening as a missionary as shown by the remarkable results of his work. He said he was sure every Leaguer had welcomed the opportunity afforded of meeting their representative and his noble wife, after spending seven years in the Chinese territory preaching the Gospel. Dr. Smith, he said, possessed the great essential qualification for success in mission work—a devoted love for it. This is the only thing which stands the test. Education is a necessity, but without a sincere devotion to the work, it is useless. Dr. and Mrs. Smith had shown conclusively that they possessed this in a marked degree. They had braved the dangers which had repeatedly confronted them, and had forgone comforts in order that they might faithfully proclaim the Gospel. He hoped that one result of the visit they were receiving would be that the Leaguers would take a deeper interest in missionary work, and particularly in the work of "their own" missionaries, which Dr. and Mrs. Smith were. He then introduced the guest of the evening to the gathering.

As Dr. Smith entered the room from one of the church parlours costumed in his Chinese garb, he was greeted very cordially with the Chautauqua salute. In opening his address he expressed his pleasure at being present and to see such a large audience betokening the interest which they felt in the missionary cause. He hoped that the Leaguers in the District would realize that he was in China as their representative and that they would in future feel a deeper interest in each other. He thanked them for the support accorded him in the past and felt assured that the same liberality would characterize their attitude in the future. The preacher then produced a number of very interesting souvenirs of his sojourn in the land of the "Celestial," among them being a genuine Boxer flag, stained with the blood of some ardent Boxer. He also showed a string of beads such as is worn by the Dowace priests, one of whom Dr. Smith had cured of the opium habit, and from whom he had received the beads as a mark of esteem. Another very interesting article was a tablet which the followers of Confucius hang upon the wall of their house and worship. This was given the Doctor by a wealthy family of Confucians who by his ministry had been converted to Christianity. Dr. Smith stated that upon going to China he had changed his name because it is impossible to pronounce Smith in Chinese. The name under which he went there was Wong, which is as common in that country as Smith is here.

An interesting feature of his address was a description of his journey from the coast to the district of Chentee, where the scene of his labour was. This was made doubly interesting by a map which showed the location of the districts in which missionary work is being carried on. The territory served by the Canadian Methodist church is populated by 10,000,000 people, and Dr. Smith is the only man of the Canadian missionaries who has gone over the whole field, and he is thoroughly conversant with the conditions of the work there. As an indication of the discomforts which the missionaries suffered, Dr. Smith said that when he first went there the nearest post office was 1500 miles distant. This condition, of course, is being rapidly improved, and now post offices are being located throughout the whole district.

After the address Mrs. Smith sang a solo in the Chinese language, which was enjoyed. Miss Pedlar also added to the musical portion of the rpogramme and very effectively rendered a solo, "Face to Face." A pleasant time was then spent in which refreshments were served and an opportunity was given to meet Dr. and Mrs. Smith, which many took advantage of. A great many interesting curios from China were exhibited by Dr. and Mrs. Smith, and were eagerly viewed by those present. Dr. and Mrs. Smith willl spend some months in Canada, when they will once more return to their work in China.

THE LINDSAY TEAM HAS DEFAULTED.

Word Received This Morning That They Would not Come.

After having been given to understand by the Lindsay lacrosse team that they would be here on Wednesday to play the game with the Athletics ordered by the C.L.A. Executive, word was received by the secretary this morning that the Scugog team had decided to default to the Athletics. This advice was a decided disappointment not only to the Athletics but to many who were anxious to see the return game. Considerable expense has been gone to in getting out bills and tickets, which will be a loss to the home team.

The record of the Athletics during the season has been one of which they have every reason to be proud. They have won all the games in which they have participated, and won them by scientific lacrosse, and are now Junior Champions of the C.L.A. east of Toronto. They will continue to practice consistently in preparation for the finals for the championship, which will probably be played between the winners of the Western groups and the Athletics, when the latter will do their best to maintain the reputation they have gained by their work in the past.

The following are the games won with the scores:—

Belleville at Peterborough—10—2
Belleville at Belleville—7—0
T.A.S. at T.A.S.—5—2,
T.A.S. at Athletics—5—2.
Lindsay at Lindsay—11—4.
Lindsay at Peterborough—Defaulted.

This gives the Athletics 6 straight wins and no defeats to their credit.

The action of the Lindsay team in defaulting puts them in even a worse light when it is remembered that fully half of their gate receipts in the last game was paid by Peterborough visitors.

THE NARROW ESCAPE OF MR. ROBT. TEDFORD.

Attacked by an Infuriated Bull on Friday.

The following is a graphic description of an exciting incident, written by a bright school boy of tender years. The details of the affair, so carefully described, show that the writer possessed the faculty of closely observing the progress of the incident:—

"Mr. Robert A. Tedford, the son of Robert Tedford, near Lakehurst, was attacked by a bull on Friday evening last about 7.30, while bringing him from water. The animal refused to go, and when urged began to back up, and throwing down his head made a spring for Robert. He fortunately saw the movement and jumped for a garden board fence, which was close by, but before he could jump it, the animal drove him through it, falling on him on the other side. Then the bull sprang to his feet and threw the man into the air, and when he struck the ground, made at him in a furious rage, and hoisted him around for about five minutes; when his mother hearing the racket, ran with a fork and punched it into him several times, which made the animal jump against her sideways, knocking her over and stepping on her leg, and gave her a very painful bruise. Then Mrs. Tedford crawled into the cellarway to escape. During all this time the animal was hoisting Robert around until he worked him up against the side stepping on her leg and giving her a few vicious bunts. Miss Annie Arnott of Peterborough, being there on a visit, didn't know how to rescue him from being killed Robert had the presence of mind to shout to Miss Arnott to get the shot gun, which she did, and by shooting the animal over the eye made him jump back, when Robert escaped. The animal, not being hurt, kept possession of the yard until Mr. Tedford and his two other sons came home from helping his son drawing in grain, and Mr. Tedford made up his mind that he was going to have possession of the yard. He took down his rifle and with the help of some of his neighbours in a short while they had possession of the yard, and the animal's hide hung on the fence. The bull had been dehorned; only for that Robert might have fared worse.

A PRIVATE OF 1803

CENTENARY OF THE VICTORIA AND ST. GEORGE RIFLES OF LONDON.

Corps Was Honored by Private Inspection by the King at Buckingham Palace —Premier Corps of the World's Greatest City—Its History Is That of the Whole Volunteer Movement of England.

In honor of the recent centenary of the corps, the King inspected the Victoria and St. George's Rifles at Buckingham Palace. The men marched to the palace and were drawn up on the lawn at the west front of the palace. Here they were inspected by His Majesty, who, attended by members of his suite, passed out of the palace on to the terrace by the library windows, the band playing the National Anthem, as the King appeared in view. His Majesty passed along the front and rear of the line, and afterwards took up a position opposite the terrace steps for a march past by the troops. At the conclusion of the movement the King spoke a few words of commendation on the men's smart appearance and precision, and also made complimentary allusion to the long and creditable record of the corps. By His Majesty's special desire the review was strictly private, the function being restricted to the troops taking part.

Side by side with the history of the whole Volunteer movement runs that of the premier London corps. The birth of the St. George's was, as a matter of fact, some years earlier than 1803, but it was then that Napoleon's threatened invasion brought them first prominently to the front. Within four months their future partners, the Victorias, were raised by Barber Beaumont as the Duke of Cumberland's Sharpshooters, and they had the good fortune, or good influence, to escape the fate of disbandment that awaited the other pioneer corps when Napoleon went to St. Helena. By a red-tape compromise they were suffered to exist as a private club, though officially defunct, and they practised shooting far from the official eye at Wormwood Scrubs and Chalk Farm. In 1835 the sharpshooters grew tired of this amphibious sort of existence, and they asked and obtained leave from the Duchess of Kent to call themselves the Royal Victoria Rifle club. Thenceforward official recognition was assured, and it must have been a cause of sore chagrin when the Devon men managed to steal a march upon them, and obtained the first place in the Army list as the premier Volunteer corps in the country. By way of consolation, however, the Victorias secured the Duke of Wellington as their chief, an honor that made them the envy of every rifle corps in the country. It is curious to find, as showing how little encouragement the Volunteer movement received in its early days, that in 1852 when Lord Salisbury was Lord Lieutenant of Middlesex, he declined to interest himself with the authorities on behalf of the Victorias. Meantime, Devonshire secured the lead, and it was not till a year later that the Londoners found their way into The Gazette, but with the word Royal deleted from their title. The Crimean war and the Indian mutiny turned the tide of public opinion strongly in favor of our citizen soldiers, says Lloyd's Weekly, and both the St. George's and the Victorias were early in the field, but they still remained separate for many years, until at last in 1892 the amalgamation took place. The two regiments became the 1st Middlesex, and were enrolled as the 1st Volunteer battalion of the King's Royal Rifles. The Victorias were the originators of Wimbledon camp, where they won the Queen's prize twice, and they were also the first Volunteers to form a mounted infantry contingent. The commanding officer of the united corps is Lieut.-Colonel F. Page Ococks.

A PRIVATE OF 1803.

Military Kites.

In England, Russia and France experiments have been carried on with large kites for the purpose of ascertaining the enemy's position. These kites are to supplant captive balloons. The apparatus consists of a bamboo frame covered with silk and and is in the shape of a flying butterfly. The seat for the observer is fixed between the two wings, which can be moved to a certain extent by the man in the seat. Trials recently made with the kite at Vincennes, near Paris, have given satisfactory results.

"BRITANNIA."

Rev. G. E. Lloyd Tells of the New British Colony in Canada.

The London Times publishes a letter from the Rev. G. E. Lloyd, dated Battleford, N.W.T., June 24, describing the settlement of the new British colony in Canada. The letter reads in part as follows: "At Saskatoon the whole body of people found a large camp of tents and began to make arrangements for the long trek westward overland. A good deal of mismanagement had been shown here by those who ought to have made arrangements, and this gave cause for vigorous complaint. But I succeeded in quieting things for the time being and persuaded every one to get on to the trek toward the colony. * * * In addition to other sickness, scarlet fever was brought into the camp by a family who evidently caught it on the train, and one death followed from that, as well as two other deaths in the party. When at last I reached Battleford, 100 miles away, I found everything in a tumult. A mass meeting of all the settlers in the town was called together and I was asked to take entire charge of the affairs of the colony. This I consented to do, provided a committee of twelve were appointed, and it was understood that I would only hold office as Director until the townships had been settled and a proper committee and Director could be elected. This will be done very shortly now, I hope. We have had a good deal of trouble with our late Director, but all this is now at an end. Mr. Barr has retired altogether from the colony, and all the stores have been established upon a co-operative basis. The name of the colony has been by unanimous vote called 'Britannia,' and by the same vote the name of the first town was decided to be 'Lloydminster,' but as this sounds somewhat personal I am not saying much about it. * * * We have all the making of a very strong British colony under the new name Britannia. The district so far settled on comprises some twenty-two townships of thirty-six square miles each. On these some 600 homesteads have already been located, and there are many more to come up in the fall and spring of 1904. These twenty-two townships are on a very fine belt of land, and the railway will pass through the very centre of the district. But for the present we are 100 miles from Battleford on the one side and 150 to Edmonton on the other. At the present moment our people are all on their land, breaking up a few acres, sinking wells for water, and putting up some small houses to take the place of the bell tents. The arrival on the land was late in the spring and the delay in locating has rendered it practically impossible to expect much of a crop this year."

GRANTON MAN SPEAKS OUT.

To let the Public Know Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

John Fletcher had Lumbago and Kidney Disease and Could Get no Relief Till he Tried the Great Kidney Remedy

Granton, Ont., Aug. 23.—(Special).—"I am glad to let the public know that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Lumbago, and I am now perfectly sound."

These are the words of John Fletcher, a well-known resident of this village, and similar tributes to the great Canadian Kidney remedy can be heard on every side.

"I had been troubled for a year with Lumbago and Kidney troubles," Mr. Fletcher continued, when asked for particulars. "My urine was of a very bad colour and I could get nothing to help me. I consulted the best doctors in Granton and St. Mary's, but got no relief. Finally I bought a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and commenced taking them. They helped me almost from the first, and I was soon completely cured."

It is cures of this kind that have given Dodd's Kidney Pills their popularity. You can't find a neighbourhood in Canada where Dodd's Kidney Pills are not known by their cures. If the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure it.

PISCATORY STUPIDITY.

The Fish's Capacity For Learning Is Painfully Contracted.

Most fishes seek their food by sight, says Professor Edmund Clark Sanford in the International Quarterly, and these do not usually notice it by any other sense. But those that are accustomed to find it by smell seldom pay any attention to it when they merely see it.

Catfish depend principally on the sense of taste, and they seem to taste all over, not only in the mouth, but by the outer skin as far back as the tail fin.

It is uncertain whether fishes can feel pain or not. There is a good deal of evidence to show that they cannot.

A fish that has lost its sight may learn to avoid an obstacle after swimming against it a single time, but fishes that can see will jump against the plate glass wall of an aquarium day after day, sometimes for a year, in the effort to catch things outside.

The elements of consciousness in the mind of a fish foot up a total "equivalent, perhaps, to the lowest idiocy when measured by human standards." It is possible that the fish's capacity for learning is "about on a level with that of a man in deep sleep or preoccupation."

Birds That Exercise Ingenuity.

Birds building on high trees are not so wary about the concealment of their nests as hedge builders and those that seek the springing corn or grass land for the shelter of their homes, trusting to the loftiness of situation for security. A nest placed upon the ground is in constant danger of exposure. A browsing animal might destroy it. Then the scythe with one sweep occasionally lays bare one or more nests, thereby endangering the eggs or callow nestlings. This renders the parent birds very wary and causes them to practice great ingenuity in their efforts to protect the young birds.

The skylark has been known to carry its egg or offspring to a place of safety after an exposure of the nest, and it has been said its long hind claw—the use of which has puzzled many naturalists—is specially adapted by nature for more easily grasping and transporting its treasures from the source of danger. When the young birds are too bulky to be thus removed the parent bird carries them on its back, though this mode of removal is a somewhat difficult one.—London Tit-Bits.

A MIDAIR ROMANCE

By MARIAN GRANT

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

They both worked in the clouds, she on the top floor of a great factory building, he amid the iron framework of a huge skyscraper.

He did not know of her existence, but she felt quite sure that she should recognize him if ever they met in the street, whose noisy, busy life swept on far below their feet. She could always single him out among the mechanics working there in midair. No other workman trod the iron beams with such assured poise or squared his shoulders just as he did to the day's work. He did everything with an air of absolute confidence which thrilled and mastered her.

He was too far away for her to scrutinize his features, but she was quite sure that he had honest, clear blue eyes and brown curly hair, and his eyes could twinkle merrily. This she knew by the jovial way in which he signaled his fellow workmen.

Not that she had much time to study his mannerisms, for Ellen Mulvihill was a designer in the factory of Johnson & Co., makers of ladies' shirt waists and neckwear, and a very busy woman. Perhaps it was well for the firm, however, that while she designed stocks and fancy boas she wove in the thread of her romance, for this strangely one sided love affair seemed to beautify the whole world for her, and while her heart sang her fingers worked deftly, and the firm reaped the profit.

If she had not been so absorbed just at this juncture she might have noticed that she was rising in the favor of her employers, but she was quite amazed one day when they voluntarily raised her salary. Quite naturally they did not offer the explanation that they feared their competitors and gave the increase as a precautionary measure. Ellen accepted it as a part of the rose color which had suddenly enveloped her entire life scheme. The extra salary had come just in time, she argued, for Trixie, the idol of her heart, or, rather, the one person who divided heart space with the hero of her midair dreams, had been wanting to go to dancing school these two months—to a wonderful hall where children all in white frocks and velvet Fauntleroy suits tripped to fairy music.

Ellen lived with her married brother, and knowing ones would say that she paid a high price for the privilege. Mulvihill's wife was something of a shrew, while Ellen was of more gentle birth and breeding. The sister-in-law loved neighborhood gossip and was not above a quarrel with the other dwellers in the flat house. Ellen enjoyed her books, the hall bedroom, furnished and decorated with the dainty simplicity which marked her designs at the factory, and the championship of Trixie. The girls at the factory were kind to her, too, and then there was the quiet, shadowy church midway 'twixt home and work where she stopped each day to say innumerable "all hails" to the Blessed Mother, who must have interceded to secure for her so much happiness.

It was about a month after the memorable advance in salary that an ominous silence fell upon the Mulvihill supper table. Ellen knew instinctively that some domestic problem was coming up for discussion.

At last John Mulvihill pushed back his empty teacup and lighted his pipe.

"Ellen, the Shamrock association are after givin' their annual ball a week this Tuesday night, an' the wife an' meslif think you'd best be goin' along"—

Ellen raised startled eyes to her brother's face.

"I'm no dancer, as you well know, John, an' crowds like that give me the headache. I'd rather stop at home with Trixie."

John Mulvihill's face darkened.

"You're always stoppin' at home with the child, an' it is time you went out an' met the boys an' had steady company. You're the first Mulvihill girl that ever passed twenty-five without havin' her offers to marry. You'll never marry if you stay cooped up here night after night an' not even visitin' our friends of a Sunday afternoon."

Going to the Shamrock association's ball in search of a husband! Ellen's face flamed, then turned pale. But, then, they did not know about him. The very thought seemed like treason to the strong, erect figure which never passed out of his mental vision.

"It's well enough off I am, John, without a husband, an' I see no reason why you an' Mary should want to marry me off. I'm thinkin' Trixie would miss her old auntie sorely." And she drew the child close as if to ward off with her innocent childhood some impending disaster.

Mrs. Mulvihill blazed forth on the instant.

"Yes, an' that's what the neighbors are all sayin'—that I use you as nurse-girl for the child an' dance an' go to the theater with John an' my child would suffer if it wasn't for you. They talk like you was a sort of Cinderella, an' it's tired I am of their long tongues. Did I ever ask you to spend money on Trixie when you needed it for your own clothes? Did I ever ask you to stay home with the child? It's an ungrateful lot, that's what you are, to bring me in disrepute with me neighbors just because you're that uppish our friends ain't good enough for you!"

And that was how Ellen happened to go to the ball of the Shamrock association. She gave her sister-in-law carte blanche in the matter of a new dress, and that personage, restored to good humor, reveled in the purchase and making of a real white satin frock.

But the day of the ball Ellen could hardly keep her mind on her work. Her glance would wander toward the skyscraper where he was working. She felt that he was whistling, his movements were so brisk. And John was trying, with the best intentions, to marry her off solely to maintain the honor of the Mulvihill family. She had thought of a day when she should marry, when the skyscraper was done perhaps and he become a contractor. She would not wear those nasty high stocks which she designed for other women, but dresses turned in at the neck and edged with soft lace, and he would tell her that she had the throat of a lily. Young husbands in novels always said that.

At night John led her the length of the hall with pride stamped on his face and his walk. Men were introduced to her and asked her to dance, but she became possessed of a strange terror and slipped back among the wallflowers. Mrs. Mulvihill watched her with rising anger. What was the use of worrying over a real satin dress for a stupid girl like Ellen?

Ellen was thinking of Trixie and how late they would reach home and how loud the music was when she heard a hearty voice at her elbow:

"Sure, I'd be glad to meet the sister of John Mulvihill, an' it's odd I never knew you had one."

She swung around, and suddenly the lights in the room leaped into bewildering flames, the dancers mingled strangely as in a broken kaleidoscope. In the confusion one fact stood forth clearly. There was just one man in the world who could stand like that, one man who had such a pair of shoulders, and he was the man who wrought every day in the skeleton of the skyscraper.

She heard her brother say it was Dennis Gallagher, president of the Shamrock association. That was quite real to her. Of course he would be the president. Then John drifted away, and Gallagher sat beside her. It was quite awhile before she glanced up into his face. She was trying to realize the beautiful truth—that they were no longer parted in midair, but sitting side by side in a noisy, heated ballroom. She was glad it was noisy; otherwise he might hear her heart beating.

When she looked into his eyes she started, and the color came and went prettily in her cheeks. Dennis Gallagher smiled. He had seen girls look like this before. But Ellen was utterly ingenuous in spite of her twenty-five birthdays. He did not speak, and finally she said almost breathlessly:

"I thought they would be blue, an' they are brown—no, hazel."

So of course it came out. She didn't mean he should know all, and he didn't know all—just enough to make him linger through two dances and set John Mulvihill's heart swelling with pride.

* * * * * * *

A month later Ellen dropped into the quiet, shadowy church on her way to work. There were so many "all hails" to say this morning, and the church was quite empty, so with clasped hands and eyes full of happy tears she looked into the benign face of the Woman of Many Sorrows and murmured:

"Blessed Mother, do I deserve so much happiness? Am I good enough for him? He is comin' every Wednesday an' Sunday night to see me, an' by an' by it will be every night. He said so. Every day an' every night we will be together so long as we live. You who have suffered much, teach me to be strong an' brave for him."

And all that day a man working far above the din of the mighty city looked across the gap to the great factory building where he knew she bent over her work. His heart sang within him, and his blows fell full and clear, for a wonderful light and happiness had come into his life.

Advise Suffering Women Strongly, to Take Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This advice comes from a woman who had suffered all the miseries women can suffer from disease, and had been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This great medicine for women establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Read Mrs. Kempson's letter and, if you are sick, follow her advice.

"Although it has been quite a time since I wrote you," says Mrs. Fred Kempson, of Cambria, Hillsdale Co., Mich., Box 57. "still your name is a blessing in our house, and I think it my duty to let you know that I am still enjoying good health, thanks to you and your 'Favorite Prescription.' When I think how I was five years ago, and then see how I am now, I say, God bless Dr. Pierce's works, and may he live long to help poor suffering women. I have never had any return of my weakness and am well and hearty. Can do all my own work without any pain. You saved me from the grave when all others failed. I advise suffering women strongly, to take Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as I know it will cure in all cases, if indeed there is a cure."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are an excellent laxative, suited to the use of delicate women.

Mexican's Human Pack Horses.

A striking feature of Mexican roads is the number of human "beasts of burden" you meet. The roads are so bad that there is very considerable risk in conveying goods of any kind—risk both to the goods and the pack mules that carries them; consequently large numbers of Indians make a living by carrying. The Mexican Indian carries his load on his back, slung by a broad leather belt across the forehead. Thus all his limbs are perfectly free, and he carries a long, light stick, like an alpenstock, to steady himself in going down steep places or in crossing streams. These men will, in good weather, carry a load from 100 to 150 pounds, over the worst of roads, for a distance of twenty to twenty-five miles a day. They wear no clothing except a pair of cotton breeches rolled half way up the thighs, and a pair of leather sandals on the feet; and each man carries a blanket to roll himself up in at night. They eat no meat, their only food being posol (boiled maize ground and mixed with sugar, then rolled into a ball and carried moist). This they break into a bowl of water, mix up well to the consistency of thin gruel, and drink; and their only food consists of this posol and tortillas. The power of endurance displayed by those carriers is wonderful.

NECESSARY ELEMENTS.

Strengthen your throat and lungs with Angier's Petroleum Emulsion. It cures chronic coughs, makes breathing easy, cleanses the system of impurities, creates healthy blood, firm flesh, and supplies all the elements necessary for the successful treatment of consumption. Pleasant to take. 2a.

Meanest Traders In the World.

There is a colony of Syrian merchants in Kingston, the capital of Jamaica, who could give cards and spades even to the bland Chinaman "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain." They take one match out of every box they sell until they have enough matches to fill another box and so make an extra cent. They shave tiny flakes off cakes of soap and boil them down to make other cakes. They put a thin layer of molasses on the bottom of the scoop with which they serve rice so that a few grains will stick to the bottom. These are only a few of their thousand tricks to turn a dishonest penny. Without doubt they are the meanest traders in the world.

How Plants Remain Upright.

If a flowerpot is laid on its side the stalk of the plant growing in it gradually curves upward until it resumes the vertical position. This is called geotropic curvature, and the question is by what means the plant is stimulated to change its direction of growth. One theory avers that movable starch grains in the plant cells fall to the lower side as the position is changed and by their pressure influence the mechanism of growth.

Breechloaders.

Breechloading in artillery and small arms is popularly supposed to be an invention of the middle of last century, but such is by no means the case. In a Dublin gunsmith's shop at Cork Hill is on view a breechloading rifle offered to the British war office at the close of the eighteenth century and rejected, as it was considered to need too much ammunition.

LACROSSE.

The Brantford Courier made a prophecy concerning the two Senior C.L.A. games on Saturday and strange to say it came true. Here it is:—

"Brantford will have no difficulty with Oshawa on Saturday, and the Athletics should manage to trim the Tecumsehs on the Island. Funnier things have happened, however, than if the Indians should turn around and defeat the puffed up Garden City aggregation. The Indians have a knack of making sudden and startling reversals of form, losing to the tail enders and winning from the leaders, and it is just possible that the Saints may go down to defeat. If they did, it would be an all-round good joke and would serve to show the Athletics just where they stand.'

THE RING.

The bout which it was anticipated would take place between D. Belland and L. McMahon has been called off as arrangements could not be made between them. There is a considerable disparity in their weights. Belland's weight being 138 lbs., while McMahon strips at 179, so that they are not in the same class.

SEVERAL WELLS TO BE CLOSED.

Analysis of Water Proved Them to be a Danger to the Public Health.

A meeting of the local Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Committee Room in the Town buildings, at which there were present Mr. Robt. Neill, chairman, and Messrs. Wm. Eyres, A. Parker, G. Schneider, Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, and Chief Rossel, Sanitary Inspector.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The unsanitary condition of Schneider's lane was discussed at some length, and it was finally resolved that the Secretary be instructed to ask the Town Engineer to make a plan and assessment for a drain from the elbow of the lane or the lowest part of the lane, to Water street to drain the lane.

Accounts from F. L. Robinson for $2.50, and J. G. Tully for $3.00, were ordered to be paid.

After due consideration of the analysis of the water of several wells the following were ordered to be closed:—29 Queen street, 101 Simcoe street, 32 Queen street, 372-374-813 Water street, Phelan House, 27 Queen, 17 Queen, and the Munro House.

The Medical Health Officer remarked that it was curious to note that none of the persons drinking well water were ill.

Some discussion ensued re a plumbing bylaw, resulting in the Chairman and Mr. Parker being appointed a committee to draft such a bylaw for the approval of the council.

It was moved by Mr. Schneider and seconded by Mr. Parker, that the Board adjourn until Tuesday morning at 9.30 o'clock.

My! but it Tastes Nasty!

That warm and tasteless, hydrant water. Give us Batten's well water any day before such mawkish sickening stuff. "Put ice in it." Worse and worse. It's only safe with equal parts of Henry's good old rye whiskey or Brandy. But for a cool, refreshing and wholesome summer drink, use our fine light claret or domestic wines, or a bottle of good pure lime juice, which purifies the water and is very beneficial in cases of rheumatism or blood impurties. WESTERN ONTARIO SUFFERED Simcoe Town Visited by a Hurricane—Perth County Losses—Large Quantity of Stock, Implements and Crops Destroyed—St. Mitts Also Felt Strength of the Storm—Some of the Details.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—While Toronto did not suffer any material damage from the rainstorm of Monday night and the early hours of Tuesday morning, yet it was of a very general nature covering the territory along the lower lakes very thoroughly, as well as making its effects felt in Western Ontario. In the city the rain lasted from 7.30 Monday evening till 6.30 Tuesday morning, during which time the showers ranged from a light downpour to a regular deluge. The heaviest period was between 4 and 5 a.m., when 2-10 of an inch fell. Only one place is reported to have suffered from the lightning, and the City Hall received the bolt, which sent a chunk from the terra cotta roofing on the east side of the hall crashing to the ground.

MANY BARNS BURNED.

Lightning Strikes at Virgil, Meta, Culross, Stayner, and Near Woodstock.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 26.—Lightning early yesterday morning struck the barns of Robert Manson, a farmer, living near Virgil, about four miles west of here, setting fire to them and completely destroying the buildings, together with their contents, consisting of this year's crops, one horse and a number of farm implements.

Fergus, Aug. 26.—During a thunderstorm Monday night, the barn of Alex. Spence of Meta was struck by lightning, and the contents entirely consumed, with most of the season's crops, as well as a lot of first-class implements. The loss on contents will amount to about $1,000.

Stratford, Aug. 26.—A very heavy electric storm passed over this district Monday night and the aftermath reveals the destruction of two large bank barns and their contents and considerable damage to a residence. The losses recorded are: Barns of Alma Lupton, lot 3, con. 6, Downie, burnt to the ground, with season's crops and several implements. Loss between $2,000 and $3,000. Insurance, $1,500. Barn of Joseph Hunter, near Drumbo, burnt to the ground, with all contents, including the season's crops and implements. House of George McKenzie of the fourth line of West Zorra, struck and damaged to some extent.

Guelph, Aug. 26.—Monday night's tornado did considerable damage in Puslinch. The frame barn of Ed. Doyle, lot 14, con. 4, Puslinch, with all the season's crop, was destroyed by lightning. The frame driving shed of W. J. Laing, near Arkell, was also struck by lightning and destroyed. The barn of John Revells, Mountsberg, one of the finest barns in Flamboro, was burned, with all the crop and some of the stock. Two houses were struck at Freelton, but little damage was done.

AT ST. CATHARINES.

Streets Flooded and Several Buildings Struck by Lightning.

St. Catharines, Aug. 26.—A very severe electrical storm struck this city at an early hour yesterday morning and lasted over an hour. People rushed from their beds, thinking another cyclone was coming.

The lightning was most vivid and struck several places. The rain fell in torrents, and on the main streets the sewers were blocked and the water raised above the kerbstones, reaching the doors of several business houses.

The lightning struck the Orphans' Home on Ontario street, setting it on fire. The firemen confined the blaze to the tower.

A large flagstaff in Capt. Wiggle's yard was splintered. At J. S. Smith's home the electric wires were melted, the fire coming right into Mr. Smith's house.

VIOLENT WIND AT SIMCOE.

Largest of Tobacco Harvest and Apple Crops Suffer.

[illegible]—Never before has [illegible] by such a violent wind as that which swept [illegible] vicinity during the night. About 1 a.m. a storm came up from the southeast, during which lightning did some damage near the town, but the most damage was done at about 11 a.m., when the storm came from the west, accompanied by what approached very nearly to a cyclone.

In the town large trees were simply twisted and torn down by the fierceness of the wind. Many of the largest trees were destroyed as if they were ade of pipe clay; windmills were blown away and other things were destroyed.

The apple crop will suffer the most, while the plums and pears will not escape.

The telegraph and telephone lines suffered as a result of the storm, and many of the streets are decorated with fallen trees.

At the present time it is not possible to give an estimate of the damage done, but it will be serious, as many of the best orchards in this section were heavily laden with fruit.

Four Men Drowned.

New York, Aug. 26.—During the height of the storm a huge derrick on a Central Railroad of New Jersey bridge across Newark Bay was swept from its supports into the water, carrying down several workmen. Four of them were drowned and several were badly injured. No bodies have yet been recovered.

DOGS GNAW THE CORPSES.

Women and Children Homeless in Once Beautiful City of Krushevo—Warnings Ignored by Vali of Monastir.

Monastir, European Turkey, Aug. 26.—The once beautiful city of Krushevo is a heap of ruins. The women and children are homeless, exposed to the weather and famine. The town is rendered uninhabitable by the odor of corpses, which are being gnawed by dogs and pigs, the Turkish authorities refusing to allow them to be removed under the pretext that an inquest would be held. Krushevo is situated on the summit of a hill to the northwest of Monastir. It contained 2,000 houses and 10,000 inhabitants, mostly Viachs, who are prosperous merchants.

The Macedonian Committee had been making arrangements to occupy the town, and authorities of Krushevo begged the Vali of Monastir to send reinforcements, but warnings were ignored.

Every Able Bodied Man.

London, Aug. 26.—A despatch from Uskub to The Daily Mail reports that every able-bodied man in the European vilayets of Turkey will be called to the colors, a sufficient proof of the gravity of the situation.

Pe-ru-na a Prompt and Permanent Cure for Nervousness.

MRS. LULU LARMER.

Mrs. Lulu Larmer, Stoughton, Wis., says:

"For two years I suffered with nervous trouble and stomach disorders until it seemed that there was nothing to me but a bundle of nerves.

"I was very irritable, could not sleep, rest or compose myself, and was certainly unfit to take care of a household.

"I took nerve tonics and pills without benefit. When I began taking Peruna I grew steadily better, my nerves grew stronger, my rest was no longer fitful, and to-day I consider myself in perfect health and strength.

"My recovery was slow but sure, but I persevered and was rewarded by perfect health."—Mrs. Lulu Larmer.

Mrs. Anna B. Fleharty, recent Superintendent of the W. C. T. U. headquarters, at Galesburg, Ill., was for ten years one of the leading women there. Her husband, when living, was first President of the Nebraska Wesleyan University at Lincoln, Neb.

In a letter written from 401 Sixty-seventh street, W., Chicago, Ill., she says:

"I would not be without Peruna for ten times its cost."—Mrs. Anna B. Fleharty.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

As late as May last, Hon. John Haggart, who now so bitterly opposes the Government's railway policy, declared in parliament that now was the time to build another transcontinental road, and the Grand Trunk people were the ones to be assisted. Mr. Haggart declared we must not wait but go right ahead with the enterprise while conditions were so favourable. Now Hon. Mr. Haggart's fidelity to his party seems to make it necessary for him to oppose what in his heart he honestly believes to be a timely and feasible proposition.

CAN'T FILL THE ORDERS.

Hamilton Times.

Government has been making efforts to extend Canadian trade by finding new markets in various parts of the world. Our Canadian agent in Australia has been pushing the work there and as a result orders are coming in. Now the Department of Trade and Commerce has been informed that Canadian manufacturers are too busy to fill the orders from Australia.

That is occasion for both satisfaction and regret — satisfaction with the conditions that keep our capital and labour so well and profitably employed, and regret that we cannot grasp the golden opportunity to gain a foothold in new fields of commerce. Surely our manufacturers are enjoying no prosperity that was promised them by Sir Wilfrid Laurier when the Liberal policy was placed before the people of Canada.

And we are all glad that they prosper, because their prosperity, when it is not gained at the cost of the oppression of the rest of the people is good for all. It is the aim of the Liberals to deal fairly by all interests, and, as far as a Government can do so, to guard them against injustice. The prophets of ruin and decay under Liberalism have long ago crawled beneath the barn, and those ill-advised people who are crying out for excessive duties at the expense of the Canadian people should seek the same seclusion.

The existing condition demands bigger factories and more workmen; it is an invitation to the capitalists of the world to come in and help to build up Canada and make money while doing so.

COLOSSAL INSURANCE PROFITS

Ottawa has been much exercised over what it considers exorbitant insurance rates, the excuse for which is the frequency of disastrous fires in the Capital. This condition evidently prompts the Ottawa Free Press to indulge in the following:—

The report of the Superintendent of Insurance comes to hand at an opportune time to stir the public to a fuller sense of the shameful injustice to which they are subjected in the extortionate charges that are being made by the insurance monopolists.

The report deals with the whole of Canada and shows how prosperous the companies are and by inference how unjustifiable the raid they made upon Ottawa. The amount paid last year by the Dominion of Canada to the 28 companies doing business here—that is to say, twenty Canadian, seven British and eleven American—was $10,577,284. This is an increase of nearly a million dollars as compared with the previous year.

And on the other side of the account, what do we find? The amount paid for losses was $4,152,269, which is less than that paid in the preceding year by $2,622,667. The loss rate for 1902, which was 39.26 per cent., was the lowest that has been reached at any period during the last thirty-four years.

The gross amount of the policies, new and renewed, taken during the year by fire companies was $892,049,886, which is $70,537,060 greater than was represented by the business done in the preceding twelve months.

Yet with such an unprecedented record of business expansion and profit the companies make a surtax on the citizens of Ottawa on the plea that it is necessary that they shall be recouped for their losses—losses which when judged by their operations in the aggregate Dominion, had no existence in fact.

Another fact that ought not to escape attention is that the premiums charged in 1902 amounted to $13,087,250, or $1,398,292 more than in the previous year, while the rate of premiums was 1.467 as against 1.423 in 1901.

It is a well ascertained fact that the losses sustained by the companies during the first six months of the present year have been even less than they were during the first six months of last year.

Another point upon which too great emphasis cannot be laid is that every year the insurance companies put away thousands of dollars to the reserve fund which is known technically as "rest."

No insurance company has yet issued to the public accounts showing that a single dollar has ever been withdrawn from this account to meet losses incurred in the transaction of business.

In the face of these facts and figures and in defiance of public opinion, which is overwhelmingly against them, the companies snap their fingers and will doubtless continue to do so until the day of reckoning comes, when the majesty of the law will be asserted.

There is always something new in the way of medical treatment and you are constantly invited to try new fangled unproven remedies. Let others experiment and so risk health and lose time. TWO CASES CONTRASTED.

The Bertram Case and the Gamey Case —History Recalled.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—It appears as if the Editor of the Review thinks that all subscribers to that paper were sons of Job, and that they inherited their father's patience and would never grow tired of his harping on the Gamey and Stratton case for months. It is the same old story of abuse of Stratton, Ross Government, or the judges appointed to take evidence. They are abused until one is led to believe that his stock of slander would never run out. Surely the Commission gave them full scope to bring forward all evidence within their knowledge to, if possible, convict the Government and all connected with the scandal, if any. Why did they not prove the charges by evidence before the Commissioners appointed to take evidence? But no; Gamey ran away and hid; his counsel got sick of the dirty job and wished to throw it up and leave the whole thing in the hands of the plotters of the scheme; but the Government counsel and Commissioners would not allow this. The Government must be proven guilty or not guilty. They did not prove them guilty. Why keep up this terrible howl about what ought to be done? Yet they have done nothing but abuse, first the Hon. Mr. Stratton, then the Ross Government and the judges appointed to take evidence. All must be slandered, and it appears the Review paper intends to keep their concocted scheme of slander up in the minds of the people until the next general election, expecting by it to again get into power. Does the record they left when in power warrant their being placed to manage the affairs of the country again. I think not. They make a great clamour over the matter being referred to a commission of judges and not a committee of the House being appointed to try the case; but, if the committee had been appointed as all such committees are, the Government having a majority, then the people might think and believe that they had not power to bring all the evidence to convict, as they would have had under different circumstances. Then the Opposition might have had some plea for their hypocritical dealing with the case, and then if the matter had been put in the hands of a committee of the House composed of, say three Government supporters and two Oppositionists, they might take the same course as did the committee appointed by Sir John Macdonald's government in the case of John Bertram and Wm. Cluxton, when John Bertram was duly elected by a majority of votes cast, yet by a partisan returning officer Wm. Cluxton, who had a minority of votes, was declared duly elected and sat in the seat for two sittings of the House against all Bertram's claims to the seat, and there is no doubt but he would have held it the third sitting had it not been for the Pacific scandal, which upset the Government. Does the Review think the people forget how Mr. Bertram was treated by that committee? After several fruitless attempts to get the committee together, they eventually succeeded, when he, (Mr. Bertram) was asked if he was the John Bertram that ran against Wm. Cluxton in West Peterborough. He answered that he was. He was then asked if he had anyone to identify him. A business man from Peterborough being present at the time, Mr. Bertram said, "Yes, Mr. so and so, you can identify me." He replied, "No, I cannot," or would not, and Bertram had to send to Peterborough and bring a man to Ottawa to say he was the man. Does the Review not remember how that case was handled; how many trips Mr. Bertram had to Ottawa. Then the case was brought before the judge; the delays it met there; then sent back to the committee, and so it went on for two years or two sittings of the House. Now, when it took so small a matter as this case so long to be settled, how long might it have taken to settle Gamey's case we know not. I would say to the Review, those living in glass houses should be careful and not be the first to begin stone throwing. For I can assure that paper that on his side of politics are not Simon pures. The Ross Government guilty or not guilty, certainly gave their opponents rope enough to have hanged all the guilty ones, and when they miserably failed, they should not show their vindictiveness in such a slanderous manner, for it showeth that it is not the honour of the country, but the downfall of the party they seek. Such a spirit should be frowned down by every lover of his country.

Yours, etc.,
TOWN.

A WAIST WITH NOVEL FICHU.

Leg-of-mutton sleeves are very popular this summer, and are seen in the bodice here depicted. The principal feature of this waist is the novel fichu which extends well out on to the shoulder and meets in a point just above the waist line.

Tucks also add to its further decoration, and are used to good effect in the upper part of the sleeves.

Elbow sleeves, bracelets, and mitts are coming into vogue. Of mitts there are many kinds shown, but the most durable and beautiful are those which are of very fine hard twisted silk in very fine meshes. These are embroidered by hand after they are made.

RELIANCE'S SECOND.

Tuesday's Contest Splendid from Start to Finish.

WAS SAILED IN FAST TIME.

Streak of Fishy Wind Prevented a Record—Capt. Wringe Bungled at the Starting Point, and the Shamrock Lost 19 Seconds—Defender Gained Seconds on Every Leg of the Triangular Course.

New York, Aug. 26.—In a glorious whole-sail breeze, over a triangular course of 10 miles to a leg, the fleet-footed cup defender, Reliance, again yesterday showed her heels to Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, taking the second race of the cup series by the narrow margin of 1 minute and 19 seconds. It was as pretty and as hard a fought contest as has ever been sailed off Sandy Hook, and, had the wind not fallen during the last 10 minutes, the record for the course, 3 hours, 12 minutes and 15 seconds, made by Columbia, two years ago in a race against Shamrock II., would have been broken. As it was, Reliance sailed the 30 miles within 2 minutes and 39 seconds of the record, which speaks wonders for her speed in the wind that was blowing. Reliance's victory, narrow as it was, would have been even smaller had not Captain Wringe, the skipper of the British ship, bungled the start, sending his craft over the line 19 seconds after the last gun, and handicapping her to that extent. At every point of sailing, the defender's superiority was demonstrated. She gained 1 minute and 51 seconds in the windward work to the first mark, 40 seconds on the run to the second mark and 45 seconds on the close reach for home.

CAPT. BOB. WRINGE,
Who lost 19 seconds for Shamrock III. in second race.

Soon after 10 o'clock both yachts had arrived at the lightship and cast off their tows. When the committee boat Navigator arrived, at 10.25, the signal was hoisted for a triangular course.

A Triangular Course.

The course was a beat due south, then a broad reach or run, as the case might be, off toward the Cholera Banks, and thence home again to the lightship, each leg 10 miles. The spectators watched the jockeying for the start with eager interest. At last, when the starting gun had been fired, and they bounded across the line, close hauled for the thresh to windward, it was seen that the American skipper, by his extremely clever work, had again out-generalled his rival and secured the weatherguage. Not only was the challenger's captain defeated in his effort to secure the windward berth, but he actually failed to cross in time to save a handicap of 19 seconds, this time being a dead loss to him. Barr never relinquished his advantage after the start, holding the challenger under his lee all the way to the first mark. By this time the wind had increased from 7 to 10 knots. The time of turning the first mark was:

Reliance 12.21.30
Shamrock 12.24.45

Shamrock 6 Seconds Ahead.

Because of time allowance and difference in the start, the Shamrock was still six seconds ahead officially.

It was evident that the Yankee boat had won the race, barring accidents. Both captains broke out balloon jib topsails when they squared for the second turn. The wind was so far aft that they quickly discovered that instead of being a broad reach, as intended, the course to the turn was a run. The wind varied from 4 to 10 knots. Staysails were taken in and spinnakers set. Both were heading off their course a bit, in order to make their spinnakers draw well, and they ran that way for half an hour, when the Reliance smothered her spinnaker and set her staysail. During that time she did not appear to have gained an inch, but immediately upon laying her true course she began to draw away. Ten minutes after Reliance the Shamrock also took in her spinnaker and set her staysail. With the wind over their quarters, both yachts made fast time of it, but it was apparent that Reliance was gaining. They made the second turn as follows:

Reliance 1.17.30
Shamrock 1.21.45

The Reliance had overcome the time allowance, made good the difference at the start, and established a margin to her credit of 34 seconds.

Reliance whirled about the mark, gybed over, trimmed in her sheets, and romped away on a close reach toward the finish line. She was three quarters of a mile away before the Shamrock III. rounded the mark. Both yachts were heeling before a 12-knot wind.

Reliance on this last leg demonstrated that she is faster than any racing craft ever built. The guide vessel Coastwise was scurrying along ahead of her at full speed, but the Reliance overhauled and passed her. When the Reliance was a quarter of a mile from the finish line the wind died away considerably, but the Shamrock III. came booming along, carrying a splendid breeze and fast overhauled the leader. It looked as though the British boat was going to get within her time allowance, but the finish line was too near, and the Reliance slipped across it with 1 minutes and 19 seconds to spare. The official time:

	Start.	Finish.
Reliance	11.00.36	2.15.30
Shamrock III.	11.02.00	2.20.10
	Elapsed.	Corrected.

INSULTED THE JUDGE.

Scene at the Treadgold Inquiry—Graham Campbell Narrowly Escapes Being Committed—Mr. Treadgold's Evidence.

Dawson, Aug. 26.—There was much excitement in the commission when Graham Campbell offered a most flagrant insult to Commissioner Britton yesterday. The latter had refused to order the production of certain papers at the suggestion of Mr. Campbell, saying he had no authority to do so. "You have no authority," Campbell most insolently observed, "what authority have you?"

"I have the authority to commit you for contempt," was the quiet observation of his Lordship.

"I have shown no contempt," Campbell muttered. "I consider you beneath contempt."

Commissioner Bell heard the sotto voce insult, and Campbell was called back and given a verbal castigation. He would have been forthwith committed but for the intercession of Judge Britton in his behalf.

Mr. Treadgold, when he again took the stand, gave the figures estimated as the total cost of his water scheme as $4,580,000. He said that if certain difficulties were removed he would begin the work next March and deliver water by June of 1905. There was sufficient capital in hand. His company was not a promoting company.

Commissioner Congdon, when in the witness box, was asked this question: "Do you believe this order is detrimental to the prosperity of the mining interests of the Yukon?"

"It may be from one point of view," he replied. "And it may not be from another. My opinion is a summary of others you have already heard."

The Governor's evidence was immaterial either way.

Messrs. Matson and Doyle were on the stand yesterday, and general interest in the proceedings is dropping.

Complaints have been filed against the Boyle, Williams, Bronson and Ray and Healey concessions on Miller Creek. Fraud in obtaining the same is the basis of the protest.

ARMY SCHEME CONDEMNED.

The War Commission Uses Some Very Plain Language.

London, Aug. 26.—The report of the Royal Commission on the South African war, issued yesterday afternoon, refrains from commenting on the conduct of individual officers, strongly condemns the lack of preparations for war, endorses Lord Lansdowne's opinion that such a condition is full of peril to the Empire, and says an unsatisfactory and insufficient safeguard has since been suggested to prevent a recurrence of so serious a scandal.

From the beginning to the end of the war, 448,435 troops were engaged, and owing to the drain caused by the South Africa defence, Great Britain became dangerously weak in 1900. The Commission confirms the necessity for a higher degree of intelligence in the men and a well-educated staff.

Lord Esher, a member of the commission, in a supplementary report, says the unpreparedness in 1899 shows the War Secretary was guilty either of culpable negligence or ignorance of the facts, and urges the reorganization of the War Office, the abolition of the position of Commander-in-Chief, and the appointment of a general commanding the army, separate from the War Office.

WILL BE THE CHAIRMAN.

Mr. Robert Reford of Montreal Head of the Transportation Commission.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Mr. Robert Reford of Montreal will be Chairman of the Transportation Commission. The position was offered to Sir Wm. Van Horne, who found himself unable to take it. The other members of the commission are Messrs. Bertram of Toronto and Fry of Quebec.

The Glow of Health.

When the blood is rich and pure there is a healthful glow to the complexion, which speaks of the vigour and vitality of the system. There is no more certain way for pale, weak people to attain the glow of health than by the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great food cure, which forms new, rich red blood and creates new nerve force.

Mr. J. Miller Becomes Leader.

Mr. John Miller, who for a number of years has been a valuable member of George street choir, being the tenor soloist, has severed his connection with it to accept the leadership of the choir of Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham. Mr. Miller will be greatly missed in George street, but the loss they sustain will be a distinct gain to Mark street, as he not only possesses a fine voice, but has the qualifications necessary for a good leader. He has already assumed his duties, and last Sunday the music was under his direction.

Mrs. Oscar O'Shea Ill.

An announcement was made in these columns some days ago to the effect that Mr. Oscar O'Shea, son of Proprietor O'Shea of the Commercial House, with his wife would leave to accept an engagement as leading man and lady respectively, with the Marks' Dramatic Company. But unfortunately on the very morning on which they were to leave Mrs. O'Shea was stricken with typhoid fever, and as a result the engagement has had to be cancelled, much to the disappointment of the Marks Company. Mrs. O'Shea is now very ill at St. Joseph's Hospital, in fact her condition this morning was such that no one was allowed to see her.

The "News" New Home.

An event of interest in the newspaper world in Toronto last week was the occupation by the News of their new building at the corner of Yonge and Adelaide streets in that city. The latest and most serviceable mechanical equipment in every line has been installed by the News, including a Hoe sextruple press. This is the largest newspaper press in Canada, and it has a capacity of 48,000 12-page papers per hour. An invitation is extended to all News readers—in fact to all Exhibition visitors to the city—to call and inspect the News building and plant. The mammoth press can be seen in operation between 3 and 5 o'clock each afternoon.

SUDDEN DEATH AT GRAND TRUNK DEPOT.

John Blakely of Alderville, Expired After Arrival of 11.45 Train This Forenoon.

A sudden death occurred at the Grand Trunk station here this forenoon, just after the arrival of the 11.45 train from Toronto. The one from whom life was so suddenly taken away was John Blakely of Alderville, who with his brothers, James and George, was travelling from Sutton to his home. The deceased had been suffering from consumption for about three years, and the brothers took him to Sutton a month ago in an endeavour to afford him some relief. He did not however rally, and they were to-day bringing him to his home, when he suddenly became worse, and died just after the train arrived at the depot.

The deceased was a widower of about 28 years of age, and one child, a little girl of four years of age, is left to go through life an orphan. The body was taken to A. Comstock's undertaking establishment and prepared for burial, being taken by Messrs. Jas. and George Blakely to their home at Alderville, leaving on the 2 o'clock Belleville train.

HORSES WERE HURT.

G.T.R. Train ran into a Team Yesterday Afternoon.

About four o'clock yesterday afternoon while a Mr. Panter, who, it is said, resides in Emily township some six miles from town, was driving a team of horses over the G. T. R. track at McDonnel street, it is reported that engineer No. 275 ran into him, as a result of which the horses were said to have been somewhat cut. The engine is said to have at once backed and the horses were kept under control. The harness was somewhat damaged but, it is believed, no further damage was done.

PREPARATIONS FOR PETERBOROUGH FAIR.

Indications are that a Highly Successful Fair Will be Held.

Great Improvement to Grounds and Buildings—Running Trotting and Hurdle Races Will be Features—Liberal Prizes Being Offered.

Further indications of the success which the Peterborough Industrial Fair of this year is to be, were evident at the meeting of the directors held last night at which the president, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, presided.

From the reports presented by the various directors on the progress of the preparations for the event it was made plain that this year's fair will surpass that of any previous year in the history of Peterborough. Enquiries have been coming in for the prize list from many who never before exhibited here and from present indications an unusually large number of entries will be made in each class, induced no doubt by the very liberal prizes offered. It has been learned that the prizes being offered this year are higher than those of any Fair in Ontario, except in the large cities, and that the farmers and other exhibitors are appreciating this is made evident by the general intention expressed by them to enter exhibits for this year's exhibition. Another feature which impresses the farmers with the fact that the directors are doing all in their power to make the fair satisfactory is that all the stables and sheds will be free to exhibitors. The small entrance fee required will pay for all the accommodations provided. The directors have spent considerable money this year in improving the grounds and buildings, and they were never as comfortable as at present. A special separate ring is being provided for each of the following courses: horses, cattle, sheep and swine. The grand stand has been considerably improved in the accommodations offered, and it is now with a great deal more comfort that the spectators will witness the different events from the grand stand. The judges have all been selected and in this connection particular care has been taken to choose only those fully competent to fulfill their duties. The main building has also been painted and re-modelled, ensuring better facilities for displaying exhibits. The different merchants in town have decided to make more elaborate exhibits than ever before, and the main building will present a scene of great beauty.

It was found that at the race meet held by the Turf Club, the public appreciated the running races even more than the trotting events, and on each day of the fair running races will be held on the splendid half mile track. Hurdle races will also be held and will no doubt prove an interesting feature of the exhibition.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT Y. M. C. A.

The Inaugural Meeting was Held Last Night.

The first meeting of the Boys' Committee of the Y.M.C.A. was held last evening in the building to make preparations for the coming fall and winter season's work in connection with that branch. The committee is composed of seven senior members and five members of the Boys' Department, the latter known as the Boys' Executive, holding the different offices and presiding over the committees of the department.

Mr. John Laing is acting as chairman of the committee in place of Mr. M. A. Sorsoleil, who is leaving town.

At the meeting last evening the following officers and members of the committees were elected, meetings of these will be held at once and reports made at a subsequent session of the Boys' Committee:—

President—Stanley Fife.

Vice-Presidents — Herb Johnston and W. MacDonald.

Secretary—Warden Brown.

Treasurer—Gordon Thornton.

Committee on Religious Work—S. Fife, E. C. Clarke, G. Galley, F. Turner, Fred Hall.

Foreign Work—G. Thornton, C. Frowde, Geo. Martin, J. Ellis, R. J. Kidd.

Social and Educational—W. MacDonald, G. Galley, J. Laing, M. Dobbin, H. Jefferies.

Membership—H. Johnston, D. Potter, J. Evans, R. Thornton, C Whiten.

A discussion took place regarding the lines of work to be conducted and the new features to be introduced. Everything promises a most progressive season of Boys' work.

It is not too soon for Boys to join as the work commences in earnest next month. Mr. Aplin has had much experience in work for boys and will be a tower of strength to this part of the work.

Enthusiasm in "Creation."

The Peterborough Festival Chorus rehearsal last evening was very largely attended. The unfavourable weather does not seem to have any effect upon the attendance of the members. The enthusiasm seems to increase with each meeting, and the work done on the Creation last evening was such as to make all present feel that in the chorus work Peterbroough will have reason to be proud of its singers. There is to be a special rehearsal for the ladies on Friday evening at half-past seven for an hour, and for the gentlemen at half-past eight for an hour.

A Light Punishment.

Albert Brundle Left His Employer on Friday.

Albert Brundle, a Barnardo Home boy who of late has been in the employ of Mr. J. S. Armstrong, of Millbrook, ran away from that place on Friday last, and has not since been heard of. He is 13 years of age, but is small for his years. He, it is understood, ran away in his working clothes, without his coat and was wearing an old straw hat.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Miss Bella Cuncannan Married to Mr. Thos. Ashley.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. John Cuncannon, 41 Wescott street, when his sister, Miss Bella Cuncannon was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Ashley, of Rainy Lake, son of Mr. J. Ashley, Havelock. The pleasing ceremony was performed in the presence of about 40 guests, the immediate friends of the bride and groom, by Rev. Mr. Kilgour, the drawing room being very tastily decorated for the occasion. The bride, who looked charming in a gown of exquisite neatness, was attended by her sister, Miss Minnie Cuncannon, of Pontypool, where their parents live, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. W. Ashley, of Havelock.

After the ceremony, the usual dejeuner was served in the dining room, the floral decorations of the table being a pleasing feature, and at 9.10 the happy couple left on the Port Hope train, where they remained over night, leaving to-day for Toronto and other Western Ontario cities before going to Rainy Lake, where they will in future reside, and where Mr. Ashley has a good position as first engineer of a large lumber mill. The bride's going away gown was a dainty green basket cloth lined with white. A number of friends of the couple were at the depot to bid them farewell.

POLICE COURT

Three Cases Before the Police Magistrate.

At the Police Court this morning Samuel Black charged H. Logan with assault on August 23rd. As complainant and defendant made contradictory statements the case was dismissed.

Wm. Leslie charged Jos. Garry, a very small boy, with throwing a stone at his window and breaking it, the stone also rebounding and striking a little girl, Bertha Macdonald. The boy denied the charge while the girl persisted that he hit her with the stone. In view of this, this case was also dismissed.

Wm. Leslie was also complainant in a case against the boy's father, Wm. Garry. The charge was that of allowing hens to trespass on his (Leslie's) garden, doing it material injury.

Several witnesses were produced by both sides, but the charge was not sustained. Leslie had to pay costs.

A number of changes in the staff of station agents on the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk are being made. Mr. E. Perks, who has had charge at Keene, is being transferred to Thornhill. Robert Fair, at present in charge of Inglewood, will go to Blackwater Junction.

Mr. Haskill, the genial conductor on the Lakefield train, will shortly be transferred to the Lindsay-Belleville run, and his run will probably be taken by Conductor Pethick, at present on the Midland way freight.

MEETING OF HIGH COURT CONCLUDED.

Ancient Order of Foresters Finished Business Last Night.

An Unimportant Meeting, as no Changes Were Made in Constitution—Next Meeting to be Held in Toronto.

At the afternoon session of the 14th Biennial meeting of the Ancient Order of Foresters in Canada, held in the Sons of England Hall here yesterday, reports were presented by the different High Court Officers, and showed that during the two years a satisfactory progress had been made in the Order. The High Court Ranger, Mr. S. H. Kent, in his report, congratulated the Order upon the greatly improved relations existing throughout the jurisdiction, and upon the renewed confidence in the management and principles of the Order. He suggested a change in the system of High Court representation. Instead of each subordinate Court electing a representative to the High Court, as at present the custom, he advocated the adoption of district representation, based upon an equitable system of voting, as being the more business-like and economical system for High Court meetings. It is probable that at the next meeting of the High Court this system will be adopted. He expressed his pleasure at the improvement manifested in the District Courts. His first care on assuming office had been to get into touch with the District Chief Rangers, and the result had been that they had filled the duties of their offices to the decided advantage of the District Courts and the Order in general. The only note of regret recorded was that during the past term a slight decrease in membership had occurred, principally in the Courts located in the outlying places. He urged the members to endeavour to induce others to become identified with the Order and thus help to build up the great Society. In referring to the Beneficiary Department, he said the Order was making satisfactory progress, both in numbers and in funds, the balance to the credit of the fund being on June 30th $47,072.32, which is an increase of over $7,000 during the term. A deficit of $9,682.92, in 1901, has been reduced by strict economy to a little over over $4,000.

In referring to the Sick and Funeral Benefit Fund, the High Chief Ranger said that there had been paid out since June 30th, 1901, $28,813.45, which does not include the Sick Benefits paid by subordinate courts to their members. There was also on June 30th the last, a credit balance of $8,154.50, being an increase of $2,211.55, although the death rate has been considerably over the average during the last half year.

In the Companion High Court, which is that of the Ladies, there has been a steady and healthy increase in the funds, which must be gratifying to the High Chief Companion, Mrs. Hamilton, who has the distinction of being the first lady that has ever occupied that position.

For the Juvenile Courts the High Chief Ranger made an appeal for an increased interest, on the plea that it was the nursery of Forestry. The report was adopted unanimously, as was also that of the Permanent Secretary, Treasurer, and Secretary.

After the report had been adopted, a long discussion ensued, the subject being the present state of the Order, and ways and means were considered, looking to an increased prosperity of the Society. The official organ "The Ancient Forester," came in for considerable criticism, and the impression seemed to be that an improvement might be made in it. Finally the Executive Council was instructed to take steps to improve the paper by such means as they thought advisable.

The different District Chief Rangers were nominated, and will be duly confirmed by Executive. The next business was the election of officers which resulted in the re-election of those of last term as follows:—

H. C. R.—S. H. Kent, Hamilton.
H. S. C. R. — H. J. Boyd, London.
H. C. Med. Examiner—Dr. L. Secord, Brantford.
H. C. T. H.—H. E. Griffith, Toronto.
H. C. S. W.—W. G. Scott, Mount Forest.
H. C. J. W.—A. Dynes, Hamilton.
H. C. S. B.—W. H. Benson, Chatham.
H. C. J. B.—W. Mills, Ingersoll.
Permanent Secretary — W. Williams, Toronto.
H. C. Solicitor—L. F. Heyd, Toronto.
H. C. Auditor—W. E. Samson, Toronto.

The following members were elected to constitute the Laws Committee:—W. J. Vale, chairman, Toronto; Major H. J. Snelgrove, H.P.C.R., Cobourg; A. O. Jefferies, H. P. C. R., London; S. E. Manill, St. Johns, N.B., and J. E. McDowell, Montreal. The Hon. Trustees re-appointed are:—E. F. Clarke, M.P., E. B. Osler, M.P., Hon. J. M. Gibson, C. P. Heyd, M.P., Hon. Jas. Sutherland, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Hon. Senator Landerkin, B. Powell, M.P.P., R. A. Pyne, M. P. P., H. Carscallen, M.P.P., Hon. Senator Mackenzie Bowell, and Sir Wm. R. Meredith.

Votes of thanks were passed to the members of Stanley Court, A.O.F., Peterborough, and particularly to the energetic secretary, Mr. Geo. R. Record, for the hospitality extended to the High Court officers and delegates. Last night the visiting brethren were the guests of Court Stanley at a banquet given in the S.O.E. Hall, preceding which an initiation ceremony was held, the initiatory team comprising the High Court officers.

The next meeting of the High Court will eb held in Toronto in August, 1905, which will be one attended by delegates from all parts of the Dominion.

The visitors left on the morning trains for their respective homes, and all spoke in highly complimentary terms of the manner in which they were entertained while here, and were very favourably impressed with the town.

THE LOCAL BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A Special Meeting Held Last Night.

Mr. M. A. Sorsoleil's Resignation—Miss Ames Granted Two Months Leave of Absence.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last night in the secretary's office, on George street. There were present: Mr. J. J. Hartley, chairman; and Messrs. W. H. Hill, L. M. Hayes, G. W. Ferguson, P. Hamilton, J. Crane, V. Eastwood, W. Pringle, F. J. Jameson, H. P. Kennedy and J. J. McBain.

The following communications were read:

From Miss A. Ames asking for a two months leave of absence owing to ill-health. A doctor's certificate was enclosed.

It was moved, seconded and carried that Miss Ames be granted the desired leave of absence and that Miss Elsie Cameron be asked to act as substitute.

From Miss E. Beckett, asking for a testimonial from the Board. It was resolved that a testimonial be granted.

From Mr. E. B. Thackery, B. A., asking for a position on the teaching staff of the Collegiate Institute. —Received.

From Miss M. Wilson, applying for a position on the teaching staff. — Received.

From Mr. M. A. Sorsoleil, asking the Board to accept his resignation, also asking for a testimonial.

It was moved by Mr. Jameson and seconded by Mr. Hayes, that Mr. Sorsoleil's resignation be accepted, and that the secretary be instructed to forward the testimonial.

At this juncture Mr. Jas. Stevenson asked whether it was not possible for the Institute to manage without a teacher to take Mr. Sorsoleil's place.

Mr. Fessenden, the principal of the Collegiate Institute, who was present, stated that the attendance during the past year had been so large that the staff had been deemed too small by the inspector who said that still another teacher was required. Mr. Fessenden said that in view of an expected increase in the attendance he did not see how he could satisfactorily get along without another teacher to take Mr. Sorsoleil's place.

Mr. Hill asked what subjects such an applicant would have to teach.

In reply the principal stated that the present staff could cover the work but that an assistant was needed.

It was resolved on motion of Mr. Eastwood, seconded by Mr. Pringle, that advertisements be inserted in the Toronto Globe and Mail and Empire for a male assistant High School teacher to be engaged at a salary of $700 per annum, in which advertisement it should be stated that all applications be in by Thursday, Sept. 3rd.

It was moved by Mr. Hill and seconded by Mr. Crane, that the chairman of the Committee on Appointments and the Inspector be a committee to engage four assistant kindergarten teachers, and report at the next meeting.—Carried.

At this juncture it was resolved on motion of Mr. McBain, seconded by Mr. Eastwood, that a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Barrett, the janitor of the West Ward School, for two beautiful bouquets which he had sent down to the meeting.

The Board adjourned until Friday, September 4th, when applications for a teacher to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Sorsoleil's resignation, will be considered.

"MUSIC LOVER" WANTS COLDSTREAM BAND.

Would Like Industrial Fair Management to Arrange for Visit to Peterborough.

The following letter, inspired by a suggestion made in the Examiner, has been received at this office:

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir, — A suggestion was made in your columns a few days ago that the managers of the Peterborough Industrial Fair should endeavour to secure the services of the Coldstream Guards Band of England, which will be touring Canada next month, to play at the exhibition here during at least one of the days. We find that after arriving in Toronto on September 6th, they will go on a tour through western Ontario, and go to Ottawa on Sept. 25th. It is possible that in going from their engagement in the west to Ottawa, they might have an open date on which it would be possible to secure them for the Fair, the last day of which is Sept. 24th, just the day previous to that on which they will be in Ottawa. The opportunity seems to be already made for the Fair management, and they would not only be accomplishing a good business move, but earning the gratitude of thousands of music lovers by at least making an attempt to bring this band to town. The aggregation is spoken of as being the best band in the British service, and it does seem a pity now that when it apears as if the conditions are favourable, if they cannot be induced to visit Peterborough. Will you, Mr. Editor, bring this matter to the attention of the management in an effort to secure this musical treat?

That warm and tasteless, hydrant water. Give us Batten's well water any day before such mawkish sickening stuff. "Put ice in it." Worse and worse. It's only safe with equal parts of Henry's good old rye whiskey or Brandy. But for a cool, refreshing and wholesome summer drink, use our fine light claret or domestic wines, or a bottle of good pure lime juice, which purifies the water and is very beneficial in cases of rheumatism or blood impurities. Britain Offers a Colony in East Africa to the Jews—Zionist Congress Is Expected to Accept It.

Basel, Switzerland, Aug. 25.— The sixth Zionist congress opened here Sunday under the presidency of Dr. Theodore Hersel of Vienna. Among the 500 delegates from all parts of the world, including the United States and Canada, who assisted at the opening, were Max Nordau, Sir Francis Montefiore and Israel Zangwill, the novelist.

Dr. Hersel in his opening address, referring to the collapse of the project to establish the Jews on the Sinai peninsula, announced that Great Britain had offered the Zionists a large tract of territory in East Africa for colonisation by the Jews, who would be given an autonomous Government under British suzerainty.

The question of accepting the offer, he said, would be submitted to the congress.

Achinese War Which Has Cost Netherlands $200,000,000 Is to Stop.

London, Aug. 25.—Private news from Achin is to the effect that Pangkima Polem and Rajah Koumala, who have been for many years the two chief rebel leaders, will formally submit to the Dutch in the course of the next few days. This means the end of the war the colonial troops of the Netherlands have been waging with the Achinese almost continuously since the year 1873. The cause of the war was the refusal of the Sultan of Achin to recognize the sovereignty of the Netherlands. The war thus began has cost the Dutch over $200,000,000, and the lives of several thousand soldiers.

GRANTON MAN SPEAKS OUT.

To let the Public Know Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

John Fletcher had Lumbago and Kidney Disease and Could Get no Relief Till he Tried the Great Kidney Remedy

Granton, Ont., Aug. 23.—(Special).—"I am glad to let the public know that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Lumbago, and I am now perfectly sound."

These are the words of John Fletcher, a well-known resident of this village, and similar tributes to the great Canadian Kidney remedy can be heard on every side.

"I had been troubled for a year with Lumbago and Kidney troubles," Mr. Fletcher continued, when asked for particulars. "My urine was of a very bad colour and I could get nothing to help me. I consulted the best doctors in Granton and St. Mary's, but got no relief. Finally I bought a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and commenced taking them. They helped me almost from the first, and I was soon completely cured."

It is cures of this kind that have given Dodd's Kidney Pills their popularity. You can't find a neighbourhood in Canada where Dodd's Kidney Pills are not known by their cures. If the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure it.

MR. TREADGOLD CALLED.

An Outline of His Immense Yukon Water Scheme Presented.

Dawson, Y.T., via Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 24.—The taking of the evidence of Mr. Treadgold proceeded at to-day's sitting of the commission inquiry. At the request of Commissioner Judge Britton he outlined his water scheme for the first time. It is, indeed, an enormous affair, involving an initial expenditure of quite two millions of dollars, with possibly as much more later. The schome consists of a gravity system to divert four thousand inches from Rock Creek, divided between Hunker and Bonanza, as far as the forks, and covering all hills and benches from the latter forks to the mouth, also a pumping scheme to take eighty thousand inches from the Klondike at the mouth of Bear Creek and carry it in four miles of flume at a cost of a hundred thousand dollars initial cost; to generate three thousand horsepower and deliver by pump an additional three thousand inches on Bonanza. Mr. Treadgold said he has already spent upwards of one hundred thousand dollars to have surveys made by Sir Thomas Tancrede.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

AN INDIAN COUNCIL.

HOW THE CHIEFS CONDUCT AFFAIRS OF THE SIX NATIONS.

Conspicuous Contrast With the Line-Fence Disputes of the White Man's Courts of Law Furnished in Their Dignified Treatment of Disputes Among Themselves—A Lesson for the Palefaces—Interesting Deliberations.

Five miles east of Brantford, along the Grand River, lies 52,000 acres of splendid farming land, dotted with the homes of 4,160 descendants of the Six Nations of Indians who for immemorial years have grown maize amid the forests of Ontario.

For six miles on either side of the Grand, down to Caledonia, stretch fields of wheat, oats, corn and hay, trimly fenced and interspersed with trees, with regularly recurring and uniformly neat houses and fine barns; all guarded with rich stacks of hay and grain. Here and there a village nestles and dusky children play at baseball as you pass, with merry shouts in an unknown tongue, or go to buy candy or cotton of a Mohawk chief, whose ancestral tomahawk is replaced by the more peaceful yard-stick.

Friends of England.

Originally the nations who were the followers of Tecumseh and the friends of England were given in reserve a belt of land six miles wide on both sides of the Grand River from source to mouth. Later, as land was needed for incoming white men, they surrendered all but the present Reserve, in consideration of which the lands so surrendered were sold, and the proceeds held in trust by the Government as a common tribal possession. From this resource an annual interest of about $48,000 accrues, which is paid into a Reserve current account. Out of this about $14,000 is annually paid in salaries to agent, secretary, forest-keepers, grants for funeral expenses, pensions to the old, maintenance of roads and schools. The remaining sum is divided among the Indians, the seventy chiefs receiving a pro rata division of $3,200 annually, paid quarterly, and the warriors being apportioned the balances standing at the year's end.

It will be seen then that these 4,000 of our fellow-subjects, owners by right of prowess originally of the country we call ours, are very comfortably settled financially, with a communal possession of land and money so extensive, and so well guarded from alienation by a paternal government.

Hold Monthly Council.

Nor are the Indians of the Brant Reserve unappreciative of their peaceful, prosperous lot as 20th century aborigines. Their traditional tribal customs are still extant, used mainly as the machinery of their enlightened self-government. For over 300 unbroken years a council of the allied Mohawk, Seneca, Oneida, Onondaga, Cayuga, and Tuscarora nations has been periodically summoned to discuss common interests and policy. This council holds a monthly session, sitting in the same half circle, and addressed by chiefs chosen as of old—addresses in support of justice as per the King's code. Warrior chiefs whose ancestral peers met in savage array, sitting cross-legged on the ground to smoke as they talked of offence and defence, now occupy comfortable armchairs, wearing the modern working garb of farmer or carpenter, mill-owner or storekeeper; and the ancient duties of the Onondaga "firekeepers" are now deputed to the caretaker of the council house, while those who formerly laid faggots on the central blaze sit motionless now at their traditional post.

The writer spent a day recently at this interesting assembly at the country village of Ohsweken, driving there along a beautiful road, which wound beside the river through the crop-laden fields of the Reserve. Impassive faces viewed his arrival before the council house, and watched with grave reserve as he was given the guest-seat beside the superintendent. At his left were the ranged seats of the Mohawks and Seneca chiefs. On the right sat the chiefs of the Oneidas, Tuscaroras, Cayugas and Delawares—a small tribe long ago adopted into the Nations. In the central space the Onondagas sat, making in all a usual assemblage of 60 out of the 70 chiefs. Behind all, the warriors filled the benches to hear the deliberations of their chiefs on matters of imminent concern to many of their men and women. Close at the side were the secretary and the speaker of the council, and the interpreting chief sat beside the Indian superintendent, Mr. Cameron.

Interesting Deliberations.

The council opened at 10 a.m. An Onondaga chief stretched his huge bulk to its full height, and, with outstretched hand, invoked the Great Spirit in his solemn, dignified native tongue to bless their deliberations, to secure justice therein for all, thanking him for safe arrival of the chiefs and asking a safe return home for all. The superintendent then arose, and, addressing the chief in English, presented the first matter of reserve business under his notice. This being interpreted in the Mohawk language to the chief on the left, they debated like a jury in an English court of law as to the action to be taken by the council in the case—one of a dispute as to title of occupation. Advised by the superintendent as to the law, they gave it the impress of their views in equity, and their "speaker" then gave the chiefs sitting on the right their decision, where the discussion was renewed, and another and differing decision proposed. The fire-keepers in the centre thereupon gave the casting vote after consultation in the same low-toned gutturals. So the business proceeded until 1 p.m., the cases propounded, discussed, settled or "laid on the table," in some cases rapidly, in others with the delays of reiterated but always dignified and self-unconscious expressions of what differing chiefs held to be just. All through the day the guidance of the tactful superintendent, the shrewdness of the chiefs, and above all their unbought sense of justice, gave reason for the evident smooth prosperity of the Six Nations. In conspicuous contrast with the line-fence disputes which disgust the white man's courts of law, was a case of an Indian who had himself built his neighbor's fence for him, the negligent one; and, though building it entirely on his, the builder's land, asked only for payment of the cost of materials and labor from the annual payments due the delinquent, and asked it without passion. At times a rippling smile of a burst of laughter greeted some unconscious humor in the uncouth, aspirate Indian language in which all discussions are held. At others grey-haired duskily-pallid faces bowed in taciturn agreement or sought the eye of the speaker in token of contrary views. All was subdued, quiet, an object lesson to the Parliaments of the pale-face.

Question of Education.

One of the most real problems moving the minds of the Brant Indians now and for years is that of the education of their children. The first schools of the Reserve were started, financed and managed by the propagandizing New England Company, a London organization of the Anglican Church. They so continued until 25 years ago, when by their proposal the council joined in their support with $1,500 per year, and in their goverance with three members on the School Board. The company had a like interest. The Indian agent was a member of the board, with a grant from the Indian Reserve Fund of $450 a year. Then, some years later, the Methodist missionaries put $250 into the annual fund for schools, and put their missionary on the Board of Trustees. About 15 years since, the New England Company withdrew $500 per year from their $1,500, and five years later ceased to contribute anything whatever to the support of the schools, but their appointees remained on the board as "honorary" members.

Now the schools, which number 10, are supported wholly by the Council and Reserve Fund, while they have but three out of seven members on the board. Of the rest, two are clergymen of the New England Company, as is their appointed inspector; one is principal of the Brantford Central School, and the chairman is the Indian agent, Mr. Cameron.

The Council is petitioning the Indian Department to have the reserve placed under the Ontario Department of Education and its regulations, laws and county inspector.—G. C. Porter, in Toronto World.

"How are you getting on with your music, my dear?" inquired a lady of her niece.

"Well, of course," replied the niece diffidently, "it wouldn't be proper of me to compliment myself, but some of the neighbors have told me they have stayed awake at night for hours listening to my playing."

THE MAN IN ARMOR

Was no match for the microbe. Giants he might slay but this microscopic organism defied him, and in many a campaign more men were destroyed by camp diseases than by the enemy's sword.

The one way to arm against microbic disease is to keep the blood pure. Impure blood both breeds and feeds disease.

The signs of impure blood are easy to read. Pimples, boils and eruptions generally proclaim the blood to be impure. Scrofulous sores and swellings, salt-rheum, eczema, etc., are other signs of a corrupt condition of the blood.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and cures diseases caused by the blood's impurity. It cures scrofulous sores, boils, pimples, eczema and other defiling and disfiguring diseases.

"It gives me great pleasure to express my faith in the virtue of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. Ezekiel Floro, of Graytown, Ottawa Co., Ohio. "I suffered everything for two years with humor on my face, which baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. Was at once advised to go to the hospital; was doctored there for three months without success. Came home discouraged. Then began to doctor with a 'chemist.' He also failed to help me. Then I began Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with no faith whatever in it. Did it only to please my wife, but I am happy to tell you that after taking five bottles I am entirely cured."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The test of a heating system is the warmth of the halls in the early morning. A hot water system will keep a comfortable, even temperature all over the house day and night. Getting-up time finds perfect comfort all over the house. The is the highest development of hot water heating. Other makers come as near as they can or dare to the Oxford idea. That is the standard they try to reach. If you prefer the Oxford idea, insist that you get it in the original not the imitation. This illustration shows the utility of the grate construction. The ash base front is easily removed, repairs made to grate and returned to its place, without the assistance of a specialist.

USE OF PISTOLS ON STAGE.

For some reason or another managers of circuses and those theatres in London whose programs are prepared especially for the young, always arrange for a pretty liberal discharge of gunpowder in the course of their entertainments. A clown with a fly on his nose asks the ringmaster to get rid of the annoyance, and a pistol is fired at the fly. Another "grotesque" sits down to rest himself on a chair, and it goes off with a reverberating bang. Worse than this, the sensational spectacle which now plays so large a part in these entertainments inevitably ends with a perfect fusilade, in which men and horses are supposed to perish in a good deal of unnecessary agony. All through the entertainment pistols are fired in some way or another, sometimes unexpectedly and sometimes—which is a far greater trial for the nerves—after prolonged and aggravating comic aiming. We are inclined to think this matter of the stage pistol is overdone. By far the larger portion of the audience cover their ears, bend down their heads, or contort their features in painful suspense, directly a pistol makes its appearance on the stage or in the ring. They do not like it, and so far as we can judge from the agitated faces of the children, they do not like it either. It may be a sad commentary on modern decadence that the present generation "cannot abide" pistol firing in a theatre, but the fact remains—London Globe.

Lightning Freaks.

"The most beautiful display of lightning or atmospheric electric currents which it was my good fortune to witness," says a resident of Quebec, "was out on the Beauport flats, near Quebec, when two electrically laden clouds, as though two trees, their heads toward each other and their longer branches interwoven, kept on for more than ten minutes, interchanging horizontal flashes of beautifully colored fire, not one of which ever reached the earth, while occasionally a flash would shoot upward as if toward some cloud in that direction."

An Experiment.

"You see," said Corntossel, "a phrenologist once told us that our boy Josh had a remarkable head."

"So you sent him to college?"

"Yes. Now we're waiting to see whether his head is goin' to turn out to be a congenial residence fur brains or jes' a garden fur football hair.

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, Aug. 25th, 3.30 p.m.—It was a narrow and professional market all day. There was some disposition among the trading element to start a selling movement in early trading under lead of N.Y.C., but this movement obtained so little following that it was son abandoned and other traders coming in and buying and bidding up first Coalers then Grangers. Tractions and Gould Group turned the whole market upwards. It disclosed quite a short interest in the final hour; there was a sharp bidding up of prices around the room. Gould stocks were especially active in late trading when business became a little more brisk. There was only a fair borrowing demand for stocks in loan crowd, however, at close of market. There were no particularly new developments in the general situation to influence speculation to any extent, and we do not look for anything better than a continued narrow traders' market for some time to come. — M. & M.

New York, Aug. 26th, 9.45 a.m.—London cables firm and more active. Foreign houses report market there so narrow that a small amount of orders on buying side this morning advanced prices. The closing tone of our market yesterday was so good that we may get some further rally to-day, but we doubt if it will be permanent, besides crop outlook is not all that is desired and money situation will not allow of a protracted bull movement at present.—M. & M.

New York, Aug. 26th, 10.30 a. m. — Liverpool opened—wheat 1-8 higher; corn 1-4 lower. I think moderate recovery probable on account of weather reports.—Canby.

Mr. E. S. Clarry, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Peterborough Rugby Club, this morning received a letter from Mr. F. D. Woodworth, Secretary-Treasurer of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, asking as to the outlook for rugby football in Peterborough this fall, also as to the prospects of the formation of a junior league comprising Lindsay, Port Hope and Peterborough.

Local rugby enthusiasts are looking into the matter and it is expected Mr. Woodworth will be furnished with full information in the course of a few days. It is said that the prospects for an intermediate league are not very rosy, as a number of last years players have left town, however, it is hoped that rugby will not become extinct in Peterborough this season.

BARBARISM'S LIMIT.

Seems to Have Been Reached in Turkey's Repressive Measures.

BIG MASS MEETING IN SOFIA.

Macedonians Protest and Urge the Powers to Restrain the Turks From Further Decimating Their Country—Awful Horrors of Outrages Upon Women and Children Blacklisted Creates a Sensation.

London, Aug. 27.—According to a Sofia telegram to The Times, the Turkish repressive measures in Macedonia have reached the utmost limits of barbarism, and it is evident that it is the intention to accomplish by degrees the total extirpation of the Bulgarian population. Within the last few days, says The Times, twelve more Christian villages have been handed over to fire and sword, and the women, children and the aged have been massacred. Convoys of prisoners despatched to Monastir have been murdered by their escorts. A private letter from Monastir says even the local Turks are disgusted and meditate assassination of the Consuls in order to provoke European intervention.

According to a despatch from Belgrade, Servia, many of the soldiers belonging to the reserves, called out by Turkey, are refusing to join the colors, as the troops in the field have not received any pay for months.

Mass Meeting at Sofia.

Sofia, Aug. 27.—An immense mass meeting of Macedonians took place here yesterday afternoon. They were most enthusiastic. It resolved that a memorial should be presented to the representatives of the great powers at Sofia urging their Governments to take action.

The recent visit of the Russian squadron to Turkish waters was described as "a monument of sunshine, which quickly passed." The speakers impassionately appealed for immediate intervention.

Resolutions were also adopted thanking the publicists who have defended the cause of the Macedonians, regretting the hesitation on the part of Europe to take steps to ameliorate the lot of the Christians in Turkey, demanding the appointment of a powerful Christian Governor, who would ensure security for the country, and inviting all Bulgarians to aid in securing the triumph of the work already commenced.

The Macedonian Committee has issued a black-bordered list of seventy villages, which have been pillaged and destroyed in the vilayet of Monastir, to which are added instances of revolting outrages on women. The publication has created a sensation.

No news has been received in official circles yesterday from the interior of Macedonia. In a fight which has just occurred in the Kischevo district the insurgants slaughtered a detachment of eighty soldiers.

Called to the Colors.

Constantinople, Aug. 27.—The Government has decided to call to the colors all the remaining European reserves belonging to the second and third army corps and a number of other reserves, which will bring the total of the Turkish soldiers in Macedonia up to 350 battalions, or almost double the force utilized in the Turco-Greek war.

Three Hundred Massacred.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 27.—Rumors are current here of serious massacres at Vasdike and Kirk-Kitissh. Three hundred persons are said to have been killed Details and confirmation are lacking.

Murray Gets His Man.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Aug. 27.—Provincial Detective Murray of Toronto yesterday made an application to the military authorities at Plattsburg barracks, to have George H. Stewart, alias Curtis, alias Gudley, turned over to him for extradition to Canada, to answer a charge of swindling immigrants just arriving in that country. Murray chased Stewart several hundred miles through New England, finally arresting him in Troy and turning him over to the United States military authorities as a deserter from the Ninth Infantry.

Empress of India's Cost.

Hong Kong, Aug. 27.—The cost of the repairs to the Canadian Pacific Railroad's steamer Empress of India (from Vancouver, B.C., July 27, and Yokohama, Aug. 10, for Hong Kong, which was in collision with, near this port Aug 18, and sank the Chinese cruiser Huang-Tai, is estimated at $20,000. This is exclusive of the damage to her propeller blades. It is said that the Chinese authorities will take legal proceedings to recover damages for the loss of the warship.

Seven Lives Lost at Sea.

South Norwalk, Connf, Aug 27.—The two-master coasting schooner Willie L. Howton of Bangor, Me., was capsized six miles east of Green's Reef Light, in Long Island Sound, during the storm of Tuesday night. It is believed that the entire crew, numbering probably seven men, were drowned

IMPROVEMENTS IN G.N.W. TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

New "Jack" Switch has Been Installed.

Remodelling Interior of Office—Reported Change in Control of the Company.

Some extensive improvements have been made in the local offices of the G.N.W. Telegraph Company, the chief of which is the installation of a "Jack" switch, and by it the work of the operators will be very much simplified. Instead of having to walk to each of the transmitters on the 20 different wires coming into the office the operator may take a message from any one without moving, by the use of the new switch. A Resonator has also been put in, another addition to the comfort of the operator. These improvements have been installed by Messrs. Townsend and Dutworth who came from Toronto to do the work. A new Smith Premier Typewriter has also been added to the office equipment, and the interior of the office will be to a certain extent remodelled, and when the improvements have been completed the office in its appointments will be thoroughly modern, and will compare favourably with the large city offices. Mr. Harry Maynard, the manager of the telegraph department, is giving the patrons a most satisfactory service, which will, by the improvements noted above, be given an increased efficiency.

A report circulated in Montreal a few days ago was to the effect that the Western Union Telegraph Company would take over the G.N.W. The Witness has the following in reference to it:—

"The possibility of the Western Union taking over in the near future complete control of the Great North Western Telegraph Company of Canada is to-day a topic of much discussion on the street. The former practically controls the G. N. W. from the fact that it guarantees interest on the leased lines of the Montreal telegraph and Dominion telegraph, which are now operated by the G. N. W. If the report to the effect that the Western Union will take over complete control of the G.N.W. be true, then it is said the Grand Trunk Railway system will have had a hand in the matter when final details are completed. As is well known, all the commercial telegraph business of the Grand Trunk Railway system runs through portion of the United States, the system, it is rumoured, is desirous of having one company handle all its commercial telegraph business. There is certainly something going to take place as regards the above report, as the officials of the companies interested are reluctant to speak or discuss the matter."

Nothing has been heard here of the proposed change, but it is known that at the present time the Western Union has a very considerable interest in the G.N.W., and should the deal be put through as contemplated in the article quoted, no material change is anticipated in the local office. The Western Union is at present handling the business of the G.N.W. in places where the latter is not represented, and if the control passes over to the Western Union, it will be but a merging of interests, which are even now almost identical.

WILL THIS DECIDE?

Third Race for the World's Yachting Supremacy.

COURSE 30 NAUTICAL MILES.

To Windward or Leeward and Return With a Time Limit of Five and One Half Hours—"The Cup Is Not Lost Yet" to Shamrock III.—The Weather Conditions—Sir Thomas' Equanimity.

New York, Aug. 27.—To-day the big yachts Shamrock III. and Reliance, challenger and defender, respectively, of the American Cup, will engage in the great marine battle in the third race. The course will be to windward or leeward and return, 30 nautical miles, with a time limit of 5½ hours. The past performances of the two boats warrant the prediction that to-day's race will be exciting and none the less interesting. While the Smarock III. did not win the second race, over the triangular course, but missed the little piece of luck which many times at the finish of a close race has turned probably defeat into a victory; still, the cup is not lost yet, as there is many "a slip 'twen the cup and the gaff." The gallant struggle the challenger has made has not come as a great surprise to yachtsmen who should know, considering the magnificent exhibitions she had given when sailing against her consort off Weymouth, and on the Clyde, as well as against Reliance. Severe comment is general here amongst the British spectators, as well as the less biased American sportsmen, over the way the big racers are protected, and the opinion is voiced that the repetition of the Dunraven incident, which occurred in a former contest for the cup, when the British contestant was interfered with by the fleet of boats viewing the race, should not be repeated. A prominent British yacht expert has this to say regarding Tuesday's race:

"I have only one grumble. We don't want to see the excursion fleet kept right down on the horizon, but at the finish of Tuesday's race they had crept perilously near. Captains of the different craft doubtless brought their vessels closer than otherwise would have been the case in order to let their visitors see what at one time looked very likely of accomplishment—Shamrock crossing the finishing line within her time allowance. It was a laudable object, but one which might have seriously hindered her chances, if indeed it did not do so, in a slight degree. Those in charge of the patrol fleet have a difficult task, and have hitherto done their work splendidly. A gentle hint may not be out of place."

Sunlight Soap is useful in more ways than one. It will demonstrate its wonderful cleansing power in every cleansing operation.

CONTEMPT OF JUDGES.

The contemptuous and abusive treatment of the judges by the Gamey Conservatives in the Ontario Legislature has borne rapid fruits. In the Treadgold commission inquiry a Mr. Graham Campbell offered a most insolent insult to Judge Britton, who is sitting as commissioner. Fortunately for the insulter Judge Britton's leniency only stood between the vilifier and committal for contempt of court. Nothing more vicious of its kind in the direction of lowering our judiciary in the eyes of the public than the course of Gamey and his abetters among the Conservative Opposition has ever arisen in this country, and the only excuse is the making of a little party capital. The men, the members of the party, who will thus prostitute the privileges of a free country, to the subserving of party ends are not much higher in moral tone than the man who would make profit out of his mother's or sister's dishonour. Their course will encourage and embolden unwashed scalawags, to, like, the man Campbell spoken of, insult and treat our judges insolently, and there is no long step between contempt of the administrators of the law and the contempt of the law itself. The Gameyites, who are building a party platform on vilification of the judges and glorification of a political adventurer, are sowing a wind whose crop to be reaped will be the whirlwind.

HOW WE EDUCATE FARMERS.

C. C. James. Deputy Minister of Agriculture, writing in Toronto University Monthly of the work of the Ontario Agricultural College, says: "In the sixteen years (1888-1903) 139 students have passed their examinations and received their degree at the O.A.C. An interesing article might be written on the careers of those 139 young men. They are to be found in responsible positions doing splendid work. Many of them are working out the problems of life on Ontario farms, one of them has occupied a seat in the legislature, three of them are directing work in the Provincial Department of Agriculture, no less than twelve were on the staff of the Agricultural College, 1902, four are in the service of the Dominion Government, thirteen are filling professors' chairs in American agricultural colleges, several are managing large agricultural estates in Canada and the United States, and two are filling Government positions even in far away India and the Phillippines. Through the press, on the platform, in practical farm life, in experimental work, along all lines off progressive agriculture in this country, the graduates and associates of the Ontario Agricultural College are to found to-day. The college is advertised by its students.

THE PROSPERITY OF NEW ONTARIO.

Mr. Aubrey White's Impressions.

Industrial Development at Port Arthur and Fort William—Fort Frances Going Ahead.

Mr. Aubrey White, Deputy Commissioner of Crown Lands, returned to his office in the Parliament buildings, Wednesday, and in conversation with a Globe representative spoke of the matters that had interested him most.

"I have just returned from a two weeks' trip through the Thunder Bay and Rainy River districts," said Mr. White, "and am greatly astonished at the growth of population since my last trip some few years ago. Port Arthur and Fort William are two busy growing towns, with a population of about 6,000 each, and at the present time are simply booming. In Port Arthur there are five large dredges improving the harbour and a large force of men employed. Two large elevators are in course of erection, one with an estimated capacity of 200,000 bushels, and another with a capacity of 500,000 bushels. Five steam pile drivers are employed putting in piles for the foundations and for wharves, storehouses, etc. The pile drivers are kept employed night and day, rushing the work along. There is also a large sawmill plant here which is kept running winter and summer. I was reliably informed that the pay roll of this lumber company is at the present time over $16,000 per month. There are said to be about 1000 men employed in the mills, on the harbour works, and on the construction of elevators, etc. The town has just commenced the construction of sewerage and waterworks. The Canadian Northern has done wonders for Port Arthur, and the amount of money it is spending there is enormous. The Port Arthur people are feeling confident as to the future of their town. Fort William is also in a prosperous state and has abundant confidence in its future. Wages are high and men hard to get.

"Rat Portage is in a prosperous state. The three large saw mills, barrel factories and Keewatin flour mills give employment to a large number of people. Rat Portage ships supplies for lumbering, mining, etc., and is now an important business centre. The Lake of the Woods, in the vicinity of Rat Portage, is alive with people from the prairie metropolis, and towns farther west. From Rat Portage I took the steamer to Fort Frances, a beautiful trip, and the sail up the Rainy River is a delightful one. From the wild land reserve to Fort Frances, a distance of seventy miles, large clearings are the rule, and the crops are splendid. In fact, there are evidences of prosperity on all hands. At Rainy River, the crossing point of the Canadian Northern, a town of four or five hundred people has sprang up; one large saw mill is already there, and another is about to be erected. The people of Fort Frances are building their confidence upon the industries which will centre here when the magnificent water power which lies in their midst is harnessed, which will soon come about. Two railways from the south are pointing towards Fort Frances, and it is hoped that a year or two will see this an important railroad centre. There are good openings for industries such as saw mills, pulp mills, flour mills, furniture factories, etc.

"I also visited Mine Centre, which at present is in a flat state owing to the temporary suspension of mining in the vicinity. The people interested in mines are looking for a renewal of operations before long, as they say that with improved methods and intelligent operation there is no reason why mining should not pay in this locality. Everything except mining is in a flourishing condition, and it is to be hoped that this great industry will again assume importance.

TO KILL WILD MUSTARD.

The papers have frequently published stories on the prevalence of wild mustard in Ontario, and the efforts to exterminate the pest. A member of the faculty of Cornell University, taking this as a text, has written the following to a paper in the States, which may give Ontario farmers some idea of the task that confronts them:—

Regarding wild mustard, mentioned as such a serious pest in Canada, it may be of interest to know that the seed will retain its vitality for more than twenty years. I plowed up an old pasture in England, which had been in grass for over eighty years. The first crop was oats, but the mustard crowded them out, so that we had to re-plow the land. As the mustard had not been seen on the land for eighty years, the only explanation that I could find was that the seed had remained in the soil during this time. The use of copper sulphate was not known to me at the time the above happened, but it was tried afterwards, and the mustard is now eradicated. A 4 per cent. solution, using 50 gallons to the acre, on a calm day, when no rain was likely to fall for the next 36 hours, applied while the plants were small, not over three inches high, was in my experience most successful. To wait until the plants came into bloom seemed to be inadvisable, as the results were not so satisfactory. In some cases a 4 per cent. solution will injure the edges of the leaves of oats and barley, but I have known of no permanent injury if not more than the above quantity is applied per acre—but the reverse, a considerable increase in yield, is often the result. In experiments with beets and clover, the above quantity and strength did no harm. A strong solution, or a weaker solution applied in excess, may produce disastrous results.

It is with real pleasure that I certify to the efficacy of Iron-ox Tablets. BLAIRTON.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. F. G. Tice, the well known fruit grower of Oswego, and state lecturer on fruit culture, together with his wife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Aunger, have just completed their annual two weeks' visit here.

On the 20th the magnificent Catholic church at the village of Marmora with all its valuable contents, was totally destroyed by fire.

On the night of the 20th some one took from the stable of Mr. T. C. Corkery a horse, with harness and buggy. After driving furiously, and for a long distance, as could be seen from the wearied condition of the horsed and broken harness, the person turned the horse into the barnyard attached to the buggy. The sin of leaving the horse untied, was not so great for a runaway by the poor, half dead animal would have been supernatural.

Blairton, although much reduced in population since the iron mines ceased working, is notable for numerous picnic parties from various places.

Fishing in Crow Lake is good.

The little steam yacht put on the lake by Mr. Snell, editor of the Marmora Herald, shows up well and affords safety and pleasure to the numerous parties Mr. Snell is pleased to have accompany him around the lake.

Mr. Gerow, formerly an editor of a paper of London, Ont., is here as a guest of the Rylott family. He is on a tour of research for the Kingston Times.

A WELL KNOWN ALBANY MAN.

About eighteen months ago, Mr. W. S. Manning, of Albany, N.Y., widely known in trade circles as the representative of the Albany Chemical Co. was suffering from a protracted attack of diarrhoea. "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," he says, "and obtained immediate relief. I cheerfully recommend this medicine to those similarly afflicted." Sold by all druggists.

KEENE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The annual at home was held at the parsonage on Monday evening. A great many members of the three congregations, Zion, Bethel and Keene, as well as many invited friends, attended. A very pleasing programme of vocal and instrumental solos, recitations and choruses, was given, and altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Rev. David McCamus of Sarnia, was here for a few days. On Sunday afternoon he delivered an address in the Methodist church to the children, and in the evening preached a very acceptable sermon in the same church.

Miss Jessie Anderson of Hastings, spent a few days here this week the guest of Miss Harrison.

Mrs. J. Nixon and her daughter, Miss Katie Nixon of Toronto, are visiting Mrs. Dr. Harrison.

Mr. John Barry of Rochester, well known here about twenty-three years ago, is visiting with his sister, Mrs. Wm. Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ryan and child of New York state, are visiting with Mrs. Ryan's mother, Mrs. Sousie.

Miss E. Porter of the nursing staff of the General Hospital, was here on Monday.

Miss Lexa Howson and brother, Fred, of Peterborough, are visiting with Miss Laing.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 27.— Four masked men Tuesday night held up the watchman of the Featherstonhaugh mines in Atlin, Alaska, and stole nearly $20,000 worth of gold, which had been collected in the sluices during the day. Twenty workmen had just gone to supper, leaving the watchman in charge.

The committee appointed to investigate the claim of Messrs. W. and J. Crow, reported having looked into the matter and after taking evidence and consulting with the township solicitor, recommended that no action be taken.

It was moved by Messrs. Smith and Brown, that the account of Geo. Bidgood be paid and that the account of Drummond and Duffus be referred to the clerk for investigation. The account of D. Johnston, $8.80, was passed, together with the account of A. Macdonald, $16.41, as referred at last meeting. The clerk was instructed to render these two accounts to the town of Peterborough, they being liable for half the amount. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Fowler and Morrow that the report of the committee re street railway franchise be received and adopted.—Carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Brown and Smith, that the road commissioners of each district are hereby instructed to notify the owners of all milk can stands which are erected upon the public highways of the township that such is an infraction of the law and that they must be removed forthwith.—Carried.

Bylaws were then introduced and passed levying the necessary rates for township, county and school purposes for the year 1903. The township rate is 7-10 mills and the county rate is 2 4-5 mills on the $ for the year.

The council then adjourned until the second Monday in September.

The Glow of Health.

When the blood is rich and pure there is a healthful glow to the complexion, which speaks of the vigour and vitality of the system. There is no more certain way for pale, weak people to attain the glow of health than by the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great food cure, which forms new, rich red blood and creates new nerve force.

Toronto, Long Branch Rifle Ranges, Aug. 27.—Under lowering clouds, but fine shooting weather withal, the thirty-fifth annual prize meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association commenced here yesterday morning.

Private J. M. Smith, of the 21st Essex Regiment, opened up the meet with a well-centred bull's-eye at 500 yards in the extra series match. He followed up his first good shot with three more bull's-eyes and an inner, totalling twenty-four points out of a possible twenty-five. Smith has entered in several matches.

WHILE IRON IS HOT.

Now is the Time to Strike Says Sir William Mulock.

CAREFUL, CAUSTIC ANALYSIS

Mr. Borden's Alternative Proposals to the Grand Trunk Pacific Scheme Keenly Probed—They Are Pronounced to Be Impracticable and Extravagant—Other Members Who Spoke.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—"Let us strike while the iron is hot, and give permanency to that prosperity and development which now so happily blesses this country." In these words Sir William Mulock concluded last night a powerful speech in support of the Government's policy on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway project. Sir William devoted much of his time to a careful analysis of Mr. Borden's alternative proposition, and, by quotations from the Opposition leader's speech, with comments thereon, traced the proposal to its impracticability and utter inconsistency with the interpretations and arguments of Mr. Borden's followers. Sir William showed that Mr. Borden really contemplated two transcontinental railways, which, with equipment, the purchase of the grain fleet, the abolition of harbor dues and other propositions, brought the total expenditure to $255,000,000. This caused the Postmaster-General almost to blush for the Government's modest scheme, involving an expenditure of only $18,000,000. This did not count the cost of establishment of warehouses for 100,000 farmers in the northwest, reference to which brought the remark from Mr. Mahlon Cowan that it was "a barnyard policy." Sir William quoted endorsation of the plan by Mr. H. D. Helmcken, K.C., President of the Conservative Association at Victoria, B.C., and closed with an eloquent appeal for support of the railway as an element in the achievement of the unity of Canada, which could not prevail with the continuance of the present commercial and social separation. The other speakers of the day were Mr. James Clancy, Mr. W. M. German, Dr. Roche and Mr. A. C. Bell.

VESUVIUS' GLORIOUS SPECTACLE.

Stream of Lava Belches Forth From Volcano at Noonday.

Naples, Aug. 27.—The people of Naples and Evirons witnessed a remarkable spectacle at noon yesterday. One thousand feet below the central cone of Vesuvius, the volcano opened like a huge mouth, out of which belched a fiery stream of lava, which ran down the side of the mountain, and at first seemed to menace the observatory, but later it deviated from the building. The eruption occurred without any warning whatever. There was no earthquake detonation or rain of ashes, nothing but a clear stream of lava and red hot stones, which were thrown to a height of 700 feet.

The stream of lava 15 feet broad, at 11 o'clock last night, had covered a distance of 2,700 feet. The eruption seems to be decreasing and it is hoped that no damage will result.

The spectators, far enough away not to be frightened, stood entranced at the spectacle, but those nearer were seized by panic and rushed down from the sides of the mountain to the villages near by.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

They Are the Filters of the Body—Danger Signals.

Into everything we eat and drink, no matter how "pure" the food is labeled nor how careful we are, poisons enter. Were we not provided with organs especially designed to look after these poisons, human life would soon perish. The kidneys are the filters of the blood. They catch the poison in the food and expel it from the system. That is, they do these things when they are in healthy and vigorous condition. When they are weak, or overworked, or clogged, or handicapped-by the ravages of disease in even a slight degree, they do their assigned work more or less imperfectly, or not at all. When the kidneys are not working well, the poison which should pass from the system is returned to the blood, to circulate through the body. Excess of uric acid in the blood causes inflammatory, muscular or articular rheumatism, for one thing, and those who have suffered from any of the forms of this distressing and dangerous malady will say that this is enough. The best authorities on the subject, however, believe that this is only a small part, and that to kidney irregularities are due a long train of bodily ailments. The kidneys often give warning, though not always and not always in time, of the dangers which menace the body from their abnormal condition. Among these danger signals are weakness of the back, pains or aches in the region of the kidneys, irregularity of the bowels and kidney action, chills, feverishness, puffy eyes, brick dust deposit or cloudiness, and a dropsical appearance of the ankles or wrists. When any of these symptoms appear blood poisoning to a certain extent is undermining the fabric of life. The result of the latest research into kidney troubles and their cure is the vegetable preparation known as Bu-Ju, which is put forth by the Claflin Chemical Co., Ltd., of New York, N. Y., and Windsor, Ont. It may be purchased at any drug store in boxes of 50 pills at 50 cents. It were well to pay no heed to efforts to substitute other so-called remedies for this dangerous condition, as Bu-Ju embodies all that these have with the addition of the latest-upto-date discoveries and enhanced skill in preparation.

Cotton Famine in England.

Bolton, Eng., Aug. 27.—The cotton trade is in a worse state than for fifteen years past, owing to the shortness of the supply of the cotton. Heavy demands are being made on benefit societies, owing to the large numbers of persons who are idle.

FRANCO-CANADIAN.

Contract For a Steamship Service With Bordeaux May Be Signed at Ottawa To-Day—The Terms.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—The likelihood is that a contract will be signed today, under which Messrs. Colombier Bros. of Bordeaux, France, agree to establish a steamship service between that port and Canada. The consideration, it is said, will be $100,000 for eighteen trips, and $133,000 if 24 trips are made. There will be four steamers, and the line will run to Quebec in summer and St. John and Halifax in winter. The steamers will have 80,000 cubic feet of cold storage, and will be equipped with all modern conveniences.

THE POST MASTER SAYS.

That Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Bring Sure Relief—Everybody Speaks Highly of them.

Mr. R. Jancowski, the postmaster at Fesserton, Ont., is a man who enjoys the esteem of the community in which he resides. Consequently, the following statement from him is worthy of the careful consideration of every one.

"I have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial and can with every confidence recommend them. I generally use only half a tablet after eating and it has always given me relief.

"I know other people who have used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets in this neighbourhood and they all speak in the highest terms of them."

This is a very moderate statement, but it assures you of one thing: that if you have a bloated or uncomfortable feeling after eating you can find a sure relief in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. And there is further relief in the knowledge that in using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets you are safeguarding yourself against Chronic Indigestion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Dyspepsia in all stages by resting the stomach and allowing it to recover its strength naturally. They are a safeguard against disease and an insurance policy against discomfort.

Anarchy in the West.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 27.—In St. Boniface Tuesday several men attempted to hold a meeting in the interests of anarchy. It was announced to be a socialistic meeting, but gradually developed into pure anarchy. Then the leaders unfurled a red flag and cheered. At this the French residents hooted, and some of the more infuriated of them hurled stones at the speakers. The police interfered and several arrests followed.

For a Temperance Party.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Two hundred people attended the first meeting of the Temperance Voters' League here last night. F. S. Spence and G. F. Marter addressed the meeting, and afterwards between 75 and 100 signed the pledge to vote and work only for the temperance candidate at next election, and a league was formed for the Parkdale district of the city.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea

"About six years ago, for the first time in my life, I had a severe and sudden attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful, I could hardly realize that I was well again or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents cured me." For sale by all druggists.

MR. McCAIG MARRIED.

A Former Resident of Peterborough Wedded in Lethbridge, Alberta.

The Lethbridge News contains a report of the wedding of Mr. Jas. McCaig, M.A., LL.B., formerly teacher in Peterbroough Collegiate Institute, to Miss McKillop, who is also known in town, having visited here at Christmas and again in July, the guest of Miss Mona Cavanah. The pleasing event is described as follows:—

"Knox church was crowded with a bright and happy throng, the fair sex, as usual, predominating, the occasion being the marriage of James McCaig, M.A., LL.B., Principal of our Public School, to Ena, eldest daughter of the Rev. Chas. McKillop, for many years pastor of the Presbyterian congregation here.

The church was prettily decorated with exotic plants, potted and cut flowers. A large bell from relatives in Cranbrook, B.C., formed of twenty electric lights and draped in purple and gold—the colours of St. Margaret's College, Alma Mater of the bride,—was suspended above the happy couple.

The ceremony was performed by her father, assisted by the Rev. Alexander Gordon, of Raymond.

The bride, who is by nature fair to look upon, presented an exceedingly charming appearance in her dress of white duchesse satin with trimmings of real lace, tulle veil and orange blossoms. Her bridesmaid, Miss Edythe Burnett, wore a dress of green eolienne trimmed with velvet and real lace with a hat of white chiffon and plumes. Margaret, the little five-year-old sister of the bride, attired in white China silk with hat to match, acted as maid of honour. The ushers—a rather novel feature upon such occasions—were Misses Helen and Jennie McKillop, also in costumes of white China silk. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Spencer McCaig, Customs officer at Courtz.

The bride was the recipient of a very large number of beautiful and costly gifts the groom's gift being a pearl ring, with fleur de lis pin and bracelet to bridesmaid and maid of honour respectively.

After the ceremony at the church the company repaired to the Manse where the bridal party received the congratulations of their friends, the house also being artistically decorated with flowers and vines.

After daintily served refreshments the happy couple left for Banff and the Pacific Coast. The bride's travelling dress was of navy blue pebble-cloth with imported hat to match trimmed with wings and cut steel ornaments."

Mr. McCaig's hosts of warm friends in Peterborough will join in cordial congratulations. Mr. McCaig was a genial, whole-souled gentleman and deserves the happiness which it is hoped will attend his experience as a benedict.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Mr. Jas. E. Fowler Married to Miss Emma Alberta Barrie.

The residence of Mrs. John Barrie, 623 George street, was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening at 8.30, when Miss Emma Alberta Barrie, daughter of Mrs John Barrie, was united in marriage to Mr. Jas. E. Fowler. The ceremony was performed in the drawing room by Rev. J. G. Lewis, pastor of the Mark street church, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The bride was very prettily attired in white organdie and carried a beautiful bouquet of white and pink chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid, Miss Annie Barrie, sister of the bride, was similarly dressed, and also carried flowers. Little Miss Cleo. Barrie, of Buffalo, niece of the bride, made a charming flower girl, filling her duties to perfection. The groom was supported by Mr. Richard Parnell.

After the wedding ceremony a dainty dinner was partaken of at which the health of the bride was proposed and responded to by the groom in a pleasing little speech. The table was beautifully decorated with pink and white flowers. The bride was the recipient of very many handsome and valuable presents, slight tokens of the universal esteem in which she is held.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler will reside at 623 George street. Both the bride and groom are well known in town and are highly thought of by their many friends, who now join in wishing them a happy and prosperous future.

LATE MRS. H. S. GREENWOOD

Particulars of the Funeral Obsequies of the Deceased Lady

She had Won as High Regard in South Africa as She had Done in Peterborough.

The numerous friends in Peterborough of the late Mrs. H. S. Greenwood will read with melancholy satisfaction particulars of the funeral, which took place at Johannesburg, South Africa, on July 16th. Colonel Greenwood has forwarded to Captain L. M. Hayes copies of local papers containing accounts of the sad occasion. The Johannesburg Star has the following:

"In the presence of a large number of mourners, the remains of Mrs. H. S. Greenwood were laid to rest in the Braamfontein Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The procession left Mrs. Greenwood's late residence, Parktown, shortly before 4 o'clock, amongst those attending being Lord Henry Seymour (representing His Excellency Viscount Milner,) Sir Percy Girouard, Col. Green, S.A.C., Col. O'Brien, Col. Curtis, Capt. Sewell, R. E. Capt. McGregor, Major Urquhart, S. A.C., Capt. Girlan, R.E., Lieut. Bradford, K.R.R., Major Nathan, Messrs. E. Stuart, Sydney Jennings, H. Warrington Smyth, Windham, Pillans, Creswell, C. King, W. Dalrymple, Lady Lagden, the Hon. Mrs. Curtis, Mesdames Hall-Carr, Hyland, Bayliss, McEwan, Windham, Taylor, Hartley, Rogers, Brodie, Gordon Russell, McLean, Miss Holmes-Orr, Miss Emma Holmes-Orr, and many others.

The chief mourners were Mr. Greenwood and his two little sons, Eric and Harold, Sir Percy Girouard, Mr. E. Stuart, and Mr. C. King. Cols. O'Brien, Curtis, and Edwards, Major Nathan, Messrs. Sydney Jennings, H. Warrington Smyth, Windham, and Pillans were the pall-bearers. The coffin, which was of massive oak, was laden with beautiful wreaths, sent by Lord Milner, the Loyal Women's Guild, Col. and Mrs. Dalrymple, Mr. and Mrs. Nourse, Miss E. F. Harvie, the maintenance staff Braamfontein, the Standerton staff, Lieut. Col. Price and officers of the C.S.A.R. Volunteers, and many others, as a tribute to Mrs. Greenwood's memory.

A large number of employees of the C.S.A.R. awaited the arrival of the cortege at the cemetery gates, forming a line through which the hearse passed, afterwards joining in the procession. At the graveside, the Rev. Mr. Thompson, Rector of St. Augustine's Church, Doornfontein, read the impressive funeral service of the Anglican Church."

The Rand Daily Mail prints the following reference to the late Mrs. Greenwood:—

"Prominent in society circles, foremost in good and philanthropic work, the deceased lady had endeared herself to a host of friends, and she was beloved and regarded with respect by all ladies, and others interested in good works in Johannesburg.

"With a brilliant intellect, and a ready expression of her views on matters, particularly philanthropic, Mrs. Greenwood was a lady whom her sisters 'in mercy' viewed with respect, and looked up to. It is a sad reflection that she was just about to sail for the Old Country when pneumonia set in, and all medical aid was unavailing to rescue her from death, and, what is distressful, from separation from her disconsolate husband and two pretty children.

"The late Mrs. Greenwood was the President of the Loyal Women's Guild, and was also associated with the South African Expansion Committee. Her whole life in this country was devoted to good works and she was without doubt a grand and good woman. She was a daughter of Sir Henri de Lotbiniere, Governor of British Columbia, and a sister of Major de Lotbiniere, lately inspector of the Native Refugee Department.

"The most endearing testimony to respect and regard for the deceased lady was evident in the numerous wreaths which were placed on the grave, after a sad, silent recital of the burial service by the Rev. Mr. Thompson. There was one from Lord Milner, who had entrusted its disposal to Lord Henry Seymour; another one was from the Loyal Women's Guild; and others, which covered the grave were from Lt.-Col. Price and officers of the C.S.A.R., the Maintenance Station, Braamfontein, and the staff at Standerton. There were many other wreaths, all conveying expressions of deep regard."

LIPTON GOES BACK WITHOUT THE CUP.

The Reliance Won the Third Race.

Lead From the Start and Finished Over Two Miles Ahead of the Shamrock.

3.20 p.m. — The Reliance wins the race by about two and a half miles. It is so hazy that it is impossible to get any news from the finishing line. From the shore it looks as if the Reliance crossed the line about 15 minutes ahead of the Shamrock.

The following despatches were supplied by Messrs. E. M. Poussett & Co.:

New York, August 27th. — The yacht race to-day will be 15 miles to windward and return.

At 10 a.m., the wind was very light, about four knots. Prospects are that it will freshen by noon. Betting to-day is five to one in favour of the Reliance.

11.45 a.m. — Starting gun fired at 10.52. Reliance crossed the line first, closely followed by Shamrock. The Reliance steadily pulled away from the British boat until she had a lead of about half a mile. She continued to hold the lead at 11.30. The wind is about seven knots. It looks very much as if it would be three straights for the American boat.

12.10 p.m. — A Marconigram says both yachts were handicapped at the start. Start was about 11.02.

12.15 p.m. — Wind blowing about 7 knots and pulling further to southward. Reliance now leads by a mile.

1.15 p.m. — The yachts have rounded the first buoy. The Reliance is now leading by a mile and a half.

2.35 p.m. — The Reliance has increased her lead to about two miles. The yachts are nearing the home line and it looks as though the American boat would win by about ten minutes.

The Work of an Artist.

Three large streamers, advertising the Peterborough Industrial, the work of Mr. F. Cook, are a credit not only to the Fair management but to the artist. Without doubt they are the most artistically gotten up advertising canvasses ever displayed on Peterborough streets, and are an eloquent tribute to the ability of Mr. Cook. The colourings in the centre figures are beautifully blended and the whole scheme of design is a very effective one.

BENEFIT SOCIETY ANNUAL MEETING.

C. G. E. Mutual Benefit Society Held Meeting Last Night.

GOOD WORK OF PAST YEAR.

Over $1500 Paid out in Benefits to Unfortunate Members—Some Amendments Made to the Constitution—Officers Elected for the Year.

The members of the C. G. E. Mutual Benefit Society met last night in the T.A.S. Hall to receive the report of the stewardship of the different officers in the general annual meeting, and that they have fulfilled the duties of their offices well, was manifest by the full and comprehensive reports presented, and by them was also shown the good work accomplished by the society since its inception. During the past year $1,586.95 has been paid out in benefits to members, which is, indeed, a creditable record, and is ample evidence of the practical value of membership in the society.

The president, Mr. W. Mowry, acted as chairman of the meeting, and, in opening, gave an informal address, in which he evidenced not only a thorough knowledge of the affairs of the society, but a deep interest in its welfare.

In reviewing the work of the society during the past year, the president said that the first six months' operations had left them with a deficit of $192.00, and in view of this fact a change had then been made in the services of physicians, and a doctor was engaged on salary, which had effected a saving of $225.62, and it was thought that then the affairs of the society were upon a sound financial basis, but it had been found by the result of the last six months that despite the most careful management, a deficit would accrue as the result of the year's work, and further amendments would have to be made to place the society upon a sound basis. One of the amendments which was suggested was that of discarding the practice of paying benefits for the first week's illness. In the majority of societies of this kind, even when the fees are higher than those of this society, no benefits are paid for the first week's incapacity for work, and it was felt that by making this change it would be placing the society upon a level with others of a similar character. The members of the Board of Management felt that they were justified in making the statement that if the amendment were adopted the society would be in a more satisfactory condition. The president also suggested that it might be advisable to incorporate into the constitution a clause providing that not more than thirteen weeks benefit would be paid in one year to one person. It was pointed out that should a member draw benefit for thirteen weeks he would be getting more than his dues would amount to in seventeen years, which was all that could be expected. He also said that he thought the members of the society owed considerable to the Canadian General Electric Company, for the financial assistance accorded them, and the large amount of clerical work which had been accomplished for the society by the office staff, which were ample evidence of the interest taken in the welfare of the employees by the officials of the company, and he suggested that in his opinion they were deserving of a sincere vote of thanks on behalf of the society. After referring to the two excursions which had been conducted this summer, and the result of which had been the establishment of a Contingent Fund, he suggested that another should be held in the near future. His concluding remarks, referring to the courtesy extended them by the T.A.S., in allowing them the use of their rooms, for all their meetings, without any charge, were greeted with hearty applause. The president then called for the reading of the minutes, which upon being read by Mr. R .E. Layfield, who, in the absence of Mr. F. A. Shannon, acted as secretary, were confirmed.

The secretary's written report was then read, and Mr. Layfield, on rising to read it, said he wished to pay a tribute to the efficiency with which Mr. Shannon had filled his duties. He considered him a most faithful and conscientious officer. The report on being read, was adopted.

The treasurer's report was then presented by Mr. C. B. Robertson, who filled that office, and in commenting upon it, the president took occasion to say that he considered Mr Robertson admirably fitted for the office, and that during his term he had faithfully discharged his duties. This report was also adopted.

The report of the Auditors was was a model of completeness. In substance it was as follows:—

"We have examined all books and vouchers and find them correct. The different officers have kept their books and papers in a business-like manner, and the auditors wish to congratulate the members and the officers they have had during the last year.

(Signed.)

R .E. LAYFIELD,
WM .HILL,
Auditors."

The report was on motion adopted.

The question of making the amendments to the Constitution, suggested by the President, was discussed and upon motion of Messrs. Layfield and Scott, it was decided that in future no benefits will be paid to the members for the first week's illness. The proposal that not more than 13 weeks' benefits be paid to a member in any 12 months was also adopted on motion of Messrs. Brown and Lord.

The Constitution will consequently be amended in accord with these resolutions. Some discussion was indulged in as to whether it would be advisable to also discontinue the payment of funeral benefits, but, it was finally decided that the usual amount $30, will still be paid. A further amendment was ordered to be made to the Constitution on motion of Messrs. Brown and Metheral, to the effect that should any member of the Board of Management absent himself from two consecutive Board meetings without cause, the position shall be declared vacant.

Bylaws will be prepared by the Board of Management to confirm the different amendments made.

It was further moved by Mr. Brown, and seconded by Mr. Christie, that the sum of $5.00 be voted from the contingent fund and donated to the Band Fund of the T.A.S., as a token of their appreciation of the courtesy extended to the Society.

The suggestion made by the President in reference to running an excursion was discussed and it was finally decided to adopt it, and a committee composed of Messrs. Scott, Christie, Carson, Thurston, Brown, O'Brien, W. S. Robertson, Joyce and Jeffries was appointed to make arrangements. Also carrying out a suggestion of the President a motion was submitted and enthusiastically supported authorising the President and Mr. Layfield to draft a resolution conveying to the General Manager of the Canadain General Electric Company, the thanks of the Society for the interest displayed by the Company as evidenced by the financial assistance and in numerous other ways.

On motion it was decided the Secretary's salary should be the same as last year.

The last order of business was the election of officers and resulted as follows:

President—W. Mowry, re-elected.
Vice-President—Wm. Hill.
Treasurer—R. E. Layfield.
Secretary—F. A. Shannon.
Auditors—Messrs. W. S. Robertson and G. J. Tovey.

It was felt by all present that the prospects for the future success of the Society were never brighter, and the year's work is entered upon with considerable satisfaction both by the officers and the members at large.

The Society is to be congratulated upon having such efficient officers, and its affairs will be well administered in their hands.

After votes of thanks to the auditors and the T.A.S., the meeting adjourned.

CORDAGE WORKS WILL RESUME OPERATIONS.

Mills to Open on August 31st After two Weeks Shut Down for Repairs.

New Superintendent, is Mr. T. P. Connor, of Boston Rope and Twine Company—Good Demand for Goods.

The Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company will resume operation of their mills on Monday, the 31st inst., at 7 o'clock a.m., after having been closed down two weeks for the purpose of cleaning up and making necessary repairs to their machinery after the year's run.

It must be gratifying to the shareholders to know that the company have disposed of the entire output of their factory and have no binder twine to carry forward to next year, and are considerably behind in filling their orders for rope.

Mr. Thomas P. Connor of the Boston Rope and Twine Company, Boston, Mass., will succeed Mr. C. F. Holmes, as superintendent. Mr. Connor is well and favourably known to the Canadian and American trade and has many years of experience in the cordage business.

On account of the heavy demand that the company have had for their goods throughout Canada and the United States, it is proposed to enlarge the present plant so as to take care of the increasing demand for the company's goods.

A Little Kinmount Boy Drowned.

Kinmount, Aug. 25.—Ralph Cole, son of Mr. Charles Cole, one of Kinmount's most respected citizens, was playing in the hotel stable of Mr. F. Dettmap, with Mr. Dettman's children, when the latter went in to tell their mother that they had invited Ralph to stay with them for tea, but after that he was not seen. It appears there is an open trap door in the stable floor over the river, and that the boy, while playing, probably fell in. As he did not return to his home in the evening search was made fro him, without avail. At last someone suggested that as he had been in the stable he might possibly have dropped into the trap hole, and search of the place was made, when the poor little fellow's lifeless body was found.—Globe.

DOMINION OBJECTED

To the Publication of Colonial Conference Proceedings.

G. T. P. DEBATE CONTINUED.

Sir Richard Cartwright Considers the Present Scheme a Vindication of the Mackenzie Policy of 32 Years Ago —Speech of Keen Logic and Graceful Diction — Bargain an Excellent One.

Ottawa, Aug. 26. — Sir Wilfrid Laurier laid on the table of the House yesterday morning the promised correspondence between the Canadian and Imperial Governments as to the full publication of the proceedings of the Colonial Conference.

On July 31 Mr. Chamberlain cabled Lord Minto as follows: "It was decided at the Conference of Premiers not to publish the full report of the whole of the proceedings in deference to the wishes of Canada. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach asks in the House of Commons that decision should be reconsidered and publication allowed. Kindly inform me by cable what view your Government hold."

Lord Minto's reply was: "My Ministers, with all due respect, must object to any alteration of report of proceedings as published. They consider that the resolution which was ultimately adopted after the fullest discussion at the time and which was unanimously carried, distinctly indicates the views of the conference."

The Premier also told the House that he expected to fill the office of chairman of the Transportation Commission, and the commission would be issued to-day.

Sir Richard Cartwright.

The Liberal party were right in criticizing the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1871, and they are right to-day in advocating the construction of the G. T. Pacific. So argued Sir Richard Cartwright in one of the most important speeches in the railway debate. Sir Richard, in that forceful Parliamentary style for which he is noted, presented the claims of the Government's policy to a full house amid the frequent cheers of the Liberal members. The present favorable situation in the west and the choice of the Mackenzie route west of Winnipeg Sir Richard regarded as a vindication of the Liberal policy of 32 years ago, and amid loud cheers he declared that if the Liberal policy and route had been adopted then the northwest would have been as far ahead by 1885 as it is to-day. Answering the criticism that there was not enough information, Sir Richard said there was a thousand times more known of the route than was known of the route of the C.P.R. when it was projected. Sir Richard, apart from his rheumatic troubles, was in excellent form, and his keen logic and graceful diction flowed in a never-ceasing stream of sparkling language.

Mr. Tarte followed, and, while not committing himself definitely for or against the resolutions, said the Government should first develop our waterway system.

Mr. Bourassa announced his acceptance of the general features of the scheme. The other speakers of the day were Hon. Wm. Ross and Mr. E. G. Porter. Mr. Clancy moved the adjournment of the debate.

NEW GOVERNOR OF AUSTRALIA.

Lord Northcote. Now in Bombay, to Succeed Lord Tennyson.

London, Aug. 25.—The King has approved the appointment of Lord Northcote, G.C.I.E., C.D., Governor of Bombay, to be Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia. Lord Northcote will take up his new appointment in December next, on the retirement of Lord Tennyson.

Battleship Dominion Launched.

London, Aug. 26.—The Princess Louise (Duchess of Argyle) yesterday launched the battleship Dominion, at Barrow. The Dominion is the last of three ships known as the King Edward VII. class. When completed the Dominion will have cost $6,500,000.

International Cricket.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—When the Americans finished their inning yesterday on 'Varsity lawn they left their opponents 231 runs to get to win, having made 110 during the morning. The Canadians, however, scored only 88, leaving the United States' cricketers victors by 140 runs.

Borden and Mullin.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 26.—At the Conservative convention held here yesterday afternoon R. L. Borden, M.P., and J. C. Mullin, barrister, were nominated to contest Halifax County for the seats in the Federal House at the next general election.

Cholera Infantum.

This has long been been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and castor oil, as directed with each bottle, and a cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

Peculiar Privileges.

The speaker of the house of commons has several peculiar privileges. Every year he receives a gift from the master of the buckhounds of a buck and doe killed in the royal preserves. This custom goes back so far that there is no record of it. Later in the year the speaker receives another tribute from a different source. The donors on the second occasion are the Cloth Workers' company of London, who send to the speaker of the house of commons and to several of his majesty's ministers a generous width of the best broadcloth to be found in England.

Let Others Experiment.

There is always something new in the way of medical treatment and you are constantly invited to try new fangled unproven remedies. Let others experiment and so risk health and lose time. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been tried in the crucible of time, won the approval of public opinion and demonstrated their right to a place in every home as a family medicine.

IN ONTARIO'S SCHOOLS.

Decrease in Noble Army of Pupils From Figures of 1901.

Some interesting statistics were announced the other day at the Department of Education, Toronto, showing the salaries of school teachers to have been a little higher in 1902 than they were in 1901. The total number of pupils enrolled in the Public schools of the province in 1902 was 408,124 of whom 209,566 were boys and 198,558 girls. These figures show a decrease of 6,495 compared with the preceding year, when the total was 414,619. The decrease is noticed in the townships, in many of the towns, as well as in all the cities, with the exceptions of Chatham and St. Catharines. The district of New Ontario alone shows an increase. The average daily attendance was 57.01 per cent. of the total, as compared with 56.69 in 1901, a slight increase for last year.

The attendance at the Roman Catholic Separate schools shows a total of 43,964, of whom 23,314 were boys and 22,650 girls. The increase for 1902 over the total of 1901 is 1,977.

Teachers' salaries show a considerable increase for both male and female, and, although still low, are higher than at any former period in the history of the province. The following table speaks for itself, as showing the average salary. The counties, of course, are exclusive of cities and towns:—

	1901		1902
	Male.	F'm'le.	Male.	F'm'le
Counties	$359	$262	$372	$271
Towns	649	315	667	317
Cities	915	470	935	479
Province	421	306	436	318

The total number of Public school teachers increased from 8,403 in 1901 to 8,497 in 1902. Of these 25.89 per cent. were men and 74.11 per cent. women. In 1901, of the total number of teachers 28 per cent. were men, and the year 1902 shows a decrease of over two per cent.

The number of teachers with Normal school training increased from 4,427 in 1901 to 4,601 in 1902, or a little over 53 per cent. of the total. Of the total only 81 teachers were university graduates, or about 1 per cent.

The total amount paid out in teachers' salaries in 1902 was $2,987,939, an increase of $118,400 over 1901. The total expenditure for all purposes in 1902 was $4,859,976 as against $4,828,682 in 1901, an increase in expenditure of $31,294.

Tinkle of Feminine Laughter.

No man looks his best when he is laughing heartily. A woman, on the other hand, may not enjoy a joke or a situation a whit less, nor really laugh less, but she manages to do so, as a rule, without disarranging her features or her toilette, and smiting disagreeably on the tympanum of other people. The tinkle of feminine laughter is generally pleasant to listen to; sounds well across water, it floats pleasantly on the breeze.—Lady's Pictorial.

THE FISHERIES QUESTION.

Memorandum From Hon. Raymond Prefontaine—Matters to Be Settled—Temporary Agreement With Provinces.

Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, recently tabled in the House of Commons a memorandum on the status of the question of fishery rights between the Federal and Provincial Governments. It points out that the decision of the Privy Council, delivered on May 26th, 1898, substantially secured to the Dominion Parliament the sole power to make regulations controlling the manner of fishing, and held that the enactment of all fishery regulations and restrictions "is within the exclusive competence of the Dominion Legislature," which regulations and restrictions might, it was conceded, necessarily to a certain extent affect proprietary rights. For the Provinces it decided that whatever proprietary rights were at the time of confederation possessed by them remained untouched by the British North America act, and whatever grants might previously have been lawfully made could lawfully be made after the passing of that act, but admitted that those proprietary rights would necessarily be affected to some exteat by the Dominion's restrictive powers of regulation. At the same time the decision expressly recognizes the right of the Parliament of Canada not only to make regulations for the protection and preservation of fisheries, but also to impose a tax as a condition of the right to fish.

Issue of Licenses.

The only part of the Canadian fisheries act which the judgment declares to be beyond the powers of the Parliament of Canada are those sections by which Parliament empowered the Marine and Fisheries Department to grant licenses or leases conferring exclusive right of fishing. Following the judgment, conferences were held for the purpose of reaching some means for administering the different functions devolving upon each Government under the changed condition of affairs. To the Province of Ontario the fisheries were relinquished so far as the disposal thereof as "a proprietary right" was concerned, which involved, of course, the issue of all fishery licenses in inland waters, and the collection of all revenues therefrom, reserving all rights of regulation. The Dominion, however, may yet deem it expedient to make some further claim with regard to the waters of the great lakes, which form the boundary line between two foreign countries. With the Province of Quebec an arrangement was made by which the department handed over the proprietary interests in the fisheries, so far as the inland rivers and waters were concerned, but claimed and exercised jurisdiction over the gulf fisheries below a line drawn from Cap Chatte to Point des Monts. The Province demurred to this, and it was agreed that a reference should be made to the Supreme Court, having for its object a finding of the ownership or jurisdiction over such maritime fisheries as are comprised in areas removed from the mouths of rivers seaward on the bold coast or along the three-mile limit, and below the line of demarcation already mentioned.

Quebec's Claims.

The Province of Quebec claimed as proprietary practically all the water area of the Gulf of St. Lawrence capable of being claimed by Canada, while the Dominion admitted its right to the river fisheries, but denied that it had any ownership in the seacoast fisheries, and consequently could not grant any exclusive fisheries there. A proposal was made in 1901, by which a test case could be made in order to settle the claim of Quaker to these exclusive rights, which, if settled, would, of course,, decided the grant as to the maritime Provinces' claims, which embraced a proprietary interest in the three-mile limit. The other maritime Provinces, including British Columbia, entered into a tentative agreement with the Dominion Government, by which the Federal Fisheries Department continue to administer the fisheries service, practically as formerly, pending the settlement of the question to be referred as to the jurisdiction below low-water mark; but in the interim collections made under such conditions are claimable by the Provinces if their condition is maintained. Incidentally to the above claim all the Atlantic Provinces contend for a portion of the Halifax award—four and a half million dollars—for the twelve years' use by the United States of the Canadian inshore fisheries on the three-mile limit during the pendency of the fisheries articles of the treaty of Washington.

Dominion Cannot Acquiesce.

In these claims to proprietary interest advanced on buhalf of the Provinces affecting the marine belt of extra territorial jurisdiction the Dominion Government cannot acquiesce, holding that any right possessed on the three-mile limit was in the nature of a jurisdiction exercisable by the Crown representing the State, and not in any way to be regarded as a proprietary right to the Provinces, and any jurisdiction which the Provinces may have exercised as Colonies automatically passed to the Dominion, and was subject wholly to the admiralty courts, and not to the common law courts of the land within the jurisdiction of the Provinces. A solution of the case in the shape of the acquisition by the Dominion Government of Provincial proprietary rights in the fisheries for some equivalent to be agreed upon, suggested itself, but this, of course, would have to wait the result of some finding on the extreme claims of the Provinces to enable the extent of these rights to be measured. The status of the Federal Government respecting proprietary rights in Manitoba and the Territories was, of course, in no way affected by the Privy Council decision, since the Dominion owns the soil and consequently the fisheries.

NATURE'S SUMMER SCHOOLS.

Where Tired, Weary City Workers Find Their True Rest.

Blessed summer holidays, blessed for the health of body they bestow, and thrice blessed because they bring men's minds nearer to those things in life which are enduring, says The Toronto Star. The slowest lesson that we learn is the right proportion of things, the true relation of living to succeeding. In the city here we easily get them confused, and once in confusion it is a difficult matter to get them straight again. Nature herself is our best teacher. In her school is neither disproportion nor confusion. She keeps us in mind, when we will give her the chance, that whereas the thing we call success promises us the sum of all happiness, it can do very little in that direction. That, on the other hand, the ceaseless pursuit of it separates us from life's most enduring pleasures, and ultimately destroys the power itself of enjoyment. The streets of Toronto are thronged by men who are all making the supreme mistake, the world-old mistake of toiling along the road to wealth, thinking it the path to happiness. To these men Nature, if she had them in one of her great summer schools, would find no better question to put than that of old, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his soul." A man's soul; is it not that part of him which is made up of his deeper consciousness, his higher aspirations, and tenderest affections? That part of him which gives sustenance to his faith, his better hopes, his charity, all three of which, unhappily, are in the gravest danger of starvation in the process of getting even a very small part of "the whole world." His soul, moreover, is that best part of him which is reawakened when, beside some northern lakeside, he sits under the stars while he hears Nature's quiet broken only by voices the dearest to him in all the world. A man came back to the city yesterday after a week spent with his family in the holiday country up north. His friends, when they met him on the street congratulated him on the coat of tan he wore on his cheeks. What they might also have seen, and perhaps did, was a certain contented expression in his eyes which he had also brought with him from the country. Away from the treadmill, or the game, or whatever you care to call it, for only seven days, and yet it was long enough to refresh the very soul of him. The effect will wear away, of course, but it must be there still, and we warrant you that to-day, as he sits at his desk, his mind looks in a little different way at the problems and bargaining of business, and that for some days, at least, those better things which cannot be bought and sold, and are not listed on the exchanges, will have a stronger hold upon him. In one of Nature's summer schools he had renewed his knowledge of certain simple pleasures, and refreshed those domestic affections which are the source of the most satisfying happiness Mother Earth offers to her business-ridden, success-pursuing sons.

Theatrical Pay Days.

Every legitimate theater in New York has two pay days—union and non-union. The union employees, which include the men in the orchestra, the stage hands, property men and stage carpenters, are paid, as their union regulations demand, on Saturday night. The actors, who have no union, are not paid until Tuesday, although their week ends on Saturday with the night's performance. Their salaries are held up two days merely to insure their reappearance at the theater on Monday.

If the company were paid off on Saturday night unreliable or disaffected members of the organization might not show up on Monday for rehearsal on the evening performance, thus weakening the production, but if the week's salary is held back they are reasonably sure to report on Monday in order not to lose what is coming to them. Actors are distinctly temperamental and capricious, and if a manager were to pay off on Saturday night and there existed any temporary dissatisfaction in the company he could never tell whether he would have a chorus with which to open up the week on Monday evening.

Music Hath Charms.

Ignaz Pleyel, a musician held in high repute in his day and a Viennese by birth, was appointed kapellmeister at Strassburg in 1783. During the troubled times of the French revolution he lost his post, and his life was in grave danger.

He escaped death and satisfied his accusers that he was not an aristocrat by writing music to some most revolutionary stanzas, which were placed before him for the purpose, while beside stood two gendarmes with fixed bayonets.

Another instance, proving that "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," is that of Alessandro Stradella, an Italian composer of the seventeenth century, who carried off a lady named Ortensia from the home of a nobleman of high rank. Two assassins who were hired to kill him followed them to Rome. Entering a church where an oratorio of his was being performed, they were so moved by the music that they warned Stradella of his danger and allowed him to escape.

For the Children.

When children are weak, sickly, don't eat or sleep well, Angier's Petroleum Emulsion after meals and at bedtime makes them strong, healthy and robust. Made of Petroleum, rendered tasteless and odourless, and combined with glycerine and hypophosphites. Pleasant to take and agrees with the stomach. 4a

Snakes.

Mr. Rolker in McClure's robs us of some misconceptions as to snakes. When a snake is decapitated it is dead. The tail will remain sensitive for some hours without reference to sundown. The rattlesnake does not suicide by biting itself. No snake is susceptible to the poison of its own kind. That the black snake will swallow its young in time of danger is true, and they are then digested, making the mother a cannibal of the worst sort.

Hopes.

Tess—It was Dr. Killiam who attended the late Mr. Oldgold, wasn't it?

Jess—Yes. He was called in only a few days before the old gentleman died. Why do you ask?

Tess—Old Mr. Roxley was taken slightly ill yesterday and his young wife sent for Dr. Killiam at once.

Did the Best She Could.

Mrs. Uppmann—I must tell you, Delia, that I was displeased at your entertaining that policeman in the kitchen last night.

Delia—Faith, O! did ax him into the parlor, ma'am, but he wouldn't go.

Framing an Excuse.

Little Boy—Please, Mrs. Grumpy, mother wants to know if you will lend her your washtub.

Mrs. Grumpy (gruffly)—No, I can't. The hoops are off, the bottom's out and it's full of water.

When You Think

The following despatch has been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, Aug. 27th, 9.45 a.m. — We don't expect to see much change in the market to-day. There has been no important news developments calculated to arouse sentiment one way or the other, and chances favour continued narrow trader's market. Outlook remains practically the same as outlined in our letter last night.—M. & M.

New York, Aug. 27th.—Grain; Armour sold out a line of corn Tuesday and had bought it back again to-day. Corn has been bought principally by the sellers of yesterday and the day before. If we can get a nice warm week after these showers would probably get a break in prices. All markets working on weather changes at present.—Canby.

11.50 a.m.—Brokers report market narrow without nothing doing outside of some room-trading and scalping. Commission House business, light. London doing very little and there is some scattered selling for Western account. Some clique brokers bid up and have been trying to bull A.C.P., but market is dull and narrow. THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT.

LACROSSE.

The Lindsay team is making arrangements to play a game in Oshawa on Labour Day. They evidently consider gate receipts before honour.

• • • •

A meeting is called for Friday evening of the T.A.S. senior lacrosse team at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of making arrangements for the proposed smoker.

• • • •

The Judicial Committee of the C. L.A. will meet at the Palmer House, Toronto, to-morrow. One subject under consideration will be the default of Oshawa II to T.A.S. At the same time it would be in order to consider the default of Lindsay to Athletics.

• • • •

The season's record of the Athletic lacrosse team is remarkable enough to amply justify the name Athletic—it is certainly an able-bodied organization. It's record compels admiration of its opponents—in the sporting sense. The Lindsay Post says:—"Out of six games played this season, the Athletics of Peterborough have not had a single defeat. They have won all games by large scores, which is a remarkable record."

• • • •

The Ottawa Citizen refers jocularly to the respective positions of the Toronto and Tecumseh's position in the lacrosse world as follows:

"The Tecumsehs and Torontos have each lost just twice as many games as they have won in their respective leagues In a few days both of these great teams will come together in another soul stirring game for the whole and entire championship of Hanlan's Island. Needless to say the intense enthusiasm and excitement of the thousands that attend this heart breaking contest, will be reflected throughout Canada. The betting in this part of the country is somewhat light but as the great day approaches no doubt the betting fraternity will be quoting prices in the pool rooms."

TURF.

The long looked for time has arrived, and a mile has been trotted in 2 minutes. Lou Dillon did the trick at Readville, Mass., on Monday. A despatch to the Montreal Star describes the race, the last quarter of which is pictured as follows:—

"On she came. Faster and faster, each swing of her powerful legs bearing down the distance from pole to pole. The chestnut champion was forging to victory. Tanner was smashing the foam-fleck sides of the runner and urging her on. Yards away—it seemed miles—the copper wire stretched over the track. Sanders was driving now in earnest. He knew it meant victory, and he knew that his mare would have to move faster than ever trotter did before. He raised his whip and flicked it over the mare's flanks.

"There was yet more speed in that little body, and out it came. Never relaxing for an instant the long machine-like sweep of her limbs, she tossed her white-booted hoofs faster and faster. A hundred yards more. The reins hung loose in Sanders' hands. Nostrils red as fire, the whites of her eyes showing wildly, the gallant little chestnut came straight and true for the wire. On, on she came, each step seeming faster than the one before. Twenty yards, and then with a mighty effort Sanders seemed to rise in his seat. Gripping the loops, he appeared to literally lift the mare forward, and she plunged across the wire.

"The crowd went wild after the announcement of the time, and poured on to the field to examine the wonderful animal that had reached the long coveted 'two flat.'"

A FATAL EPIDEMIC.

Brings the Festive Straw Hat to an end.

Barrie, the Hatter, Undertakes its Interement.

Fashions and fabrics come and go, rise and fall, live and die. A fatal epidemic has attacked the straw hat, and the straw hat is dead—for 1903. It is natural that this should be the case. As the sun climbs to its height in June and July, the straw hat begins to bloom, but in August when the dog star rages and merges into the mild September, the straw hat, becomes, so to speak, shaky on its pins, droops and dies We cannot expect the straw hat to enjoy a long life—it's a light-weight anyway — never had much much constitution, and chilling winds and cold nights are fatal to it, it loses its complexion, and begins its fatal ending by going off its head. Though the straw hats are well banded together combinations cannot save them. There are, however, individual straw hats that have a tougher existence, and last well into the autumn of hat life. The possession of money by the wearer seems to exercise a fatal influence upon the straw hat. It has been noticed that the straw hat fades and dies from the head that is carried above the fullest pocket, while it struggles on and survives in picturesque decay upon the head that owns but a scant purse. It has also been noticed that straw hats have a sense of gallantry. Long after they drop the masculine head they devotedly cling to the female head-piece, for we see even in the depth of winter, straw hats nestling lovingly on the lovely heads of lovely ladies. John Grumphy, a tough old bachelor accounts for this by the doctrine of affinity. He says that the lightness of the exterior of the female head naturally corresponds to the interior. But then Grumphy doesn't wear a straw hat—it is too thin for his head. He has no hair, and the ladies remark in a little spiteful way that Gumphry's baldness is a case of poetic justice. He would not get married, therefore nature in a revengeful mood, substituted the natural process, for the orthodox connubial way of snatching a man baldheaded.

Anyway the straw hat is doomed and dead, it's grave has been dug, and the grass waves above its tomb in the beautiful and unique cemetery Mr. Thos. Barrie, the hatter, has laid out in his south show window. It is a fine imitation of a cemetery, but to be appreciated it must be seen. Be sure to go and see it, and as you gaze reverently remove your hat in the presence of death, and then step inside, and Barrie will show you something new in the shape of fall hats—which is the object of the telling mortuary display referred to.

Robbery at Kirkfield.

On Friday morning of last week, when Mr. Adams, G.T.R. station agent at Kirkfield, entered the office, he was somewhat surprised to find things mussed up a bit—a good indication that the premises had been visited by thieves during the night. A hasty examination disclosed that the visitors had entered by the window, and the disappearance of $10 in bills and some small silver made plain the object of their visit. Mr. Adams' suspicion fell upon two tramps who had been seen loitering about the station the previous evening, and on calling up the other agents along the line, he got trace of the men at Cannington and ordered their arrest. One of the fellows escaped, but his companion, named Westlick, was brought to town yesterday by Constable A. Hyfield, and handed over to Gaoler Jackson. The missing tramp has since been located at Stouffville.—Lindsay Post.

A GENERAL FIGHT.

Annual Repetition of the Nova Scotian Excursionists in the Amateur on of Alarming North shore Settlers.

Port Arthur, Aug. 28.—From what can be learned of the row which took place at Chapleau between the farm laboret excursionists and the town constables, it appears that several participants were more or less injured.

A general fight followed the efforts of the constables to prevent the looting of stores by the harvesters from the Maritime Provinces. The harvesters drew knives and revolvers in an effort to escape arrest, and succeeded in beating off the constables. One constable was seriously injured by being struck with a bottle, and another received a slash from a knife. One harvester got a scalp wound from a flying bottle.

For the past three years the people along the north shore have been compelled to protect their lives and their stores with firearms from the attack of excursionists from Nova Scotia.

It has become a generally accepted fact that when the Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's church undertake any enterprise they invariably carry it to a successful issue, and this was amply evidenced last night in the pleasing banquet which the members of the Guild tendered to the baseball and tug-of-war teams which represented the Guild this season, each of which won every contest in which they participated. That the Guild appreciated the honour which their prowess in the field of sport brought to the Society was manifested by the hearty expression of it embodied in the action in tendering them a banquet.

The pleasing affair was held in the lecture room connected with St. Andrew's church, the interior of which was very tastily arranged, and the long tables decorated with flowers profusely lent an added beauty to the occasion. The ladies to whom credit is due and cheerfully accorded, for the decorations and other arrangements necessary to the success of the evening, are:—Mesdames W. Campbell, Peter Kerr and H. Waddell, and the young ladies of Mrs. Waddell's class—Misses W. Macfarlane, Aggie VanEvery, Lena Richardson, Ella Thexton, H. Reid, Amy Meharry, Maggie Alexander, Lucy Anderson, Florence Miller, E. Martin, Lizzie Allen and L. Curry.

The souvenir invitation programmes were genuine marks of art. They were in the form of four page booklets, the cover of a delicate gray shade with silver lettering, and the crest of the Guild emblazoned on the front. Baby ribbon, purple and white (the Guild colours) was daintily tied in a knot in each programme, the whole making a very appropriate and artistic combination.

The toastmaster's seat was occupied by Mr. R. H. Edmison, and it is but a mild compliment to say that he ably fulfilled the duties devolving upon him in the office. At his right was seated Rev. J. G. Potter, the Hon. President, while Mr. G. G. Prattley, the representative from St. Luke's Guild occupied the chair at his left. The vice-chair was taken by Mr. W. S. Campbell, with Mr. W. Dredge representing George street, at his right and Mr. A. Lang, of St. Paul's Guild on the left. The banquet even from the culinary point of view was a surprise to the majority of those present. A very delicious repast was served by the ladies, the bill of fare including almost every dainty known, which was done ample justice to. Miss VanEvery and Mrs. P. Kerr rendered highly enjoyable piano selections during the progress of the banquet. Those who surrounded the festive board in addition to those already made mention of were:—Messrs. L. Thornton, MacFarlane, P. Kerr, J. Cox, Rev. Mr. Rose, S. Cowan, R. Waddell, E. W. Henderson, J. Gerrard, B. Jackson, G. Scott, J. Rose, F. Sollitt, Geo. Bathgate, C. Waite, J. Saunders, Jos. Wright, H. Elliott, W. Pearce, S. S. Moore, M. J. Hutchinson, J. Maid, C. Kelly, E. Reid, D. Potter, Jno. Gerrard, G. Evans, W. Kennedy, W. Mellis, W. Foster, C. E. Anderson, H. Wilkie, J. Macdonald, L. Patterson, W. Richardson, M. Miller, R. Elliott, S. Ferguson, R. M. Glover, G. Lillico, Wade, A. Chambers, Sneddey, B. C. Waite and J. Spaulding, the latter of Galt.

After the bill of fare had been discussed, the chairman, Mr. Edmison, expressed his pleasure, and that of the Guild at the number who had honoured the Guild with their presence. He was particularly well satisfied with the circumstance which had been the inspiration of the gathering, that of the success of the baseball and tug-of-war teams in their contests during the past season, and he hoped that the work of the Guild during the winter would continue to be along the same line, as far as its results were concerned as that of the summer. The prospects are, he said, that the coming winter would be the most satisfactory in the history of the Guild. After making a clever little speech along the lines suggested, Mr. Edmison proposed the first toast, that to the King, which was enthusiastically responded to in the usual manner, all singing heartily, "God Save the King." One very pleasing feature which was a noticeable characteristic of the gathering, was the well developed oratorical ability displayed by the great majority of the speakers, many of whose speeches were entirely impromptu, a pleasing degree of ability was displayed by the speakers, which, is in itself a tribute to the work of the Guild in bringing out the undeveloped talent along this line, which many of the young men possess. The second toast, that to the Baseball Team, was proposed by Mr. W. S. Campbell, who showed in his speech an aptitude for speaking on his subject. He made a humorous speech, with frequent jocular references to the acrobatic performances of the members of the ball team when in a game. He desired to make special mention of the work of Manager Elliott, as he thought a great deal of the credit for the success of the team was due him for efficiency which had characterized the management of the team. He had filled his position with dignity and was the pride of not only the ball team, but the Guild, each member of which has only best wishes for the successful ball team. Looking to the future he hoped that he would always look through the glass which the great leader, Nelson, did, when he never could see defeat. In responding, Mr. Elliott said, he considered it a great honour to be called upon to respond to the toast. He congratulated the proposer on having made a brilliant speech. Speaking of the ball team he said that he felt that every member of it had enjoyed the work of the session and felt that while they had the honour of saying they had never suffered defeat, they did not consider themselves entitled to any such demonstration as was being accorded them by their participation in this magnificent banquet. He wished to express, on their behalf, their appreciation of the honour shown them by their fellow Guildsmen. He also paid a tribute to the ladies, saying that perhaps one of the chief causes for the team's success was because of the fact that they realized that the ladies were taking an interest in their endeavours to bring victory to St. Andrew's colours. He thanked the members of the Guild for every way in which they had shown their interest in them, and particularly for the banquet which had been provided in their joint honour.

The toast of the Tug-of-war Team, was, in the absence of Mr. T. G. Anderson, proposed by Mr. Gilbert Scott, who also made an intensely humorous speech, reaching a climax by issuing a challenge to Captain Sollitt's tug-of-war team, on behalf of the inmates of the House of Providence.

Mr. F. Sollitt responded, saying that he felt rather embarrassed to be called upon to reply to the many complimentary references which had been made to the team of which he had the honour of being captain. They appreciated this mark of interest in the team on the part of the Guild, and felt grateful to the Guild for the pleasure of being numbered among the honoured guests of the evening. He disclaimed any personal credit for the success of the team saying that he had but developed the latent talent already existing in the members comprising his team. He suggested that the idea of having the Guild represented in sports, be continued during the winter season, and hoped that hockey and basketball teams would be formed. He referred with regret to the fact that he expected to lose one of the valuable members of his team, Mr. Jos. Wright, and paid a warm tribute to his value to the team. At the conclusion of his pleasing speech, "Wright — Wright," was the cry and in response to the demand, Mr. Wright made a speech, which constituted perhaps the most highly appreciated tribute to the value of the Guilds to the young men of the town. Mr. Wright referred to his advent among the young people of the town, a stranger, and through the medium of the Guild he had become associated with desirable acquaintances, and thanked the members of the society for the pleasures which they had made incident to his stay here.

Miss Florence Miller in her delightful voice sang a solo, which those present showed unmistakeably their appreciation of. Mrs. P. Kerr accompanied her.

"Other teams in the League," was the subject of the toast proposed by Mr. P. Kerr, who said it was a pleasure to have the honour of proposing this toast. He said he believed that while the teams had met in friendly combat, the best of feeling had prevailed, and they were pleased with the treatment received from the other teams in the League.

To this Mr. G. G. Pratley, in the absence of Mr. Turner, responded for St. Luke's Guild. He esteemed it an honour of no mean degree to be called upon to speak to this toast, and could on behalf of St. Luke's extend their heartiest congratulations on the success of the Guild and its athletic organizations. He represented the oldest Guild in town, and thanked his hosts for the pleasure of which he had been the recipient.

Mr. Walter Dredge spoke for the George street Guild, and in opening said he felt incompetent to grapple with the subject, even as the team he represented had been themselves incapable of defeating the winning St. Andrew's. He also wished to express his gratification at the spirit of harmony which had existed between the different teams in the League, and while during this season George street had not made a very creditable showing, he felt satisfied that next year the team he represented would present a more formidable front to the enemy.

Mr. Sorsoleil, who was to have responded on behalf of Charlotte street, street, was called out of town and was unable to be present.

St. Paul's was represented by Mr. A. Lang, who congratulated the victorious team on their success, and said that they deserved it. St. Paul's was perfectly satisfied with the result and would cheerfully accord the winners the honour due them. He thanked his hosts for the pleasure of being present.

This was followed by a solo rendered by Mr. Jas. Spaulding of Galt, who was in town as the guest of Mr. R. H. Elliott. Mr. Spaulding's selection was "Mary of Argyle," and was given in a very pleasing baritone voice to the great satisfaction of his hearers.

Mr. C. E. Anderson, in proposing the toast to "Rev. J. G. Potter's anniversary" took occasion to say that he considered it a very opportune time to tender the present banquet, held, as it was under the auspices of the Young Men's Guild, an organization for the institution of which Mr. Potter was responsible. The Guild was glad to participate in the celebration of the seventh anniversary of Mr. Potter's induction as pastor of St. Andrew's church, and the Guild would always be grateful to him for the assistance he had rendered them not only at the inception of the society, but also during the entire time since that event. Many times have the Guild members had occasion to remember Mr. Potter for valuable service rendered them, and he had

AN ENEMY TESTIFIES.

The Kingston News contains the following:

"A gentleman called at this office from a manufacturing centre and reported that in all lines of industry orders were ahead of production. In some cases solicitors for orders had to be recalled. This condition would seem to indicate the enlargement of existing factories or the establishment of new ones. And as a location for the latter we beg leave to intimate that there is no place better than Kingston."

The News is a staunch Conservative newspaper and very properly upholds its side energetically, but in a moment of candour, it blurts out the above bit of truthful testimony to the abundant prosperity Canada is enjoying under Liberal rule. No doubt the News if it turned back to its files of a few years ago, would find many paragraphs strongly contrasting with that quoted — paragraphs depicting in ultramarine blue tints the doleful ruin that would overtake the country under the Liberal party which substituted a rational policy for the so-called "national" policy.

OUR NORTH-WEST RESOURCES.

In speaking upon the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, Hon Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, among other things spoke to the following effect showing the wonderful resources of our great Northwest and the necessity of a new transcontinental line to permit of the prompter and consequently more profitable marketing of our products:—

Hon. Sydney Fisher was the next speaker. It was proper he said, that the Grand Trunk should get an entry to the North-west, for if they did not through Canadian territory they would enter through American channels—(hear, hear)—and that would carry trade to the United States. The area under crop in the North-west had increased from 1,421,000 acres to 3,000,000 acres, of which 1,010,000 acres were in wheat in 1891, and 2,495,000 acres in 1901. The live stock increased as follows: Horses, 147,700 to 395,000; milch cows, 120,000 to 228,000; other beef cattle, 343,000 to 637,000. Since 1901, 48,858 homestead entries has been made, and 158,658 settlers had entered. Based upon these figures, he estimated that by 1906 there would be 170,000 souls in Manitoba and the North-west, and 1,638,000 by 1911. If the growth of the North-west, however, continued these figures would fall far short, just as an estimate of the trade of Canada, made in 1896, based on the previous years, would have fallen $122,000,000 short in respect to the years since 1896. He estimated that while there were 63,310,000 bushels of wheat produced there in 1901, in 1906 there would be 70,300,000 bushels, and in 1911, 117,800,000 bushels. It would be 1908 before the railway was built, and probably 1911 before it was in good running shape. By that time he anticipated, in addition 18,824,000 bushels of barley and 81,400,000 bushels of oats, besides 1,240,000 horses, 1,925,000 milch cows, and 2,500,000 beef cattle. Of these 100,000,000 bushels of wheat would be available for export, 4,000,000 bushels of oats, and 250,000 head of cattle. This meant 165,000 carloads, or fifteen trains per day of thirty cars each day in the year, compared with an average of four trains of thirty cars daily during the last three years.

In 1900 there were shipped from there of grain, flour, and animal products 3,579,000 tons by water and 4,347,000 tons by all-rail; in 1901, 2,276,000 tons by water and 4,600,000 tons by rail; in 1902, 1,867,000 tons by water and 3,342,000 tons by rail. The total during the three years was 7,720,000 tons by water and 12,298,000 tons by rail, or a great advantage in favour of the all-rail route.

THE OPPOSITION POLICY.

Fredericton, N. B., Herald.

The speech of Mr. Borden, the Opposition leader in Parliament, on the Government's railway policy, was in many respects an echo of Mr. Blair's deliverance on the same subject, although, of course, several degrees below the ex-Minister's in merit and eloquence.

Like Mr. Blair, the Opposition leader pronounced in favour of Intercolonial railway extension, although Mr. Borden and his friends opposed with all their might the extension of the Government road to Montreal. Now, however, Mr. Borden wants the dIntercolonial constructed to Georgian Bay, running rights for it and other lines over the C.P.R,. from North Bay to Fort William, Government aid for the Grand Trunk project from Winnipeg to Edmonton, and a common line thence to the coast.

This is a composite scheme which is in some respects opposed to the ideas of Mr. Blair, who for instance ridiculed the idea that several railway corporations could run their trains over the same line.

Mr. Borden does not pronounce himself as against the proposed eastern section of the Grand Trunk Pacific, evidently fearing to take that position, in view of the favourable attitude of Nova Scotia to the construction of that portion of the line. With the beautiful indefiniteness that marks his tariff policy of "adequate protection," he says, "Get the best possible line through Canadian territory to St. John and Halifax."

It is remarakble how the Opposition idea has changed since the Government policy was announced. Mr. Borden at the present time is evidently a firm believer in Government ownership, but a tew weeks ago his organ, the Halifax Herald, ridiculed that idea. That newspaper said:

"And now what would the country gain in return for this vast annual financial loss? (under Government ownership and operation.) Nothing whatever, so far as can be judged from the "operating" of the Intercolonial. That road is "operated" at an annual loss to the Dominion treasury of about $500,000, yet the part of the country specially served by it enjoys no better rates, and better service is afforded elsewhere by company roads that are making money and paying dividends. The same thing on a larger scale is all that could be looked for under Mr. Blair's 'dream' scheme. It would afford the Minister of Railways a larger field for his 'peculiar methods' of management, but the country has already had more than enough of Mr. Blair's 'peculiar methods' of 'operating' railways."

Mr. Borden's ideas on the railway question are chaotic; he hardly knows what he wants, but he is ready to join Mr. Blair in condemnation of the Government policy, which day by day commends itself more warmly to the people of Canada as the wisest scheme that could be devised in solution of the pressing transportation question.

MR. BORDEN AND HIS FOLLOWERS.

Mr. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition in the House of Commons, has made a grave tactical mistake, which, in the war of parties, will not be compensated for by his courage in proposing an alternative policy. He has presented to his opponents a hundred new points of attack, for nearly every phase of his policy comes into direct antagonism to statements made by his supporters in the House and in the press.

He says the country should own a line north of Lake Superior. The Opposition have steadily denied the proposition.

He says running powers for three or four railways over one line may be arranged for. His supporters have scoffed at the idea.

He is prepared to build a line through Central New Brunswick. The proposition has been characterized by his supporters as one of sheer extravagance.

He would let the G.T.P. have the "fat" territory in the West. The Government has been roundly denounced by his supporters for proposing the same thing.

To put himself and his party in such a position was certainly a grave blunder in tactics. To propose an enormous expenditure of the public money without any resulting development of the public domain was a stupendous blunder in judgment.—Montreal Herald.

"BE A BOOSTER."

"Be a Booster, not a Knocker," is the advice which the Sault Ste.Marie, Mich., Evening News, tenders to the citizens of the twin Soos in a little heart to heart talk with those peoples. Its homily is wise enough and, generally speaking, pertinent enough to warrant its reproduction in these columns. It says in part: "The greatest weakness of the people of both Soos is their extreme timidity whenever confidence in their towns is demanded of them. Among too many of the merchants of both cities it is too easy to start a stampede that is as senseless as it is harmful. There are always ups and downs in the life of a city, as in the life of an individual, but the faith of the business interests of the two Soos should be so firm and abiding that nothing can shake it. If every merchant on both sides of the river started on Monday to talk good times instead of looking about for things to complain about, the effect would be almost magical. Try it on. 'Learn to labour and to boost.'"

The Glow of Health.

When the blood is rich and pure there is a healthful glow to the complexion, which speaks of the vigour and vitality of the system. There is no more certain way for pale, weak people to attain the glow of health than by the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great food cure, which forms new, rich red blood and creates new nerve force.

HE WELCOMES THE NEW GRAND TRUNK.

Leading Conservative of the North West Territory Endorses the Plan.

A despatch from Winnipeg says: John Hawkes, of Cairnduff, Assa., a leading Conservative of the Northwest Territories, writes to the press a strong letter of approval of the Grand Trunk Pacific transcontiental road as a means of relief from the present railway congestion in the Territories. His letter concludes as follows:

"The Grand Trunk Pacific will, in my humble opinion, be a boon to Canada at large and to no part of Canada more than the Territories. As an old resident of the Territories I welcome it as the best and most encouraging event that has ever crossed the horizon of the prairie country, and if I might venture a word of advice to my fellow residents in the territories it is to study the matter on its merits and refuse to allow any mere question of party to influence them when the development and to a large extent the whole future of the Territories, are in the balance, for if we do not get the road what else is there in sight that will do one tithe as much for us as we may reasonably expect from this trunk road!"

SELF-SACRIFICING

Physicians who Have won the Admiration of the World.

The first thing which most men think of when they make a discovery is how it can best be used to their own personal advantage, and consequently they guard their secret by every means available.

How different it was with Dr. Lorenz, the great Austrian surgeon, who has recently surprised the whole world by his wonderful operations in bloodless surgery. Though his secret cost him many years of arduous toil and research, he evidenced his generous nature by demonstrating his method to thousands of physicians when on his recent visit to America, in order that all humanity might be benefitted by his work.

Another example, and one better known to the people of this country, is that of Dr. Chase, the famous author and physician, whose long life has been unselfishly devoted to relieving the sufferings of his fellowbeings.

Whether as a physician in private practice, as collector of the most successful prescriptions known to the profession, as publisher of the world-famous receipt book, or as discoverer of the great family medicines which have made his name familiar in every home, the sole aim of Dr. Chase was to simplify medicine and reduce the cost of treatment, so that every man, woman and child could obtain all the benefit of the secrets known to the medical profession.

It was the use of his great prescriptions in private practice which made Dr. Chase famous, and brought people from all over the United States and Canada to his home in Ann Arbor, Michigan. Then there came an appeal from persons who could not go to him, and he conceived the generous idea of having his great remedies put up in large quantities, and sold at a price only slightly above the cost of manufacture.

Instead of jealously guarding his great secrets for his own personal benefit, he gave them to the public in order that men, women and children everywhere might benefit by the knowledge and skill he had acquired by years of patient and untiring study and research. That the self-denying, self-sacrificing life of Dr. Chase has been appreciated by the people of this continent is best evidenced by the esteem with which his name is spoken in every home.—Exchange.

DISCOVERY OF A NEW COAL FIELD.

A new argument in favour of the National Transcontinental railway is to be found in the discovery announced by Mr. Henry Campbell, Government geologist and surveyor, of a vast new coal field on Peace River, in Athabasca, near Dunvegan, 400 miles northwest of Edmonton.

From Mr. Campbell's report and advices from Edmonton, it appears that this coal district is estimated to contain upwards of 300,000,000 tons of coal, which appears in nine foot seams.

Several months were spent by Mr. Campbell in the Peace River district, surveying the land with the greatest care in order to ascertain the extent of the possible yield in coal and other minerals.

The only difficulty in the way of the development of this magnificent coal area is the absence of the facilities for transportation.

The advent of the new railway now proposed by the Government will remove the one obstacle standing in the way of the Peace River becoming one of the greatest coal mining districts in the world.—Ottawa Free Press.

GOOD OLD ONTARIO.

Ontario is not completely eclipsed by the wealth producing qualities of the west.

The estimated yields of the farms of Ontario, indicate that the various crops harvested this year will have a cash value of not less than $150,000,000.

Ontario is a populous province as population goes in Canada, and there are many hands to share the cash product of the fields under cultivation.

Yet there is a great deal of money to be shared and while everybody rejoices in the fertility of the west and the prosperity of every part of Canada it is satisfactory to know that Ontario is still producing crops at the old stand.—Toronto Telegram.

ORDERED TO BEIRUT

President Roosevelt Issues Commands to Admiral Cotton.

U. S. EUROPEAN SQUADRON.

Will Support Minister Leishman in Demanding Punishment For the Guilty Parties in Killing United States Vice-Consul Magelssen While Riding in a Carriage on Sunday—Express Blown Up.

Oyster Bay, N.Y., Aug. 28.—President Roosevelt last night issued orders that the American European squadron, under command of Rear-Admiral Cotton, should proceed at once to Beirut, Syria, in order to be in readiness to support any demand the United States may make on account of the assassination of Vice-Consul Magelssen.

U.S. Vice-Consul Assassinated Sunday.

Washington, Aug. 28.—The State Department has received a cablegram from United States Minister Leishman at Constantinople announcing that William C. Magelssen, United States Vice-Consul at Beirut, Syria, was assassinated Sunday while riding in a carriage. The American Minister immediately brought the crime to the attention of the Government and demanded action by Turkey.

Acting Secretary Loomis yesterday cabled Minister Leishman instructing him to demand the immediate arrest and punishment of the persons guilty of the murder. No demand for money in behalf of the man's family has yet been made, but that probably will follow.

Magelssen was a native of and was appointed from Minnesota.

U.S. Warships Near.

Admiral Cotton, commanding the United States European squadron, has been cabled by the Navy Department to have his vessels in readiness to move to Beirut, which is on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean Sea, in case the demands of the United States Government upon the Turkish Government are not complied with. The Brooklyn and the San Francisco are at Villafranche and the Machia is at Genoa.

Magelssen, who was a Scandinavian, was appointed Vice-Consul at Beirut September 20, 1899, by Consul Gabriel Bieravudal, who is of the same nationality. At the time of his appointment as Vice-Consul he was a Consular clerk in Turkey. He was born at Bratsburg, Filmore County, Minn.

The American Government will insist that the local authorities be punished if they were derelict in their duty, and that full measure of punishment be given the actual perpetrators of the outrage.

Beirut is a city on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean Sea, and is a place of considerable commercial importance.

Porte Discredits Report.

Acting Secretary Loomis received a remarkable cablegram from Minister Leishman last night, in which the latter stated that he had called at the Turkish office at Constantinople this evening, and the Minister of Foreign Affairs emphatically denied knowledge of the assassination. He also attempted to discredit it.

Express Blown Up.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 28. —The eastbound daily express from Budapest to Constantinople was blown up near Kuleli Burgas, about 25 miles south of Adrianople, early yesterday morning. Seven persons were killed, and 15 were injured. Dynamite bombs were used. Every car was smashed. Apparently the outrage was the work of revolutionists who traveled on the train.

Charged With Outrages.

Constantinople, Aug. 28.—Forty Turkish officers have been ordered to return to Constantinople to answer for the outrages committed at Krushevo.

Ferdinand Doomed.

Vienna, Aug. 28.—It is reported from Sofia that the police have discovered a tunnel leading under the Konak of Prince Ferdinand. It is thirty yards long, and it is believed was constructed with the intention of blowing up the palace.

Salmon Industry Threatened.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 28.—At a meeting of the Fraser River Canners' Association a resolution was ordered to be sent to Hon. R. Prefontaine, Minister of Fisheries, asking for prohibition of all fishing on the Fraser River from Aug. 29 to Sept. 16 inclusive, in order that the balance of the sockeyes remaining outside may be enabled to reach the spawning grounds. Telegrams have been sent to British Columbia members requesting their support of the resolution.

King Peter's Troubles.

London, Aug. 28.—The Daily Mail correspondent at Belgrade says King Peter is determined to suppress the military malcontents with an iron hand. On Tuesday three army colonels, two captains and a newspaper editor were condemned to death for participating in a plot which was discovered and rendered abortive. Despite this, however, says the correspondent, the King is obviously in the hands of the recent regicides, who are causing a veritable reign of terror.

WIND THAT FAILED.

Shamrock III. Astern from the Start of Thursday's Race.

BOAT WAS BADLY HANDLED.

Capt. Wringe Evidently Believes in Cycles For He Repeated His Error of Tuesday—Reliance Proves Herself a Wonder in Light Airs—Rounded Outer Mark 12m., 30s. Ahead of Challenger.

New York, Aug. 28.—With Reliance less than third of a mile from the finish and Shamrock III. fully two miles astern of the defender, the fourth race for the America's Cup, yesterday was declared off because of the expiration of the time limit of five and one-half hours.

The Reliance beat the Shamrock hopelessly in the fifteen miles of windward work, rounding the outer mark 12 minutes and 30 seconds ahead of her, a gain in actual time of 11 minutes and 29 seconds, and down the wind she steadily increased her lead. The real race of the day was not against Shamrock, but with the exciting struggle of Reliance in the last half hour to reach the finish line before the Regatta Committee fired the gun which should announce the expiration of the time limit. Had the wind freshened 20 minutes earlier than it did the cup series would have ended yesterday with three straight wins for the defender.

Shamrock Badly Handled.

Fully as discouraging as the sailing qualities displayed by the challenger was the manner in which she was handled. The Reliance skipper again not only out manoeuvred his rival in the battle for position at the start, but worse still for the supporters of Shamrock III., Capt. Wringe repeated his blunder of Tuesday. He crossed the line 51 seconds behind Reliance. Both boats, it is true, went over after the smoke of the handicap gun, but where both are handicapped, it is only the sternmost craft which actually suffers.

It was not a pleasant day on the water, and the observation fleet, which put out to sea to witness the race was hardly more than half as large as on the precedingdays. The course was laid fifteen miles dead into the wind and return from Sandy Hook lightship.

At the end of the first hour Shamrock was beaten, and the interest waned.

The Reliance was a good bit up to windward after the start, while Shamrock III. tried to make up first by footing faster. At the next tack, 25 minutes after the start, Shamrock had lost ground, and as they lay about the same course was a quarter of a mile astern of the American craft. Reliance steadily gained on each tack thereafter, Barr declining all invitations to split tacks, as he had Shamrock beaten. At the turn Shamrock was a mile astern.

After rounding the mark for the run home, and setting big ballooners, the wind, which had strengthened to six or seven knots on the beat, died down, and the towering clouds of canvas drifted lazily down an ocean lane, a mile wide, between the two divisions of the excursion fleet. Even in the light air it was astonishing how the defender slipped along. The gap between her and the challenger steadily widened until two miles separated them. Half an hour from home, when the spectators had abandoned any idea that the finish line could be reached in time, the wind suddenly freshened and Reliance came bowling down at a merry clip. But the wind had come too late. Summary.

	Start.	Turn.	Finish.
Reliance	11.02	1.53.10	4.38.45
Shamrock .. .	11.02	2.07.40

ONTARIO RIFLEMEN.

Crews of Guelph Won the Most Exciting Event the Gold Medal of the City of Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—There was a marked improvement in the shooting yesterday at Long Branch on the second day of the O.R.A. meet. The weather conditions were much the same as on the first day, being cool and cloudy, with a steady wind blowing from the east and slightly to the rear of the marksmen. The wind bothered a number of the less experienced men, but there was a nice soft light, and the day was considered most favorable for good scoring.

Mitchell's Great Shooting.

A number of good scores were made in the extra series. Staff-Sergeant Bayles of the Grenadiers made a possible at 600 yards—five bull's eyes—and followed them up with three equally as good in shooting off the tie. Capt. Tom Mitchell made a full score in the Austen match at 200 yards, and Orderly Sergeant Phillips did the same at 500 yards in the rapid firing extra series. The 48th Highlanders were especially proud of winning first place in the Toronto match with Private Smith, and the Cornwall and York contest with Private Elliott. The Mulock, Tait-Massey and Grzewski matches will be concluded to-day.

The Macdonald Match.

Probably the most interesting contest of the day took place in the Macdonald Match, named after the late Judge Macdonald of Guelph, an ex-president of the association. The conditions called for seven shots at a target which remained exposed but 1½ minutes and the contestants were not permitted to use magazines. Staff-Sergt. Richardson of Vancouver was highly congratulated on making a possible at this range, 500 yards, and the good scoring was further shown by the four ties at 33 for second place, each of the city regiments having a representative with this mark, and the four prizes after the first were equally divided among them. There were sixty-five prizes in all in this competition, representing a total of $269, including fifteen for tyros, and the lowest score was 25.

The Osler Match.

The Osler Match was also shot off yesterday morning and resulted in a tie for first place between Col. Sylvester, the successor of the doughty Sam. Hughes in command of the 45th Regiment, and Private Weston of the 13th of Hamilton. This competition is named after President E. B. Osler, M.P., who presented $100 to the purse, which amounts to $258, divided into sixty-five prizes. It is open to active members of the militia, retired officers and men of twelve years standing, and is shot in uniform. The conditions prevented the use of any aids to sight, excepting clear glass spectacles, and the scores were considered very good under the circumstances. After the first two scores of 34, there were six men tied at 33, and eighteen followed with 32 each. Twenty-three scores of 29 were counted out.

Toronto City Match.

The second stage of the City of Toronto match developed a very close and exciting contest. Out of the 50 men left in the competition from yesterday, three tied for first place, and it was necessary to shoot off for the gold medal presented by the city, which finally went to Staff-Sergeant Charles R. Crowe of the 30th Regiment, Guelph. Private J. S. Smith of the 48th Highlanders won first place in the match, Sergeant-Major Huggins of Hamilton second, and Sergeant Crowe third, but these positions were reversed in the contest for the medal.

Cornwall and York Match.

The afternoon was chiefly taken up with the Duke of Cornwall and York match, named in commemoration of the visit of the Duke and Duchess, now the Prince and Princess of Wales, in October, 1901. The first prize of $25, and a silver medallion of Their Royal Highnesses was won by Pte. W. A. Elliott of the 48th Highlanders, with a score of 68 out of 70, he having made a possible at the 800 yards range. The second prize, $20, with a similar medallion in bronze, was captured by Staff-Sergeant Crowe of Guelph. Other prize winners were: Pte. J. Drysdale, 3rd V.R., 67, $15; Capt. W. Brown, 12th, 66, $10; W. H. Forrest, B.C.R.A., 65, $10.

Manitoba Team For Ottawa.

Manitoba's rifle team for Ottawa comprises the following: Capt. Wynne, Capt. C. W. Mitchell, Sergeant-Major Morley, Col.-Sergeant Youhill, Col.-Sergt. Simpson, Col.-Sergt. Tinney, Pte. H. Sturgeon, Pte. Fleming (Brandon), Sergeant Doherty, Pte. Durrand. They leave to-day.

STRUCK ENGINEER FROM BEHIND.

Overtaken on Railway Velocipede by Fast Express.

Windsor, Aug. 27.—Seated on a railway velocipede and with certain death rushing upon him from behind, James Hendry, a Canadian Pacific Railway engineer, was unable to get off the machine in time to avert being struck by the fast C.P.R. express in the yard of the company here at 3.20 yesterday morning. Electricity at Nichols Hospital.

Wednesday night for the first time the full equipment of electric lights was turned on at the Nicholls Hospital, and the result was one satisfactory both from the view point of the hospital management and those who installed the system. There are 125 lights in the building, all of which were lighted Wednesday night. A large reflector will be placed in the operating room which will greatly facilitate the work of the faculty. The illumination was witnessed by the Trustees of the Hospital and the electrical contractors, Messrs. Alexander & Miller.

Mr. LeGros Heard From.

A letter from Mr. Charlie LeGros, who was enjoying himself at Banff and the Rockies on his way back to Peterborough from a business trip through to British Columbia, states that he may be expected home on Saturday or Sunday. Mr. LeGros describes his trip in very glowing terms, never having met with such successful sales for his imported Havanas, as he has done on this occasion, although he has travelled across the continent a dozen times. He declares that he never found business so good, money so plentiful, and business men so hopeful. Charlie did a great stroke of business.

Concert in Bobcaygeon.

The concert given by the Killin-Keough Concert Company, under the auspices of the Ladies' Methodist Aid Society, Tuesday night was a musical treat and pronounced by many as the best for years. Madam Killin-Keough sang beautifully. The scenery was well arranged and the taut ensemble was excellent. Mrs. Keough's appearance as Marguerite, was extremely interesting and she sang delightfully, and was assisted by an able accompanist, Miss Brown. Mr. Keough is a very deep bass singer, his solos were difficult and classical. Their duets were listened to with great attention and received loud applause. The attendance was fairly good, and the receipts amounted to over $35 Mrs. Cheetham's piano greatly added to the success of the evening.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

THE COLDSTREAM'S BAND TO VISIT PETERBOROUGH.

Through Efforts of the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Fair.

A Rare Musical Treat on September 23rd, the Second day of the Industrial Fair.

As a result of a suggestion made by the Examiner a few days ago, it is now announced that the Coldstream Guards Band has been engaged through the energetic efforts of President Hughes-Charles, and the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, to play in Peterborough on September 23rd.

This will be a great attraction in itself and will be instrumental in attracting a very large number of outsiders, who will take the opportunity which Peterborough has provided of being able to hear what is acknowledged to be the best military band in the British service. It is recognized as being superior to the band of the Royal Grenadiers, which caused such a furore in Boston some years ago.

The music loving public of this district will be more than grateful to the directors of the Exhibition for securing such a musical attraction. Peterborough is certainly behind in musical circles, the want of an opera house being probably the chief cause. It is felt however that Peterborough is not behind this time, thanks to the few individuals who succeeded in engaging the touring military band, whose action, it is scarcely necessary to remark, will be very highly appreciated.

HONOUR BESTOWED ON PETERBOROUGH'S SON.

Sketch of Rev. T. J. Edmison B. A. B. D who has Been Elected President of Bay of Quinte Conferences.

The Christian Guardian, in this week's issue, publishes a half-tone cut of Rev. T. J. Edmison, B.A., B.D., president of the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference, with the following biographical sketch:—

Rev. T. J. Edmison, B.A., B. D., was born near Peterborough, Ont., in 1845. His mother was one of the first Methodists who settled in that section, where she lived from 1818 until August 8, 1894, when she fell asleep in Jesus on her son's 49th birthday. Mr. Edmison's conversion to God took place on October 21, 1862, when Dr. John Carroll was pastor of the George street church, Peterborough, during special services conducted by the now sainted Mitchell Neville, of Newbury. After teaching school for four years he entered the ministry in 1868. In 1871 he was sent to Victoria College, of which he is a graduate in Arts and Divinity. He has been district secretary, financial secretary, and secretary of the Bay of Quinte conference in 1895, also secretary of Board of Examiners of Bay of Quinte Conference since 1889, chairman of Belleville District two years and of Bowmanville District three years. He also represented his conference on General Board of Missions in 1894, and was a member of General Conference of 1902. Bro. Edmison has travelled the following fields: Apsley, Oakwood, Omemee, Grafton, Baltimore, Campbellford, Plainville, Fenelon Falls, Milford, Rednersville, Colborne, Belleville West, Wellington, Lakefield, Newcastle, and is this year stationed at Brighton.".

AN ABUNDANT YIELD.

Potatoes Grown by Mr. Mongraw Produce Half Peck to Hill.

Of all the phenomenal reports of grain yields, fish catches and abnormal size vegetables, perhaps the most remarkable is that reported to the Examiner this morning by Mr. Jas. Mongraw, the Simcoe street barber. Mr. Mongraw has a small farm of about six acres in Otonabee, and this spring he planted a new variety of potatoes, secured from Messrs. E. F. Mason & Co. The variety is known as the Aristooke, and is a late maturer. Mr. Mongraw showed the Examiner this morning what he asserted is the product of one hill, consisting of seven monster potatoes, the total weight of which was 6 3-4 lbs., and measuring about 1-2 peck. The remarkable feature about it is that not a small tuber was found in the hill. The potatoes had not yet attained their full growth, consequently the average yield will be somewhat larger, than that of the one hill dug prematurely. The soil in which they were grown was not particularly adapted to potatoe culture ,and it is impossible to estimate the yield in soil well suited to them. More than 60 persons yesterday visited Mr. Mongraw's shop to see the phenomenal yield.

SOCIAL AT MARK STREET.

Enjoyable Evening Spent at Parsonage Last Night.

The Mark street lawn social, held at the parsonage last evening proved a great attraction. The lawn itself was very attractive, beautifully illuminated by electric lights and tastily arranged with well furnished tables. The sale counter under the management of Mr. Matchett and Mr. Crowe was well patronized. The attendance exceeded all expectation, the large lawn being well filled. All seemed agreed that they had had a most enjoyable evening. Mr. Soucee's zonophone added very much to the pleasure of the evening, while the choir, under the efficient leadership of Mr. Miller, rendered in a most pleasing style several selections. After listening to Mr. Miller's cornet solos it was thought it would be a great loss if he should discontinue using the cornet. Nearly $25 was realized with the low admission fee of ten cents.—Com.

MARK SANDERSON, SCOTTISH CURLER,

Returns to Canada to Renew Friendships Formed During the Winter Trip.

The following item from the Globe will interest Peterborough curlers. Mr. Mark Sanderson was a member of the Scotch curling team which visited here last winter and is pleasantly remembered by the many curlers who met him on that occasion. His memory will be kept green by many without the use of the means adopted by many to keep his memory warm, that is to say, consulting Mr. Sanderson's business card on the outside of the contents of his celebrated brew.

Among the most prominent of the Scottish curlers who visited Winnipeg for last Winter's bonspiel was Mr. Mark Sanderson, a member of the firm of Robertson, Sanderson & Co., Limited, distillers, of Leith and Liverpool. Mr. Sanderson was so well pleased with the treatment accorded him during his first trip that he decided to make another journey here, and for the past few or five weeks he has enjoyed Canada's summer sunshine almost as much as he did her keen ice of the winter curling months. Mr. Sanderson has made the western trip as far west as Banff, partly on business and partly on pleasure, and he returns east to the land of the heather enthused with ideas of the great Dominion. Mr. Sanderson, who has been royally entertained by friends whom he met during his winter visit, left last night by the Limited for the east, and will proceed home by easy stages. He says the Scottish curlers who visited Canada will never forget the many kindnesses showered upon them during their trip. The pretty souvenirs presented them by the Manitoba curlers were especially prized, and the round of pleasure experienced in Canada was continued for several weeks after the return to Scotland, as many of the curling clubs had postponed their annual dinners until after they had reached home, all anxious to hear what the tourists had to say about their Canadian trip. Mr. Sanderson says one direct result of the tour is greatly increased interest in Canada in all parts of Scotland. Rev. Dr. Kerr, captain of the curlers on their Canadian tour, is preparing a volume on the Canadian trip, the early publication of which is looked forward to with much keenness by the Scottish clubs. Secretary Robertson, Mr. W. H. Bourke, Mr. Alex Black, and other prominent city curlers, gave Mr. Sanderson a hearty send-off at the C. P. R. depot last night.

PRESENTATION TO THE CHOIRMASTER.

Mr. H. Wildgust Made Recipient of Gold Locket and Address.

St. Paul's Choir Expresses Appreciation of Organist's Services—A Pleasant Evening in Church Parlors.

Mr. H. Wildgust, who for some little time has very efficiently filled the office of organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's church, was last night, upon the eve of leaving town made the recipient of an address and a handsome gold locket with his monogram and an inscription engraved upon it as a slight mark of appreciation for the services rendered the choir and church. The gathering at which the presentation was made was held in the parlors of St. Paul's church. The members of the choir were present with a few of the church officials, including Rev. J. A. Wilson. Mr. D. H. Moore read the address which follows, and Miss Dawson made the presentation. H. Wildgust, Esq., Organist and Choir Master of St. Paul's Church.

Dear Sir,—It was a regretful surprise to your choir to learn that you had decided to resign your position as organist and choirmaster of our church, and return to England.

Love for your home of so many years is undoubtedly a reasonable excuse for your action, but we are sorry that our fair Canada does not appear to you to possess the necessary attractions to induce you to remain a citizen of our country, for while we welcome all good people, yet the welcome is much more cordial to those of the Mother Country.

The choir of St. Paul's church, however, have other and better reasons than those mentioned for regret. True, our associations with you have been comparatively brief, but it is impossible for any person who values manly character and Christian courtesy, to come in contact with you without feelings of admiration; coupled with these your musical abilities are of such a high order, and our associations have been so pleasant that it is with feelings of sorrow we are called upon to part with you.

As a souvenir of your sojourn among us and a reminder of our pleasant relations, we beg you to accept with our best wishes for your future welfare, this little memento, and although we may seldom again be permitted to join with you in God's praises here below, our prayer is that we may all be permitted to join in the heavenly choir around the Great White Throne.

Signed on behalf of the choir,
Peterborough, August 27th, 1903.

Mr. Wildgust, in replying to the address, expressed his thanks for this expression of the appreciation of his work. He assured them of the pleasure experienced by him in his associations with the choir, and his regret at the circumstances which necessitated his severing connection with the choir. He should always look back with pleasure upon the time spent with St. Paul's church and choir. Refreshments were then served and some time spent in pleasant social intercourse.

A permanent organist has not yet been appointed. Mr. John Crane will fill the dual position of organist and choirmaster until an appointment is made.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSES.

Motors to be Used on Highways Must be Registered After Sept. 1st.

The Act Respecting the Registration etc., of motor vehicles comes into operation on the first of September next, after which date it will be illegal to drive a motor vehicle on the highways of the Province unless properly registered.

Though there are few motor vehicles in Peterborough, for the benefit of those who may contemplate purchasing, or for the benefit of those who wish to know, the following circular, issued by the Provincial Secretary's Department, may be found interesting:—

Sir,—I have the honor to inform you that under the provisions of 3 Edward VII, Cap. 27, entitled "An Act to regulate the Speed and Operation of Motor Vehicles on Highways," and the Regulations framed in pursuance thereof, every owner of an automobile or other motor vehicle, except manufacturers or dealers not using machines for private use is required to file with this department a statement containing a brief description of such vehicle, together with his name and address.

The authorized fee for registration under the said act is two dollars.

Under section 4 of the said act, every owner of a motor vehicle is required to carry and expose on the said motor vehicle a permit issued by the Provincial Secretary.

Having regard to this section of the Act, and in view of the fact that it would be difficult to protect from the weather a permit printed on paper, the Department has deemed it expedient to issue in conjunction with the permit a marker which shall bear the registration number of the motor vehicle in aluminum figures of the regulation height of three inches, also an aluminum plate bearing the words "Licensed by the Province of Ontario." This marker is to be displayed in a conspicuous place in the rear of the vehicle so as to be plainly visible, in accordance with the provisions of section 4 of the act, and of conditions numbered 2 and 7 in the form of License approved by Order in Council.

These markers will be supplied by the Department for the sum of $1.00 each, and if you will kindly enclose this sum when remitting the fee of ($2.00 for) your permit or license, a marker bearing the registration number of your vehicle will be furnished to you with said permit.

Appended hereto is a form of application, which you may fill out and return to this office.

I have the honour to be, sir, your obedient servant,

J. R. STRATTON,
Provincial Secretary.

T. A. S. to Jubilee.

What promises to be the most largely attended excursion of the season to Jubilee Point is that advertised for Labour Day under the auspices of St. Peter's T.A.S. Five boats have been charted for the occasion—the "City of Peterborough," "Rainbow," and "Water Lily," and two palace barges, so that ample provision is being made for the large number who will doubtless attend. First class music will be provided for dancing, which will doubtless be the most popular form of amusement. At the Point a programme of sports will be run off, which will add to the pleasure of the day. A start will be made at eight o'clock, thus giving a good long day at the Point. Tickets, which have been placed at 40c, may be procured from any member of the committee, and at the T.A.S. Rooms. The committee is composed of Messrs. J. Moher, J. H. Primeau and J. E. Sullivan.

A CAMPER'S QUESTION ANSWERED.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, —I observed in Saturday's Examiner the following inquiry:

"Dear Sir—I would like, through your valuable paper, to inquire if campers along the Otonabee river can be charged by the land owners for camping near the water's edge, and on land that is practically of no value, or if there is any distance from the water's edge reserved for campers.

"Thanking you for your valuable space space, I remain,

"Yours truly,
"CAMPER."

I have not noticed that you have answered the query, consequently the writer is still lacking the information. The facts are that the lands abutting on the shores of the Otonabee River are attached to the farms connected therewith, and no one has the right to enter upon these lands without the consent of the owner.

Some townships reserve a strip of land a chain wide along the shores of the rivers, but the townships of North and South Monaghan and Otonabee have never done this, nor have the townships of Smith or Douro. Consequently permission should be obtained from the owners of the lands adjacent to the waters, or persons going upon these lots are trespassing. I do not know of any cases where a request has been refused to allow tents to be pitched for a few days, where the campers conduct themselves properly, but it is desirable for those who wish to camp near the water's edge of any of the lands in these townships to first obtain consent.

Yours truly,
J. R. STRATTON.

AN OLD CRAFT.

A Canoe Built at Gore's Landing in 1871.

Fenelon Falls Gazette: Mr. E. W. Glaspell has just patched up and made as seaworthy as possible a canoe that is probably one of the oldest in use on these waters. It is the property of Mr. Thomas D. Delamere of Toronto, who, when he took it to Mr. Glaspell to be repaired four years ago, said that he had then owned it for a quarter of a century, that he had bought it second-hand, and didn't know how old it was. The first thing Mr. Glaspell did was to scrape off the old paint with which the canoe was loaded, and he then found the name of the builder, D. Herald, Gore's Landing, Rice Lake, and the date, 1871, stamped on the inside just below one of the gunwales. It is therefore 31 years old, and, of course, pretty well worn out. Mr. Delamere says that when it is past service he will hang it up in his boat house and keep it to look it. The canoe has no ribs, being made of two layers of cedar, the outer one running lengthwise, and the inner one in the opposite direction. The maker, Mr. D. Herald, died years ago, but his two sons still carry on the boat-building business at Gore's Landing.

Mr. Matchett will be greatly missed in town as he was very popular. He occupied the position of superintendent of the Mark street Methodist Sunday school and was a member of the quarterly official board.

A SCOTTISH BYE-ELECTION.

Great Difficulties Have to Be Overcome by the Campaigners.

London, Aug. 27.—The first Parliamentary bye-election fought on the fiscal question raised by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain is occurring in Argyllshire, Scotland, containing a large number of islands, where there is a vacancy, caused by the death of D. M. Nicol, who was a Conservative. The candidates, Charles Stewart, Unionist, and J. S. Ainsworth, Liberal, represent respectively protection and free trade. The polling is being conducted under considerable difficulties. All kinds of craft are being used to convey the voters from the fishing grounds to the polling booths. The candidates had a three weeks' campaign, during which they journeyed in yachts from island to island. The weather was so stormy that they frequently were unable to land and address their waiting audiences. The result will not be known until Friday, owing to the difficulty in collecting the returns.

YUKON CONCESSIONS,

Charges of Misrepresentations Made in the Matson & Doyle Case.

Dawson, Aug. 27.—The Matson & Doyle concessions case is still before the commission at Dawson, and proceedings are dragging as interest in the Treadgold matter is keener than in all others combined. The allegation is that Matson & Doyle used fraud in obtaining their grant. The application recites that the ground is more suitable for hydraulic mining than placer. Evidence tends to show that at the time the application was made, in 1898, men were prospecting extensively and had located good pay claims worked by rocker, and made better than wages. It is held by the opposition that the affidavits filed were false. The same line of argument will probably follow in respect to other concessions, fraud being alleged in obtaining them.

Complaints have been filed against the Kruger concessions on Indian River.

THE POST MASTER SAYS.

That Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Bring Sure Relief Everybody Speaks Highly of them.

Mr. R. Jancowski, the postmaster at Fesserton, Ont., is a man who enjoys the esteem of the community in which he resides. Consequently, the following statement from him is worthy of the careful consideration of every one.

"I have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial and can with every confidence recommend them. I generally use only half a tablet after eating and it has always given me relief.

"I know other people who have used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets in this neighbourhood and they all speak in the highest terms of them."

This is a very moderate statement, but it assures you of one thing: that if you have a bloated or uncomfortable feeling after eating you can find a sure relief in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. And there is further relief in the knowledge that in using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets you are safeguarding yourself against Chronic Indigestion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Dyspepsia in all stages by resting the stomach and allowing it to recover its strength naturally. They are a safeguard against disease and an insurance policy against discomfort.

Three other indictments on similar charges are pending against him.

Owen Sound, Aug. 27.—W. A. McClean, ex-Mayor of Owen Sound and a prominent local business man, died yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock after an illness of more than three years. In 1896 he refused the nomination for the Dominion House tendered him by the Conservative convention.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Let Others Experiment.

There is always something new in the way of medical treatment and you are constantly invited to try new fangled unproven remedies. Let others experiment and so risk health and lose time. ON THE SPECIAL

By F. B. Wright

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

"Late! Oh, no; not the north bound train! It can't be! Are you sure?"

There was a ring in the voice that caught Hugh Morton's attention. He looked up. The girl in black who had interested him when she entered the waiting room three hours before was at the ticket window, and the agent was explaining that the night train due at Bellmar Junction at 10:20 was two hours late. Morton himself was waiting for that train.

"Yes, miss, I'm certain. Just received word. Twelve thirty anyway, and it may be later."

"But the train from Parkerville on the other road gets in at 11:20, doesn't it? Isn't there some train out of here before it comes? Anything—a freight?"

"No'm; nothing until the fifty-three," answered the man in a surprised tone. He leaned forward to see the girl more plainly, and she drew aside in confusion.

"Thank you. I'll have to wait, then. It doesn't matter at all," she said in a voice whose trembling showed that it mattered very much. Then she went out on the platform, leaving Morton wondering.

Why was she so pale? Why was she so impatient to get away? Why so anxious to leave before the train from Parkerville arrived? He puzzled over the question for awhile and went outside for a smoke. Then he heard a sob from a dark corner. The girl was seated on a truck crying so bitterly that she did not hear Morton as he approached, moved by a generous impulse.

"You are in some trouble? Can't I be of some help?"

The girl raised her head with a start, hurriedly wiping away the tears. "No; it's beyond help—I mean it's nothing."

"There's nothing beyond help. Won't you tell me the trouble? You don't know me, of course, but I hope you can see I'm a gentleman."

The girl seemed to shrink from him. "It's nothing—mere nervousness. It was kind in you to ask, though, and I thank you. I would accept if it could do any good."

With an apology for his intrusion Morton moved away. He tramped the platform for awhile and then stopped in the shadow by the station window. He had learned telegraphy years before, and it amused him to read the clicking of the key. There was the best part of a message coming in now. Click-click, click, click-click-click—"dress—slender—brown hair—twenty-two; aberiff up on 12 if there." When the message ended the agent glanced out on the platform toward where the girl was seated. Then he telegraphed back, "Girl here; can't leave; 55 late."

So this was the reason of the girl's agitation, thought Morton. She had committed some crime, poor thing, and the law was on her track; the law, so powerful and relentless; she so helpless and alone. Morton had an instant vision of the slight, graceful figure and the pale face and in that instant made up his mind. He went toward her and spoke in an undertone:

"I've accidentally learned something which concerns you very much. I don't know what the trouble is, but they are coming here after you, and I felt I must warn you."

The girl started up with clasped hands. "Oh; I've been afraid of this! What can I do, what can I do?"

"There's no time to lose. The sheriff will be here in fifteen minutes. You must get away."

"How? There's no chance. Oh, if only my train had been on time!" The girl broke down and sobbed.

"Here! Don't do that. You must keep your nerve, you know." Morton's brain was working quickly. "Listen. If the sheriff doesn't find you here when he arrives he'll think you are in the neighborhood surely, and he'll stop to search the village. That will take him until morning. The next station north is Newboro—fifteen miles. We have over an hour in which to make it. Will you take the chance?"

"Yes—any chance. I haven't really done anything wrong—and if I can escape"—

"Quick, then! Go over to that shed on the other tracks and wait."

The girl disappeared, and Morton sauntered into the waiting room. "I've a bad headache and decided I'd better not travel. Will the hotel be open?"

"Open until 55 comes in."

"Much obliged. Good night."

Morton picked up his satchel and started toward the hotel. Then he doubled across the tracks to where the girl was waiting.

"Hurry! There's not much time to lose," he said. He had noticed that afternoon a hand car on a siding near the street and went to it.

"Help me to push it," he directed. "Easy, though. The agent must not hear."

Together they shoved the car gently along the rails and into the darkness. Far off they heard the whistle of the sheriff's train.

Morton waited until it thundered up to the station. "Now," he cried, "we must push ahead. Their noise will drown ours."

They jumped aboard and, grasping the levers, started off and in a moment were swinging northward under the stars, with the station lights growing fainter in the distance.

The pumping was hard, for the grade was uphill, and for half an hour nothing was heard but the clanking stroke of the levers, the pounding of the wheels and the labored breathing of the man and woman. The girl looked exhausted, and Morton felt as though there was a glowing furnace in his chest. How long could he last out? he wondered. Then he felt the car run easier, and then—they had reached the crest of the grade and started downward. Morton looked at his watch. It was 12 o'clock.

"We make it now," he said. "You rest."

The girl sank wearily upon the platform, while the car sped through woods and meadows, rattled over bridges and rumbled past walls of rock.

"I wish I could ever thank you," she said, looking up, her face clear in the soft starlight.

"You have thanked me—many times."

"But I mean in words. I don't know what I would have done if you had not helped me. May I tell you why I am running away?"

"You needn't unless you wish. I know you've done nothing wrong. You couldn't."

"I want to tell you. I couldn't bear—at least—I mean I want you to understand. It wasn't wrong. I don't think you'll say it was wrong. You see, my mother died a few days ago—and, oh, I loved her so!—and my stepfather hated me. He was cruel to me and cruel to her even at the last. After she was buried he was worse than ever, and yesterday he told me I must leave his house. I was glad to go—only too glad. I asked him for my mother's little trinkets, things she had had as a girl, a few little bits of jewelry my own father had given her and her picture. She told him on her deathbed they were to be mine. But when I asked for them he refused me; said the law gave them to him. I told him I would take them, and he threatened me with the jail if I did; told me he would have me dragged through the streets like a common criminal.

"Today he left the house for a moment, and I broke open his desk and took them and ran away. I thought I could reach the city before he could catch me, and, once there, he would never find me, and I could live happily alone."

The girl hid her face and cried. Morton longed to comfort her, but he felt it was best to let her have her cry out.

"You are going alone to the city, with no plans, no money, knowing no one?" he asked when she became quieter.

"I can be lost there and safe from him. I can find work. I'm not afraid."

He returned no answer, but the thought of this friendless, innocent, unprotected girl exposed to all the dangers of a great city was more than unpleasant.

The car was slackening speed now, and far up the road were the lighted windows of a station. Morton brought the car to a standstill.

"We must ditch it," he said. And together they lifted and tugged until the machine was down the bank. Then in silence they went on to the station, and Morton bought tickets from a sleepy clerk.

"Would you mind telling me your name?" he asked as they walked together in the darkness.

"Mildred Clarke. I feel as though you knew it, you've been so good, so kind—as kind as a friend could be, if I had one."

Far down the track sounded the whistle of 55.

"Mildred, I want to be more than a friend. You put your trust in me to help you tonight. Won't you trust me longer? Let me help you for all my life?"

The light of the engine fell full upon the upturned face of the girl.

"Yes," she said softly.

Then the night express bore them forward "to that new world which is the old."

Her References.

"I don't like these references," said the housewife.

"Well, mum," returned the applicant for a position, "I didn't write 'em, so it ain't my fault. If you don't like 'em jest you go to the people as gave 'em to me an' tell 'em so."

A Definition.

"Pa, what is a gay?"

"Why, my son, that is what a person who has never been in a fight calls it."—Puck.

Twain's Suggestion.

Mark Twain in his youthful days was a reporter in Carson City. It was his duty one evening to report a meeting of the city council, whose president was a ponderous statesman given to sounding words and intellectual confusion. A motion was made to expunge from the records a certain matter which the presiding officer was extremely anxious should not become part of local history. The motion, having been seconded, was eagerly passed.

"The matter has been ordered expunged," declared the presiding councilman gravely, "and the clerk will proceed—to expunge. It should be effectually wiped out, obliterated and totally destroyed." He paused to notice the effect of his sentence of annihilation. "Where, gentlemen," he asked, "will you have the expunged matter deposited and placed?"

Mark Twain caught the attention of the councilman nearest him. "Let the expunged matter be worn under the chairman's hat," he suggested. "No one would ever think of looking there for anything."

Major Pond and Bill Nye.

More than one successful lecture star had to thank Major Pond for his start. He had keen discrimination and not infrequently sought out and dragged upon the lecture platform an obscure genius who never thought to see himself before the footlights. Such a genius was Bill Nye. When the major found him he was acting as postmaster and editing the Laramie Boomerang over a livery stable. ("Walk down the alley, twist the gray mule's tail, take the elevator immediately!")

Pond persuaded him to try lecturing, and as there proved to be both money and useful publicity in it, Nye was grateful and used for years to remember the major with characteristic notes, one of which had the following exhaustive signature:

Yours with a heart full of gratitude and a system full of drugs, paints, oil, turpentine, glass, putty and everything usually kept in a first class drug store.

During the Warm Weather.

Even during the warmest weather Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is pleasant to take, and agreeable to the stomach. For this reason it is the ideal remedy for consumption. Made of odorless and tasteless petroleum, glycerine, and hypophosphites, it is better in every way than emulsions made of fish oils or other fats.

Why He Only Ate the Yolks.

An American woman traveling in England stopped one day at a little country house. Chatting with the visitor, the woman of the house told of her difficulty in getting along and of an experience she had had with a boarder.

"The first morning this man stopped here," she said, "he began to eat boiled eggs very greedily. Egg after egg he ate—three, four, five, six—and it was only the yolk of them that he swallowed; the white he didn't bother with at all.

"When he dug his spoon into the seventh egg my temper got the better of me, and I said in a severe tone:

"'Don't you ever eat the white of the egg, sir?'

"'Surely not, my woman,' he answered. 'The yolk is the bird; the white is the feathers. Would you have me make a bolster of myself?'"

Sir Percy's Good Management.

As commissioner of railways in the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal, Sir Percy Girouard, the well-known Canadian engineer, had a wonderful story to tell at the international conference of Johannesburg a few days ago. He stated the railway receipts on his systems for the year ending June 30 were £5,849,280, and the expenditures were £2,825,253. What is the matter with bringing Sir Percy home to manage the Intercolonial? asks The Ottawa Journal.

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the chain of life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

"I was in poor health when I commenced taking Doctor Pierce's medicines," writes Mr. Elmer Lawler, of Volga, Jefferson Co., Ind. "I had stomach, kidney, heart, and lung troubles. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs, but after using your medicine a while I commenced to gain in strength and flesh, and stopped coughing right away. Took about six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I feel like a different person. I gladly recommend your medicine to all sufferers, for I know it cured me."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure that foul breath.

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, Aug. 28, 9.45 a.m.

Morning letter,—An effort may be made to work the market up to-day on newspaper reports from Washington to effect that Secretary Shaw will increase the bank reverses to avoid money stringency which is threatened this fall, and that to accomplish this he may decide to devote to the banks more government cash obtained from this collection of revenues and other sources should an emergency arise. The amount of these collections aggregate $38,000.00 The secretary believes that this is a large sum to have on hand in view of failure of Panama scheme to go through and that it could just as well be deposited in banks this fall in case relief is needed to avoid financial stringency. Of course this is looking ahead, but nevertheless a money stringency this fall has been generally recognized as quite likely to develop. We see nothing in present situation to warrant expectation of an active bull speculation. Prices may be advanced at any time a few points but until we are assured of good corn and cotton crop we would advise conservatism.—M. & M.

Liverpool, wheat 1-4 lower; corn 1-4 lower.

Weather map shows general rains in North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. Local rains in Nebraska and Ohio. It is raining this morning at Bismarck, St. Paul and Dubuque. Temperature a little lower in extreme north.

Wheat—The situation in a broad way is favorable for ultimately higher prices. Prospects are that surplus stocks of wheat will be very small before the present crop is over and the following crop becomes available. Bright clear weather following present wet might easily cause a setback. Primary receipts are still behind last year.

Corn—There is more disposition to buy than to sell. This is the only explanation for moderate advance. Rain in corn belt beneficial and crop reports generally show steady improvement but crop is spotted in many counties, but, taking the whole corn belt in, there is no doubt but what conditions are vastly better than in August.

Oats.—Oats continue firm with narrow ranges. There are plenty of bulls who look for higher prices next spring and they have buying orders in market on every decline. It looks now as if the last government crop report over-estimated the oats crop.—M. & M.

BASEBALL.

On the T.A.S. grounds to-morrow afternoon a unique game will take place between the old Peterborough team, champions of the Midland League in 1903, and the present champions, Excelsiors. Much interest is being manifested in the outcome as the old boys are anxious to see what they can do with the rising young star pitcher of the Excelsiors, Flaherty. The old team will be intact with the exception of Dr. Scott and Jack Muthall. Jack Sheridan of the Excelsiors will forsake them for to-morrow and play with the old boys. Chris Graham will catch and McCabe will be in his old position in the box. Connors will be on first base, and with Earls on second, Parnell on short and Grady and Casson in the in the outfield, they make a formidable line up. All of the sports who were supporters of the old champion team, should turn out and see what the old boys can do with the young fellows.

The Excelsiors will play the following men: Flaherty, Bellingham, Simpson, Pilling J., Howell, Waram, Cavanagh, Byers Pilling.

Owing to the default of the Victoria team in the Intermediate League to the Y.M.C.A. team, leaving the Shamrocks and the Y.M.C.A. a tie for the championship, the president, Mr. Sorsoleil, has ordered the final game between the two latter teams to be played at the oval to-morrow at two p.m.

Lindsay, Aug. 27.—In an exhibition game of baseball played here to-day, between Cobourg, champions of the Midland League, and Lindsay's nine, Lindsay won by a score of 3 to 1. A feature of the game by Left-fielder Wm. Stalker of Lindsay was a spectacular running catch of a long fly right over a horse's back. Catcher W. Cinnamon saved the game by his headwork behind the bat. Umpire Mr. Tim Burke, of Lindsay, gave great satisfaction. Attendance, 950. LACROSSE.

Mr. Bert Headref an old Norwood boy, is playing a great game for the Winnipeg lacrosse team this season. One of the papers published in that city, winds up a long account of a game in the city championship series played on the 14th inst., with the following:—"Hendren played one of the fastest games for the Winnipegs seen in any game here this season. He was largely responsible for the Pegs' many scores."—Norwood Register.

GUILDSMEN HONOUR VICTORIOUS TEAMS.

pleasure in proposing the toast, "Rev. J. G. Potter's anniversary," which was received with enthusiasm, and spoke eloquently of the warm place which their pastor occupies in the hearts of the members of the Guild.

"He's a Jolly Good Fellow," was lustily sung, in fact, in the opinion of those present everyone was "A Jolly Good Fellow," as this was sung at each occasion when a toast was proposed.

Upon rising to respond, Rev. Mr. Potter was greeted with very hearty applause, which lasted some minutes. When the applause has subsided Mr. Potter said he felt very grateful for the kind words made use of by the proposer of the last toast, in reference to his work in connection with the Guild, and was pleased that the members had such a good opinion of him. He felt proud of the Guild, and also of the victorious teams representing it this summer, and while a certain degree of sympathy is felt for the defeated teams, and there was a feeling that he would like them to be more successful next year, still he could assure the other teams that it would be no easy matter to depose the St. Andrew's teams from the position to which they had attained, because he had received advice to the effect that Manager Elliott was already laying plans to strengthen his team and Manager Sollitt no doubt would do the same. He highly commended the young men for embarking upon this new line of Guild work. The root idea in Guild work is to interest the young men in the churches, and by appealing to their love for manly sport they could be induced to become interested in other branches of the church. It was the church's duty to develop every side of the human character, and it was necessary to have a strong and vigorous physical nature as it was also necessary to possess a strong spiritual character. He assured the Guild of his interest in their work and felt certain that they would continue to develop the characters of the members along all legitimate lines.

Speaking of the anniversary of his induction to St. Andrew's church, he said that the cycle of 7 years brings it to the exact day and date on which he first took charge of the church. He had spent very pleasantly these years, and looking back over them he could say that he had never lacked the help and sympathy of the congregation, and he had every reason to feel grateful to the young men for their interest in him and the help afforded him. St. Andrew's Guild was the first to be organized in Peterborough proper, and it started with 13 boys, all of them in their teens. He was very proud of the success which had attended the work of the organization which had such a small beginning. The other churches had gradually come to recognize the value of the Guild and the result had been their institution in many of them. The work here and its success had been also made known abroad, he had received many letters asking for information and also received invitations to address meetings telling of the work of St. Andrew's Guild. He felt sure that all the members would always strive to, in their lives, reflect the honour of the church. God gives us all the privileges and opportunities to live clean, pure lives. He hoped that while it was not necessary to wear long faces, the members would always endeavour to reflect an honourable, manly and Christian character. He expressed to the Guild, on behalf of Mrs. Potter, who was unable to be present, her continued interest in them and expressed her hearty greetings to them on this pleasing occasion. Mr. Potter's address provoked warm applause.

The toast to the ladies was proposed by Mr. R. M. Glover in his usual able manner, and in doing so paid a high tribute to the value of the services of the ladies in Guild work. The success which the Guild had attained would have been impossible had it not been for the assistance, so cheerfully rendered, by the ladies of St. Andrew's, and he felt he was but expressing the feeling of every member when he said that they fully appreciated the kind interest which had been displayed in their work by the members of the gentler sex. R. Wilkie on rising to respond on behalf of the ladies said he felt his inability to creditably deal with the subject. But his subsequent speech proved him fully competent, and he made a very pleasing little speech.

The last toast, that of the press, was proposed by Mr. L. Thornton, who paid the press a high compliment. This was responded to by Messrs. S. S. Moore and M. J. Hutchinson. The pleasant event was then brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne," and Rev. Mr. Potter pronounced the benediction. Thus ended a highly pleasing and thoroughly enjoyable social event in the annals of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild.

HE WAS NOT KILLED

U. S. Vice-Consul Fired at But Shot Missed at Beirut.

THE BULLETS PASSED CLOSE.

President Roosevelt Is Informed of the Error, But He Will Not Countermand Order to Rear Admiral Cotton to Proceed With the Cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco to Turkish Waters.

Constantinople, Aug. 29.—It transpires that the report that Vice-Consul Magelssen was killed is incorrect. An unknown individual fired at him, and the bullets passed close, but did not touch the Vice-Consul. The Vali of Beirut afterwards visited Vice-Consul Magelssen and expressed his regrets for the outrages, and ordered measures for the arrest of the outrager.

The error in stating that Vice-Consul Magelssen had been killed arose from a mistake in a cipher telegram.

To Demonstrate Anyway.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 29.—President Roosevelt has received through the American State Department confirmation of the Associated Press despatches from Constantinople and Beirut, which show that the assassination of Vice-Consul Magelssen is an error.

President Roosevelt will not countermand the order to Rear Admiral Cotton to proceed with the cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco, and the gunboat to Turkish waters. The warships left Villefranche Thursday.

The attack on Mr. Magelssen is regarded as an incident which points to the necessity of a demonstration which will have the effect of insuring the protection of Americans in the Turkish Empire.

CANADIAN MEDICOS.

Will Meet in B.C. Next Year If Government Is Good.

London, Aug. 29.—The session of the Canadian Medical Association, which commenced in this city on Tuesday, came to a conclusion yesterday forenoon when the annual meeting was held. About fifty candidates for membership were all unanimously elected. Dr. Powell of Ottawa submitted the report of the Nominating Committee. In the election of officers Dr. J. S. Tunstall, Vancouver, B.C., was elected president; general secretary, Dr. George Elliott, Toronto; treasurer, Dr. H. B. Small, Ottawa.

Executive Committee, Dr. W. J. McGuigan and Dr. Lefevre, Vancouver, and Dr. Gibbs, Victoria.

Dr. Reardon, of Toronto, medical superintendent for the G.T.R., in referring to the fact that the next year's meeting of the association is to be held in Vancouver, B. C., thought that the association would be justified in asking the Dominion Government for financial aid.

A committee was appointed to interview the Government in connection with the matter.

It was suggested that a committee be formed at Toronto to invite the British Medical Association to hold their meeting in that city in 1905.

Mommsen's Great Powers.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—Prof. Theodore Mommsen, the historian, who was born in 1817, read a paper yesterday before the Royal Academy of Science on the inscriptions found among the ruins of Baalbek, Syria. This was regarded as remarkable, and as showing the professor's powers and unimpaired analytical faculties. From inscriptions the professor identified a statue found in the Romancamp as being one of Velius Rufus.

THE INITIAL ERROR.

That of Strategy Was Practically Irretrievable.

THE BOER WAR COMMISSION.

Evidence of Lord Roberts and Others—Field Marshal Also Criticises the War Office—Some Failures and Mistakes Pointed Out—Lord Kitchener and Field Marshal Lord Wolseley Also Testify.

London, Aug. 29.—The evidence given before the Royal Commission on the South African war was issued yesterday in the form of three blue books, containing 1,700 pages. Field Marshal Lord Roberts, Lord Kitchener, Field Marshal Lord Wolseley and other generals give various reasons for the failures of the war.

Lord Roberts considered the initial error of strategy was practically irretrievable. He criticised the War Office with regard to the general preparations and equipment, the first plan of campaign, the under-estimating of the enemy and ignorance as to the geography and extent of the country and the lack of artillery and mounted infantry.

General Sir Redvers Buller said he was hampered by the refusal of the War Office to accept his plans and the failure on the part of the War Office to give him definite instructions and information.

Lord Kitchener said the officers in many cases were not qualified for their work, and expressed the opinion that the juniors were better than the seniors. He praised the men, but said the chief difficulty was lack of training of reservists and volunteers.

Lord Wolseley in a memorandum complains that the commander-in-chief has become the fifth wheel to the coach and that the Secretary of State for War is the actual Commander-in-Chief.

Replying to this criticism Lord Lansdowne, War Secretary during the early part of the South African war, and Mr. Brodrick, his successor, suggested that Lord Wolseley was ignorant of many of the powers of a Commander-in-Chief, or failed to use them.

The whole publication teems with evidence of mistakes and failures at home and in the field.

ONTARIO'S CRACK SHOTS.

Close of the O.R.A. Meeting—Friday's Scores Spoiled by the Wind—President's Luncheon.

Toronto, Aug. 29. — The Ontario Rifle Association's rifle shooting contests at the Long Branch ranges were concluded yesterday with the most unfavorable and disagreeable weather that has ever been encountered in the history of the meet.

The wind blew steadily from the east and southeast all day and the atmospheric conditions were most decidedly unfavorable to good shooting. The best marksmen on the ranges were unable to locate targets safely, and in many cases ridiculously low scores were the result.

The tie for second place and the bronze medallion in the Duke of Cornwall and York competition between Staff-Sergeant C. A. Crowe of Guelph and Private John Drysdale of Montreal was shot off and was won by the latter.

Semi-Annual-Annual Meeting.

The semi-annual meeting of the association was held at 1 o'clock, with a very large attendance. Officers were appointed to represent the association on the council of the Dominion Rifle Association.

A resolution expressing the deep sorrow of the association at the death of Major J. J. Mason of Hamilton, and the warmest sympathy with Mrs. Mason, was passed after eulogistic speeches.

A number of suggestions were made in regard to the conditions governing different matches, and the Match Committee will consider them prior to the annual meeting.

After the meeting a select company adjourned to the president's tent and partook of a very fine luncheon on the invitation of Mr. Osler.

Tait-Brassey Match.

The chief event of the day was the Tait-Brassey match, in which there were 135 individual prizes, amounting to $535, seven team prizes worth $225 and two cups, one presented by Sir Peter Tait, valued at $250, and one by the late Sir Thomas Brassey, valued at $125. The scores:

Pte. J. C. Smith, Highlanders, 98, $20; Sergt. G. Mortimer, Grenadiers, 98, $15; Pte. F. N. Allan, 7th, 98, $10; Col.-Sergt. Parkhill, 13th, 98, $10. Other winners took from $8 to $3 each with scores ranging from 93 to 78.

The Austen Match.

The first of the extra series to be decided was the Austen match, named after J. E. Austen, the military tailor, who donated clothing to the value of $50 to be selected by the winner as first prize, and the association added $124, divided in 25 prizes. J. H. Simpson, Grenadiers, with a score of 50 won the coveted first prize of $50, and others ranged from $15 to $3 with scores from 50 to 48.

The Old Chum Match.

The Old Chum match was shot at 800 yards and there were no fewer than 14 possibles made and 12 24's were counted out. The first prize was 20 pounds of tobacco, after which the match was named. There were but 35 prizes, but the close marking necessitated the division of the money into 31 amounts. Staff-Sergt. T. S. Bayles, Grenadiers, won the first prize with a score of 25.

The Mulock Aggregate Match—1, the Elkington Cup (value $125), N. R. A. silver medal, badge and $15, Staff-Sergt. C. R. Crowe, 30th Wellington Rifles, Guelph; 2, Governor-General's silver medal, badge and $10. Pte. J. C. Smith, 48th Highlanders, Toronto; 3, Governor-General's bronze medal, badge and $8, Pte. S. J. Perry, 6th D.C.O.R.

Colts' Revolver Match—First prize, revolver, value $25, Lance-Corp. W. Cook, Royal Grenadiers, Toronto.

El Padre Match—First prize, 500 Needle cigars, Staff-Sergt. Thomas Mitchell, 13th, Hamilton.

Only Common Rebbit.

Whitby, Aug. 29.—John [illegible], the Oshawa painter employed by the Laughlin Manufacturing Company, who has been lying in jail here for the past two weeks on a charge of rape on a 14-year-old girl of the same town, received his trial here at the County Judge's Criminal Court. The prisoner is a married man, with two children, who, with his wife, were in the court room. After the evidence for the prosecution was heard the charge was changed to one of common assault. To this the prisoner pleaded guilty, and was fined $100 and costs or one year in jail with hard labor.

Charles M. Hays Retiscent.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—General Manager Charles M. Hays returned yesterday from England, but would not discuss Grand Trunk Pacific matters.

"When the whole question is removed from the arena of politics, when it is all disposed of by those who have the right to dispose of it, why then, I will be glad to go into particulars, but at this moment, when the matter is still being debated in Parliament, I feel that I should not say a word on the subject."

Accident Spoiled Royalty's Plans.

Rome, Aug. 29.—A disastrous railway accident cut short the festivities and demonstrations in honor of the King and Queen at Udine, where the sovereigns had gone to view the grand army manoeuvres. At 10 o'clock Thursday night, a train overflowing with soldiers collided with a freight train and sixteen soldiers were killed and over sixty injured. King Victor Emmanuel visited the hospital in person later to see the victims of the accident.

Colonizer Murdered.

Washington, Aug. 29.—U. S. Minister Squires at Havana has informed the State Department of the murder of Ira Bradley, near Holquin, Cuba, on June 9. Bradley was about 60 years old and a resident of California, and had been trying to establish in Cuba an American settlement known as Bradley's colony. The only motive ascribed for the murder was robbery.

THE PINKHAM CURE

ATTRACTING GREAT ATTENTION AND THINKING WOMEN.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

Merit alone could win such fame; wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Conservative contemporary criticises Sir Richard Cartwright's statement that the Grand Trunk Pacific will bring almost every important county town in Ontario in connection with the Northwest. It asserts that there is no provision in the agreement for a single county, township, city, town or village in the province to be connected with the line. If there is no express provision in the agreement, there is business common sense to be exercised in the management of the railway, which certainly will not object to the extension of the Ontario general railway to intercept the G.T.P. This will be a connection which will bring the whole of the province of Ontario in communication with the new transcontinental line. Such an objection as that urged is not worth taking seriously and its only value is to serve to show how difficult it is to find reasonable grounds of complaint.

NOT A BEATITUDE.

(Montreal Witness.)

A little book recently published in New York by James Howard Bridge, formerly private secretary to Mr. Andrew Carnegie, professing to reveal the innermost secrets of the Carnegie Steel Company, has attracted very much attention. According to this little book, steel rails could be produced by the Carnegie Company at twelve dollars a ton, at a time when they were being sold to the consumer at twenty-eight dollars a ton, and Mr. Carnegie and his associates divided as high as 88 per cent. profits between them. In corroboration of the enormous profits made by the steel kings, Mr. Bridge quotes a letter from Mr. Schwab, who has just retired from the presidency of the United States Steel Corporation. Mr. Schwab wrote the following letter to Mr. H. C. Frick, four years ago, when capital was being raised to take over the great plants upon which Mr. Carnegie had an option:—"As to the future, even on low prices, I am most sanguine. I know positively that England cannot produce pig iron at the actual cost for less than $11.50 a ton, even allowing no profit on raw materials, and cannot put pig iron into a rail with their most efficient works at less than $7.50. This would make a net cost to them of $19. We can sell at this price and ship abroad, so as to net us $16 at works for foreign business, nearly as good as home business has been. What is true of rails is equally true of other steel products. As a result of this we are going to control the steel business of the world. You know we can make rails for less than $12 a ton, leaving a nice margin on foreign business. The result of all this is that we will be able to sell our surplus abroad, run our works full all the time, and get the best practice and costs in this way. At the date when this letter was written the United States people had to pay the Carnegie Company $28.12 a ton for their rails because of high protection.

The New York Herald is highly indignant regarding this "extortion," but Mr. Bridge tells us that "no great business has yet been built up on the beatitudes." The Herald says:—"In view of the duty then and still existing of four dollars a ton on pig iron, it is interesting to read Mr. Schwab's statement that this basic commodity could not be produced in England at less than $11.50 a ton—even allowing no profit on raw materials. It is even more interesting to learn that the lowest price at which the English could produce steel rails was $19, whereas they could be turned out of the Carnegie works for less than $12 a ton. Consequently, as Mr. Schwab pointed out, rails could be shipped from this country to undersell the British producer and leave a handsome margin of profit."

And yet we impose a duty of $8 a ton on rails! What is the purpose? Plainly to fence in the home market, and enable the domestic manufacturers to exact extortionate prices from American consumers. The average price for the year 1899, in which this interesting letter was written, was a fraction above the present level of $28 a ton. When it is remembered that nearly 3,000,000 tons of railway bars were made in this country last year, and that the productions of pig iron exceeded 17,000,000 tons, some idea may be obtained of the tax levied by the iron and steel combines upon the people under the tariff. No need to wonder at the accumulations of the colossal fortunes that have set the world agape, for, as Mr. Schwab remarks in a letter to Mr. Frick, "What is true of rails is equally true of all other steel products."

The Herald sums up as follows: "The fact is well known that trusts and combinations with inflated capitalization, have been formed on the basis of artificial prices, to be exacted through the monopoly which the tariff assures them by the exclusion of foreign products. Mr. Schwab's information in relation to the iron and steel industry possesses an exactitude and authority that must intensify the demand of leading Republicans for a 'revision of the tariff 'by its friends,' lest it be subjected to much more radical and drastic revision by its enemies."

Mr. Bridge at the conclusion of his book gives some idea of the profits made by the Carnegie people and the amount realized when they sold out to the United States Steel Corporation. Their net profits we are told, rose from 3,540,000 in 1889, to $21,000,000 in 1899, and from the sale of their plants they obtained the colossal sum of $483,201,830. These statements are very interesting and useful as showing how under a system of protection one set of men can prey upon their fellows. Yet it is surprising, not only that the United States people continue to bear such intolerable burdens, but that the protectionist idea seems to be getting more and more in vogue in Canada, and some even in England. In the case of our own iron and steel companies we have seen more stock watering and gambling than in any other industry put upon our markets, and persistent efforts continue to be made to enable this industry to tax the people to pay for these immoralities. It is well that our English visitors should come face to face with these conditions.

EXTENSION OF MARKETS FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

For a number of years the Department of Agriculture has paid particular attention to the development of our export trade in agricultural products. During the South African war the Department undertook to fill a number of very large large orders from the War Office, and as a result, hay, flour, oats, meats, jam, etc., to the value of over $8,000,000 were purchased in Canada for the maintenance of the army in the field. This work was carried on under the direct supervision of Prof. Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, but, at the beginning of the present year it was decided to create a distinct extension of markets division, and to place at the head of it Mr. W. W. Moore, who was in South Africa for the Department in 1900, and who has been intimately connected with all the efforts to increase Canadian trade with that country. It need scarcely be added that Mr. Moore will always be found ready to afford enquirers any information in his power regarding the markets for Canadian agricultural products.

FRUIT PULPS.

During the past few weeks considerable correspondence has reached the Markets Division from Great Britain, with special reference to fruit pulps, particularly raspberry. The fruit crop in the United Kingdom and on the Continent is very poor, and consequently there is a considerable demand for foreign, or rather colonial, fruit pulp. The market is now bare of supplies, and, as new Australian will not arrive before March next, an excellent opportunity is offered for Canadian canners, if they have the goods to fill orders. Unfortunately, it appears that the Canadian raspberry crop was also short this season. The canners have, however, been placed in possession of all the information at Mr. Moore's disposal, and considerable business has already resulted. All the pulp available will doubtless be disposed of at once at good prices.

CIDER APPLES.

In view of the short fruit crop there is likely to be a good demand in Britain for boiling and cider-making apples. The Department has received advices from the Canadian High Commissioner in London to the effect that one firm would take 5,000 tons of each of the above sorts. Mr. Moore is now in communication with the leading fruit shippers to ascertain whether they can fill the order. The possibility of shipping cider is also being investigated. A trade of this sort would afford facilities for selling to advantage the immense quantities of cull apples which now go to waste in this country.

FOOD-STUFFS FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

Recent letters received at the department indicate that on account of drought the grain crops in the Transvaal will be short this season, and that in consequence there is likely to be a good demand for Canadian food products in the sister colony.

C. OLIVER ISELIN, MANAGING OWNER OF RELIANCE.

GREEN CHEESE NOT WANTED IN BRITAIN.

The Dairy Division, Ottawa, has received advices from Mr. A. W. Grindley, agent of the Department of Agriculture, in Britain, to the effect that the reputation of Canadian cheese has been injured by the large amount that has been sent from Canada this year in a green or uncured condition. Dealers state that the great bulk of Canadian cheese has been too immature when shipped, and Canadians will have only themselves to blame if the British demand falls off from such causes as these. It need not be pointed out that a falling off in demand means a lower price. It is simply another case of "killing the goose that lays the golden eggs."

When a salesman notes that the tendency of the cheese market is downward he is naturally anxious to get rid of the stock he has on hand; at other times he thinks that he will save the amount of the shrinkage in curing by selling as soon as possible. The exporter, on the other hand, looking to his own immediate profit on the transaction, buys cheese that should be left in the curing room to ripen. The salesman is disposed to blame the exporter for the present condition of things, and vice versa, but it takes two to make a bargain, and it is safe to assume that both parties are to blame in this case. It is greatly to be regretted that for the sake of a little temporary advantage both factorymen and exporters should be willing to endanger a trade which has required so many years to reach its present high standard and which means so many millions of dollars to the farmers of Canada. The patrons of factories would be consulting their own interests by insisting that their cheese should be held in the curing room until it is in the best condition to please the British consumer.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

They Are the Filters of the Body—Danger Signals.

Into everything we eat and drink, no matter how "pure" the food is labeled nor how careful we are, poisons enter. Were we not provided with organs especially designed to look after these poisons, human life would soon perish. The kidneys are the filters of the blood. They catch the poison in the food and expel it from the system. That is, they do these things when they are in healthy and vigorous condition. When they are weak, or overworked, or clogged, or handicapped by the ravages of disease in even a slight degree, they do their assigned work more or less imperfectly, or not at all. When the kidneys are not working well, the poison which should pass from the system is returned to the blood, to circulate through the body. Excess of uric acid in the blood causes inflammatory, muscular or articular rheumatism, for one thing, and those who have suffered from any of the forms of this distressing and dangerous malady will say that this is enough. The best authorities on the subject, however, believe that this is only a small part, and that to kidney irregularities are due a long train of bodily ailments. The kidneys often give warning, though not always and not always in time, of the dangers which menace the body from their abnormal condition. Among these danger signals are weakness of the back, pains or aches in the region of the kidneys, irregularity of the bowels and kidney action, chills, feverishness, puffy eyes, brick dust deposit or cloudiness, and a dropsical appearance of the ankles or wrists. When any of these symptoms appear blood poisoning to a certain extent is undermining the fabric of life. The result of the latest research into kidney troubles and their cure is the vegetable preparation known as Ba-Ju, which is put forth by the Claflin Chemical Co., Ltd., of New York, N. Y., and Windsor, Ont. It may be purchased at any drug store in boxes of 50 pills at 50 cents. It were well to pay no heed to efforts to substitute other so-called remedies for this dangerous condition, as Ba-Ju embodies all that these have with the addition of the latest-upto-date discoveries and enhanced skill in preparation.

SUN SHINING ON BARR COLONISTS.

Settlers in Britannia are Prosperous but ask for Immigration Shed.

Rev. George E. Lloyd who has taken the place of Rev. Mr. Barr, with the Barr colony in the Northwest, is in Montreal to ask the Interior Department to have an Immigration Shed erected at Lloydminster and also to get permission for the colonists to cut more timber on the Indian reserve, north of the Saskatchewan. He also wants to have the colony connected with the telegraph wire at Fort Pitt, a few miles to the north.

Mr. Lloyd says that there are now 1,000 of the settlers located in a settlement called Britannia. They are well satisfied with the country and its prospects. As far as crops are concerned they will have a good crop of potatoes, and also of oats and flax on the first breaking. A large number of the settlers brought out varieties of garden seeds with them, and these promise good returns. The houses of the settlers are nearly all completed and will be ready for the winter. The immigration shed which Mr. Lloyd is asking for, is to be used in the case of some settlers who may be indifferently housed for the winter.

There promises to be no scarcity of fuel, as there has been discovered about fifty miles north of the settlement a deposit of lignite, which may probably solve the fuel problem. At present there are 125 teams of the settlers employed on the grading work of the Canadian Northern, which runs through the town. Mr. Lloyd says that the colony has a fine belt of land which is well watered and fertile. The country is beautiful, and prairie chickens and ducks abound.

The oven of an Imperial Oxford Range and the old-fashioned spit before an open fire do better roasting than any other cooking apparatus invented.
In the olden days the spit had to be kept turning to get all sides of a roast cooked. It is much the same with the ordinary cook-stove. The heat of the oven is greatest on the fire side—roasts, bread, pies, cakes, etc., have to be turned and twisted to get them cooked at all. The result is uneven, unsatisfactory cooking—good food ruined. The diffusive flue construction of the draws fresh air into the flue chamber, super-heats it and diffuses it evenly over the oven, thus heating it quickly, thoroughly and uniformly—back, front and sides are at the same equal temperature. The result is juicy, tender roasts, light, dainty pastry, evenly raised bread—successful cooking.

When you buy an Imperial Oxford Range you get the result of over sixty years' thought and experience in scientific construction of cooking apparatus.

ACCEPTS CHALLENGE

Opposition, Through Mr. N. Boyd, Moves an Amendment.

EXTEND THE INTERCOLONIAL

Place Management Above the Influence of Party Politics Says the Resolution, Also—Mr. Davis' Speech Says West Looks For Competition — Mr. Robt. Holmes Contributed a Vigorous Speech.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—The Opposition have accepted the challenge, and at a late hour last night an amendment to the amendment was moved by Mr. N. Boyd, favoring the extension of the Intercolonial and the placing of its management beyond the influence of party politics. With this suggestion, that of Mr. Puttee in favor of Government ownership, and the main resolution of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the Grand Trunk Pacific, the issue will probably reach a division on Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. There are still about twenty speakers to be heard, but as ten were disposed of yesterday the end seems to be in sight.

The Salmon Canners.

At the opening yesterday a discussion took place with reference to the canners' proposal for a close season for salmon in British Columbia, during which the Minister of Marine and Fisheries announced his intention of not conceding the canners' wish until a full report had been received from the fishery inspector. This position was endorsed by the Liberal members from the Province, Mr. Morrison and Mr. Macpherson.

G.T.P. Debate.

In the debate which occupied the remainder of the day Mr. T. O. Davis of Saskatchewan contributed a noteworthy speech, in which he strongly endorsed the railway project, and spoke with telling force of the weaknesses of the C.P.R. agreement made by the Conservative Government. Mr. Davis compared the freight rates on the C. P. R. with those on the Canada Atlantic and those in Iowa, where many of our new settlers are coming from, greatly to the disadvantage of the farmers. In fact, said Mr. Davis, the people of the west were farming on shares with the C.P.R. Mr. Robert Holmes also contributed a vigorous speech in support of the Government's policy. The other speakers of the day were Messrs. Wilmot, Girard, Ward, Richardson, Clare, Archambault, Boyd and Dr. Johnston.

LIPTON IS DISCOURAGED.

Weather Prognostications For To-Day's Race—The Weather at Midnight.

New York, Aug. 29.—Thursday's unfinished race will be started to-day, 15 miles to windward or leeward and return.

The local Weather Bureau has issued the following special forecast:

"The wind over the international yacht race course to-day will be fresh and mostly easterly, with unsettled, showery weather."

The wind off Sandy Hook at midnight was east northeast with a velocity of 32 miles. It was raining and thick off shore, with a heavy sea running

Lipton Is Discouraged

Yesterday Sir Thomas Lipton, aboard the Erin, declared in an interview that he would never challenge again for the America Cup until a man had been found in Britain who equalled Nat Herreshoff in yacht-building The Baronet admitted his disappointment at his failure, and frankly said that he had no hope of winning even a single race. He said:— "If the day ever comes when Britain produces a Herreshoff then I will challenge for the cup again. It will not be until then. It is unpleasant to be compelled to admit it, but the brains in boatbuilding are on this side of the water. I am a most disappointed man. My hopes were high when I left home, for I surely believed we would carry back the cup. Yesterday's fluke only prolonged the agony for me. I do not want to win on any slips, and I regretted Relaince's failure to get over the line as much as anyone could."

A WELL KNOWN ALBANY MAN.

Recommends Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

About eighteen months ago, Mr. W. S. Manning, of Albany, N.Y., widely known in trade circles as the representative of the Albany Chemical Co. was suffering from a protracted attack of diarrhoea. "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," he says, "and obtained immediate relief. I cheerfully recommend this medicine to those similarly afflicted." Sold by all druggists.

Hairdressing In Japan.

Hairdressing is an elaborate study in Japan, where the style of the coiffure generally indicates the position and age of the lady. Thus girls of eight or nine wear their hair in a bow at the back bound round with red crape, the front left bare except for two locks dangling at the side, and the marriageable damsels comb their tresses high in front and arrange them either in the shape of a butterfly or a half opened fan. A widow looking out for a second spouse twists her locks round a long shell hairpin placed horizontally across the back of the head, while she who vows to remain faithful to the dear departed cuts her hair short and combs it plainly back without any parting.

Carlyle and His Home.

When the great writer Carlyle was engaged to Miss Welsh the latter induced her mother to consent that Carlyle should live with both of them and share the advantage of an established house and income. But Carlyle answered Miss Welsh's proposal by saying that two households could not live as if they were one and that he would never have any right enjoyment of his wife's company till she was "all his own," adding that the moment he was master of a house the first use he would make of it would be to slam the door against nauseous intruders.

At the previous election the Unionist majority was 600.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 3827 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly to learn its contents.

"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health.

"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J. MILLER.

"Builds up the System."

Hon. Joseph H. Ridgeway, President of the American Anti-Trust Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all it claims. I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system.

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgeway.

"Feel Better Than for Five Years."

Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes:

"I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now, than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy my Meals as I Used to."

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna.

"It has been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

A Summer Dance.

The young men of Lakefield gave a very enjoyable dance in the Town Hall of the village last night. The affair was attended by about 80 young people, the great majority of whom were from Peterborough. The floor of the hall was in excellent condition and the music which was supplied by Miss McCabe, was thoroughly enjoyed.

LAST BAND CONCERT OF THE SEASON.

A Grand Finale in Victoria Park.

A Doubly Fine Programme Leads up to the Double Bar.

"How blessings brighten as they take their flight," says solemn Dr. Young in his doleful "Night Thoughts," and all Peterborough awakes this morning to a keener realization of the delightful entertainments provided by the 57th band during this summer, with the memory that last night's splendid concert was the last of the summer series.

There was a very large, unusually large, attendance of the public at Victoria Park and the programme presented, while a good one, was better by the way it was given by the band. It is not necessary to make detailed reference to the programme, but special mention should be made of the euphonium solo so delightfully performed by Mr. Ed. Cronk, an air varie, "The Old Folks at Home." The selection was played in a most musicianly manner, the pathetic air was given with beautiful sympathy, taste, and expression, while the variations gave opportunity for most smooth, delicate and well marked tonguing. Mr. Cronk scored a very decided success, and had to respond to a recall. The excellent accompaniment supplied by the band heightened the fine effect of this solo. The band deserves special commendation for their performance of the overture to Nabuco, one of Verdi's early compositions. The piece abounds in opulent harmonies, very richly reproduced by the band, while the delicacy of shading, and most musicianly interpretation, made the selection a veritable delight. The band itself might do it better, but it is safe to say, that there are few bands, if any, in this country, or on this continent, could give a better rendering of this delightful composition. The rest of the programme included a waltz, two or three brilliant marches, and the inevitable concession to popular demand, a cakewalk.

Altogether the work of the band last night was quite A No. 1, and the people are fully justified in the pride they take in an organization which reflects credit upon the town, upon the leader, and the individual members, and which need not fear to perform in the best company, whether that be the Coldstream Guards band, or other crack organizations. At the World's Exposition at St. Louis the best bands will be heard, and the 57th, if it should go there, need not be afraid that its performance will suffer eclipse for it would be in creditable form with the best.

ON A REST.

Mr. T. E. Boddy City Agent of C. P. R. Takes Well Earned Holiday.

A change in the city ticket office of the C.P.R. in Peterborough has been made necessary by the ill health of Mr. T. E. Boddy, who for a number of years has ably filled the duties of the position of city agent. For some time Mr. Boddy has not been in the best of health, and the officials have granted him a well earned rest, which he will spend at his home, Streetsville. During the time in which he has acted in the capacity named above, he has always faithfully represented the Company's interest, and has as well made himself very popular with the business men of the town, who learn with regret of his illness. The affairs of the office will, however, be well looked after in his absence by Mr. E. C. Rice, who is well known in town, having for two years acted as telegraph operator in the same office, and under his direction the business reputation will be well sustained. Mr. Rice's position will be filled by Mr. Martin, who arrived from Toronto yesterday to take his duties. Mr. Boddy will, in all probability, be away about three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bryan, of Havelock, manager of local branch Swift Packing Company, are in town visiting friends.

ST. JOHNS CHOIR CAMP.

The Members Have Returned Ready for Sunday Duty.

The members of St. John's choir boys camp, which was most successful in every particular, returned to town last evening at about seven o'clock. The party left Sandy Beach, their camping ground, per steamer Lady of the Lakes, and landed in Chemong. From that place they proceeded to Peterborough. The campers have had a most enjoyable outing and all returned in splendid health. Nothing occurred during the whole length of the outing to mar the pleasure of the lads. The choir is very grateful to Mr. W. H. Cluxton on whose property the camp was pitched. Both he and Mrs. Cluxton did everything in their power to help the boys have a pleasant stay and invited them to pay Sandy Beach another visit.

THE PROSPECTS ARE NOT ENCOURGAGING.

Local Rugby Situation Explained by Secretary of Club.

The Toronto papers have of late been devoting considerable space to comments upon the outlook for Rugby in Peterborough this fall; in fact one paper says that Peterborough has made application to be placed in the senior series of the O.R.F.U. This is incorrect, as there has been no action taken by local Rugbyists, as yet, towards arranging the season's programme. As a matter of fact, the outlook for Rugby in Peterborough in many respects is none too bright, in view of the fact that many of last year's best players will not be available for this season.

Captain MacPherson and President Hal. Burnham, of the half back line, have announced their intention of leaving Peterborough in the course of a few weeks, while others of last year's team have expressed a desire to go on the retired list. Of course in view of the new arrangements whereby 12 men constitute a team, instead of 15, as formerly, under ordinary circumstances Peterborough could quite easily place a strong aggregation in the field, but such losses as Burnham and MacPherson, together with Andrew Scott, will cripple Peterborough's team to a great extent.

Peterborough for some years has occupied a prominent place in Rugby circles in Ontario, and in fact, in Canada, having captured the Intermediate championship more than once. But the expense occurred in legitimately maintaining a Rugby team is exceptionally heavy in Peterborough, as all know. As has been stated in these columns before there is no means of collecting a gate, and the funds to maintain the Rugby team have in the past been raised by voluntary contributions, and many of the leading enthusiasts for several years have become dissatisfied with this method.

It must not be supposed however, that Rugby will be allowed to die out in Peterborough, and an effort to form a junior district, comprising Port Hope, Lindsay, St. Peter's T. A.S., and Peterborough, will likely be made. Under this arrangement the travelling expenses would be considerably lightened, as compared with those of the Intermediate team, during the past few years.

Mr. E. S. Clarry, the secretary of the local club, states to the Examiner, that a meeting of the executive will likely be called early next week to discuss the situation, and arrange for the annual general meeting of the club which, according to the constitution, must be held on or before the 15th September.

THE FESTIVAL CHORUS.

A Hard but Enjoyable Evening's Work.

Although Mr. Wodell's drilling last evening of the ladies of the Musical Festival Chorus was very close and thorough, the ladies who attended the special rehearsal enjoyed the work very much. They realized that it was just that kind of instruction which gave them valuable points and would help to make a splendid performance of "The Rose-Maiden." The gentlemen worked finely on a special chorus for male voices from the cantata, and promise to delight those who like male voice music, and they are many.

PONTYPOOL AND BOBCAYGEON RAILWAY.

Progress is being made on the railway, though not as fast perhaps as Mr. Fauquier would like, in consequence of the difficulty of obtaining men and teams. The Camp of Irishmen who have been at Birch Point, moved to the Point east of Humphreys. There are in this camp about thirty men, good natured, hard workers. This is called Camp Bob, the others are designated by numbers. The next camp is at Hickson's line where about forty Italians are camped. At this point a good piece of grading has been done, the work being favourable to the use of wheelbarrows. Another camp is situated at the Scotch Line, where about fifty Italians are at work. This is close to Eureka Point, and Mr. Nasmith will next summer be able to get off at his own back door. The line here takes the end off the Baw mill. On the South side of Emily Creek is another still larger camp of Italians, and at Agnew's, south of Dunsford, is another camp.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Members of Musical Festival Chorus will please note that general rehearsal begins at 7.30 next Tuesday evening.

Notice.

The members of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., are particularly requested to be present at the regular meeting of the lodge to be held on Monday evening, August 31st. The representatives of the Lodge at the recent Grand Lodge meeting held in Hamilton, will present their report during the evening.

One hundred and forty prominent citizens have consulted him since his arrival in Belleville."

SAMUEL WYNN CHARGED WITH HORSE THEIVING.

A bay Mare Stolen From Mr. Freeburn's Paddock on August 20th.

Traded at Pontypool the Following day The Other Transactions—Remanded Until Wednesday.

Yesterday afternoon Constable McGinty arrested a man named Samuel Wynn for the theft of a horse on Thursday night, August 20th. The animal in question was a bright bay mare colt, height about 15 hands, weight, one thousand pounds, and was the property of Isaac Freeburn, of Young's Point, out of whose paddock the theft was effected. Wynn took the animal to Pontypool where he traded it to Mr. T. J. Pollard, a grocer of that place, for a spotted mare and $10 in cash. This transaction, it was later discovered, took place on the following day, Friday, August 21st.

Wynn, together with his spotted mare, next proceeded to Lakefield where without little difficulty he succeeded in selling his steed for $50 to Mr. Gilroy, an inhabitant of that village on Thursday, August 27th.

The first news Chief Rossel received of the theft of Mr. Freeburn's two-year-old, was on Tuesday last, and it speaks greatly to his credit that the thief was run down within four days.

Mr. Pollard, in answer to a telegram received from Chief Rossel, appeared in Court last night and identified Wynn, before Police Magistrate Dumble, as the man who traded the stolen animal for his spotted mare and $10. The Magistrate remanded him until Wednesday next.

BUSINESS IS GOOD IN WESTERN CANADA.

Mr. C. Legros, Returns From Extensive Trip and Reports Trade Conditions Healthy.

Mr. Chas. LeGros, the popular tobacconist, returned last night from an extended business trip embracing in its itinerary, Manitoba, the North West Territories and British Columbia. He has been away 23 days and reports a highly successful trip. He says business throughout the west is exceedingly good. Everyone in that part of the country seems to be in a prosperous condition, and money is plentiful. In Winnipeg the noticeable feature is the enormous building boom. During this year already over $6,000,000 worth of buildings have been erected, and even yet accommodation is so limited that on the outskirts of the city there are acres of tents each with a family of occupants. The great question now is, what will be done with them when winter comes. Mr. LeGros made a stay of a few days at the C.P.R. Hotel at Banff and took the hot bath treatment. He was highly pleased with the service at the hotel, and says it compares favourably with anything he has ever seen in his travels. He went as far west as Victoria, where, as well as in Manitoba business was good. Next week Mr. LeGros will make a trip through the east, taking in Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec.

TRUE TO HIS FIRST LOVE.

Conductor Haskells' Fondness for His old Run.

It seems that Conductor Haskell clings to his first love. It was stated a day or two ago in these columns that he had been promoted to the southern run, taking the Belleville and Port Hope trains alternately. This morning while Mr. Haskill was waiting at the station for his train time to arrive, the new conductor of the Lakefield train shouted "All aboard," and it required two or three stalwart onlookers, with their arms about the former skipper of the Cannon Ball express, to restrain him from boarding his old train. Such is the force of habit.

'TWILL BE A GREAT DISPLAY.

The paintings at the Central Canada Fair this year promises to be the best ever made in Canada. Many of the best paintings in the Dominion will be on view if present arrangements are carried out, under the distinguished patronage of the Governor General and Lady Minto. A committee has taken this department in hand and has sent out circulars to owners of paintings, asking for the loan of their best collections with a view of making the display most attractive and interesting to the thousands that will attend the Fair. It is also proposed to have paintings of every native painter from the time of Paul Kane to the most recent meritorious work of the youngest Canadian artist.

This department of the Central Canada Fair at Ottawa, September 11th to 19th, will alone be worth travelling a long distance to see.

VIRTUE IN FRESH AIR.

While the weather is dry and warm every man, woman and child should make it his or her business to keep in the open air as much as possible, so as to derive every benefit from the ozone and sunshine. Fresh air is a prophylactic. It wards off disease and kills bacteria. No person who leads an outdoor life will ever die from consumption. On the other hand hundreds of consumptives have lived for years by keeping continually in the open, even sleeping on cots placed in tents or on piazzas.

WHY PETERBOROUGH ATTRACTS INDUSTRIES.

Its Natural Advantages the Magnet Which Attracts Manufacturers.

Our Town's Facilities Given Prominence in Trade Journals.

The following appears as an advertisement of the Central Ontario Power Company in two trade journals:—

"The reason why manufacturers locate at Peterborough.

"A great American manufacturing concern recently erected in Peterborough a Canadian branch factory—having a capacity of 800 hands for export and Canadian trade, and the following letter, written to the Peterborough Examiner gives the reason why:—

"We notice in your issue of Saturday, September 27th, 1902, a statement by Mr. ———, at the meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade, that we were induced to locate here through the influence of one man.

"Please permit us to state that Mr. ——— is incorrect in making a statement of this kind, privately or publicly, and evidently speaks without full knowledge, or, in fact, without any knowledge whatever on the matter, and in correcting this mis-statement permit us to assure you and the public that our Company came here on account of the natural advantages of Peterborough, which are the geographical location, railways, the water power, and the Trent Canal, which, we were assured would be shortly completed, and which, when finished and in operation, will, in our opinion secure to Peterborough all the industries that your city can comfortably take care of."

"Peterborough now offers in addition—free factory sites and low taxation. Electric power, lowest rentals.

"N.B.—Freight tariff has been lowered lately at Peterborough."

HOW THE EDITOR GOT EVEN.

He did not Miss the Patronage of the Prominent Citizen Much.

A business man in an Oklahama town got mad at the editor of a local paper about something which appeared in the paper, and notified the editor that he would in future have his printing done at a job office where they didn't have a newspaper to roast everybody. He thought, of course the paper would have to quit business, but it kept on going.

In about two months the man's daughter was married and they had a big blow-out, and not a line appeared in the paper. Later his wife gave a big reception to some visitors, but not a line appeared in the paper.

Later on the man's youngest child died, but not a line appeared in the paper. The next fall a mass meeting was held in town to see about some public improvements and this business man made a big speech. The meeting was written up in full, except this man's speech. This was skipped. The the business man called and asked the editor what he had it in for him about. "You got mad last year, if you remember, and said you were going to have your work done at the job printing office, so I thought I'd just let your job printer print the account of your daughter's wedding, your wife's reception, your child's obituary and your speech." —Enid, Kan., Events

Improvements in the Store of Robert Fair & Company.

New Foreign Importations Have Arrived—All Departments Well Equipped to Handle Large Trade.

A visit to the rejuvenated store of Robert Fair & Company, is these days an event of special interest, by reason of the fact that never before has it presented such a pleasing appearance. A force of workmen has been at work for some time remodelling and repairing the interior of that large establishment, and the result of their labours is that perhaps no store in Midland Ontario presents a more attractive appearance. The ceilings, which as a result of the fire which occurred in the store some months ago, and were somewhat damaged, have all been replastered, or cleaned and kalsomined, and the white, spotless, walls and ceilings, now presented to view, are a beautiful setting to the many coloured fabrics displayed on the shelves and counters. The woodwork has also been allll repainted and the counters varnished. On the second floor, perhaps, even more extensive improvements have been made. Here the ceilings also have received considerable attention, and the millinery rooms have been treated to new carpets. The same may be said of the dress and suit-making departments, and here the walls have been newly papered. The front of the building, also, has received some attention, and a coat of paint makes the store take on a decidedly gala appearance. In fact the whole store, both interior and exterior, impresses one as being clean and tidy and thoroughly modern in all its appointments.

The large shipments of foreign importations have arrived, a fact rather remarkable for so early in the season. This week over 70 cases and bales came to town consigned to this firm, and the Golden Lion during the last few days has been a busy hive, occasioned by the opening up marking and placing in stock this immense stock of European goods, in addition to handling the regular business, which is very brisk. A number of very handsome checks have been handed in to the collector of customs this week by the firm, being the amount of custom duties on their foreign importations. The milliners have just returned from New York and will on Monday leave for Toronto to attend the wholesale openings there. Miss Neild, the superintendent of the dress and suit department, has returned after a vacation, and this department will open on Tuesday, September 1st. A pleasing fact was confided to the Examiner by Mr. Fair, to the effect that in every department many orders had already been booked ahead. An addition to the sales staff on the first floor has been made in the person of Miss Ettie Melville, who is already well and favourably known in Peterborough, and well qualified to supervise the department which she is in. She will have charge of the laces, gloves and hosiery, while the ribbons, handkerchiefs, corsets and smallwares is under Miss Minnie Logan, and in good hands, and the efficient services of Miss Kate Hendran have been secured for the millinery sales rooms. The prospects for a good autumn business are very bright and certainly the different departments present to view productions of art which should please the taste of all.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT.

BASEBALL.

The Lindsay Post, in commenting upon the Lindsay-Cobourg game played in Lindsay in which Flaherty, the clever local pitcher was in the box, says: "Flaherty twirled for the locals, and there is no use in talking, he is a daisy. The visitors, even Hardy, could not hit him hard, and when they did the ball would go high only to be pulled in by a Lindsay fielder."

LACROSSE.

C. L. A. JUDICIARY MEET.

The C.L.A. Judiciary met last night at the Palmer House, Toronto:

The Elms lacrosse club won their protest against Brampton last night, and are now champions of their district in the Junior C.L.A. Brampton was represented by Kit Irvine and much documentary evidence from Fergus was sumbitted to the effect that arrangements were made to give Fergus a game in return for the one defaulted, and to pay their expenses. Brampton further claimed that the game with Fergus on July 18 was an exhibition game, and that H. Gillespie, the referee, was notified to that effect. Nevertheless the certificates were produced and Fergus was under the impression that it was a C.L.A. game until they arrived in Fergus. The Elms were represented by R. Johnstone and F. Chapelle, the former being spokesman.

The Southampton-Tara protest was withdrawn.—Toronto World.

• • • •

In the Intermediate C.L.A. semi-final game at Orangeville to decide the championship of district 2 and 8, Owen Sound defeated Mount Forest by a score of 7 goals to 3. Owen Sound will meet Fergus, last year's champions, for the district championship next Tuesday afternoon.

• • • •

Kincardine defeated Clinton at Clinton in the semi-final match in the Junior C.L.A. series by a score of 5 goals to 1.

Durham defeated Walkerton at Walkerton yesterday by a score of 6 to 1. Durham is now champion of districts 2 and 3, Junior C.L.A.

• • • •

Wallaceburg won from St. Thomas at the former place yesterday in a semi-final game to decide the championship of Districts 5 and 6, Junior C.L.A. by a score of 2—0.

• • • •

Mr. F. A. Clarke, who has been in Toronto on business for the past two days, attended the meeting of the C.L.A. last evening. The protest of the Toronto Elms against Brampton resulted in the latter team being thrown out, and the Elms will play off with St. Catharines, the winners meeting the Athletics of Peterborough in a sudden death game in Stouffville on Labour Day.

• • • •

The Athletic lacrosse team will have regular practices Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week, and special practices on Tuesday and Thursday in anticipation of the game at Stouffville on Labour Day.

YUKON CONCESSIONS.

Request Made to Re-open Treadgold Case —Charles Blondin's Resolution.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 28.—The Treadgold Commission is now holding night sessions. The Matson & Doyle case has closed, and the Bronson Ray protest was taken up yesterday morning. The opposition had a good case in the former, greatly strengthened by the evidence of Emil Weinheim, who was interested in the concession and got muddled up on the witness stand. Strange testimony was disclosed, to the effect that an endeavor had been made to hold up miners to the extent of a claim, known as Evans' claim, for the use of waste water from the ditch.

Joseph Clarke, Dr. Gatto, Mr. Beddo of The News, and other opponents held a mass meeting Wednesday night and endeavored to cast odium upon the work of the commission, saying it was unsatisfactory, and appointing a committee to wait on the commissioners, requesting that the Treadgold case be reopened.

The best people in Dawson give the commission credit for fair, just and honorable dealings. The same applies to Messrs. Woodworth and Walsh, the barristers employed by the Board of Trade to represent the cause of the people against Mr. Treadgold. Their case is handicapped by Clarke, who is determined to make political capital.

Charles Blondin, a notoriously disappointed office-seeker, at the meeting Wednesday night created much amusement by offering a resolution demanding the immediate resignation of Hon. W. H. Ross, M.P.

CRUSHED BETWEEN WHEELS.

Young Farmer Named Hood Meets Death Near Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Aug. 28.—A sad accident occurred in Sydenham, eight miles from Owen Sound, Wednesday morning, by which Joseph T. Hood, a promising young farmer, lost his life. He was driving a team of horses down a hill near the Rish block when some boards on the top of the load slipped forward, striking the animals, which ran away. Hood was caught in between the wheel and terribly crushed, his ribs being driven into his lung. He was conscious long enough to tell his story, but died at 9 o'clock. The young man is a son of James Hood, who resides in the second concession of Sydenham, near Garry.

Fire Engines Dislodged the Fathers.

Paris, Aug. 28.—The expulsion of the Redemptorist Fathers from their monastery at Les Sables d'Olonne, Department of Vendee, was carried out yesterday after an exciting experience.

The barricaded building was surrounded at 3 o'clock in the morning by soldiers, police and firemen. The bells summoned a crowd of people to its defence. Missiles were thrown out of the windows, and several of the besiegers were injured.

After four hour's siege the barricades were forced and the fathers retreated to the roof, where they continued their defence, until dislodged by streams of water from a number of fire engines. Many arrests were made.

Fatal Ship Collision.

Stonington, Conn., Aug. 28.—The three-masted schooner John Booth from Long Cove, Maine, for New York, was run into and sunk during Wednesday night by the Metropolitan Line steamship H. M. Whitney of Boston just west of New Haven harbor, and five members of the crew and one passenger were lost. Captain Thomas of the Booth was rescued by the Whitney, while one of the crew, Carl A. Hessol, colored, was picked up by the steamer Maine of the Stonington line.

Death Rate Increased.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The monthly bulletin of the Ontario Board of Health, just issued, shows that the rate of deaths from all causes was 11.5 per 1,000, as compared with July of 1902, when the rate was 11.3 per 1,000. Smallpox cases show a substantial improvement, and diphtheria a slight increase.

Given the Red Hat.

Rome, Aug. 28.—At the Vatican yesterday afternoon the red hat of a cardinal was conferred on Cardinal Herrero Y. Espinosa, Archbishop of Valencia. Cardinal Herrero was at the point of death during the conclave, but has now recovered, though still weak.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea

"About six years ago, for the first time in my life, I had a severe and sudden attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents cured me." For sale by all druggists.

Persian Shah Threatened.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—The Christian Orient, a German missionary paper, published in Berlin, prints correspondence from Teheran, alleging that the leaders of the Persian Mohammedan Church have served notice on the Shah that unless he purges the country of foreign religious and commercial influences, especially British and Russian, the church will precipitate a revolution.

Let Others Experiment.

There is always something new in the way of medical treatment and you are constantly invited to try new fangled unproven remedies. Let others experiment and so risk health and lose time. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been tried in the crucible of time, won the approval of public opinion and demonstrated their right to a place in every home as a family medicine.

TALK BY WHOLESALE

Sixty-Three G.T.R. Speakers Have Unburdened Themselves.

NINE SPEECHES ON THURSDAY

Mr. Wade's Convincing Argument—Hon. Wm. Ross Supports the Measure—Mr. McLaren Made a Brief But Effective Presentation—Mr. Henderson's (Halton) Opinion of Northern Ontario.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Nine speeches, the largest number yet delivered in one day upon the transcontinental railway resolution, was the sum total of yesterday's debate. Mr. F. B. Wade, who had the floor when the House adjourned Wednesday night, ably presented the advantages of the Government's proposition in comparison with that offered by the leader of the Opposition. Mr. Wade, who is one of the ablest debaters upon the Government side of the House, and who has established a reputation in the House as an authority upon questions of law, dealt with the project not only from the Nova Scotia standpoint, but demonstrated the advantages which would accrue to the Dominion as a whole. He also cleared away some of the cobwebs woven by Opposition speakers around the legal aspects of the contract. Mr. Jacques Bureau, Mr. Alex. F. MacLaren and Mr. George Stephens set a laudable example to the House. Their speeches were brief in duration and the points they made were concisely and effectively presented for the consideration of the members. Hon. Wm. Ross, who mentioned the fact that he was the sixty-first speaker in the debate, and who seldom addresses the House, but is always listened to with attention when he does speak, in an effective speech affirmed his pride in supporting the men who had presented a scheme so palpably to the advantage of the country for the consideration of the House. The other speakers were Mr. W. H. Brock, Mr. A. Malouin, Mr. F. A. Lancaster and Mr. David Henderson, who asserted that it was a shame to induce young men to settle in the northern portion of Ontario or Quebec, where they would be shut up in prison. Mr. Ingram adjourned the debate.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier took occasion, in reply to Mr. Brock, to announce the personnel of the Transportation Commission as follows:—Mr. John Bertram, Toronto (Chairman); Mr. Robert Reford of Montreal, and Mr. Fry of Quebec.

THE POST MASTER SAYS.

That Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Bring Sure Relief—Everybody Speaks Highly of them.

Mr. R. Jancowski, the postmaster at Fesserton, Ont., is a man who enjoys the esteem of the community in which he resides. Consequently, the following statement from him is worthy of the careful consideration of every one.

"I have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial and can with every confidence recommend them. I generally use only half a tablet after eating and it has always given me relief.

"I know other people who have used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets in this neighbourhood and they all speak in the highest terms of them."

This is a very moderate statement, but it assures you of one thing: that if you have a bloated or uncomfortable feeling after eating you can find a sure relief in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. And there is further relief in the knowledge that in using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets you are safeguarding yourself against Chronic Indigestion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Dyspepsia in all stages by resting the stomach and allowing it to recover its strength naturally. They are a safeguard against disease and an insurance policy against discomfort.

Crops in the West.

Barley, 381,125 acres; estimated yield 10,900,461 bushels; average 28.6 bushels. Flax, area 64,689 acres, estimated yield 743,348 bushels; average 11.5 bushels.

Regular Ideal Summer Resort.

Basle, Switzerland, Aug. 28.—The territory that Great Britain has offered for Jewish colonization is an elevated tract 200 miles long on the Uganda Railway between Mau and Nairobi. This region is described as almost unparalleled in tropical Africa, being admirably watered, fertile, cool, covered, and as healthy for Europeans as Great Britain.

Lady Minto Going to Japan.

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—Lady Minto will be in the city Sept. 1, on her way to Vancouver, en route to Japan, via Empress of China. Her two daughters will accompany her.

Making Sure of Him.

"I think," said the thoughtful mother, "that you ought to object to young Brown paying so much attention to our daughter."

"Why?" demanded the thoughtless father. "He impresses me very favorably."

"That's just it," returned the thoughtful mother. "We must do something to make his ambitious mother think we regard ourselves a little above them socially if we are to make sure of him."

A Hint to Go.

"I have something to tell you before I go," he finally said.

"Is it a long story?" she hastily asked.

"No; it is a very short one."

"Then I think you will just have time," she sweetly said.

HAD TO LEAVE SCHOOL.

The Pitiable Story of a Young Girl.

Every Mother of a Growing Girl Will be Interested in the Story as Told by the Young Lady.

Miss Laura Dumontier is the daughter of a well-to-do farmer in St. Cuthbert, Quebec. The circumstances under which she was forced to discontinue her studies and leave school will be of interest to all mothers of growing girls, and Miss Dumontier consents to make them public for the benefit her experience may be to others. She says: "At the age of 12 I was sent to a convent school in this parish. At that time I was as healthy as any girl of my age. At the end of a couple of years, however, I felt my strength leaving me. My appetite grew poor, and I suffered from severe headaches. I nevertheless continued my studies until October, 1901, when I became very ill and was forced to leave school. The headaches that had bothered me became almost constant. I suffered from pains in the back and stomach and the least exertion would leave me almost breathless. A doctor was called in and he said I was suffering from anaemia, and was in a very dangerous condition. He treated me until February without the least beneficial result. Then another doctor was called in, but no better results followed his treatment. My parents were now thoroughly alarmed and two other doctors from St. Barthelemi were called in, and after consultation their verdict was that my trouble had reached an incurable stage. I was greatly disheartened and did not expect to live long when one day one of my friends asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had lost confidence in all medicines, but was willing to try anything that might help me, and my father got me a supply of the pills. When I had used a couple of boxes it was very plain that the pills were doing me good, and after I had taken them a couple of months I was once more enjoying the blessing of good health. I feel that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved my life and I gladly give my experience in the hope that it may be of benefit to some other young girls."

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to young girls and women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They act directly on the blood and nerves, invigorate the body, regulate the functions and restore health and strength to the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unavailing. These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail post paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Remember that no other medicine can take the place of these pills, and see that the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, is on the wrapper around every box.

Yet He Loved the Sea.

It is said that Bryan Waller Procter, known as Barry Cornwall, who wrote the well known poem—

I'm on the sea! I'm on the sea!
I am where I would ever be!—

was the very worst of sailors. When we read that he was so seasick that he could scarcely bear the sound of a human voice it becomes apparent that his wife's conduct during his affliction could scarcely have been reassuring.

As he lay on the deck of a channel boat, covered with shawls and a tarpaulin, she had the pleasing habit of humming a strain of his jovial sea song. The poet who loved the sea, but loved it best at a distance, had very little life just then, but what force he had was used in the entreaty:

"Don't, my dear! Oh, don't!"

Yet no doubt he loved the sea.

A Rude Awakening.

The Centerview (Mo.) Record tells of a young man who had been writing a girl in Minneapolis for three years, intending some day to ask her to marry him. The other day he received a letter and a picture from her. The letter announced that she had been married two years, and the picture was of her baby. "My husband and I have enjoyed your letters very much," she wrote, "but I guess you'd better stop writing now, as I have to spend all my time caring for the baby." The Record says the words the young man used after reading the letter would shock a field of oats.

Some Pygmy Animals.

A species of dwarf elephant used to live on the island of Malta and in various parts of Italy. Judging from the bones which remain, these animals, about the size of a large sheep, were somewhat numerous. A dwarf elephant is a rarity now and no longer forms a distinct species, but is considered rather a freak.

A very beautiful species of pygmy deer is found on the Sunda islands. These little creatures are not much larger than a cat, but have all the points of a "well bred" deer.

Among horses Shetland ponies are the pygmies. The ordinary musk of central Africa is a pygmy, or dwarf, of only about twenty inches in height at the shoulder and three feet in length.

Iron-ox Tablets are Very Highly Appreciated in Kingston.

January 17, 1903.

It is with real pleasure that I certify to the efficacy of Iron-ox Tablets. No tablet that I know of better serves the purpose of an effective yet gentle liver pill and regulator of the bowels, while at the same time acting as a tonic to the blood and nervous system. As a regulator of the bowels they are all right.

MR. DALY REDIVIVUS.

Some Changes Contemplated in the Roblin Cabinet.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 27.—It is stated on good authority that Colin H. Campbell is to retire from the Roblin Government, and will be succeeded in the Attorney-Generalship by T. Mayne Daly.

The death of Mr. Campbell's partner, Mr. Crawford, makes it necessary for him to devote his whole attention to his law business.

On account of the illness of John A. Davidson, it is thought that he will not be able to continue discharging the duties of the provincial treasurership, and the rumor in well informed circles is that the Roblin Government will meet the Legislature with Nat Boyd as treasurer.

Output Only $10,000,000.

Vancouver, Aug. 27.—Special despatches from Dawson state that owing to the lightness of rainfall the clean-up for the season is very disappointing. Instead of $18,000,000 or $20,000,000, as it was last year, the Klondike output this year will be less than $10,000,000.

Death Result of Injuries.

Hamilton, Aug. 28.—After lingering at death's door for nearly three weeks, Mrs. Freeth, wife of John Freeth, contractor, passed away last evening at 8 o'clock. Two weeks ago Sunday night she tried to get off a radial car at the corner of Gore and Catharine streets, but the car started before she could alight and she was thrown violently on her head on the pavement. She was picked up unconscious, and never regained her consciousness. Her skull was fractured.

Five Men Fall 30 Feet.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 28.—A scaffold with five men collapsed at the C.P.R. work shops, Hochelaga, yesterday morning, and fell a distance of over thirty feet. Several of the men were badly injured, one of them named Burbois having a fractured skull, and is not expected to recover.

Will Get Better.

Kingston, Aug. 28.—The danger point has been passed in the condition of W. C. Caldwell, M.P.P., Lanark, and his recovery is now fully expected.

The End of "Bleak House."

The devotees of Dickens will soon have one pilgrimage the less to make in London. The dwelling in which Dickens located Mr. Krook and Miss Flite, in "Bleak House," is coming down. It stands in Chichester Rents, Chancery lane, at the corner near the little entrance to Lincoln's Inn. It is a very old building, and answers to Dickens' description even to the garret window, where little Miss Flite kept her birds. Other houses have been labelled as "Krook's," for Dickens only very loosely indicated the abodes of his characters; but popular opinion in the neighborhood has always favored the claims of the old house which is now shortly to make way for new buildings.

Pale, sallow, yellow skin tells of a torpid, sluggish liver and impurities in the blood, which will be entirely removed by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Kidney-Liver Pills. By acting directly on the liver and bowels this great medicine brings prompt and lasting cure for all derangements of these organs, cures indigestion and dyspepsia and removes the cause of headaches and billousness. THE DINING CAR CLEW

By SHELDON HILL.

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

"The chief wants to see you, Inspector Grantham," said a messenger coming into the room at New Scotland Yard.

I went at once to the chief superintendent's office and was received by my superior officer with a friendly nod.

"Good news for you, Grantham," he said. "Some one has fairly given Brady away. Read that letter and look at that photo.

The letter was undated and unsigned. It was in these words:

Brady, the bank note forger, intends to break cover this afternoon and make a bolt for the States. He will leave Euston for Liverpool by the 5:20 corridor express, accompanied by his female accomplice, named Daisy Gilbart. Brady is certain to be disguised. The writer, however, incloses a photograph of Daisy Gilbart, who, not being as yet known to the police, may possibly travel in propria persona.

The photograph was that of a bold, saucy eyed young woman with a profusion of light hair and very showily attired in evening dress. A mark on the neck attracted my attention.

"One would have thought that a woman of that type would have got the photographer to retouch the mark out of the picture," I said. "What do you make of it all, sir—a split in the camp?"

"The chances are that jealousy of this person Gilbart prompted the information."

I could not gainsay the chief's view. In nine cases out of ten the anonymous letters that lead to the capture of important criminals are due to feminine spite. And yet there was the chance that the friendly letter might be a "plant."

The warrant for Joe Brady had been in my hands for six weeks. The only credit I could so far take was that my pursuit had been so keen that he had not dared to come out into the open and make a bolt for it.

I glanced at the clock. It was nearly 3 o'clock, and I had two hours and a half to make arrangements for the capture. I mentioned the names of the plain clothes men whom I desired to support me and took my departure.

So it was that at 5 o'clock I drove up in a hansom to the terminus, carefully dressed in the garments of a bishop and with my face altered from all semblance to the original. To be in keeping with my assumed character in the probable event of Brady having confederates on the watch, I went into the booking office and took a first class ticket for Liverpool, after which I strolled out on to the platform just as the train of vestibule cars was backing into position.

Early as it was, my two subordinates had by my direction preceded me to the station, though they were not to openly communicate with me till the supreme moment. One of them, a smart young sergeant named Parker, who was got up as a blue jacket, contrived to whisper in my ear as I stood at the bookstall:

"The girl is here, apparently alone. Came ten minutes ago. Took two first to Liverpool. Now in the ladies' waiting room."

Parker and his colleague had of course had a sight of the photograph. His information was welcome, as proving that at any rate the letter received at the yard had some foundation and was not, as I had half feared, a practical joke designed to lead us on a wild goose chase.

I sat down on a bench opposite the dining car to await developments. A bishop is a common object nowadays, and my laced hat and gaiters attracted but little attention. I was able to look over the top of the Church Times, which I had purchased, and so watch the arrival of passengers. A score of people had taken their seats in the dining car, but not one of them, allowing for the most elaborate disguise, could I identify as Joe Brady. They were mostly unmistakable Americans returning to their native land in parties of threes and fours.

Suddenly an incident occurred which at the time caused me some uneasiness. Sergeant Parker's voice reached me, raised in tones of expostulation.

"No, I don't want a drink, mate, and by the same token you seem to have had a full dose already," he was saying.

A little way along the platform my assistant had been accosted by a half tipsy blue jacket, who was trying to pull him into the buffet. The sailor's cap proclaimed that he belonged to the same ship as that which Parker's disguise denoted, the Majestic. To my relief, the man seemed to be too muddled to perceive that the sergeant was no shipmate of his, but staggered off, dropping his bundle once or twice, to the front of the train.

The sailor had hardly disappeared when the original of the photograph came out of the waiting room and crossed the platform to the dining car. She was wearing a well cut serge costume and had made no attempt at disguise, even the mark on her neck being distinctly visible above the collar of her dress.

But where was the redoubtable Brady? It was 5:25 now, and there were no signs of Miss or Mrs. Daisy Gilbart's intended traveling companion. The same question was plainly beginning to agitate the lady. She quitted the seat which she had secured and stood on the platform of the car gazing anxiously toward the entrance from the booking office.

The warning bell rang. I decided on no account to lose sight of the fair Daisy. If the person she was expecting did not come and she went on in the train I would go too. If she got out and abandoned her journey I and my assistants would shadow her wherever she went.

Contriving a word with Parker, I hastily sketched my intentions and bade him go forward to the third class carriages, into one of which he was to jump at the last minute if he saw me board the dining car.

A moment later I had taken my seat in the car, for Gilbart, after one last distracted gaze to the station entrance, had decided to pursue her journey. As the train gathered speed I settled down to the task of watching for signs of her fraternizing with one of the other passengers, but nothing of the sort occurred. She sat looking out of the window, and presently a tear stole down her cheek—only one, but a genuine tear.

Moved by a sudden impulse, I changed my seat and took the place opposite to her at the white draped table. My episcopal garb warranted, I thought, the proffer of consolation, in the course of which the pumping process might be administered.

Imagine, then, my astonishment when my overtures were received with:

"What's the use of talking like that? You're the 'tec that's after Joe Brady, ain't you?"

A denial would certainly not have been believed, so I nodded admission.

"You've had your trouble for nothing, I'm afraid. He must have got wind of that letter and kept out of the way."

"The letter!" I exclaimed in bewilderment.

"I wrote it myself," replied the girl. "I wanted him caught, you see. Don't ask why; it's a woman's reason. But he's too cunning for me, and now I suppose he'll kill me some time."

The ice being broken, she poured forth a flood of recriminations against her late associate, affirming that she had no idea of his true character and giving me the address of his hiding place in Battersea.

"We don't stop till Crewe, but you'd better wire to your people from there to arrest him, or at any rate shadow him till you get back," she advised.

I had already decided to do so, but I was still not quite satisfied. Why had she gone on in the train after finding that her communication to the police had been abortive?

Her home was in New York, she said, and, having her passage ticket taken, she wished to use it and cut herself adrift from evil associates. So the train rushed northward, the other passengers in the car soon ceasing to be amused by the friendship struck up between the elderly bishop and the solitary traveler.

At last the train ran into Crewe station, and as I rose she put out her well gloved hand. "Goodby, Mr. Grantham. I do hope you'll catch him," she said. "My life won't be safe till he's under lock and key."

"But this is not goodby. I am only going to send off the wire," I said. "I am going on with you to Liverpool to see you safe on board the steamer."

It was a chance shot, but it went home. She turned ashy pale, and I knew that she had been working with the object of getting rid of me at Crewe. But where was Brady?

The question was answered by Daisy Gilbart herself in the anguished cry of "My father! Oh, my father!" Following her gaze to the platform, I saw outside the car window two sailors of the Majestic with linked arms. One of them was handcuffed.

"I've got him, sir," said Parker. "By luck I traveled down in the same compartment and laid a few conversational traps for him. He had neglected to sufficiently post himself in detail about our fine old craft. I smelt a rat before we'd gone twenty miles."

* * * * * * *

"Daisy Gilbart" was indeed Brady's daughter, and I could not help being sorry for her. She had made a bold bid to hoodwink us by concentrating the attention of our combined forces on the dining car while her father traveled in another part of the train, but she hardly allowed for the caution of an experienced officer.

The Sea of Sahara.

French engineers have declared that it is perfectly feasible to convert the desert of Sahara into a vast lake, thus opening to commerce great regions of the interior of Africa which can now only be reached by long, tedious and dangerous caravan journeys. They say that a large portion of the desert lies below the level of the Atlantic and that by digging a canal to let in the waters of the ocean the great change could be effected easily and at a cost which would be small compared to the benefits which would accrue. If the whole desert lay below the level of the Atlantic the flooding of it would create a sea more than four times as big as the Mediterranean; but, as the Sahara is composed of elevated plateaus, mountain ranges and depressions, only a part would be covered with water when the waves of the ocean were let in, and the new sea thus formed would be an irregular body of water probably of about the same size as the Mediterranean. Great commercial cities would at once spring up on its shores and trade and civilisation strike at once to the heart of Africa. The sea of Sahara may never become a reality, but in any event it is a gigantic and pleasing dream.

Killed by Fear.

Frederick I. of Prussia was killed by fear. His wife was insane, and one day she escaped from her keeper and, dabbing her clothes with blood, rushed upon her husband while he was dosing in his chair. King Frederick imagined her to be the White Lady, whose ghost was believed to invariably appear whenever the death of a member of the royal family was to occur, and he was thrown into a fever and died in six weeks.

Spiders Like Music.

A violinist says spiders are notoriously and historically fond of music. At one of his performances the concert hall was made disagreeable by a sudden invasion of spiders, which were drawn by his violin out from the cracks and crannies of the ancient building. They crawled about the floor and on to the stage, and he could see the annoyed audience stamping on the insects. The writer adds that he has known a small garden snake to be attracted by piano playing and a young calf to whisk his tail and prance about most gleefully at the first notes of a French horn. His neck would curve about proudly, his hoofs tread lightly and his ears wag joyously when the tooting began, and he never quieted down till the music ceased.

There have been times when the wild beasts have been more merciful than human beings, and spared the woman cast to them in the arena. It is astonishing how little sympathy women have for women. In the home the mistress sees the maid with the signs of suffering she recognizes so well, but she does not lighten the sick girl's load by a touch of her finger. In the store the forewoman sees the pallor and exhaustion which mark womanly weakness, but allows nothing for them. It is work or quit.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, by curing the womanly diseases which undermine the health and sap the strength. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"When I first commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. George A. Strong, of Gansevoort, Saratoga Co., N. Y. "I was suffering from female weakness, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains, weak and tired feeling all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, then I began taking your medicine. After taking the first bottle I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of the 'Pleasant Pellets,' also used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

LADIES WHO WORE KNIVES.

In early English days knives were worn by Englishwomen in imitation of the anelace, a dagger carried at the girdle. Chaucer speaks of them in the prologue to his "Canterbury Tales":

Hir knives were y-chaped not with brass,
But all with silver wrought, full clean and well.

In Ross church, Herefordshire, is a monument to a lady of the Ruddle family, temp. Henry VIII., who wears a purse and a knife. Brand tells us that knives were formerly part of the accouterments of a bride. In a play, temp. "Edward III.," occurs the passage:

Here by my side do hang my wedding knives.

In the "Archæologia" Mr. Douce, the antiquary, wrote a paper on this practice of wearing knives by European ladies in the sixteenth century, and an engraving shows a specimen of a case of these wedding knives, dated 1610, which are described as having amber handles and cases of purple velvet embroidered with gold.

OF INTEREST TO MOTHERS.

A Safeguard for Children Cutting Teeth in Hot Weather.

The time when children are cutting teeth is always an anxious one for mothers and when this occurs during the hot weather solicitude often deepens into alarm. So many ills that often result fatally are liable to ensue that every mother will be interested in a medical discovery that robs this period of many dangers. Mrs. R. Ferguson of 105 Mansfield street, Montreal, Que., gives her experience for the benefit of other mothers. She says: "My baby has always been small and delicate and suffered so much last summer with his teeth that I did not think he would live. The medicine the doctor ordered for him did not do him much good. Then he was attacked with dysentery and a very hot skin and cough. I sent for Baby's Own Tablets and they did him a wonderful amount of good and he is now getting on splendidly."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent post paid at twenty-five cents a box by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

His Long Sermon.

A Philadelphia clergyman used to relate the following on himself: "I preached a funeral sermon at one time and spoke on the resurrection. I am sure I spoke longer than was my custom.

"The undertaker was a man of nervous temperament, and as the afternoon was going he began to be anxious to be on the way to the cemetery. He finally whispered to one of my members, 'Does your minister always preach as long as that at a funeral?'

"'Well,' said the brother, 'that is a good sermon.'

"'Yes,' said the undertaker, 'the sermon is all right, and I believe in the resurrection, but I am afraid if he does not stop pretty soon I will not get this man buried in time.'"

Weak and Exhausted.

"Though weak and exhausted I was often unable to eat. After taking Angier's Petroleum Emulsion for two weeks I was able to eat and enjoy three hearty meals a day, and the nervousness has left me entirely." — M. E. Nesbitt, Toronto, Canada. 6a

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

New York, Aug. 29. — 9.45 a.m. — The advance in the market yesterday was almost wholly the result of traders trying to make a turn on long side on Washington news of money situation. There is no doubt that this has helped sentiment very materially. There is a probability that bull interests may try to work up further advance to-day on this improvement in general sentiment; stronger tone of London market and expectation of moderately favourable statement. We do not look for any great activity however and would favour profit taking on any further advance until the crop situation becomes more assuring.

McINTYRE & MARSHALL.

We expect to see a fairly strong stock market to-day with probably fractional advances but usual evening up will cause irregularity. In event of advance before the statement it is likely considerable realizing will follow its publication. If the market sags prior to the report it will according to floor traders be bid up, should statement be favourable. Market is highly professional and subject to quick changes, the strength yesterday being entirely due to covering of shorts. It depends altogether how large short interest is whether further advance of a point or two should be executed. The Wall crowd is advertising its bull stand rather openly and we are inclined to think active stocks a sale on further advance but only for moderate profits. There is said to be pending a drive at the Atchison shorts, and RI is tipped for a small advance.

DR. SANGSTER, SOLE SURVIVOR

(The Globe.)

Since the death of the late Rev. Dr. Dewart, the sole survivor of the first class of students in the Toronto Normal School, is Dr. Sangster, of Port Perry. He spent five years in Hamilton, as the principal of the Central School there, and a very pleasant episode in the recent Homecomers' Festival was a reunion of the old teachers and pupils of that famous school. Attorney-General Gibson, one of Dr. Sangster's pupils, presided at the gathering to welcome him. Dr. Sangster was for several years Vice-Principal and afterwards Principal of the Toronto Normal School, but he has been practising in Port Perry for over thirty years.

THE QUIET HOUR.

Thoughtful Reading for Sunday Afternoon.

(By Llewellyn A. Morrison.)

On Christmas morning, surrounded by his family and friends, in his comfortable city home in Toronto, Thomas Adair, late of Southampton, in the county of Bruce, Ontario, passed from the mortal to the immortal, from the earthly to the heavenly life.

The history of the strenuous life he lived for seventy-five years, most of which was spent in this province, if written would be one of manly, earnest, vigorous and aggressive citizenship. He served well his family, friends, neighbours and compatriots, and was a robust type of the sturdy Scotch emigrants of the early half of the last century, who brought to this virgin land the qualities, character and habits developed from many generations of thrifty, frugal toil and and rugged Christian economy in the Highlands of Scotland.

Two of my very earliest recollections are of him and his father, occurring probably in the winter and spring of 1849. They are interesting enough to merit telling at length but I recount them briefly, chiefly as a tribute to a very dear friend, and because they reveal unmistakeably the causes, conditions and elements of character in him which we all so much admired.

His father settled on the adjoining farm to my father in the eastern part of the Township of Dummer, in Peterborough County, Ontario, some time during the year of 1845. The whole of that county at that time was pretty much heavy, primitive bush, with settlements here and there, the roads in spring being almost impassable for lack of bridges over the streams, the clearings of the neighbours being mostly conected by paths through the woods.

I remember being at Adairs with my father and mother on a Sunday in the winter season, a boy about three or four years old, and the dinner being somewhat delayed awaiting the return of "Tam" and a sister who had gone to Norwood to the Kirk. My first recollection is seeing Mr. Adair standing just outside the door with a Scotch bonnet on his head, looking along the path watching for their return. Mrs. Adair called out to him, "Come ben an' latch the door or ye'il spoil the dinner," and I can see him stoop as he came through the door. The conversation which took place a few minutes later on the return of the Kirk goers appears to have been indellibly impressed on my memory, yet my having heard it retold many times by my father no doubt kept it for me.

The elder Adair, a tall, thin, sandy Scot, said as they came in: "Hut, Tam, but yere late th' day. Why did th' elder keep th' Kirk sa lang? Man, we're nearly stairved watin' for ye!"

"Weel, weel, faither, it's no oor faut! Th' elder was awa' an' we did na like ta hae oor walk for naething an' we went up ta heer yan callant o' a Colquhoun haud forth in Scarjght's shop, an' he talkit, an' talkit, an' talkit, an' we had ta heer him oot."

"Aye, an' is be a gude preecher? What did he say?"

"He preeched aboot hell-fire an' damnation. He mad' sum awfu' pictures o' puir sinners being basted on a spit, 'till ye could heer them sizzling on th' red hot coals. Man! he said, hell was fu' o' infants no' a span lang!"

With wrath and indignation blazing in every lineament of his face and form, the elder Adair sprang to his feet and snatching off his Scotch bonnet, threw it at the floor at his feet, exclaiming:

"Tam-d Tam! Why did ye no ca' him a liar right on the spot? Did any ane ever heer sic a travesty on th' loving kindness an' abounding mercy o' a gude God!"

"Na, na, faither! That would na' hae been seemly, but I tell ye I was mad a' over!"

My other recollection is probably from the spring of the same year. I recall going with my father and mother through the woods to their place in the very early morning to say "Good-bye" to the Adairs, who were starting off with their household goods to the "Queen's Bush."

When we reached the log shanty which they were leaving, all hands were busy loading their stuff on a wagon. I remember Tom putting the team (oxen I think) to the wagon. Then I can see the mother and one or more girls getting into the wagon and up on top of the load. When the last piece was fastened and everything in readiness for the long trip of several weeks (there were no railroads in those days) the father came along out in the woods and asked if "A' th' gear" was on, and being answered in the affirmative, I can remember him, standing on a knoll, silhouetted in the sunrise, uncovering his head, the boys doing the same, and hear him say in broad Scotch:—"Tam, sing the Shepherd Psalm," and I can see again the bright faced young man and hear the noble voice, clear as a bell, that rang out on the morning air in that immortal song of the Son of Jesse, which has lifted the faith of many a family of Scotland's Covenanter sons" going out whither they knew not with God as their everlasting guide and portion:

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

The tune was the very same (and no doubt a favourite of his) that was sung at the opening services in the city home the other day, before sending the coffined, pulseless clay on its last journey to that fair "God's Acre" by the sounding shores of Huron—which he loved so well. I do not know the name of the tune but I have heard my, now sainted, mother sing it scores of times, and she always called it "Tom Adair's tune."

When the singing ceased on that May morning at the mid century, with closed eyes, upturned face and uplifted hands spread out before God, the father talked with Him as with a friend. He recounted what the Heavenly Father had done for them and their abiding confidence in Him. He committed himself and wife and "A' th' bairns" to the God of his forefathers, and besought that their way through the wilderness might be shadowed by day and night by Him who made paths through the sea for His people of old, until they too all reached the Promised Land.

I seem to feel again the hot tears from my weeping mother's eyes fall on my hands, and see every one brushing away the tears as the "Good-byes" were quickly said.

The character of the home training which produced the man we knew, can be read between the lines of the stories, Honourable, loyal to Queen and country, kind and considerate to everybody, helpful and optimistic, his has been an arduous and worthy career.

The toiling is over, the duties are done,
The race to the goal of desire hath been run;
The world with its turmoils and chafings are o'er,
Its burdens and bitterness vex him no more;
His spirit hath found all the freedoms of love
And joined the glad songs of redemption above.
He is safe in the City of God.

Heavy Blow by Turks Upon the Bulgarian Insurgents.

IN THE BATTLE OF SMILOVO

Fighting Is Now General—Series of Conflicts Raging in Macedonia—Many New Risings Reported—Notorious Brigand Preaches the Slaughter of the Bulgarians—New Outbreak Near Saloniea.

Salonica, Aug. 31.—The Bulgarian insurgents sustained a severe reverse at Smilovo, Friday, 1,000 of them being killed. The insurgents to the number of 3,000 occupied a position on a height, which was stormed by six battalions of Turkish troops, commanded by Selvet Pasha. After losing 1,000 of their number, the Bulgarians fled in the face of the heavy Turkish artillery fire. The Turkish losses were insignificant.

The insurgents have blown up the lighthouse at Vasiliko, and now occupy all the principal points along the Black Sea coast. The barracks at Demokita, near Adrianople, have been blown up and the garrison killed. Four thousand Albanians are pillaging the villages in the districts of Okrida and Krushevo. The latter district is deserted by the population, who have joined the insurgents in the mountains. The Turkish forces in the frontier districts have been largely increased.

Masters at Monastir.

Sofia, Aug. 31.—Despatches received yesterday from Constantinople, Salonica, Monastir and Adrianople reveal an unsatisfactory condition of affairs in Macedonia. From Salonica come reports of new risings. At Monastir, the insurgents are said to be masters of the situation. Telegrams from Adrianople declare that the insurgent bands are continuing their ravages.

A new outbreak is reported to have occurred in the environs of Salonica, and several skirmishes have taken place between Gievgyeli and Salonica, and there has also been a fight near Eddidjevarda, both sides losing heavily. In the district between Kastoria and Storina, south of Monastir, the insurgents have destroyed all the fortified residences of the wealthy Beys. A notorious brigand named Abdul Medjid recently delivered a harangue to the inhabitants of Tetovo, telling them to prepare themselves to slaughter all the Bulgarians upon the first appearance of revolutionary bands in the neighborhood.

Preaches Holy War.

Many wounded Turkish soldiers have been brought into Salonica from Uskub, Seres and Monastir. The Turkish troops are reported to be greatly discouraged, and many deserters have been thrown into prison. According to the Dnevnik, the hodja (teachers attached to a mosque) in the Vilayet of Kossovo are preaching that the time for a holy war has come and that the people must be ready to kill the Christians in the vilayet. Insurgent bands are said to be in complete control of the districts of Demirhissar and Kitschevo, and the chief mountain passes in the Vilayet of Monastir. The total strength of the bands in the Vilayet of Adrianople is estimated at 6,000 men. The insurgents have blown up the barracks at Chioktepe, near Malkoternovo, killing sixty soldiers. They also attacked and set fire to the Turkish camps at Egripalanka, Kratovo and Kotchani. A great panic ensued, the troops firing into each other. The Bulgarian Government has sent another regiment to strengthen the frontier forces in the neighborhood of Kostendi.

Merely a Wedding Party.

London, Aug. 31.—The Sofia correspondent of the Times telegraphs that it is explained that the Beirut affair was merely a wedding party indulging in a feu de joie, and the shots were not directed with design against the United States Vice-Consul, Mr. Magelssen.

Highwaymen Active in Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Highway robbery has been growing to an alarming extent the last few weeks. Several hold-ups in the downtown sections have been reported and one case of where two daring desperadoes entered the store of a Queen street dealer with drawn revolvers. The last two cases of daring holdups occurred on Saturday night. The victims were knocked down with the butt end of a revolver and relieved of $15 and $13 respectively.

Peace Czar's New Battleship.

St Petersburg, Aug. 31.—The battleship Slava, which is one of the largest vessels in the Russian navy, was launched Saturday at the Baltic yard, in the presence of the Czar and the royal family. The Slava, which was laid down in 1901, is of 13,600 tons displacement, 16,000 horse-power and 370½ feet long.

Robbers Took No Chance.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Without a word of warning, two men killed and two others wounded by hold-up men at the barns of the Chicago City Railway Company at an early hour yesterday. The shooting was done by three men, who escaped after securing $3,000

EACH IS CONFIDENT.

Canada and U. S. Alaska Boundary Commissioners.

FIRST MEETING ON THURSDAY

Representatives of the Two Countries Are Now All in London With Their Respective Briefs Ready—Documents, However, Not Yet Made Public—Time to Be Fixed For the Oral Argument.

London, Aug. 31.—United States Secretary of War Elihu Root; ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster, Hannis Taylor and Judge John M. Dickinson arrived at Liverpool on the Celtic yesterday for the meetings of the Alaskan Boundary Commission, which will open in London, Sept. 3. The party came directly to London. The Canadian commissioners are also here.

United States Ambassador Choate has arranged to give a dinner in honor of Secretary Root, at which all the American and British representatives will be present.

The commissioners are already familiar with the facts of the cases on both sides, which were filed several months ago. At the first meeting of the commissioners next Thursday, the Americans and Canadians will submit their briefs, which will be a condensation of the facts and arguments regarding the interpretation of the treaty. The commission will then announce the day on which the oral arguments will be heard.

The documents have not yet been made public, but the whole controversy centres upon Canada's effort to acquire an outlet to the sea. It is known authoritatively that the Canadian agent asserts that under the Russo-British treaty of 1825 the line properly crosses numerous inlets, including the head waters of the Lynn Canal. The contention seems to be that the inlets less than six miles wide, situated in the disputed region, belong to Canada. United States Counsel Foster vigorously opposed this view, following the sinuosities of the coast, and thus separates Canada from all the ocean and puts Porcupine Creek and the gold district under American jurisdiction.

The commissioners expect that the complete consideration of the entire case will take less than two months, and should the commission fail to render a majority award, the facts will be clearly established. This will lead to an easier settlement in the future.

Brakeman Killed.

New Hamburg, Ont., Aug. 31.—A freight train going east met with an accident early yesterday morning while coming down a grade approaching the bridge crossing the River Nith. It is supposed that an axle on one of the box cars laden with coal broke, and upon reaching the bridge five of the cars were thrown off the track. The auxiliary crew from Stratford cleared the track. Brakeman James Wise of Hamilton, who was sent out to flag the express train, coming from Stratford, was run over by the express and killed.

Charged With Murder.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—Bert Kent, son of Isaac Kent, a well-known contractor, who is building the Bout De Lile bridge, is under arrest on a charge of killing a young Englishman named Grierley. The shooting occurred Saturday, and the young man died yesterday.

POLITICS IN QUEBEC.

Mr. Tarte Chief Speaker at Conservative Rally at Berthierville.

Berthierville, Que., Aug. 31.—A Conservative rally was held here yesterday, at which the feature was a speech by Hon. J. Israel Tarte, the first that he had delivered at a Conservative meeting since he ceased to be a member of the Laurier Government. Mr. Tarte's special effort was directed against that Government. The object of having the ex-Minister of Public Works speak in this constituency is to prepare for his nomination here as a candidate for the Commons instead of at St. Mary's, Montreal, which he at present represents. The riding of Berthier is now held by the Liberals, and as it is Mr. Tarte's native county it is hoped, St. Mary's being strongly Liberal, that he may be able to win here if at all. There was a large attendance to-day, estimated at 5,000. Many came down from Montreal, and as it was a new move for Mr. Tarte hundreds came out of pure curiosity. Nevertheless the chief speaker was well received and heartily cheered.

Ex-President Steyn.

London, Aug. 31.—A rumor has reached England from Paris to the effect that ex-President Steyn is going to embrace the Roman Catholic faith. Mr. Steyn, whose health has improved, is being looked after by Roman Catholic Sisters of Mercy. His head and body have regained their mobility, and speech has returned. He can walk a few steps without help; his arms and fingers are still stiff, but give hope of complete recovery; but his eyesight is defective.

New Manitoba Judge.

Ottawa, Aug 31.—The appointment of William Egerton Perdue of Winnipeg, to be a puisne judge of the Court of King's Bench for the Province of Manitoba is gazetted. Judge Perdue takes the place of Judge Dubuc, who was appointed chief justice of the Province upon the promotion of Judge Killam to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Long Strike Was Futile.

Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—The 2,000 textile workers employed in John and James Dobson's mills, who have been on strike since June 1, for a week of 55 hours, Saturday gave up the struggle, and will return to work to-day.

Two Were Killed.

Toledo, Aug. 31.—A freight wreck occurred in the yards of the Nickel Plate Railway at Bellevue, Ohio, yesterday in which Engineers James F. Rodenburg, of Bellevue, and J. G. Bartholomew, of Conneaut, Ohio, were killed.

New York, Aug. 31.—The Tribune's London correspondent cables that he is authorized to make the announcement that Lord Roberts will not be able to go to America this year.

MONDAY, AUG. 31, 1903.

A DISJOINTED PROJECT.

Sir William Mulock undertook, as his contribution to the Grand Trunk Pacific debate, to prove Mr. Borden's alternative system both fragmentary and expensive. As he brought to bear on his task his well-known business capacity and legal experience, it will be readily believed that he succeeded. His analysis of the Opposition project was as thorough and destructive as its worst enemy could have desired. If it was a thing of "shreds and patches" when he began, it was a thing of shreds only when he finished. Apart from its merits altogether, so far as it has any, he proved that the various speakers on the Opposition side had been contradicting each other in their ideas and estimates to such an extent as to make their collective deliverances on the subject quite worthless as a means of promoting a feasible solution of the problem of a transcontinental all-Canadian railway.

Mr. Borden's proposal embraces the following items: The building of a new railway from Montreal to Coteau; the acquisition of the Canada Atlantic, or the building of a new line from Coteau to the Georgian Bay; the building of a new line from Depot Harbour to Sudbury; the acquisition of the Canadian Pacific from North Bay to Fort William; control over both the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern from Fort William to Winnipeg; the aiding of the Grand Trunk Railway to build a line from Winnipeg to Edmonton; the building of a new line from Edmonton to the Pacific coast. This leaves the section from Montreal eastward to be accounted for, and there he would fall back on the Intercolonial Railway, which is a purely Government road.

The total cost of this proposed line from Montreal to the Pacific coast would, on a fair estimate, be over one hundred and twenty-seven millions of dollars, made up as follows:

Montreal to Coteau	$1,110,000
Coteau to Georgian Bay	15,000,000
Depot Harbour to Sudbury...	3,500,000
North Bay to Fort William	88,040,000
Fort William to Winnipeg—
By Canadian Pacific	15,638,549
By Canadian Northern	10,625,000
Winnipeg to Edmonton	13,000,000
Edmonton to the Pacific	30,000,000
Total	$127,013,549

On this outlay, unlike the cost of construction of the division from Moncton to Winnipeg under the Government scheme, there would be no financial return at all to the Dominion; under the Government scheme the Grand Trunk Pacific Company will lease this division at a rental of three percent of the cost of construction, and of any "betterments" subsequently effected, with the approval of the company and the Government.

Mr. Borden, with an aggregation of sections new and old from Montreal to the Pacific Ocean, and the Intercolonial from Montreal to the Atlantic, might well have left his transcontinental project as a foil to that of the Government, but it had to be made more acceptable politically, and, therefore, he suggested a better route from Levis or Riviere du Loup to Moncton, on the understanding that it was to be made part of the Intercolonial Railway, and would operate to give Halifax and St. John a better fighting chance than they have at present for winter traffic. In other words, he was willing to do the very thing Mr. Blair condemned, namely, to make a new cut-off line part of the through transcontinental route, and degrade a large part of the Intercolonial to the status of a local road. The cost of this new line would have to be added to the total given above.

As the new line across New Brunswick would please the people of that Province, so the northern parts of Quebec and Ontario must not be slighted, seeing that they are to be traversed by the Government line. Mr. Borden has expressed his willingness to build through this region from Quebec to Winnipeg a colonization railway. Nothing could better show the absurdity of his whole attitude, for the Government proposal is to make the transcontinental trunk line a colonization railway throughout practically its entire length, not merely in Ontario and Quebec, but also in Manitoba, the Northwest Territory, and British Columbia. Mr. Borden's proposal must be pronounced impracticable, expensive, inefficient, and indefinite. It is obvious that his associates have no faith in it, for they pay its details very little respect in their speeches; it is equally evident that he has no faith in it himself, for, while he expounded it in a long and elaborate speech, he did not venture to challenge a division of the House on it by submitting it as an amendment to the agreement under discussion.—Globe.

HUDSON'S BAY TO BE AGAIN EXPLORED.

On Sunday last the steamer Neptune left Halifax on a cruise from which she is not expected to return in less than a twelvemonth. She is bound for Hudson's Bay, that inland sea which, geographically, though not yet commercially, is to North America what the Baltic is to Europe. To the Neptune the ice fields of the North will be no strange environment. The business for which she was built — that of the Newfoundland sealing trade — has often taken the staunch little craft on voyages among the floes and bergs off the coast of Labrador. This time, however, she goes on no private enterprise. She is employed in the service of the Government, for whom she carries a party commissioned to investigate sundry conditions in the waters and on the shores of the Canadian sea. At the head of the party is Mr. A. P. Low, geologist. He is well qualified to make a study of the rock formation and evidences of mineral deposits in that region, for both as a member of the Geological Survey staff and as the expert of a syndicate of capitalists, has he made explorations in Northern Labrador in past years. Capt. S. W. Bartlett, who commands the Neptune, will transport the party according to Mr. Low's instructions. The first stopping place is to be at Nachbak, N. Lat. 58 degrees, about 100 miles south of the entrance to Hudson's Strait. Here an Esquimaux interpreter will be taken on board.

INFORMATION SOUGHT.

Mr. Low is accompanied by the following other men of science: Mr. C. F. King, as assistant geologist; Mr. A. Hulkett, as biologist; Dr. L. E. Borden, physician; Dr. C. B. Faribault, assistant physician, Mr. G. F. Caldwell, photographer. They are to learn as much as possible of the resources of the Bay and its coasts. Of these we already have much knowledge acquired by the Hudson's Bay Company, by former Government expeditions and by private prospecting parties. But, of course the work of exploring that vast tract of sea and land by the methods and with the instrumentalities of science, has only begun. What we know of it at present may seem an infinitesimal part of the sum to which our knowledge of it shall grow in the next five years. Expeditions were sent to Hudson's Bay in 1884, 1885, 1886, and 1897, and all of them added something to our knowledge of the geology, the economic minerals, and the life of the region. Mr. Low was in the expedition of 1897, and collected a large number of zoological specimens. Besides the search for minerals and the study of the fisheries, the duties of the present expedition will include the inspection of the whaling stations. In times gone by the whalers came largely from Dundee, Scotland. Nowadays, as for years past, they come from New Bedford, and other points on the New England coast. It is not well to let them get the idea that they have prescriptive rights in that part of Canada. Nor should they be allowed to trade with the natives, for there is no way of preventing smuggling. Lieut. Gordon, who commanded the expedition of 1886, showed that for 25 years before that four or five American whaling ships came annually to the whaling stations, and carried on trade with the Esquimaux. He advised that a Government vessel be sent every year to regulate the fisheries and carry on survey work.

NAVIGATION OF THE STRAITS.

This expedition is not required to give special attention to the condition of navigation in Hudson's Straits. Upon that subject Lieutenant Gordon's report is probably final. He made three voyages to the Bay, the chief purpose being to find out the period of navigation, and the best way of meeting the difficulties at the beginning and end of that period. He reported the opening of the season to be between the first and the tenth of July, and the close to be in the first week of October. Vessels should be well strengthened forward, have wooden sheathing and be very full under the counter. In his opinion she should be no more than 2,000 tons gross. But after the close of the season he defines he considers the risk great. Once the old ice from Fox channel enters the west end of the Straits and becomes cemented into a solid floe by the formation of young ice between the pans the most powerful vessel cannot free itself. After the beginning of October, too, the daylight shortens and snowstorms become frequent. The tidal currents and the faulty working of the compass in the steel or iron ship in that latitude complicate the difficulties. Captain Markham, R. N., was on board the Alert with Lieut. Gordon, the Captain being a director of the Winnipeg and Hudson Bay Railway Company. He left the Alert at York factory, and went by way of the Hayes river boat and canoe route to Winnipeg.

EXPEDITION OF 1897

In 1897 Dr Wakeham was sent in the Diana. His mission also was to inquire into the length of the season at the Strait. His attempt to force a way through the Straits earlier than the date fixed by Lieut. Gordon was a success, but it was really a meagative demonstration that Lieut. Gordon's limit was about right. In fact, Dr. Wakeham states in his report that Lieut. Gordon's report settled the matter. The Diana left Halifax on the 3rd of June, 1897, and it was not until the 22nd that she was able to reach the entrance of the Straits. It took from that date until the 13th of July for the vessel to work her way into the waters of the Bay. No vessel engaged in commerce could afford to spend so long a time, so great a consumption of coal and supplies, to say nothing of the risk and the wear and the tear in travelling so short a distance. There may be years when the channel is sufficiently open before the first of July, but navigation in June, though possible, is scarcely safe or profitable. Dr. Wakeham's fall voyage was made later as his spring voyage was made earlier, than the season marked by Lieutenant Gordon. He made a trip inward indeed between the 15th and the 22 of October, and his last outward voyage beginning on the 23rd, October was finished on the 31st. But the autumn of 1897 seems to have been exceptionally open in that part of the sea. In some years the Straits are impassible even in the first week of July, as Captain Gordon found in 1886, his vessel having been held fast in the pack from the 15th of June to the 6th of July. As for the other end of the season Dr. Wakeham says the 20th of October is the extreme limit for safe navigation.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES FOR FARMERS' WIVES.

Three hundred meetings attended by farmers' wives for the purpose of receiving and giving instruction in better methods of housekeeping! Such a series of meetings has just been held in this province under the auspices of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Sixteen ladies were engaged for this work, and the excellent reports received by the department of the work done, quite justified the expenditure involved.

The objects of Women's Institutes as stated in the rules and regulations are:—

"The dissemination of knowledge relating to domestic economy, including household architecture, with special attention to home sanitation; a better understanding of the economic and hygienic value of foods, with a view to raising the general standard of health and morals of our people."

We are pleased to see that the farmers' wives and daughters are readily taking to the work. As an evidence of this I quote from a letter just received from one of the secretaries in a northern district:

"I have much pleasure in presenting the annual report of the Institute. I think we may fairly claim for our one year old institute a successful start and a prosperous year.

"In June, 1902, we organized with but a handful of, for the most part, doubting, indifferent members, and at the close of the year we have a membership of 74, most of whom are active and zealous, and all very much interested in this latest and much-needed method of raising the standard of the lives of the women on the farm.

"For a new departure our winter meetings were well attended, many no doubt, attending through curiosity, to find out what the new fad meant, but I am pleased to say that after nearly every meeting the assentiment was one of genuine respect for the Institute and those taking an active part in the work.

"As might have been expected, mistakes were made by reason of the entire newness of the work to most of us, but I think we may congratulate ourselves that the mistakes were neither many nor serious. But for all that we feel that there is a great work ahead of us, so big in fact, that one is practically tempted to shirk it, but it is hard to sit still, knowing the tremendous difference there is between what is and what might be in the conditions of Canadian farm life.

"I am pleased to be able to report that we have a capital complement of branch officers and if we can but keep this kind of school in working order for a year or more, you may anticipate great results.

"Personally it has been one of the greatest pleasures and surprises of my life in the short experience while at work in our winter meetings to meet and make so many warm friends.

"It is impossible to take part in this work without getting a broader and more cheerful view of life, and for this, if for nothing else, the institute should commend itself to every woman."

DUFFERIN AND ABERDEEN EXHIBITS.

Besides the Jubilee presents, which the King has been graciously pleased to direct shall be exhibited at the Dominion Exhibition, the Dowager Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava, has most kindly consented to the exhibition of the presents received by herself and her late husband when he was Governor-General of Canada, and again, when he was Viceroy of India. These presents are only second in variety and richness to those of her late Majesty, Queen Victoria, including, as they do, many rare and historical gifts from the Princes of India. The Countess of Aberdeen has also consented to loan many of her treasures of Irish lace, needlework and fans, to be displayed in the new Woman's Building. The Jubilee and Dufferin presents will be exhibited free in the new Manufactures and Liberal Arts building.

THIRD RACE POSTPONED.

No America's Cup Race on Saturday—Probs. Not Good For To-Day.

New York, Aug. 31.—For the first time in the history of the America's Cup contest a race has been postponed because of too much wind. Saturday the third of the present series of races was to have been sailed. Following the futile attempt of Thursday, when there was not enough wind to complete the race within the time limit, ten hours after that day's drifting failure a storm broke over the cup course and raged about Sandy Hook. The wind blew with a velocity estimated between 40 and 50 miles. At 7 o'clock the regatta committee met at the New York Yacht Club house and decided to postpone the race for the day.

The committee of the New York Yacht Club named Monday as the day for the next race. It also decided to hold the races every day thereafter until the international contest is decided.

The local Weather Bureau received the following despatch from Washington at 10 o'clock last night: The wind over the international yacht race course Monday will be brisk to high and mostly northeast, with cloudy and possibly rainy weather.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

800,000 Barrels of Apples.

Halifax, Aug. 31.—"The apples shipped to England from Halifax last year amounted to only about 80,800 barrels. The coming season the shipment from this port will be close to 350,000 barrels." Such is the statement made by James Hall, manager at Halifax for Furness, Withy & Co., who has returned from a trip through the fruit-growing country. The Furness, Withy Company will run weekly steamers from Halifax. Mr. Hall spoke of the likelihood of 350,000 barrels offering for shipment via Halifax. The total crop of apples, an enormous one, is estimated at 400,000, or even 500,000 barrels.

Investigate a Stranding.

Quebec, Aug. 29.—An investigation into the stranding of the S.S. Manchester Trader at South Point, Anticosti, a few weeks ago, was opened in the Admiralty Court yesterday afternoon. Capt. Salmon is presiding and is assisted by Capt. Temple and Capt. Rouse of the S.S. Morris, as nautical assessors, and Mr. Gordon as secretary.

Nearly Broke Away.

Port Arthur, Aug. 29.—General jail delivery at Port Arthur was frustrated yesterday by officers. A prisoner called Hume, sentenced to five years in Penitentiary, had almost drilled his way from his cell to the outer wall, when he was detected. All the prisoners knew of what was under way, but held their peace.

THE MERSEY WRECK

Court Finds That Gagnon's Conduct Was Brutal and Inhuman.

MATE BARRAS COWARDLY.

Five Landsmen Left to Drown and No Effort Was Made to Stop the Leak—Captain and Mate Censured and the Captain's Certificate Cancelled—Engineer Lamothe an Accessory But Less to Blame.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 31.—The finding in the case of the steamer Mersey, which foundered near Point Outward on Aug. 12, five lives being lost, was handed down Saturday. The court finds that the Mersey was in a seaworthy condition when she left Quebec, that the boat furnished the Mersey was sufficient had the master used the material at his disposal to increase its buoyancy, to save all the lives, but that no effort was made to stop the leak, and that the vessel was abandoned by the only experienced men on board, leaving five helpless landsmen to drown.

Gagnon, master, and Barras, mate, were highly censured, the conduct of the former being declared brutal and inhuman and that of the latter cowardly. Lamothe, engineer, was declared guilty of being accessory to the desertion, but less to blame than the others, owing to his age. Captain Gagnon's certificate was cancelled, and the court recommended that the Minister of Marine and Fisheries deal with the mate's certificate.

STRENUOUS STRATHCONA.

Canada's High Commissioner Leading Personage in Five Functions in One Day—Opened Dominion Exhibition.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—After an all-night journey from Montreal, Lord Strathcona, the venerable High Commissioner, was on Saturday the leading personage in five functions in as many parts of the city, and was actively engaged literally from early morning until midnight, when he returned to Montreal by special train. He delivered five addresses, all of considerable length. He greeted scores of old friends and made many new acquaintances. He was entertained at luncheon at the Exposition for two hours, delivered a twenty minute address in opening the Exhibition, was then driven direct to the University of Toronto, where he was invested with his degree, and in the evening at the National Club, replied to the toast of the occasion in his best humor, remaining at the banquet board for four hours, and then, holding a last informal reception at the King Edward prior to retiring to his sleeping coach, laughingly assuring the committee the while that he considered it almost a shame to retire so early in the evening.

Cable to the King.

The following cablegram was sent by Lord Strathcona to the Secretary for the Colonies on Saturday:

Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, Colonial Office, London:

Canadian National Exhibition successfully opened to-day.

The president and directors desire that you will be good enough to convey their sincere thanks to His Majesty for his gracious recognition.

The royal exhibit has evoked great enthusiasm and profound gratitude amongst his Canadian people.

STR. PITTSBURG BURNED.

And Disappointed Members of Crew Are Being Suspected.

Windsor, Aug. 31.—The steamer Pittsburg of the Georgian Bay Navigation Company's fleet was burned to the water's edge while tied up at a dock in Sandwich yesterday morning. This boat, which was valued at about $60,000, is a total loss. Insurance covers the loss but partially. Incendiarism is suspected. The boat was tied up a few days ago. Some of the members of the crew, it is said, experienced difficulty in getting their wages, when the Pittsburg tied up. Eight men stayed aboard to lay her up for the winter. At 2 and again at 4 o'clock yesterday morning they got up when they heard noises aboard, but failed to find anything wrong after carefully searching the boat. At 6 o'clock they were awakened again and barely had time to escape with their lives.

Broke His Thigh.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—George Moin, an employe of the G.T.R from Winnipeg, was brought to the Emergency Hospital Saturday night suffering from a broken thigh. While employed repairing the fire box of an engine at the foot of Spadina avenue, several freight cars were shunted along the track, striking the engine. Moin was doubled up by the moving engine and beside the break it is thought he has sustained serious internal injuries.

Grasped a Live Wire.

Hamilton, Aug. 31.—Frederick Bibby, a young man from Dundas, and Miss Tyson had a shocking experience Saturday evening about 9.15. They were driving on Gore street when a live wire fell on the horse, which was killed instantly. Mr. Bibby got out of the rig to make an investigation, took hold of the wire and got a severe shock. Nearly the whole breast of the horse was torn away.

The Glow of Health.

There is no more certain way for pale, weak people to attain the glow of health than by the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great food cure, which forms new, rich red blood and creates new nerve force

HOODLUMS IN GUISE OF HARVEST HANDS

Wrecked Stations, Robbed Restaurant and Looted Houses on Their Trip.

White River, Aug. 28.—There was great excitement in this settlement when the special train carrying 1,200 harvest hands from Nova Scotia went through.

They ran things pretty much as they liked since leaving North Bay. There they smashed everything they could lay hands on around the depot, and as a result eight men were locked up They held high jinks at Cartier and some other smaller stations along the line. At Chapleau they demanded that the railway restaurant be opened up, and when it was they ate everything eatable in sight (without paying for the same.) They then broke all the dishes, lamps, mirrors, and windows, and even pulled up part of the station platform. Every male citizen in the place was sworn in as a special constable, but with such a crowd they could do nothing.

The railway authorities issued instructions to their employes further along the road to prepare themselves for the coming gang, and later sent messages to close all restaurants and station buildings as far as Port Arthur.

Instead of coming into the railway yards here—as this is a divisional point on the railway—an engine and train crew met the harvesters outside the settlement, intending to change engines and pass through without stoping at the platform. This plan proved successful, though some of the crowd got off and entered the houses and gardens in the vicinity. They stripped clothes lines, pulled up potato plants, and amused themselves shooting chickens with revolvers. There is a Swedish family named Oremene living here. Mrs. Oremene was locked into one of the rooms and about fifty men ransacked the house, breaking dishes and furniture, and carrying off all the eatables in the house. The garden surrounding the house, which is noted hundreds of miles east and west for its many beautiful flowers, was totally destroyed.

A few of the crowd attempted to carry off some of the belongings of men engaged in building cottages for employes of the railway, but the workmen attacked them with their tools, a teamster striking one of the crowd with his shovel, rendering him insensible. A Dominion immigrant officer came from the West to take the party in charge, but his principal duty will be to mark out the ringleaders and have them arrested when the train reaches Winnipeg. He advised the White River people to defend themselves with firearms.

GROWING OF VEGETABLES IN COVERED ENCLOSURE.

Several interesting experiments are being conducted this year in the Horticultural Department of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by the Horticulturist, W. T. Macoun.

One of these experiments is the growing of vegetables in an enclosure, the top, sides and ends of which are made of cheese cloth, as compared with growing them in the open air. The object is to determine what difference there will be in time of maturing and in the tenderness of some of the vegetables. The kinds of vegetables used in the experiment are radishes, lettuce, beets, beans, carrots, tomatoes, cucumbers, watermelons, muskmelons, cauliflower, egg plant, and corn. The results of this experiment will be published in the annual report of the Farm, but already several interesting facts have been noted. The temperature is at times several degrees higher in the enclosure, the greatest difference being at night which is very favourable to plants that succeed but in hot weather. During heavy storms the rain comes through the cloth as a thick mist and the soil is hence not compacted as much as outside.

Radishes were ready for use three days earlier inside and were perfectly free from maggots, while those outside were rendered almost worthless on account of them. Cauliflowers inside were also free from maggots, while those outside were badly affected. Tomatoes ripened earlier inside, but it is doubtful if the crop of fruit will set as well as outside. Cucumbers, melons, beans and egg plants are more advanced inside than out.

Even if it does not prove profitable to grow many kinds of vegetables under cheese cloth, there is no doubt but that in the home garden this method would give good satisfaction for most vegetables.

An enclosure has many advantages. The cats, dogs, chickens, birds, and even children, can be kept out while all injurious insects except those already in the soil are excluded. The cheese cloth used in this experiment cost 4 1-2 cents a yard of 40 inches in width. The height of the enclosure is about 6 feet 6 inches. This experiment was suggested by a somewhat similar one which was tried by Mr. Graham Bell in Cape Breton last year. Experiments of this kind are also being made in the United States.

Tobacco, which has been grown so successfully in the State of Connecticut under cheese cloth, is also being tried in another enclosure on the farm.

RELIANCE LEADING BY HALF A MILE.

Owing to Light Wind Race Will Probably not be Finished Within Time Limit.

During the progress of the race, Messrs. E. M. Poussett & Co. received the following telegrams:

New York, Aug. 31, 1.25 p.m. — The yachts crossed the line at 11.40 a.m. The wind is very light and it is a question whether the race will be finished in time. The Reliance is leading by about 1-16 of a mile, but Shamrock is gaining very rapidly. Shamrock is doing much better work to-day.

2.20 p.m. — The Reliance has increased her lead to half a mile. It does not look as if the boats will finish in time allowance, on account of the very light wind.

FALL MATCHES ON THANKSGIVING DAY.

The Latest Gossip in Local Military Circles.

On Friday night a meeting of the officers of the 57th was held in the Officers' Mess, when it was decided that the fall shooting matches will be held on Thanksgiving day instead of on Labour Day, on account of the demonstration which is on the list for the latter date.

The 25th Regiment, (St. Thomas,) has been disbanded as it was unable to secure a sufficient number of recruits. The reason for this, it is believed, is because the armouries, which were built so recently as last spring, were some distance from the city and the men objected to so long a walk.

The success of the squad of men who took a part in the Ontario Rifle Association's shoot, is being freely discussed in Military circles, and the men are spoken very highly of. It is to be hoped that they will meet with equal success at Ottawa to-day.

A disgusting error of the types made it appear that Miss Kate Hendren had been appointed saleswoman in R. Fair & Company's millinery rooms. It was written that this position had been accepted by Miss Kate Henderson, a popular young lady, daughter of Mr. W. Henderson, superintendent of the Water Works.

Miss Susie Stewart of 660 Clinton avenue, south, entertained a company of about 50 guests in honour of her guest, Miss May Huffman, of Peterborough, Ont. BACK FROM FAR NORTH OF NEW ONTARIO.

Mr. J. A. Fife Home From His Trip with the General Surveying Party.

He has a High Opinion of the Territory to be Surveyed.

Mr J. A. Fife, Science Master in the Collegiate Institute, returned on Wednesday from a very enjoyable experience in the far north of Ontario. He joined the Government surveying party of Mr. A. J. Cameron, O.L.S., for the sake of the recreation and opportunities for observation, the outing would afford.

The rendezvous and starting point of the expedition was Mattawa, from which on July 13th, the party started northward, embarking on the Booth railway, on the Quebec side of the Ottawa river, at this point the interprovincial boundary. Though there is considerable good farming land in the vicinity of Mattawa, northward along the line of railway the land is rocky and broken. However, several companies are carrying on extensive lumbering operations. On July 14th Temiscamingue was reached. The journey to New Liskeard is by steamer, and on the way the rival claimant for the terminus of the new Government railway, New Haileybury, is passed. One night was passed in New Liskeard, where several Peterboroughonians were found prospering — Mr. Armstrong, formerly of this town, now land agent, William Murray, at Cronatbe, who began as a pioneer farmer, but who drifted from the farm into the berth of librarian of the public library in New Liskeard; Mr. Wm Tighe, formerly junior at the Central school buildings, and Hugh and Jas. McFee of Keene.

On July 15th the party set out for their jaunt into the unbroken and unsurveyed wilderness. For a considerable distance north from New Liskeard the route lay in Quebec territory, and also through the Quinze river to Klock's Depot. The canoe trip from this point took the party through Quinze Lake, Barrier Lake, Lonely River (whose character justifies its name,) Long Lake, Lake of Islands, and other waters to Lake Abitibi, where was found a Hudson Bay post. Thirty miles up the Lake Abitibi, the route crosses into Ontario territory, and 47 miles further the Lake debouches into Abitibi River, a large and swift stream which empties into Hudson or James' Bay. The party having by the above canoe route and some portages got considerably north of the height of land. Thirty miles from the lake and at the junction of the Abitibi and Black Rivers, is the point where the surveying operations of the party began. Two townships —to be named "Walker" and "Clergue"— are to be surveyed. Mr. Fife says there were to his knowledge eleven other surveying parties operating in that district, which is generally about 225 miles northward of New Liskeard. He had to leave the party to reach Peterborough in time to resume his duties at the Institute. He started on the return trip on the 23rd, two members of the party escorting him to Biederman's Landing on Lake Abitibi—Biederman, by the way, being a rival trader to the Hudson Bay Company. Here Mr. Fife was turned over to the tender mercies of a party of twelve Indians. The journey southward was performed in a birch bark canoe, 37 feet in length over all, 5 feet beam and 27 inches deep.

Mr. Fife's impressions of the country to be surveyed are very favourable. The soil is a rich heavy clay loam, well suited to agriculture, well timbered with spruce of large size, white poplar and another variety of poplar, populus candicans—balm of gilead—and a few birch. The country is especially well watered with spring creeks and there are fish and game galore. It is expected that the proposed Grand Trunk Pacific will pass through this clay belt.

Mr. Fife enjoyed the journey greatly and returns home physically much invigorated. He will communicate later on to the Examiner a detailed account of his journey, which will be looked forward to with much interest.

The whole of the party, largely composed of Peterborough people were left in the best of health, and no accidents worth mentioning have happened to any of them.

A NEW ORCHESTRA.

All Saints' Sunday School is the Beneficiary.

Peterborough seems at present to be enjoying a decided musical renaissance. In vocal circles there is a decided addition of interest and in the instrumental field there is a great awakening. We have in bands three organizations. In the 57th we have one of the best bands on the continent. The T.A.S. band is coming to the front with 22 splendid instruments, and the Salvation Army band is rapidly bringing itself up to concert pitch in the way of instrumentation. It is stated that the fund for new instruments has reached the respectable sum of $400.00. There are orchestras in connection with the Sunday schools of the George street and Charlotte street Methodist churches, and now an orchestra has been organized in connection with All Saints' Sunday school. The orchestra, which is under the talented leadership of Mr. Sidney Rogers, consists of eight pieces, manned as follows: Violins, Sidney Rogers and W. Bourne; cornets, Jos. Legg and Jas. Garside; clarionette, W. Hodgson; emphonium, W. Allen; trombone, Joseph Cranfield; pianiste, Miss Bell. Other instruments will, it is expected, be added later. The first practice takes place on Wednesday night next.

WAS NEARLY PINNED BETWEEN TWO DRUMS.

Narrow Escape From Death at the C. G. E. on Saturday.

On Saturday a young man, an employee of the Canadian General Electric Works, narrowly escaped death from being pinned in between two huge moving drums of wire cable. The two drums were being rolled along the floor, one after the other, when the leading one stopped. The young man attempted to move it on again but just at the right moment noticed the second coil of 1,900 lbs. rolling down and within a few feet of him. He just succeeded in jumping to one side when the two heavy drums met with a crash, which made him thank his lucky stars that he was not between.

MANAGEMENT ENTERPRISE

In Connection With the Promotion of the Peterborough Central Exhibition.

The management of the Peterborough Central Exhibition have infused a good deal of life in the effort to stimulate the Exhibition and make known its merits. In this connection it may be mentioned that they have shown a judicious faith in the efficiency of printers' ink by inserting advertisements of the Exhibition in the following district papers: Belleville, 2 papers; Cobourg, 2; Port Hope 2; Bowmanville, 2; Lindsay, 2; and in one paper in, each, Omemee, Millbrook, Port Perry, Campbellford and Hastings. The latest stroke of enterprise is the engagement of the celebrated band of the celebrated Coldstream Guards, the crack band of the crack regiment of the Imperial service, which will appear in Peterborough on the second day of the Exhibition, September 23rd.

Champions it as a Necessary Complement to a Route to the Seaboard.

The following letter which should be read with considerable local interest, is addressed to the Toronto News:

To the Editor, — Now, that a difference of opinion as to the route for the proposed Grand Trunk Pacific Railway through Ontario and Quebec has arisen the Trent Valley Canal will solve it. As the Grand Trunk Railway is now built to North Bay, the most feasible plan would be to extend westerly from North Bay so as to get a through line from coast to coast, and to complete the Trent Valley Canal, which when completed, will be the means of diverting the grain to the canal from the Erie Canal. This Trent Valley Canal when completed should be free to all and will be the cheapest and only method of solving the grain haul problem. We have enough railways running from Georgian Bay ports east to Montreal. We have the Canada Atlantic from Depot Harbour, the Grand Trunk from Midland, the Grand Trunk from Collingwood, the Grand Trunk from Meaford, and the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific from Owen Sound. With all the above railways the grain finds an outlet at Buffalo via the Erie Canal to New York, which shows us at a glance that the railways cannot haul grain as cheaply as canals. The reason why the grain finds an outlet at Buffalo, is because it is an all water rate and route from Duluth or Fort William to New York via the Erie Canal. Let us have an Erie Canal in Canada, with the Trent Valley Canal, and let us control the grain traffic from both Duluth and Fort William. Barges leaving Georgian Bay loaded with grain are in sheltered water right through to Montreal via the Trent Valley Canal, which canal and route is the most feasible method of opening an outlet to sea ports for the millions of bushels of grain that is to ery for this outlet until this canal is completed.

FISHING FOR 'LUNGE BY A NEW METHOD.

The Toronto Star Calls for Fair Play for Our Gamest Fish.

It Advocates a Light rod, Silk Line, and Quick Reel Instead of Soup Spoon and Bundle of Fish Hooks

The following is taken from the Saturday edition of the Star, which by virtue of offering a prize for the largest bass is thus far at least entitled to pose as an authority. Whether his contentions are justifiable or not, expert disciples of Izaak Walton can have an opportunity of judging:—

Every fisherman in the country will be pleased to know that the muskellonge (maskinonge) is about to receive the honour due him as the gamest fish that swims. The 'lunge has never had fair play. He has received brutal treatment. Heretofore the man who went out to catch 'lunge has trailed a clothesline through the water, with a big spoon and three hooks on the end of it. When he got a strike he brought the fish in hand over hand, and, hoisted him into the boat by sheer strength, killing the captive with a club. There was about as much sport in this as in buying fish at the city market. The 'lunge had no chance whatever. The line would haul in a whale; the hooks would hold a shark if they once got through the upper and lower jaws.

All this will be changed after the present season, and no fisherman who cares a jot for his reputation will be seen next year dragging a heavy line and a big spoon through water inhabited by muskellonge.

It has been discovered by some sportsmen in Canada and the United States that the 'lunge is the finest fish in the world that a man can get on the far end of his rod and line. Men travel hundreds of miles to cast for salmon, and yet if they will use the same tackle in trying for 'lunge they will get more sport, without going far to seek it. The big hook and line with which the average man catches 'lunge would land any salmon in short order. Like the 'lunge, he could, with the same tackle, be unceremoniously dragged, if one hooked, straight up and into the boat. But no sportsman treats salmon so unceremoniously. A light rod, a long thin line, a fly—so goes the fisherman forth after salmon. He trusts to his skill; the fish is given a chance; the man admires the strength and cunning of the fish as it dashes this way and that and seeks to foul the line on jotting rocks or logs. It is a magnificent contest. A struggle as prolonged, as skilfully conducted, as doubtful in results, will occur if a man angles for muskellonge with the same sportsmanlike gear that he uses when trying for salmon. A light rod, a long silk line, a quick reel and a fly hook no bigger than that used for salmon, will give as good or better sport than can be had salmon fishing. Weight for weight, where the same tackle is used, the muskellonge will put up as good a fight as the salmon, if not a better. This statement will be resented of course by those who catch salmon skilfully and who never tried for lunge except by crude methods. But let a man once give the lunge a fair trial and he will be convinced as has been the case with many during the present season in Canada and the United States. The 'lunge will rise to a fly under the same conditions that a black bass will do so, and a man can go after them precisely as he does for salmon, especially in river fishing. An eight ounce rod, a silk line, a reel, with either a fly or a small bass spoon — so should a man go forth to catch 'lunge, and when he hooks his fish he should let his canoe or skiff drift while he fights it out fairly. The 'lunge will make his reputation then as a splendid fighter. In Muskoka, on the St. Lawrence, and on the Georgian Bay this year this new and better way of treating 'lunge has been tried and admired by all who tried it. Next year the old way of trolling with a big line and a huge spoon will be discarded by all who pretend to know what good sport is when they see it.

HAD A BATH IN SOME BOILING COMPOSITION.

An Employee of the C. G. E. Co. Will be Laid up for Two Weeks.

Mr. Thos. Henry, an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company's compound room, was badly scalded this morning while lifting the wheel of the boiling machine. It is learned that he was standing on a board when it gave way one of his legs going into some boiling composition, resulting in its being badly burnt from the ankle up to the knee. His boot saved the composition from coming into contact with his foot. His wounds were dressed by Dr. Pigeon, who ordered him to be removed to his home, No. 345 Sherbrooke street, where, it is expected, he will be confined for about two weeks.

HAS PURCHASED TWO NEW VEHICLES.

Mr. R. Gibbs, the Liveryman, Increases His Stock by a Cab and a Victoria.

Mr. R. Gibbs, the well-known livery man, has enlarged his stock of comfortable carriages, for which he is noted, by purchasing a two horse rubber tired cab and a single or double Victoria, also rubber-tired. As yet they have not been used, but can be had either in daytime or at night by ringing up No. 50, his telephone number.

The cab is a very handsome black vehicle, with thick rubber tires, and is seemingly a very comfortable and cosy carriage. No less handsome or comfortable is the Victoria, which is also black. Mr. Gibbs has of late been so busy that he has been compelled to make the purchases in order to fulfil his many orders.

"TROUBLE BEGINS" TO-MORROW

The School Boy's Way of Announcing the Opening of School.

To-morrow the Collegiate Institute and the town Schools will begin work in earnest and shortly before the hour of nine to-morrow morning numbers of children with satchels and shining morning faces will be seen creeping like snails unwillingly to school. The school boys and girls who have been summering at the lakes have against their wills during the past week been drifting back in readiness for the "daily grind." Anxious mothers, while watching their offspring hunting up lesson books and school utensils, contemplate with a sigh the deprival of their presence and company with which they have been honoured for some time past. Inspector Walker, who has been holidaying at Chatham, has returned to be in readiness for the work of the lessons and will be busy to-morrow co-operating with the teachers in clearing the decks for action.

NO. 16, FAMOUS LOBBY

FORMERLY A PRESS-ROOM IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

How Serves the Party in Power—How Taylor Bunced the Newspaper Men—But the Despatches Fell and "Jim" McMullen Became a True Prophet—Description of the Room and Its Furnishings.

No. 16, House of Commons, Ottawa, the unofficial headquarters of the party in power, is such a long room that it looks narrow. When the Conservatives first moved into it they said humorously, that it made them feel like "Jim" McMullen. The tall and melancholy tamarac from Amaranth, who was not then a Senator, gauged the length and breadth of it and retorted that the time would come when that room would be their coffin. All has happened as he foretold. The Conservative party has been carried out, writes H. F. G. in Toronto Star.

Perhaps they deserved their misfortunes for the treatment they gave the press. This famous No. 16 used to belong to the newspaper men. Being just across the hall from the Green Chamber, it was possible when the doors were open to hear the debate without stirring from one's seat at the writing table or putting one's pipe out. Cabinet Ministers and members of both parties made a habit of dropping in and chatting with the boys. There was much gossip and good comradeship and tobacco smoke. Souls expanded; tongues wagged freely; hin were dropped. It was a great spot for catching news on the wing. It was, in short, so highly convenient as a place of resort, that the leaders of the Conservative party began to covet it for their own purposes. Taylor, the whip, was one of the leaders. For various reasons he and certain others decided to abate this nuisance of a Fourth Estate by putting it out of sight. It had to be done craftily. He affected great concern for the health of the newspaper men. Wasn't the room stuffy? Wasn't the air poisoned by the malarial breath of the orators across the way? Some of the more guileless ones fell into the trap. They began to imagine headaches, which, if they did have, they had gotten elsewhere, and in the usual manner. But most of them saw nothing to complain about. They were used to working in close rooms and atmospheres thickened with smoke and strong language. They had no more qualms than a salamander. Taylor tried another tack. Wasn't the place too noisy? Wouldn't it be better to have a quiet room to think in? This was flattery, but it reached a lot of them. It implied that they used thought in their writings. The soft impeachment conferred on them the dignity of editorial wisdom. They wondered how their faculty of profound meditation had ever lived so long in these feverish surroundings. There were some old stagers, however, who could not be cajoled. With them Taylor took stern measures. The velvet glove came off, and the iron hand was revealed. Taylor said—we blush for him—that the paste stank. In due course the newspaper men were driven to a far corner. The windows of No. 16 afford the noblest view in Ottawa, the finest panorama of mountain and river in Ontario. These foolish scribes turned their backs on the beautiful landscape, sacrificed a coign of vantage, so far as news-getting was concerned, and cooped themselves in two stingy little rooms. The red badge of shame mounts to our forehead as we think how easy they were. After this hegira of the journalists, the telegraph room was also ravished by Taylor, the partition knocked down, and No. 16, as it is to-day, was the result.

The artist has made a picture of the light end of No. 16, which becomes the heavy end from the weight and prestige of the people who frequent it. You must imagine the dark part as well as you can. It is filled with men smoking pipes, writing letters, reading newspapers, and talking politics. It is sprinkled with promoters, lobbyists, and railway lawyers, who ever and anon come out into the open. Allow me to give you your bearings on the light part where the business of the country is discussed in the broad glare of day. It is bounded on the south by a big picture of the Liberal members, the water cooler, and the clock; on the east by chests of drawers—which serve as lockers—and the green baize benches already referred to; on the north by a picture of the Premier, as he was twenty years ago, and a couple of railway maps; on the west by Joe's desk, a map of New Ontario, and the leather sofa.

Joe's desk reminds us of Joe. He has no last name. Everbody calls him Joe because the name fits. Joe was built to be the friend of all men. He is not a member of Parliament, but he takes a deep interest in politics. He is a Liberal, of course. He tyles the door at the caucuses. He is the repository of many confidences. The members talk to him and tell him what they think about it. He has a wide choice of opinions. Usually he selects the best. Joe has a fierce moustache, which sets him down as a corsair fallen on dull times. But he has a smile that contradicts the moustache and warms the heart of the most suspicious. Joe is the attendant. There is another attendant, for Joe is not expected to work twenty-four hours a day, but he has no name at all. At least he doesn't use it in No. 16, whatever he may do when it comes to signing the pay-roll. Joe's mysterious colleague is a gentleman of the old school. He is very exclusive. He must know a member five years before he will shake hands. When he is particularly pleased with one—perhaps it was a fine speech in the House—he presents his snuff-box, taps the lid, and tenders a pinch of rappee with all the grace of a courtier of the Regency.

The leather sofa is the abode of merriment. Here and in the chairs grouped around it sit the jolly cronies of No. 16 capping jokes and com- [illegible] experiences. It is here that Col. Thompson's quartette practices against the awkward moments that precede a division. Here all the new stories come, making straight for this sofa even before they call at the club. The sofa is just forninst the chief whip's bell over the door, which bell is to be carefully distinguished from the division bell. The little nickel alarum gives a short ring, one to signify that a few stalwarts are needed in the chamber, three that it is a rush order and everybody within hearing is expected to tumble in. The division bell speaks louder. It goes five minutes at a stretch. There is no mistaking a tocsin like that.

The middle space is occupied by a long table where the ready letter writers are always busy keeping their constituencies warm. The most industrious of these is old Mr. Ross of Victoria, N.S., nearing eighty, but a tireless hand with the pen. He may be seen at work any day except Sunday between the hours of ten in the morning and five in the afternoon. During the session he is said to send a friendly note to every man, woman, and child in his county.

EVIDENCE THAT NONE CAN DOUBT.

That Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one Sure Cure for Rheumatism.

W. E. Ellis got so he Could not Walk Alone or Feed Himself—he Tells of His Cure.

Cedar Dale, Aug. 31. — (Special.) — Every day seems to furnish fresh proofs that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one sure and permanent cure for Rheumatism. This village furnishes evidence that no one can doubt in the person of W. E. Ellis. His story is best given in his own words.

"Two years ago," says Mr. Ellis, "I got Muscular Rheumatism. I tried all sorts of medicines, but none of them did me any good.

"At last my wife would send for a doctor. When he arrived, I said, 'Doctor, can you cure muscular rheumatism?' 'No,' said the doctor. 'Then I said,' you are of no use to me.'"

"I got so bad that I could not feed myself or walk alone. Then I was induced to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took six boxes of them which drove all the rheumatism out of me and left me in good health again."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Rheumatism by removing the cause — by putting the Kidneys in shape to take the uric acid out of the blood. They always cure Lumbago and Sciatica in the same way.

AUSTRALIAN LEGEND

HOW THE BOOMERANG TOOK THE PLACE OF BOW AND ARROW.

Boomerangs Not the Peculiar Property of the Australian Black Fellows—Trace of Poetry in the Rude Tale Which Gives the White Man the Knowledge of the Aboriginal—The Story.

The origin of most primitive tools or weapons is not, as a rule, difficult to trace, for the service they render is so direct and the need for their existence is so manifest, even to men of to-day, that their evolution is a simple matter of observation and brief mental calculation. The hammer, the awl, the axe, and the saw were potentially invented when first a prehistoric man cracked a nut with a stone, bored a shell with a broken bone, chipped a log, with a sharp-edged flint, or cut a groove in a spear haft with a serrated flake of slate. As with the tools, so also with the weapons. A pointed stick proved its utility the first time it was hurled at an object, and so led the human mind to recognise the value of the spear and the arrow; the hammer, which cracked a nut, naturally suggested the club wherewith heads could be treated in a similar way, while the desire for shelter from attack would, in due course, lead to the invention of the shield, and the sword would grow out of the crude armory immediately men came to hand-to-hand conflicts. But what was the origin of the boomerang?

From the fact that it was found in the hands of the Australian aboriginal when first the white man landed on the shores of the great southern continent, there has grown a belief that it is purely and particularly a weapon of the black fellow; and that it had its origin with him, an origin so much obscured by the mists of an unrecorded past as is his own, for whence the black fellow came is a conundrum which none dare to answer. But boomerangs are not the peculiar property of the Australian aboriginal, as they were known to and used by the Egyptians in days before the pyramids were built, and are still to be found among some of the isolated aboriginal tribes of India. The peculiar property of the Australian black fellow, curiously enough, is not a possession, but the absence of a possession. It is not that he possesses the boomerang, but that he does not possess the bow and arrow. In this he is alone of all races and tribes of men upon the face of the earth, not even excluding those of the lowest human types, and in spite of the fact that the inhabitants of islands within a comparatively speaking short distance of his coast line are among the finest and most powerful archers humanity has ever produced. Throughout the Pacific islands the bow and arrow will everywhere be found; in New Guinea it is the staple weapon, and at the Prince of Wales' Islands, just off the northern coast of Australia, the natives shoot a six-foot arrow with ease from a bow that a muscular white man can barely draw to his elbow. But on the mainland of the continent bows and arrows are unknown, while the warriors wield the boomerang as it was wielded by the men who lived on the Nile centuries before Thebes or Memphis were built. Wherefore is it difficult to trace the origin of this curiosity, difficult, that is, for a white man. The black fellow knows whence it came and treasures the knowledge in a legend which is not altogether without trace of poetry, whatever may be its character as to veracity.

"Plenty long ago," was the beginning of the story as the writer heard it. "Plenty long ago" the moon was a beautiful young gin (or girl) and the sun a fierce, restless warrior of another tribe. The warrior, desiring the young girl as a wife, followed the orthodox aboriginal method of courtship and sought to pounce upon her unawares with the kindly intention of knocking her on the head and carrying her off to his gunyah (of hut.) But the young girl was opposed to his attentions, and in order to protect herself she wrapped herself in a rug of black 'possum skins and only peeped round the end of it a little at a time lest her admirer should see her and carry her off. Sometimes he did see her, and pounced upon her, but ever was she able to dodge behind the shelter of the black 'possum skin rug and so elude him, for when she vanished behind the rug he was confounded and could only wander about wondering how she escaped. At last the constant disappointment made him grow angry and sulky; yet when next he had a glimpse of her face peering round the shelter he sprang forward. As was usual, the face vanished; but he, being sulky, swore he would try for her no more, and lay down to sleep then and there.

The young girl, crouching under the cover of her rug, listened for his raging footsteps to pass on. For a long time she listened, but heard nothing, and then, being like all gins, more curious than crafty, she must needs peep round the end of the rug again to see what the silence meant. The warrior, lying still, saw the gleam of the face, and gathered himself, silently, for a spring. With her curiosity unsatisfied the girl peeped further, and the warrior, impatient in his anger, leaped at her. His hands caught the edge of her face with a mighty grip, but she terrified at the sight of him, flung herself back with so much vigor that a fragment of her face broke off in the warrior's hands. Then did his rage burst all bounds, and with a yell he flung the thing he held down upon the earth. There, later, men found it. Idly they picked it up, and, marveling at what it could be, threw it from them. At once it whirled through the air up toward the clouds, traveling round and round as the black cockatoos fly before the start on a long journey, but going further and faster than even anything thrown by man went before, until suddenly it plunged downward and stuck in the earth at the feet of the black fellow who had thrown it. Again he picked it up and again he threw it, and then his comrades tried it, always with the same result, and at last the men, fearing "plenty debbil debbil" was in it, called a great gathering of the tribes to discuss it. To solve the problem each man who attended the corroborree set to work to fashion out an imitation of the strangely whirling thing, and when they had all succeeded they laughed at the fears of the discoverers. They did not know that what they had found was a part of the moon's face, and that its long flights were the result of its efforts to get back to its proper place; nor did they know that the warrior, in revenge on the beautiful young girl, made all the imitations travel the same way, so that when the moon looked down and saw them all whirling round and round in the air she would not know which was the missing part of her face and which was not, and so would be forever disfigured, in punishment for having rejected the love of her great admirer. And in proof of the truth of his tale the black fellow would point to the moon—when not at the full—and ask how else had it lost a part. On nights when the moon was full the black fellow was silent.—London Globe.

12 Minutes for Lunch.

That is the average time spent in a large city restaurant by three thousand lunchers. It takes three hours to digest a fresh egg soft boiled; three hours to digest a boiled apple dumpling; three hours to digest fresh roast beef. In fact, three hours is about the time required to digest the average twelve minute lunch. The object of the hasty lunch is to let the busy man get back to his office work. But when the brain is active, the stomach is inactive for lack of necessary blood. The natural consequence is indigestion, and indigestion opens the door to many diseases.

Indigestion is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

"It is with heartfelt gratitude that I send this testimonial which I wish you to publish with my name and address," writes Mr. Willis Seaman, of Washingtonville, Orange Co., N. Y. "I had stomach trouble from childhood and suffered with it more or less as I grew up. At the age of 26 I was broken down with dyspepsia. My suffering was terrible. Could not eat without distress. Could only eat a few certain things and was not able to work half the time. Every thing I tried only gave me temporary relief. My wife finally persuaded me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I took six bottles of the Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.' I then felt so well that I stopped taking medicine. Several months have passed and I can do the hardest kind of work, can eat anything that is set before me and enjoy it. I am 37 years old and this is the first time I have ever been well."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only; or 50 stamps for cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Du Chaillu's Vain Hunt.

Paul Du Chaillu was the most gallant of bachelors and always openly confessed that he was quite unable to resist the wiles of the fair sex, so much so that he had never been able to choose between them. On one occasion when he was "the lion" at a reception given by some intimate friends in New York the hostess in presenting him to one of her guests said:

"Let me present you to Mrs. ——. You must know her, Paul, because she has just written a book."

"A book, madam!" he exclaimed. "Then, indeed, am I most delighted to meet her. I once made a book myself. But what is the title of your book?"

"The name of it is 'What One Woman Thinks,'" was the smiling response.

"Ah, indeed, and most interesting! 'What One Woman Thinks!'" repeated the great explorer. And then, with a simulated excitement, he added hastily: "But where can I procure a copy of it? I must have it at once—immediately. All my life I have been trying in vain to find out what women think, and if before I die I shall succeed in finding out just what one woman thinks I shall then indeed die content."

A Daring Eskimo Lover.

A young Eskimo had secretly courted the daughter of an enemy. The huts of the lovers were not far removed, but one night the terrific cold ripped a great crevasse in the ice, and the young man's house was left isolated. A gorge 100 feet deep and twenty feet wide separated it from the igloo, or hut, containing his sweetheart, but there was a narrow bridge of ice left across the crevasse, and this, the young man found, would bear his weight. Eskimos sleep in bags. The lover decided that he would that night cross the ice bridge, steal the maiden he loved, bear her to his hut and then break down the bridge so that he and she together might enjoy their honeymoon unmolested. He planned very successfully. He crept in the dead of night into his enemy's hut, he snatched up the maiden in her sack without awaking any one, he bore her over the ice bridge safely, and then he opened the sack to embrace his bride; but, beholding its contents, he gave a loud cry. It was not the maiden, but her father, that he had stolen.

The Difference.

Miss Languish—Mercy! You don't mean to say you destroy all your love letters! I save mine religiously.

Miss Pertly—Of course; but, then, you know it makes a difference where one has only a few.—Boston Transcript.

WHEN WIGS WERE BIG.

The Fashions That Used to Rule in England and France.

In King Charles II.'s reign in England a physician or a judge's ability was gauged by the size of his wig. Ladies had the hair frizzed and adorned with artificial "heartbreakers" and "love locks." Later on, in William and Mary's time, youths and children wore wigs. In those times combing the wig in public was considered the proper thing. Steele's large black wig cost him 40 guineas, but it was the fashion to have a large wig, and money was no object.

The Duviller full bottomed wigs were invented by and named after a French barber who made them to conceal the elevation in the shoulder of the dauphin. Wig makers when short of material would often resort to foul means to obtain hair, sometimes holding up children and shearing off their locks.

Will Atkins, Charles II.'s gout doctor, wore a three tailed wig carefully frizzed and arranged to fall on each cheek, and for fear of obscuring part of the beauty of his wig he generally went hatless. Another man of fame was Colonel Dalmahoy, whose splendid wig was a theme in popular song of the time.

In the eighteenth century poisoned wigs were used at times for murderous purposes. A Duke of Holstein, being warned, made the wig maker who offered the wig to him to wear it on his own head, with the result that the wig maker suddenly died.

Dr. Samuel Johnson, being near-sighted, was in the habit of holding a candle close to his head while reading, and in that manner often burned the front of his wig. His expense for wigs must have been no small item.

In one of his letters to Sir Joshua Reynolds, Oliver Goldsmith mentions having bought a new ribbon for his wig at Canterbury, and a Calais barber broke it so that he might make an extra expense by supplying the poet with a new one.

Modern Medicine.

Cod-liver oil is good. Purified petroleum is better. Angier's Emulsion is made of odorless and tasteless petroleum, glycerine and hypophosphites. It does all,—and more,—than cod-liver oil and similar preparations. It is pleasant to take, and agreeable to the stomach. 7a

The Word "Ragging."

The word "ragging" is more common in England than in this country, even if the custom is not. An English paper asserts that "rag" is not a slang word, but is a real old verb, also to be found in use among Icelanders, meaning to banter or irritate. In Lincolnshire and doubtless other counties to provoke a boy is called "getting his rag out." "Bullyrag" is an elaboration of the elementary term, and here also the meaning is clear. A ragamuffin originally meant a kind of demon.

Evidences of Friendship.

She—Yes, you men have what you call friends, but your friendship is so superficial, so calculating, so watery—

He—Oh! But don't you remember David and Jonathan, Damon and Pythias, Goethe and Schiller—

"Yes; but you never brush each other's hair, nor show each other your new hats, nor discuss what is best for baby's throat, nor how to make up an old frock, nor anything."

Messrs. E. M. Poussette & Co., have received the following:—

'New York, Aug. 31st. 9.45 a.m. — We look for a strong market and a further improvement to-day, but advise taking profits on advance as speculation is too narrow and professional to warrant any extended upward movement. The reported purchase of Met. securities controlled by Whitney Ryan combination is offset, speculatively, by Judge Clancy's decision against the Amalgmated in the Nipper Mine case, which will be appealed. The Standard Oil party is not ready to bull the market and fair profits should be realized from short sales at the highest price level. Speculation is not likely to broaden until Government reports on cotton and corn have been issued, while the reduction in short interest has weakened the technical position of the market. London, unchanged.—Town Topics.

Outlook does not suggest any material improvement either in the character of trading or market condition from those which obtained last week. We rather expect to see continued narrow market but think it will afford more opportunities for making small, quick turns, and small profits can be secured by operators by taking a scalping position rather than at a fixed one with idea of witnessing any extensive fluctuations either way.—M. & M.

LAWN BOWLING.

The bad condition of the bowling green prevented even the most enthusiastic of local bowlers from playing on Saturday evening.

LACROSSE.

Through the kindness of Mr. Williamson, the gymnasium of the Y.M.C.A. is open to the Athletic Lacrosse Club for training purposes at any time that the weather or light is unfavourable for outside work. All the members are asked to turn out as usual to-night.

GOLF.

Mr. Freeman, the professional, engaged by the Peterborough Golf Club, arrived in town this morning, and will commence his duties at the local links to-day. He will be at the links to give lessons and instruction every day for the next two weeks. Rates, etc., for instruction will be posted in the club house.

THE WHEEL.

The bicycle road race, which was to have been ridden by Messrs. Reefer and Young, did not materialize, owing to the bad condition of the roads on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Reefer and his supporters were at Smith street at three o'clock, the appointed hour for the road race, where they met Mr. Young, who declined to race for the reason previously stated. Mr. Reefer was quite willing to race, but his opponent did not think the conditions favourable for a race which would give a true result, consequently those present were of the opinion that Mr. Reefer won by default. His supporters thereupon presented him with the $25.

Mr. Young stated that he was willing to race any time after September 15th, and his opponent will accept, providing Mr. Young's supporters put up the same trophy as his own.

FLESH HUNG ON TREES.

As showing in a measure the force and awfulness of the powder explosion last Saturday, the Tweed News says: "A piece of one of the blocks used in the pack house was found on the opposite side of Stoco Lake. The greater part of the debris came down in the Lake. Pieces of the bodies of the victims were found in all directions, and hanging in the trees above. Altogether over one hundred pounds of flesh were found. The scene of the explosion was visited by hundreds of the citizens on Sunday and many curious freaks of the explosion were noticed. Nails were driven headforemost in the trunks of trees so firmly that it was impossible to pull them out. In one piece a piece of soft pine about an inch wide and several inches long, was driven firmly into the trunk of a hardwood tree and could not be got out."

NEW IDEA IN FALL FAIRS.

To Give Them an Educative as Well as an Entertainmental Value.

Interesting Details of the Model Fair to be Held at Whitby.

As the season of fall fairs draws near directors of agricultural societies will be on the lookout for new and attractive features to be added to the programme of events. A good many societies are making an earnest endeavor to improve their fairs by the introduction of educational features, and it will not be out of place to once more draw their attention to the exhibition at Whitby, which the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture are striving to make a model fair for others to follow.

The Whitby Model Fair will, of course, have the services of expert judges, who will explain the reasons for their decisions in the ring, and give addresses on the best types of horses, cattle, sheep and swine. In this way the judging is made an educational feature instead of being merely an allotment of premiums by men who are often incompetent or biased in their judgment. The awarding of prizes at a fair is a comparatively important matter as compared with other considerations. What is really desirable is that fairs should be the means of disseminating information and of fixing correct ideas in the minds of those who are producing food-stuffs and on whom the prosperity of Canada depends. The advantages of the expert judge system have become so apparent that this year over 150 fairs in Ontario alone are to be supplied with judges by the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Another feature of the Whitby fair which is worthy of adoption by all agricultural societies, but which only some half dozen have yet taken up, is the series of illustration plots on the fair grounds. These plots are in excellent condition at Whitby and will form an interesting and instructive exhibit of the best varities of grasses, clovers, millets, sorghums, corn, fodder and pasture crops, turnips, mangels and sugar beets. By studying the plots farmers will be able to learn what crops and what varieties are best adapted to their farms, thus bringing home to particular conditions of soil and climate the general conclusions arrived at by the experimental farms.

The Whitby Fair Board will this year attempt to combine amusement with instruction by holding a gymkhana, or series of games on horseback. It is a lamentable fact that horseback riding is almost unknown in Canada and that the saddle is rarely seen on a Canadian farm. We raise hundreds of good saddle horses for which there is a good demand at high prices but these horses are sold by the farmers practically unbroken, and the middleman finishes them for the market and gets the cream of the profit. This is why an attempt is being made to interest our people in the pleasures of the saddle. The events to be put on in the gymkhana at Whitby to demonstrate skill in the saddle are as follows: Polo pony competition, walking race, obstacle race, potato race, bonnet and skirt race, ginger ale race, polo pony scurry, nomination race, and high jumping competition. The gymkhana events will be interspersed with children's games and athletic competitions to keep the interest from flagging. The managers are determined to have a good clean fair where all the boys and girls can go to spend a pleasant and instructive day without coming in contact with any injurious influence.

But it is not intended to allow the amusement feature to overshadow in any way the educational part of the the programme. Demonstrations of agricultural processes will be very much in evidence. A model kitchen and dining room will be shown in operation, with exhibitions of cooking simple dishes and addresses on domestic economy. Desirable and undesirable types of fowl will be shown with lectures on the fattening of chickens for the British markets, and exhibitions of killing, plucking and packing for export. Practical demonstrations of the proper packing of fruit will be given by expert packers, and every effort will be made to minister to the wants of those who are looking for information that will prove of practical benefit.

That the children may be instructed as well as amused, prizes will again be offered to the teacher and pupils of a public school section making the best exhibit of: cut flowers grown in the school grounds, grain in the straw, clovers and grasses, roots and vegetables, fruits, wild flowers and leaves of trees pressed and mounted, weeds and weed seeds, beneficial and injurious insects and native woods. This year prizes are also offered for the best essays on the wild flowers, grains, grasses, weeds, insects and birds of the locality. This plan has proved effective in inducing children to begin the fascinating study of nature, directed towards the elements of general agriculture, economic botany and entomology, etc. Every fair board would find it advantageous to put on some of these prizes for school children's exhibits, full particulars of which may be obtained from Mr. F. W. Hodson, Live Stock Commissioner, who is devoting a great deal of energy to the improvement of Canadian fairs.
